at our markets, and it is a satisfactory meeting. We only tender tender meat to our customers—the freshest, the sweetest, the juciest of flesh. Our mutton is sold as mutton—not as Spring lamb. The lamb costs more, and we charge accordingly. Same with beef—choicest cuts are sold as such—no lies, no misrepresentation. They lose customers—never gain it. The Tables Turned.
We have almost solved the servant girl problem.
Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.
The tables are turned, and we have turned them.
We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.
Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,
Counterpanes 10c each.
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "
What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

TRIBESMEN STILL AT IT.

The English Have Lots of Fighting Yet In the Hill Country.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 15.—There are 59,000 men and 90 guns, including maxims, mobilized on the frontier and in the garrisons. Everything is ready for the advance from Shabkadr. The men are in splendid condition.

The lower Mahommedans on the border are anxious to submit on any terms, but the main body is still determined to fight. It is reported that the Haddah Mollah has failed to raise the gathering he expected and will retire to Tirah.

Fort Gulistan is still hard pressed by the enemy. In a sortie the garrison succeeded in capturing three standards.

The principal difficulty which the Mahommedan punitive expedition has encountered thus far is in getting stores and transport animals to the front. The entire railway between Peshawur and Meerut is practically blocked from lack of locomotives. A long line of loaded trucks are waiting to be forwarded. All the available trains are being used to hurry the troops to the front.

General Yeatman Biggs, advancing along the Samana ridge to the relief of Fort Gulistan, found the enemy intrenched in considerable force in the Gozra hills. The Third Garkha regiment stormed the position. One sepoy was killed, and five were wounded.

QUIET AT HAZLETON

General Gobin, However, Will Not Remove the Troops Yet.

COAL STRIKE SPREADING RAPIDLY.

Superintendent Blake at the Lattimer Mines Urged the Men to Come Back to Work, but They Declined In a Body.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 15.—Despite a variety of alarming rumors and a movement by a body of miners, which at one time looked formidable, yesterday passed off without serious disturbance in the strike regions. Matters still wear such an uncertain aspect, however, that General Gobin declared that the removal of the troops or of any portion of them has not been contemplated. The strike itself is spreading with great rapidity. Exact estimates of the number of men who have quit work are hard to obtain, but conservative figures place it at close to 10,000, with indications that within a short time every colliery of importance in the region will be idle.

Although some disposition has been shown by small bodies of strikers in the outlying districts to make demonstrations, they have been of a rather feeble character, and the great majority of the men are docile. These mines are now idle: Coxe Bros. & Co.'s Eckley, Beaver Meadow and Oneida, about 2,000 men; Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company's Honey Brook and Audenreid mines, about 2,500; Frank Pardee's Cranberry and Crystal Ridge mines, 1,100; Lehigh Valley Coal company's Hazle mines, Yorktown, Jeanville and Audenreid, 3,000; Calvin Pardee & Co.'s Lattimer and Harwood mines, 2,000.

The men at Coxe's Stockton mines have expressed their intention of joining the strike. Yesterday was their pay day. Concerning the Drifton mine of the same company, which was working yesterday one of the firm said they understood the men were going out. The collieries still working are the Derringer, Tomhicken and Shepton of the Coxe company. Weston, Dodgson & Co.'s Beaver Brook mine and J. S. Wentz's Silver Brook mine.

The First City troop of Philadelphia, which was dispatched to the scene of the reported outbreak at Eckley, found nothing for it to do when it reached that place.

An annoying story came to brigade headquarters by telephone. It was to the effect that a gang of miners from Drifton had marched on colliery No. 5 at Jeddo with the expressed intention of bringing the men out. Upon reaching the colliery John Markle, the superintendent, met them and after a conference with a committee of the miners succeeded in turning them off without trouble. This was the only incident of the day which partook of the nature of a demonstration.

It is now certain that no attempt will be made to arrest the deputies so long as troops are camped at Hazleton. General Gobin's declaration that he will protect the sheriff's men as long as he is in command has cooled the ardor of those who are for going about the matter hastily.

The strike leaders and their attorneys deny the right of General Gobin to enforce such an order, but they admit that he has too many guns for them. District Attorney Fell, it is said, is against an immediate serving of the warrants, though he is interested in the prosecutions.

Several of the deputies who left the town immediately after the bloody affray are known to be in Philadelphia and Easton, outside of General Gobin's territory, but it is not likely that they will be arrested before those who are under military protection.

At Lattimer yesterday afternoon a largely attended and decisive meeting of strikers was held to receive the answer of the company to their demands. To a large body of strikers gathered in the open space before the company's store Superintendent Blake appeared at the door and gave them their answer. It was short and to the point and was met with action equally as decisive. The demands had been formulated as follows:

"We desire and wish the privilege of buying our provisions wherever we think proper instead of being forced to do so at the company's store. We want a 20 per cent advance on all classes of labor. We demand the dismissal of all parties who took part on last Friday, Sept. 10, in the shooting affray. We demand that all classes of labor be paid the same for rock work as for coal on idle days. We demand that no man shall be discharged for acting on this committee."

The company's answer to this was: First, that the men are not and never have been obliged to buy exclusively at the company store; second, that the advance would not be granted, because the company was paying the average rate of the region; third, that the company absolutely refused, without assigning any reason, to discharge anybody who participated in the shooting; fourth, that the men suspended on idle days have the privilege of taking somebody else's place, thus making good the difference in rate between rock and coal work, and fifth, that no man shall be discharged for acting on the grievance committee.

Superintendent Blake made a short speech to the men, urging them to return to work, and arguing that they could gain nothing by remaining idle.

"What do you say?" he continued. "Will you come back?"

There was a moment's buzz, and then a chorus of "No" went up. The superintendent attempted no further persuasion, and the men dispersed.

The mountain journey of the cavalry to Eckley, although agreeably disappointed of its purpose, had a salutary effect in that it deeply impressed the miners with the extent of the military power.

WIRES A MENACE TO LIFE.

The numerous accidents, serious and otherwise, which resulted from fallen wires, charged with heavy electric currents sufficient to kill and maim, Monday evening, shows the imperative need of putting all such dangerous influences in underground subways. True, in this city, it is only proposed to treat the telephone wires in this manner at present, but the accidents of Monday night show that all overhead wires carrying, or liable to be crossed with wires that may charge them, with death dealing currents should be put out of the way of falling into paths traversed by either human or brute life. As it happened the other evening it was only the electric light wires that dealt injury—and no proposition has been made to put these under ground—but if the telephone wires had crossed the lighting current and fallen into the road they would have been just as much of a menace as if directly charged with a heavy voltage. In view of these facts, and the fact that the telephone company stand ready to put their wires in subways, the Common Council owe it to the city, for the future protection of its people, to pave the way for the company to make this improvement at the earliest possible moment.

HIGH IN THE LEGAL WORLD.

In a superbly printed and illustrated book recently issued, containing a history of the bar and the lawyers of New York, Rowland Cox, of this city, occupies a prominent position among the portraits and biographies presented. The half-tone portrait presented of Mr. Cox is an excellent likeness, while the biographical sketch concisely tells of his life and achievements in a professional way. It is related that Mr. Cox's practice is confined chiefly to cases relating to unfair competition in business, trademarks and copyrights. The sketch closes with the following complimentary words:

In all these cases and many others Mr. Cox represented the complainant. They unmistakably indicate a tendency of judicial thought toward the broadest and most philosophical views.

SHRINKABLE ASSETS

Political intrigue and disappointment is told in the tale of woe of a Warren county statesman who is endeavoring to enforce an anti-election campact by resorting to the courts. The complainant avers that he is about to lose a crop of agricultural products by reason of the successful candidate's refusal to share them as per agreement in return for support during the campaign. Incidentally it may be remarked that for excitement and novelty in all the walks of life New Jersey leads the world, but pertinately it can be said that promises of politicians are assets of shrinkable brand.

TRAMPS ARE SCARCE?

Tramps are becoming scarce in this section. This fact may be accounted for by reason of the Middlesex county authorities inaugurating their plan of making tramps work on the streets of New Brunswick. As many as three wandering hoboes are in the chain gang of our neighboring bailiwick. To withdraw such a stupendous number of tramps from their daily pursuits of riding on coal trains, robbing farmers' hen roosts and enjoying life without a worry, will soon deprive us of the picturesque human rover.

A Children's Party.

A children's party was given by Miss Katherine Mitchell and Master Lawrence Mitchell, at their home, 605 West Third street, last evening, in honor of John Morris, of Providence, R. I., who is spending a few days in this city. About twenty guests were present and the time was passed pleasantly in the playing of games, after which refreshments were served. At about 10:30 o'clock the young folks began to get sleepy. The party was accordingly broken up and the guests hustled off to their homes.

The Farmers' Year

Is here at last. From all over the country we hear reports of good crops and, what is better, of good prices. The impetus given to other industries shows how dependent they are on agricultural activity. "But all work and no play," you know. Take your play at the great Inter-State Fair. It will make your work taste better; besides, it will increase its productivity by the infusion of intelligent ideas acquired in a day's study of what other people have been doing. There is nothing like seeing what your neighbor has done, so that you can do your work a little better. The dates are Sept. 27th to October 1st.

THEATRICAL.

Rice's Comedians showed their ability to handle drama as well as comedy at Music Hall last night. The play of "Back Among the Old Folks" is a New England Drama of great merit and its many strong scenes were clearly brought out by this admirable company. All did well in their parts, there is not a "stick" in the caste, but particular credit is due Gustave Wallace for his performance of Solon Meadows. Tonight the farcial comedy "A Knotty Affair" will be given, and a lengthy programme of singing and dancing specialties.

WESTFIELD

MARRIED AMID FLOWERS.

BRILLIANT SCENE AT THE WHITEHEAD-WARNCKE WEDDING.

Presbyterian Church Was Filled With Friends of the Young Couple—Creighton Held for Grand Jury—Other News Items.

One of the prettiest weddings of the year in Westfield, took place in the Presbyterian church last evening, when Dr. Rufus Baldwin Whitehead, of Elizabeth, and Miss Anna Augusta Warncke, of this place, were united in marriage. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, hydrangias, orchids and white roses. By 8 o'clock a large and fashionable audience had gathered. As the wedding march was played the bridal party entered the church. It consisted of the ushers, Carle Whitehead, Henry Warncke, L. Hall and Mr. Dennison, the bridemaids, Miss Sophie Condit, Miss Emma Starr, Miss Minnie Lynde and Miss Jane Morrow, the maid of honor, Miss Rose Bingham, of Nangatuck, Conn., Miss Alice Warncke, as flower girl, and the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father. They were met at the front of the church by the groom and the best man, Dr. Schefter, and the officiating clergymen, Rev. Charles Barker, D. D., of Meriden, Conn, and Rev. N.W. Cadwell. When the party arranged itself and the tones of the great organ had died away, the ceremony, which was that of the Episcopal church, was performed by Dr. Barker, assisted by Mr. Cadwell. The bride was attired in white satin and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridemaid and made of honor wore white chiffon, trimmed with blue. After the ceremony the party was driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warncke, on the Boulevard, where a reception was held. The house was artistically decorated with smilax, palms and potted plants. Tables were arranged in the dinning room and the library, where the guests were served with supper by Caterer Russ, of Elizabeth, The presents were numerous and of great beauty and value. At a late hour Dr. and Mrs. Whitehead left for an extended wedding journey. On their return they will reside in Elizabeth. The floral decorations for the church and the house were arranged by Alfred Berner, of Westfield.

Dan Creighton, colored, was arraigned before Justice Collins last evening on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Mrs. Lulu Lee. The testimony was to the effect that on last Thursday evening Mrs. Lee and a friend named Ella Anderson were walking on Broad street, in the vicinity of Clark's Lake, when they met Creighton and a colored girl named Irene. Mrs. Lee, who is a cousin of Creighton's, began to chide him with not calling upon her, and playfully took hold of him as if to compel him to come. At this Creighton suddenly struck her in the face twice, knocking her down. The Justice placed the accused under $50 bonds to appear before the Grand Jury.

The spire of the Westfield Presbyterian church was damaged by lightning on Monday evening. The fact that the church had been struck was not discovered until about noon yesterday, when the sexton discovered some pieces of splintered wood lying about on the ground and made an investigation which led to the discovery of the damage. The lightning tore a strip about five inches wide from the steeple along nearly the entire length.

At the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., held in Plainfield last evening, it was voted "that the thanks of the Post be extended to the citizens of Westfield for their kind reception and generous hospitality to the Post on the occasion of its visit to the town on Labor Day."

TOURISTS IN A SNOW STORM.

Winter Weather Encountered in Yellowstone Park by Plainfielders.

Letters received from the Plainfield members of the party under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Railroad, now touring the Yellowstone Park, report that very cold weather for this time of year was experienced last Friday as the party reached the top of the Continental Divide. A snowstorm was encountered and snowballing was engaged in. They were also fortunate in witnessing an eruption of the "Monarch" geyser, which has remained quiescent for three years, and the "Grand" geyser, which has been quiet for forty years.

Funeral of Clifford Halloway.

The funeral of the late Clifford Price Halloway was held from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Halloway, of LaGrande avenue, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards conducted the service and made a short address speaking of the good and manly qualities of the young man who had passed away. The casket was covered with floral tributes. The pall-bearers were all young men who had been close friends of Clifford Halloway. They were VanRensaeller Schuyler, Howard Miller, Henry W. Brower, Harold Wills, Carl L. Walz, and Stanley Hunter.

About Sewer Beds.

A city councilman in speaking to a Daily Press representative this morning about the sewer beds said that it is entirely out of the question of Plainfield's sewage matter being carried to tide-water. This he gave out as positive. He does not think that every smell noticed by the people of Plainshould be attributed to the sewer beds. He also said that the officials from Red Bank who came to Plainfield a few days ago to inspect the sewer system could not detect the slightest odor and they were well pleased with the system.

SKYWARD ON A KITE.

A MAINE INVENTOR SOARS UPWARD ON AN AIRSHIP.

Wind is the Motive Power—He Remains Poised in Air at Will and Might Ascend to Any Height He Pleased—He Cannot, However, Descend at Will.

Charles H. Lamson of Portland, Me. has demonstrated to the world that he has invented a kite-airship which is capable of raising a man from the ground to almost any height and sustaining him in the air. The weak point in his invention is that while he can raise himself with his kite at will, he cannot lower himself. But this defect he hopes soon to remedy.

The demonstration of his kite's powers was made in the presence of a number of well-known scientists who have taken much interest in the study of aerial navigation, and they all agree that the results Mr. Lamson has attained are of great interest and value. They look upon Mr. Lamson's achievement as a distinct step forward towards the accomplishment of practical aerial navigation.

Exactly what this last laborer in the field of aeronautics has done is to prove that it is possible for a man to ascend in the air on a kite, taking his seat while the kite remains stationary on the ground and then rising easily and safely with it on its upward flight. Men have been sustained on kites before, but in all previous cases the kite has first been sent up into the air and the rider afterwards hauled up to it by means of pulleys and ropes.

Mr. Lamson's kite sails away with its passenger, and if he could make it come down when he wanted to, aerial flight would be, at least, a partial success.

The kite weighs about 100 pounds, and its rider sits in a boat-shaped car, which is suspended from between the two sets of box kites. Attached to the bottom of this car are two bicycle wheels, by means of which the kite can be moved along the ground without danger of breaking the structure. The sails are so placed that when the supporting surfaces are folded down the kite may be moved about by one man.

Mr. Lamson has made two ascensions, rising each time about fifty feet from the ground and remaining poised in the air for fully half an hour each time. He intends to add to his kite a feature which will make it possible for the rider in the car to raise and lower it at will so that it will either ascend or descend at his pleasure. He will do this by passing a cord around the bowsprit of the machine and attaching one end of it to the forward sail, while the other end passes through the pulley in the guiding line and back into the rider's hands. Mr. Lamson refuses to say just what he thinks may be developed from this airship-kite of his, but he believes it will be possible for a man to ascend to almost any height in the air and remain there as long as he wishes and then descend to the ground in safety by pulling on the cord, which will be attached to the forward sail.

Last year Congress appropriated a certain sum of money to be expended in experiments with kites by the Blue Hill (Mass.) Meteorological Station and at this point, the kites furnished by Mr. Lamson are being used. They are sent up into the clouds a thousand feet or more above the earth, and have instruments attached to them for recording the temperature and the direction of the air currents and other interesting data.

A Flood Sufferer.

"You a sufferer by the recent big floods? Get away with you!" said the stern lady. "You have been hanging around town here all this winter and spring."

"But I am, lady, indeed I am," protested Mr. Dismal Dawson. "I got to thinkin' of all that water, an' it made me that sick 'n' weak that I ain't been even able to ask for work."

A PARIS SUGGESTION.

CRANKS' COLUMN.

Suggestions that Emanate from Pens of Bicycle Riders.

Either the bicycle craze has suddenly struck the aged and infirm, or else the cycle writers are just beginning to discover the old riders—at any rate, there is a remarkable record of these frisky oldsters. Some, no doubt, are purely fictitious, like the story about Gladstone as a wheelman; others may be true. Jason Furlong, of Maryland, who has lived seventy-two years, at last accounts was in jail, working out a fine imposed for scorching on a hired machine; while James Sinn, of England, aged sixty, has just paid two pounds and costs for riding at a violent speed and knocking down pedestrians. Out in Kansas the leader of a Decoration Day race was a beginner, aged fifty-eight, and another youth of fifty-one was well up with the leaders. In Philadelphia, Miss Brown, aged fifty-two, made a century run in 10½ hours, and then, after changing her costume, attended an evening lecture. The returns are not all in, but we feel certain that the roads are sprinkled with grandfathers and grandmothers and all making centuries and phenomenal spurts of speed as a matter of course.

Advices from England show that bicycles of this country are being sacrificed. Last year the American makers who anticipated a big demand, sent over large consignments. A great many of the firms did not consider the demands of English riders, and, as a consequence, their wheels did not find a ready market. An English exchange of a recent date says that the American wheels sent over last season are now being sold at public auction for ten and fifteen dollars. The same wheels in this country sold for sixty and seventy-five dollars. The American firms, however, who shipped their wheels for foreign trade, are said to be doing nicely.

In the matter of road sprinkling it is rather difficult to please bicycle riders. They want the road damp enough to lay the dust, but not wet enough to be muddy, and it is very rarely this happy mean is obtained. The reason is that the watering cart must give the road a thorough soaking, or else keep going over it at intervals of five minutes, which would make sprinkling a very costly process. Those who ride in carriages make no complaint because, as a rule, they are up high enough to escape mud thrown by the wheels or the horse's hoofs; but the wheelman cannot escape a bespattering when mud lies in his path. If the wheelman does not like the common roads, let him keep off until they suit his fancy.

Manuel Garcia, a Mexican toreador, recently felt himself in need of a big ad. in order to raise his name and fame from obscurity to that of chief espada. So he announced, on flaming posters, that he would kill the most savage bull in existence from his seat on a bicycle. The City of Mexico turned out to see the brave cyclist. Manuel appeared in the arena, brilliantly clad, and the air was rent with thunderous applause as he wheeled round the barricade. But the bull would not allow the glorious traditions of the past to be upset; no bicycle was going to do the trick for him. So he put his horns in the wheels and hurled Manuel twenty yards into space. Manuel has expressed the opinion that the bicycle is a fraud.

"Have you given up the bicycle, Mr. Fewscads?" asked the landlady, desirous of saying something pleasant to her hallroom boarder, as he forked over the week's rent.

"I haven't been riding much lately," he answered. "I find that it doesn't agree with me."

"How?"

"It increases my appetite so."

And that night when the chicken was doled out he got two necks and a wing.

The chainless bicycle, operated by bevel gearing, is on the horizon of next year's business, and some authorities profess to see in it the real cause for the break in prices of the chain-driven wheels. It is said that one prominent manufacturer has a chainless machine under test which has been ridden 12,000 miles under all possible conditions, and has given the highest satisfaction, while several other makes are talked about with equal confidence but more vaguely. There may be some advantages in the bevel gearing; one of them is said to be that it combines a narrow thread with wide bearings, thus contributing to speed and safety at the same time, but it is not likely that it will supersede the chain as the safety bicycle has superseded the old high wheel, and there is little danger that persons who procure good wheels at low prices now will have this cause to regret their action next season.

A bicyclist named O'Brien, of San Francisco, went into a store the other day and said, "I wanter buy a thermometer."

The young man in charge smiled, took a cheap thermometer off the wall and sold it to O'Brien for $1.

"Where do ye put it on?" he asked.

The joker tied it to the crossbar, and O'Brien pedalled off through the park.

"Hey, O'Brien!" shouted a passing acquaintance. "What's that you've got on your machine?"

"A thermometer."

"What for?"

"To tell me when I'm scorchin'," and O'Brien put on a spurt and humped his back so that he could read the mercury's ride.

"The cycling community," remarks the caustic critic, "is made up of four classes—the have beens, the would bes, the haven't beens and the never will bes."

A Five o'Clock Tea.

No style of dress offers such a wide field for the display of pesonal taste and fancy, as the five o'clock tea gown. For the most part, soft, clinging woolen materials are used for the purpose, and are richly trimmed with lace, ribbon, or any other fashionable trimming. At present the Empire style is most favored and its flowing amplitude of material is very becoming to most figures. The robe is made of yellow crape, the bodice shows the short position cut, and the sleeves are half long, and arranged in narrow over wrapping tucks; a dark red velvet jacket slashed back and front, and with rounded espaulette entirely bordered with gold braid, worn over the short waist. Wings broad lace are set direct on the high Medicis collar, and the becoming sleeve frills are of similar lace. The finely plissed skirt is set direct on to the waist, a loose sash of light blue crepe de chine with long ends and bows being tied over the joining. A tortoise shell comb inlaid with gold is stuck in the hair.

The Vessel of Life.

The Strangest Vessel Ever Made.

The body of a pauper who died in the London Hospital was delivered to the doctors that they might demonstrate the amount of iron in the ordinary man. Later one of them fashioned the iron into the form of a vessel and named it the "vessel of life." As cattle eat natural food their blood is always well filled with iron, but man's food, often fancifully prepared, is nearly always lacking in iron. The blood of animals, therefore, furnishes the best source from which to refill the blood of man with iron. Dr. Campbell has secured natural iron from bullocks blood and put it up in the form of Capsuloids. Any one can take it.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York.

HE WILL RETURN.

President Andrews Will Not Resign From Brown University After All.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 15.—President Andrews of Brown university, in a rather brief letter, has announced his intention of withdrawing the resignation he made some time ago and will continue in his office of president.

His letter reads as follows:

Gentlemen—The resolution of the corporation of Brown university on the 1st inst., communicated to me by you, has been carefully considered. I take pleasure in assuring you that the action referred to entirely does away with the scruple which led to my resignation. At the date, however, when you laid the communication before me I had undertaken to perform the coming year certain work, which, after learning the judgment of the corporation on the subject, I came to regard as incompatible with the duties of the presidency. I therefore felt obliged at first to adhere to my resignation, but being now free to give to the university my undivided service I have withdrawn my resignation and have notified the secretary of the corporation to that effect.

VON HAHNKE BURIED.

Last of the Young German Whose Death Was Veiled In Mystery.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—The funeral of Captain von Hahnke, son of the chief of Emperor William's military cabinet, who met his death by drowning in July last while accompanying his majesty on his trip to the Northland, took place yesterday with full military honors and in the presence of large numbers of military and naval officers.

The ceremony, which was most impressive, was witnessed by an immense concourse of people. Beautiful wreaths were sent by the emperor and empress and by Prince Leopold of Prussia.

The official version of the death of young Von Hahnke seems to be that while out bicycling with a brother officer he accidentally ran into the river Grondalselv in trying to avoid a collision with a shying pony. According to the official account, the river is a raging torrent, from which escape is impossible, and when young Von Hahnke's companion came upon the scene all trace of the unfortunate youth, except his cap, had disappeared.

There have been other stories of the cause of death. A week ago Mr. Labouchere, in London Truth, renewed the mysterious hints that there was a close connection between the death of Captain von Hahnke and the black eye which Emperor William received about the same time. The official explanation of the accident to the kaiser attributed it to a blow from a rope which was being whirled about by the wind one evening when young Von Hahnke was officer of the watch on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. According to one version, the emperor abused Von Hahnke so coarsely that the latter committed suicide.

DETAILS OF TEXAS STORM.

Special Dispatch to Kansas City Tells the Loss of Life and Damage to Shipping.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—A special says: Sabine Pass suffered greatly from the recent storm. All of the small shipping at both the new and old towns was destroyed. The old town was wrecked, and many of the larger vessels were badly damaged. Only the large buildings in the new town remain standing. During the storm six feet of water covered the town.

Ten deaths have been reported up to this time, and many are missing.

Four tugs went down with their crews, but the United States life saving crew stationed at Sabine Pass succeeded in saving many lives.

When the terrific windstorm struck the town, it was accompanied by a brisk rain, which soon made rivers of the streets. This, together with the high waves breaking over the banks of Sabine lake, caused fear that the town was about to be visited by a tidal wave. There was a rush for the depot, and the evening local to Beaumont, Tex., was soon filled with excited women and children. An hour after the storm, however, the water had all drained off, and today the streets are dry. Yesterday a special train, carrying President A. E. Stillwell, General Manager Robert Gillham, Vice President E. L. Martin, George Matthews, head of the building department, and Judge J. D. McTrimble, one of the directors of the Pittsburg and Gulf railway, left Kansas City direct for Port Arthur.

WEYLER LIKELY TO REMAIN.

The Spanish General May Still Hold Power, Says a Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Times' correspondent at San Sebastian comments upon the "almost complete indifference displayed by representative men regarding the extremely critical political situation." Continuing, he says:

"Ministers, generals diplomatists and public men of all parties and of every variety of opinion merely shrug their shoulders when Cuba is mentioned. The present government is weak in the extreme, but there is no sign that the Liberals are any better organized.

"Captain General Weyler will probably be retained in Cuba out of deference to the personal wishes of the late premier, Senor Canovas del Castillo, but experience forces the conviction that Cuba will never be pacified by military operations. The question arises whether the United States could be induced to stop American supplies to the insurgents. If so, there is no doubt the rebellion would soon collapse. The difficulties would be great, but the question ought seriously to occupy the attention of Spanish statesmen."

A FEW CASES MORE.

Southern Towns Find Some New Fever Patients to Watch.

WALL TENTS ARE SENT TO MEMPHIS.

The New Orleans Board of Health Expects That There Will Be More Sufferers, but Does Not Fear Serious Results.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Surgeon General Wyman has received the following dispatch from Dr. Guiteras, the government's expert at Mobile, concerning the yellow fever situation there:

"Patient at City hospital is still living. The case of Bosarge, reported by me as suspicious, I have not been able to see again. The subsequent history makes the case more suspicious. Bosarge has not been out of the city nor in any apparent way connected with people from Ocean Springs. I have just been shown another case, which I have pronounced without doubt yellow fever. He is a motorman; no apparent connection with other cases. I have heard the history of another case, which is very suspicious. The cases are not grouped in any one quarter of the city."

A dispatch was received from Fontainebleau, Miss., the site of the detention camp from Surgeon White, stating that Dr. Gaines reports one new case at Berkley. A nurse and rations were ordered there.

The surgeon general ordered by telegraph 200 wall tents, 12 by 14 feet, to be shipped immediately from St. Louis to Surgeon Young at Memphis, there to be held until further orders.

Steward Goodman was ordered from Fortress Monroe, Va., to the detention camp at Fontainebleau, Miss.

May Be More at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—No concealment is made of the expectation of the officials that possibly a dozen cases more will develop here, but the large medical staff now employed in fighting the disease are not less confident than they were at the start that they will finish yellow jack before frost comes, or at least keep him very "groggy."

A majority of the existing cases are improving, and fatal consequences are looked for in only one instance at present. The authorities expect any other cases that appear to be sporadic, and if they are all as widely separated from each other as are the present cases the health officers do not believe there will be any alarm in the situation.

The board of health has announced five additional suspected cases.

Reports from Ocean Springs say there have been four new cases. Surgeon Wasdin, who is ill, is doing well.

Anxiety at Jackson.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 15.—The people here are still greatly excited over the fever outlook. People continue to leave the city, and wagon after wagon is used in hauling household goods to places of refuge in the surrounding country. The chief interest centers in Edwards, 20 miles distant, where Dr. Purnell, the fever expert, reported 3 suspicious cases out of a total of 30. The city is surrounded on all sides by an armed guard, and the utmost vigilance prevails. The fears of the people are greatly relieved by the receipt of an official report from the mayor of Edwards saying that an epidemic of dengue is raging, but there are no yellow fever cases.

Charleston Begins Quarantining.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 15.—The board of health of Charleston has now established a strict quarantine against New Orleans, Mobile and other infected cities and districts. Health officers have been placed at Branchville and Yemassee, and passengers, household goods and other classes of freight from those places will not be allowed to come into the city in the future. The quarantine will be strictly maintained.

Spain Declares Quarantine.

MADRID, Sept. 15.—The Official Gazette announces that all vessels arriving in Spain from ports between New Orleans and Ocean Springs, Miss., will be subjected to quarantine.

Trouble For Anarchist Ventre.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The treasury department has received information that an anarchist named Joseph Ventre some time ago was expelled from Spain and that he had arrived at Tampico, Mexico, en route to the United States. It is also stated that Ventre received assistance from parties in Mexico in his efforts to reach this country and that passage had been engaged for him on the City of Washington. The captain of the vessel, however, refused to receive him, and it is expected that he will now make an effort to cross the border either at some point in New Mexico or Texas. Customs officials have been notified to be on the alert, and if found Ventre will be deported as an assisted immigrant.

Counterfeit Money In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—There is a gang of counterfeiters flooding Washington with bad money. Their specialty is a bright and shining silver dollar of the date of 1896. Two white men, both of whom were strangers in the vicinity and evidently Italians, worked together and used a negro as a stool. The money is described as an excellent imitation of a genuine silver dollar.

Haynes' Trial Is Slow.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The forenoon and afternoon sessions of yesterday, the sixth day of the Haynes murder trial, were spent in placing in evidence and proving maps and photographs of the various places where it is alleged that the different features of the murder were committed.

Murdered by Italians.

GENESEO, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Philip Gibbons, a farmer, who lived three miles south of Livonia, was shot and killed by two Italians. The two men were captured. One of them made a desperate resistance. Gibbons was 42 years old and had six children.

Mrs. Spofford Improving.

AMESBURY, Mass., Sept. 15.—The condition of Mrs. Harriet Prescott Spofford, the writer, who has been ill, is improving. It is now expected that she will fully recover.

Of the large number of Crescent wheelmen who started last Sunday for Clinton on their wheels only six rode the entire distance there and back. The balance of the party made use of the cars.

Miss Whitlock, accompanied by a bevy of charming young women from New Brunswick, rode their wheels to Plainfield yesterday and were the guests of Miss Minnie Arnold, of Manning avenue. Miss Whitlock was formerly a resident of this city.

FOOTBALL.

A meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held yesterday afternoon at the close of school to consider the question of a football team for the High School this year. The High School entered in the football championship of the New Jersey Interscholastic Association but now that the boys have had a chance to talk the matter over, it was deemed best to give up any plans as the material for the team are lacking. The Association decided to give up the team and cancel all games in the interscholastic championship.

First Fall Meeting.

Last evening the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., held its first meeting for the fall season, and there was a very large attendance. Nearly all of the members made brief reports concerning the recent trip to Buffalo, and many of the reports were exceedingly amusing. A vote of thanks was extended to S. W. Reese, of Westfield, for his magnificent gift of the howitzers to the Post. A vote of thanks was extended to the people of Westfield for their hospitality on Labor Day. Previous to the close of the meeting two new members were received by card.

Talked and Walked Too Much.

Patrick Kearns, of East Second street walked on the grass of Nathan P. Rogers. He made remarks to the people on the piazza that the latter claim were insulting. Patrick Kearns was arrested. He pleaded guilty, but Lawyer Clarence Murphy, of Murphy & Blatz came to court and pleaded for leniency for his client. The Judge was impressed and decided to think it over, so the sentence of the court was reserved to another day.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Gavett is laying in a fine line of fall goods, including many new patterns in Haviland china, cut glass and elegant lamps.

—A case to prove the right of property in which Henry DeMott, of Somerset street, was interested, has been settled out of court.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders held their regular monthly meeting yesterday. Nothing but routine business was transacted.

—A peach festival, under the auspices of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, will be held in Lyceum Hall, Liberty and Sixth streets, tonight and tomorrow and Friday nights.

—On Lincoln place, at the intersection of streets crossing it, legible signs have been erected by Freeholder L. E. Barkalew at his own expense. The improvement is a marked one and should be generally adopted by the Borough Council.

—Albert Sail, who gives his residence as Egypt, was discharged from the hospital this morning, where he has been confined for two weeks owing to an injured foot, caused by a heavy weight falling on it while he was traveling on the railroad. He will now return to Egypt.

Only a Joker's Trick.

The horse and buggy supposed to be stolen from George Harris, of New Market, last Sunday night, while the owner was calling on a young woman in the borough, was found on Monday at Peter Pfinger's hotel at Washingtonville. The horse was discovered to be a little lame owing to hard driving which someone had given him. Everything else was in good condition and Mr. Harris was glad to get his stolen property back. The rig was left at the above place but Mr. Pfinger does not know who the party was. It is supposed to have been a practical joker's trick.

Drummers Dined.

The members of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps were given a dinner last evening by Bert King, one of their number, at his home on West Front street. The party met at the corps rooms and went via trolley car. There were speeches and songs and recitations after the supper, which was an excellent one, and all the members took their turns at entertaining the party. Then the corps marched over and serenaded Bennett Brittin and John Kriney, who passed out cigars among the serenaders. Another trolley car took the corps back and the party broke up at the rooms at 10:45 o'clock.

WHEN ROYALTY TRAVELS.

It is Necessary that whenever Grand Duke Paul Goes, His Bed Goes too.

Few royal folks when traveling require their bedsteads and bedroom furniture to form a portion of their luggage, as the Queen does, for instance. But great many ladies there are who carry their own beds and bed linen, blankets and quilts, and always a mackintosh sheet to spread over the mattress to guard against dampness for lack of sufficient airing in transit from place to place. The Grand Duke Paul of Russia, it is true, is always when traveling accompanied by a bedstead which he has had built in sections, and which is put up by a special mechanic under the superintendence of the royal valet wherever the Grand Duke goes, but then it is simply because he can seldom, owing to his great height, meet with one long enough for his comfort.

It does not appear to be generally known that among the servants of the Queen are two bearing the title of Her Majesty's Tapissiers. One of them follows the Court wherever it may be, and the other remains permanently at Windsor. The duty of these functionaries is to superintend the packing of the Queen's baggage when the Court migrates, and their work is so perfectly organized that every member of the establishment concerned knows almost to a minute when he or she must be ready to receive a visit from the packer.—London Figaro.

THE GOAT WAS A POLITICIAN.

But Falling into Machine Ways Got Him into Trouble.

John Combs, treasurer of Jamestown, Ottawa county, decided some time ago that the safest way to keep the township cash was to place it in an iron pot and put it under his house. He thus stowed away $400 in bills and $100 in silver.

The house was a frame structure, with no walls surrounding the wooden supports, and the family goat crawled under and ate the township's entire stock of greenbacks. One of the children who saw him nibbling at a silver dollar in the back yard gave the alarm.

Acting under the advice of his bondsmen, Combs reluctantly killed the goat and dissected it. The entire $400 was found, but badly mutilated.

The bills were sent to Washington for redemption, and the department succeeded in identifying about $130. The bondsmen had to put up for the rest.—Cor. Buffalo Inquirer.

In the Good Old Days.

In the year 1792 visiting was often managed by sending round an empty chair attended by footmen—that is to say, the chairmen carried the chair, and behind it walked two footmen, who carried the cards, and, with grave faces, asked at each door whether Lady A. was at home. She never was at home. Again—but only if one was a very great lady—it was common to invite one's friends to a rout, and, when the street was blocked with the coaches and the rooms with the company assembled, the hostess would call her own coach and go off to somebody else's rout. There were ladies, too, but not great ladies, who gave frequent card-parties, and found their hospitality profitable on account of the "card-money." At that time every player was supposed to slip something under a candlestick. When the company departed the servants collected the money for themselves. In the case of one prudent housewife, she lifted the candlesticks herself and kept the coin.

Matches Made of Paper.

Matches made of paper is one of the latest inventions. The time-honored plan of rolling paper into a spill and using it for lighting purposes, has been utilized by an inventor in the manufacture of matches, and promises to revolutionize the European trade. The paper is immersed in wax, stearine, and similar substances, and burns with a bright, smokeless and odorless flame. Cut into match lengths, it is dipped in a phosphorous composition like the common wax match. The invention is regarded as a timely one, as the wood used in the making of matches is constantly growing more scarce and costly.

Davis' Affectation.

"Richard Harding Davis," says a writer, "does not care if people know that he 'keeps a man.' In fact, he rather courts the publicity. In registering recently at a Bryn Mawr, Pa., inn, he inscribed himself, 'Richard Davis and valet.' A Philadelphia gentleman immediately followed Davis in registering, and, with a quick glance at the scrawl above, wrote, 'Bradley Warburton and valise.'"

A Test of Prominence.

"Hiram," said Mrs. Corntossel, "I'm afraid our Congressman ain't making the impression at Washington that we expected."

"Why, he made some fine speeches."

"I know that. But I don't see the newspapers goin' inter no conniptions about the kind o' clothes he wears."—Washington Star

Take Time.

It's because we're so well satisfied that we can save the Piano buyer a lot of money that we want him to be satisfied too.

He should take time to visit all the Piano stores he knows; he should be diligent and shrewd in asking questions, and thus find out for him elf what is going to best suit him. Let him come here first, if he wants to, and note well what we can do for him; then go to all the others. When through getting "pointers" let him make comparison and decide where he will buy.

We won't try to influence his judgment; we know what the decision will be.

NUPTIAL EVENTS COME WITH AUTUMN'S TIME.

At Hymen's Altar the Chain of Cupid's Love is Welded in Life Union.

Two Marriages, the First of the Fall Season, Interest Society Circles—Whiton-Newton Nuptials Consummated Amid Fine Floral Decorations and Select Company—Miss Udelle, the Violinist, Becomes the Wife of Clarence Smith, of Newark.

One of the prettiest weddings of the year was that of MissAdeline Pritchard Newton and John Milton Whiton, both of this city, which took place last night at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George H. Goddard, 205 East Ninth street. Miss Newton has been for several years one of the principals of the Scribner-Newton School on La-Grande avenue, and has a wide circle of friends in this city; Mr. Whiton is one of New York's prominent insurance men.

Mrs. Goddard's beautiful home was charmingly arranged for the occasion. The ceremony took place in the large hall in the centre of the house, where it could be viewed by the guests in the surrounding rooms. The large staircase was a mass of blossoming clematis vines, with great bunches of hydrangeas, tied with ribbons, on each landing. About the spot where the bridal party were to stand, the vines were festooned into a sort of bower, from the top of which hung a marriage bell of white marguerites, with a clapper of golden rod. The drawing room was decorated with pink roses, the library with red flowers, and the dining room with golden rod.

As the wedding was to be a very quiet one, only a few guests were present, including the relatives and intimate friends of both parties, and the teachers and a few of the older pupils from the Scribner Newton School.

The ceremony took place at half-past seven. The bridal party came down the broad staircase together, the two ushers, Newton and Frederick Goddard, nephews of the bride, leading, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Harriet Goddard, a niece of the bride, in a gown of white mull with pale yellow ribbons. Next came the bride and groom, together, Miss Newton wearing a very handsome gown of white moire, trimmed with white lace and silver embroidery, and decorated with orange blossoms. The Episcopal marriage service was read by Rev. Mr. Newton, of Colorado, an Episcopal clergyman and a brother of the bride. Miss Newton was given away by her mother.

After the ceremony, relatives and friends crowded around to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Whiton, after which a delightful little supper was served from an improvised supper room on the broad piazza.

After the supper, an informal dance was begun by the younger guests, in the midst of which Mr. and Mrs. Whiton took their departure. Dancing and social intercourse continued until late in the evening, and the wedding was pronounced by all one of the prettiest and most cosy and home-like ever witnessed in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiton received a large number of very handsome gifts, which were shown to the guests in one of the upper rooms. The display of cut-glass was specially attractive, one table being devoted to that alone; the beautiful gifts were shown to the best advantage by the warm light of a banquet lamp in the centre of the table, and by the soft glow of color from a great bowl of roses placed among them. There were also handsome gifts of silver, pictures, books, embroidery, and many other things.

The music was furnished by P. Ludwig Conde. The Lohengrin Wedding March was played during the entrance of the bridal party, and the Mendelssohn Wedding March at the close of the ceremony.

With the waning harvest moon peeping in at the window, a charming home wedding was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Lewis, of 925 Watchung avenue, last evening, when their sister, Miss Nelly Sperry Udelle, was united in marriage to Clarence W. Smith, of Newark. Miss Udelle is a charming young woman, favorably known in musical circles as a talented violinist. Her husband holds a responsible position at the Tradesmen's National Bank in New York.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the parlor, beneath a festoon of streamers made of oak leaves. The room was artistically decorated with oak leaves and pink and white asters. Rev. Kerr Boice Tupper, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, of Philadelphia, the old pastor of the bride, officiated. The bride was given away by Mr. Lewis. The wedding march was played by Frank J. Smith.

The bride was gowned in white brocaded satin, trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white bride roses. She was accompanied by her bridemaid, Miss Carrye Moore, of Brooklyn. Miss Moore's gown was of cream brocaded silk. She carried pink roses.

The best man was Howard S. Smith, of Newark, brother of the groom. Nearly a hundred relatives and friends of the couple were present from Plainfield, New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Philadelphia, and Cleveland, O. The wedding supper was afterwards served and the newly-married couple drove away for the station amid a generous shower of rice and old shoes. They left on a two weeks' wedding trip. On their return they will reside at 905 Watchung avenue, where Mrs. Smith will establish her musical studio.

The wedding gifts were many and included many useful and valuable articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their friends on Wednesday, Oct. 6th, at 925 Watchung avenue.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Lyle, Miss Myra Lyle, Mrs. J. S. Vinson, Miss Linda DeMott, Mr. and Mrs. J. Coventry Smith, Miss Miriam Smith, Miss Ada Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Jerolemen, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lewis, Miss Mabel Hopler, Mrs. Eva Chandler, Mrs. Frank Johnson, Bert Mandeville, Mr. and Mrs. Will Osmun, Miss Tillie George, Miss Amy Bolton, Mrs. Fanny Harrison, Fred Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Ross, Miss Edith Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fulcher, Arthur Woodford, all of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Moon, of Brooklyn; Miss Sarah A. Palmer, of Cleveland, O.; Alfred B. Edes and Frank J. Smith, of New York; Charles Beling, James R. Wright and Will Burggs, fellow employes at the bank in New York; and Mrs. Robert Dryden, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson, Harry Johnson, Herbert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Middledith, Charles King, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Runyon, Miss Annie Wyckoff, Miss May D. Thompson, Miss Elizabeth Fish, Fred K Fish, Jr., Lambert H. Fish, Mrs. J. W. Richardson, E Herbert Bonnell, William Samuel Loizeaux, Paul Loizeaux, Miss Hazen, Miss Grace Hazen and Mrs. Willard, all of Plainfield.

FELL AND BROKE HIS ARM.

A Young Lad Climbed to a Perilous Position and Lost His Balance.

Yesterday afternoon Charles O'Neil, aged nine years, living at the corner of Elmwood place and Second street, was playing with some other boys at the foot of Sycamore avenue, near the brook, and climbed upon a large derrick recently erected. O'Neil managed to gain a high position and some of his comrades were swinging him back and forth. While doing this he lost his balance and was thrown with considerable force on to a pile of rocks. The other boys were frightened, but succeeded in carrying him to his home. It was discovered that the boy's arm was broken by the fall. A number of physicians were sent for, but some time elapsed before one arrived. Some internal injuries may develop later on, but at present the boy's injuries do not seem to be of a serious nature.

TO AID CATHOLIC CLUB.

BAZAAR AND FESTIVAL BEING HELD IN LYCEUM HALL.

The Affair Given Under the Auspices of the Sewing Society of St. Mary's Church—Pleasing Programme Given Last Evening.

The members of the Plainfield Catholic Club are to be congratulated in having such a worthy benefactor as the Sewing Society of St. Mary's church, who has successfully arranged the affair which opened at the Lyceum last evening and which will continue this and Friday evenings. It is called an entertainment and bazaar and the women have decorated the pretty clubhouse rooms in a very tasteful manner.

From 8:30 to 9:30 a very choice programme was rendered as follows: Soprano solo, "The Holy City," Miss Veronica O'Keefe, of Brooklyn; humorous selections, J. Peter Cullinane, of Greater New York; elocutionary selections, Miss Pauline Charters, of Elizabeth; soprano solo, "Ave Marie," Miss Alice Crouther, of Cincinnati. Each number on the programme was presented in a pleasing manner and there were frequent encores. Following the entertainment those present indulged in dancing, music for which was furnished by Eugene O'Reilly, and the guests easily found the refreshment rooms where lots of good things were on sale, consisting of peaches, ice cream, cake and fruit of all kinds. There was also a fine display of fancy and useful articles, and most of tnese articles were donated by the merchants of Plainfield, for which the women are very thankful. In the basement are to be found a number of games, such as hitting the popular doll with baseballs and throwing the rings for the canes.

Mrs. J. L. Slevin is president of the Sewing Society and she is chairman of the affair. Assisting her are Miss Slevin, secretary of the society; Mrs. Conway, Mrs. McElroy, Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. DeRevere, Mrs. Knowlton, Miss Phillips, Miss Butscher and Miss Verdon. The committee from the Catholic Club consists of Matthew Cashin, M. Owens, J. Hillman, John Keenan and John Powers. They have charge of the dancing and the games.

Those who serve as waitresses are Lizzie Day, Fanny Hillman, Anna Daley, Mamie Burke, Agnes Kelly and Anna Ryan. The flower girls are Loretta Flanagan and Jeanette Summers.

This evening a different programme will be presented and tomorrow evening also. The affair is for the benefit of the Catholic Club and the prospects are that their treasury will be greatly enriched by the earnest efforts of the women who deserve much praise. The attendance last evening was most gratifying and the patronage accorded thankfully received.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Many Interesting Points About the Work Among Young Men.

Ten junior members of the Y. M. C. A. wheeled to Summit Saturday afternoon, and visited the Y. M. C. A. at that place, where they were cordially entertained and given the privelege of using the swimming tank. Refreshments were then served. On the theory that one good turn deserves another, the Summit juniors have promised to visit this city on Saturday, October 2nd. They will be met at the Y. M. C. A. by the local juniors, and the party will then proceed to Washington Rock, where refreshments will be served and a general good time enjoyed.

The special summer rates for the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. expired last night, but the members who went in under the special rate will continue to have the use of the reading room and other general privileges until the full year of their membership has expired.

The regular class work in the educational department of the Y. M C. A. will commence on or about Monday, October 4th. On next Tuesday a reception will be tendered by the department to all the apprentices of this city.

VIOLENT NOSE-BLEED.

Unable to Check the Flow Himself, Benjamin Clark Called on Dr. Long.

Benjamin Clark, of Scotch Plains, was seized with a violent attack of nose-bleed at 6 o'clock this morning, and in spite of the efforts of his family the flow of blood could not be checked. At 11 o'clock Clark was driven to Dr. M. B. Long, in this city. The physician succeeded after a short time in checking the trouble. Clark has been suffering with a severe cold in the head for several days, and it is probable that a slight rupture of a blood vessel occurred in the head.

TRIED TO END HIS LIFE.

ROBERT RUSHTON GASHED HIS NECK WITH A TABLE KNIFE.

Hospital Nurse Discovered the Blood on His Shirt and He Calmly Admitted the Wound Was Inflicted by Himself.

In the quiet precincts of Muhlenberg Hospital a terrible tragedy came near being enacted early last evening. Robert Rushton, who was struck by a locomotive near the North Avenue station Tuesday morning and badly cut about the head, attempted in a fit of melancholy to take his own life, and seemed sorry that he could not succeed in the attempt.

Ever since his entrance into the hospital the patient has suffered from a deep depression of spirits. The physicians noticing the fact, and fearing that at any moment his reason might altogether leave him, ordered a watch, more or less strict, to be kept upon his actions.

Rushton was given his supper a few minutes before 6 o'clock last evening. The meal was carried to him by James Wilkinson, an employe at the hospital. Upon the tray was a knife and fork, neither one of which was sharp enough to be considered a dangerous weapon. Wilkinson and Miss Hartcraft, one of the nurses, stopped at the patient's side while he was eating to see if anything was wanted. Neither noticed anything suspicious. After he had finished eating, Miss Hartcraft came to remove Rushton's tray. She was startled to see the front of his shirt saturated with blood.

"Are the wounds in your head bleeding," she asked.

"No," replied Rushton, unconcernedly. "I did that just now with this knife."

He held up the knife which had been given him with his food, and pointed to an ugly gash in his neck, near the jugular vein. Horror stricken, the nurse seized the knife and fork and hurried away with them. She told of her discovery, and the physician was summoned at once and made an examination. The wound was not a dangerous one, but had the knife in Rushton's hand had a keener edge, his life might have ebbed away before help came.

The patient was removed from the ward in which he has been staying and was placed in a small room, separate from the other patients. A strict watch will be kept upon his actions, to prevent any further attempts at self injury.

This morning a consultation over his case was held at the hospital, and it is thought that he will be removed shortly to a private sanitarium.

The malady is an aggravated form of melancholia, which has been growing upon Rushton since the death of his wife, a few months ago.

With proper treatment and seclusion the patient will probably recover.

FOR YOUNG AMERICAN'S USE.

Boys Club Provides a Fine Gathering Place for the Rising Generation.

The Boys' Club opened its clubhouse on Sycamore street last evening and will continue the opening tonight. The opening was for the boys who were invited to come and look around and register their names, if they cared to, as members of the club. Superintendent Olaf Saugstad was kept busy taking the names and explaining the workings of the club

The membership of the club at the start will be limited to twenty boys who will be selected from those that apply during the opening nights. A waiting list will be established from which vacancies will be filled. As soon as the boys are regularly organized and are working well, the membership will be slowly increased from the names on the waiting list.

There was a large attendance of boys at the clubhouse last evening and they all showed a desire to become regular attendants. This evening, the house will be open at 7:30 o'clock and the other boys of the city are invited to come in and see.

WATERY GRAVES STARED HUNDREDS IN THE FACE

Day's Pleasure Followed By a Collision of Boats on Golden Rod Excursion.

The Steamer St. Johns, Carrying Seventeen Hundred People, Many of Whom Were Plainfielders, Run Into the Catskill and Sunk Her—A Terrorizing Scene Resulted Among the Frightened Passengers—Only One Life Lost As Far As Can Be Learned.

While returning after a day's pleasure up the Hudson river, the big iron steamer St Johns, with 57 Plainfielders and some 1,700 other passengers from along the line of the Jersey Central railroad, collided with the passenger steamer Catskill in the North river, between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth streets, New York. In ten minutes the Catskill was at the bottom of the river. The accident occurred last evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. The experience was one that the members of the Golden Rod excursion will never forget. Pandemonium reigned and everybody fought for life-preservers without regard for their neighbors.

The passengers from the Catskill were rescued by two tugs that arrived soon after the accident occurred. As far as is known, only one life was lost. Bertie Timmerson, of Leeds, a six-year old boy, was lost in the panic, and, it is supposed, fell overboard and was drowned. He was on board of the Catskill. One man on the steamer had his leg broken.

The Catskill, on the trip up, usually keeps to the east side of the river, and she did so last night. She was almost opposite the Fifty-ninth street pier, and about 200 yards out, when the St. Johns was seen coming down. She was also keeping in toward the New York shore. The Catskill was going at full speed because she was late, and Capt. Cooper wanted to make up time He says he blew his whistle twice to notify the captain of the St. Johns that he was going to port. He says that the captain of the St. Johns answered with one blast of his whistle, which meant that he wanted the Catskill to pass him on the other side. At that time, Cooper says, the boats were too close together to do this. The captains each turned their helms the way they had signalled they were going to steer, and before they could turn them back the boats were so close that a collision was inevitable The St. Johns struck the Catskill about fifteen feet from the bow on the starboard side, and her heavy steel-sheathed bow cut a hole almost half way through the Catskill's hull.

The thing happened so quickly that the passengers on neither boat realized that a collision was imminent until it had actually occurred, and then followed a scene almost indescribable. On both boats there was a panic. Men and women screamed in terror, and rushed hither and thither, knocking each other down.

Her officers realized the situation, and the captain and the pilots shouted from the pilot house to the passengers to get life preservers. There was a wild scramble for the cabins, where the life preservers were kept.

Meantime the crew of the Catskill, under the orders of the first mate, had jumped to the life boats, of which there were four, and lowered them. Just as the boats struck the water the water in the Catskill's hold reached the engine room and put out the fire. The boat was lighted by electricity and the dynamo stopped.

Then came absolute darkness, which served to make the fright among the passengers a great deal worse. The officers of the Catskill ordered that the women be taken into one of the boats first, but the moment the boat was in the water the men made a rush for it, and there was a hand-to hand fight to keep them away. In the struggle men seized the women and threw them aside. They grabbed hold of each other frantically and fought and wrestled. They lost their heads completely, and all the time the shrieking and yelling were kept up. Finally all the women were got into the boat. Some of the men followed them. Tnere were more than enough boats to take care of all, but everyone seemed to want to get into the same boat and at the same time.

The excitement on the St. Johns at this time was fully as great as it was on the Catskill. The St. Johns had 1,700 excursionists aboard. They were from Allentown and Easton, Pa., and had started in the morning for a trip up the Hudson to Newburg. They had had a fine day and were on their way to the trains that were to take them to their homes. The collision had not injured the big boat's hull, but the shock knocked a good many of the passengers down, and the shout went up that the boat was sinking. The officers and crew were rushing around trying to quell the panic when the second collision came, and the screaming and excitement were renewed.

Among the excursionists from this city was S. S. Swackhamer, the well-known lawyer. Mr. and Mrs. Swackhamer went with a party of relatives, ten in all. When seen by a Press reporter this morning he told the story of the accident as seen in the part of the boat on which he was.

"Yes," said Mr. Swackhamer, "we had a pleasant trip until the accident occurred. We had left Newburgh at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon and were steaming down the river. Our party was seated on the upper deck, not far from the stern, where we could not see what happened in front. It must have been nearly 8 o'clock when the accident happened. It was already dark and while there were lamps on the lower deck, it was so dark where we were that it was impossible to see anybody more than a few feet away.

"Then came the crash without any warning. The steamer stopped and everybody was nearly thrown from their seats. A momentary silence followed the crash and then shrieks and screams arose from all sides. We thought at first that the steamer had struck a rock, but those in front called out that we had collided with another steamer. The crowd rushed from side to side and the boat began to rock. Someone in the crowd shouted to get the life preservers and many of the men made a dash for them, tearing down the ceiling in their efforts to get at them. Few knew how to put them on and there were some strange looking objects with the preservers strapped on at all angles. One man with a very large head could not get his head through the opening in the preserver and he rushed around yelling to everybody to help him. We all thought that the steamer was sinking and the crew would not say whether there was danger or not. Our party did not make any attempt to get life preservers as we knew that the roof over the deck and the suction of the sinking vessel would make them of no use.

"The deck was a perfect pandemonium and the darkness made the panic even worse. Women fainted, and women and children rushed about frenzied. It seemed to us half-an-hour before one of the officers came up on deck and called that the St. Johns was all right. The excursionists hysterically applauded. We did not see the Catskill, but heard the whistles that blew from the moment we struck. After the accident, the St. Johns started down the river at what seemed to us unusually high speed. We thought that she was trying to make her pier before she sank and that impression prevailed generally on board.

"Just as we were about to land, there was another panic. Someone saw some smoke or steam and shouted that the steamer was afire. The excitement was soon quelled.

"We did not fully realize that we were safe until we landed, for while the steamer lay still at the scene of the accident we all expected that our end had come and we sat there expecting the vessel to sink every minute. The strain was something terrible, as you can imagine."

TANDEM CRASHED INTO WAGON.

Cyclists Miscalculated Space Between the Vehicle and Car Track.

A tandem bicycle, ridden by a Miss Davis and her escort, from New Market, crashed into the delivery wagon of A. M. Griffen, the hardware dealer, at the corner of Front street and Watchung avenue, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, damaging the machine badly. Miss Davis and her companion luckily escaped almost uninjured.

Everyone who saw the accident were agreed in the opinion that Thomas Burns, the driver of the wagon, was not to blame for the accident. He was driving at a moderate pace on the right hand side of the street, when the tandem approached at great speed.

Its riders apparently endeavored to get between the wagon and the car track, and miscalculated the space until it was too late to avoid the crash.

Both were thrown from the machine almost under the horse's feet. They scrambled out at once and rescued the machine, which was broken in several places.

They left the tandem at a local repair shop and rode home on the trolley.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE

The Strike Situation at Hazleton Practically Unaltered.

GENERAL GOBIN EVER ON THE ALERT.

The Question of Arresting the Deputies Will Remain In Abeyance Until the Inquest on the Dead Miners Is Held.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 16.—A calm pervaded Hazleton and its environs yesterday, and no disturbances were reported. The strikers maintain silence and good order. An extra guard was placed about the company stores at Lattimer in consequence of a current rumor that the foreigners were plotting to blow up the building with dynamite. They have ceased dealing there and are now buying their provender in Hazleton. Some are going so far as to move into the town, and several cartloads of poor household goods were traveling townward over the Lattimer road.

For some reason which could not be learned extra vigilance was maintained at the camp of the Ninth regiment at Hazle park. The guard was strengthened, and not a soldier was permitted to leave camp. The Fourth regiment shifted from Audenreid to Drifton in the afternoon and established camp on the hills. There is no indication of trouble there, but General Gobin means to keep every locality guarded.

Arrangements are under way for a monster mass meeting here on Saturday night, and it is understood that efforts are being made to bring Eugene V. Debs and other prominent labor men to address it.

All the miners in the middle coalfield will be asked to attend, and it is estimated that 25,000 miners will be present.

General Gobin had heard nothing of the proposed meeting and said he would treat with the emergency when it arose.

Another story of the day was that William J. Bryan had been secured as counsel for the prosecution of Sheriff Martin and the deputies. It was scouted by the strike leaders as too absurd to merit consideration.

The arrangements for the prosecution by the Austrian societies, who have taken up the cause, have been brought to a pause by General Gobin's order forbidding the arrests of the prospective defendants. Several meetings were held, but it was finally determined to let the matter rest in abeyance until after Coroner Bowman has held his inquest and reached a verdict. That official has not yet fixed a date for the inquiry, but thinks it will be some time in the early part of next week. Fifty or 60 witnesses will be examined, including Sheriff Martin and a number of his deputies and some of the miners. No matter what the verdict may be the case will be carried into the courts, but no details have been arranged.

The strike conditions have not been materially changed. None of the malcontents manifested any disposition to return to work, and a few more joined their ranks. These were from the Audenried washeries, about 100 in number. So far as can be learned, no plans are under consideration by the strikers looking to a resumption of work.

The 500 men employed at the Beaver Brook colliery of Dodson & Co. met and decided to demand an increase of 10 per cent in wages and the sale of powder at $2 per keg instead of at $2.75. If the company refuses, they, too, will join the striking army.

Rumors and reports of more or less value continue to agitate brigade headquarters and the various camps. What was set down as a startling dynamite plot has come to the usual lame and impotent conclusion. It flashed in from Cranberry. A local detective gave the information that a quantity of the explosive had been secreted by the miners there. Two deputies, armed with search warrants and guarded by a detail of cavalry, went over and made a thorough search of eight houses without discovering anything to confirm the suspicions. The troopers went from there to Audenreid, where they visited the camp of the Twelfth regiment, and then to McAdoo and Beaver Brook to take a look around.

The signal station, perched on the top of a monstrous culm bank at Lattimer, made a report which caused some uneasiness. It was to the effect that suspicious lights were seen moving up and down the mountains surrounding Milnesville, giving the appearance of a march or a meeting of miners. Everything in the district was quiet, however, and no further information was obtained. The mysterious lights may have been nothing more terrible than the lanterns of a few night working miners or pumping engineers, but General Gobin made a note of the matter.

The funeral of Clemeno Paltrock, another victim of the shooting, occurred in Cranberry yesterday. The entire village was wrapped in an atmosphere of gloom. The Audenreid drum corps led the line of march, with the Synouri Polish society following. Two carriages containing mourners and about 700 miners were in the line of march. Services were held at the Polish church by Rev. Dr. Aust, and interment followed in the church cemetery.

J. H. Jacobs, an East Broad street baker, is a much frightened man. He has received a letter threatening him with death. It was signed "Committee of Foreign Element" and read to the effect that proof had been secured that he had acted as one of the deputies and that he would be killed the first time he ventured outside the city. The letter is regarded as a foolish hoax.

More Brokers Fail.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Seymour Bros., stock brokers, of 39 Broad street, assigned yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock without preferences. Ex-Justice of the Supreme Court Charles Donohue was named as receiver. The firm is composed of Edwin W. Cox, Alex Lewis Seymour and James W. Seymour, Jr. Mr. Cox lives at Morristown, and the Seymours live at East Orange, N. J. The men were extensive bidders in stocks, grain and cotton, and it is said their failure was caused by heavy dealing in wheat.

Fifteen-year-old Girl Suicides.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Margaret McMahon, 15 years old, daughter of a poor man, committed suicide last night by swallowing carbolic acid. She has been in ill health, and worry was probably the cause of her suiciding.

TERMED A TRAITOR.

New York Democratic State Committee Expels Mr. Purroy.

COURT OF APPEALS JUDGE NAMED.

Alton B. Parker Made the Choice of the Meeting After Four Names Were Submitted — The Chicago Platform Ignored.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The meeting of the Democratic state committee at the Hoffman House began in an exceedingly lively manner more than an hour after the time announced for it. The fighting started in as soon as the roll was called.

County Clerk Purroy, who is a member of the committee, answered to his name when it was called.

Committeeman Colson immediately brought up a resolution expelling Mr. Purroy on the ground that he had betrayed his party.

Some of the up the state delegates defended Mr. Purroy, but the Tammany Hall members, led by Tom Grady, denounced him vigorously and insisted upon his expulsion.

The meeting of the committee was held with closed doors, but the voices of the wrangling committeemen could be distinctly heard in the main lobby of the hotel.

After a redhot argument Purroy was expelled from membership in the committee on the ground above stated—treason to Tammany Hall and the party.

Purroy left the committee room denouncing the members in the most dramatic manner. He was greatly excited and made the following statement:

"As already stated, Sheehan's resolution of expulsion from the state committee has no terrors for me.

"I view it with the utmost complacency and shall not question either the jurisdiction of the committee or the consistency of some of its members who so faithfully betrayed their presidential candidate last year.

"In fact, I regard it as a great compliment to be attacked politically by a man of Sheehan's disreputable public record.

"For a long time I have been steadily protesting against the humiliation of having to associate with him politically and against the degradation of having to pretend to regard him as the real leader.

"From now until the close of the polls I shall continue to do all in my power toward averting the woeful disgrace of extending Sheehanism to the new government of Greater New York, and, believe me, it is very gratifying to me to recognize in the futile expulsion the best proof that my humble efforts in this regard have already made themselves felt."

The vote expelling Purroy stood 46 to 4.

The four members who voted for Purroy were Duffy and Coffey of Kings, Sulzer of New York and Chase of Albany.

The committee then admitted members of the Democratic Loyal league and the Progressive Democratic league, who presented a memorial urging the indorsement of the Chicago platform.

The name of Judge Parker was placed in nomination for chief justice of the supreme court of appeals by James A. Betts of Ulster county.

Immediately after Mr. Betts finished his eulogy of Judge Parker, Norton Chase of Albany nominated D. Cady Herrick for the same office.

In all the names of four gentlemen were presented. They were: Judge Parker, who received 27 votes; Charles E. Patterson, who received 8 votes; former Attorney General Taber of Erie, 10 votes, and D. Cady Herrick of Albany, who received 3 votes.

The silver issue will not have a place in the campaign of the Greater New York.

The Democratic state committee, after a lively argument, decided to ignore the Chicago platform.

Representatives of the two wings of the party advocating the indorsement of the Chicago platform were listened to, but the state committee refused to take any action in the matter, in spite of the vigorous protest from the silver men.

No resolutions were presented relating in any way to a platform or referring to the Chicago platform.

National Committeeman Frank Campbell, who is a member of the state committee, read a letter to the other members from Chairman James K. Jones of the national committee, in which Mr. Jones wrote that if the state committee decided it would be better policy to ignore the Chicago platform the national committee was not in a position to dictate any other action.

After the adjournment of the committee the silver men, headed by Senator Coffey of Brooklyn and President McDonald of the Democratic Loyal league said there would undoubtedly be a silver Democrat nominated for mayor.

Woman's Work

Is never done, and it is especially wearing and wearisome to those whose blood is impure and unfit properly to tone, sustain, and renew the wasting of nerve, muscle and tissue. It is more because of this condition of the blood that women are run down,

Tired, Weak, Nervous,

Than because of the work itself. Every physician says so, and that the only remedy is in building up by taking a good nerve tonic, blood purifier and vitalizer like Hood's Sarsaparilla. The Tables Turned.
We have almost solved the servant girl problem.
Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.
The tables are turned, and we have turned them.
We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.
Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,
Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "
What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

"I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Miss A. F. Callahan, of Woodland avenue, has returned to the Trenton Normal School.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. SAFE ROBBERY RECALLED.

Arrest of Notorious Cracksmen In Connection With the Dennett Case.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The boldest safe cracking job committed in this city while O'Brien was in charge of the detective bureau here remained a mystery until last night, when Chief McCluskey announced that he had the criminals in custody. Several safes in Dennett's restaurant on Park row, opposite the general postoffice, were plundered on Feb. 10, 1896, and $2,000 in cash stolen. O'Brien's men could not find a clew to the identity of the cracksmen, but when McCluskey became chief of detectives he took up the old case and found that the safe robbing was the work of John Hamilton, alias McCarthy, alias Brooklyn Johnny, and John McManus, alias Kid McManus, two veteran safe burglars.

The pair were captured yesterday in Mount Morris park. Besides the Dennett crime, the prisoners are accused of having robbed the safe in Salvin's clothing store at 153 Park row on Oct. 4 last.

McManus' last term in prison was for robbing the safe in a Bridgeport (Conn.) jewelry store.

The Steamship Excelsior at Last In Harbor at San Francisco.

F. HAYES OF PORTLAND A LUCKY MAN.

Passengers Unite In Confirming the Stories of Famine at Dawson and Say Seven Thousand People Are There Now, With New Arrivals Daily.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—The long overdue steamer Excelsior, which left St. Michaels, Alaska, for this port six weeks ago, but was compelled to put back to Unalaska for repairs after having broken two blades of her propeller, has arrived here with 63 passengers and about $2,500,000 in gold.

Of those who came down from Alaska all but two are known to have money, but few were communicative enough to admit how much they had. F. Hayes of Portland was conceded to have the largest individual amount, but upon being interviewed he would admit having but $35,000.

All unite in confirming the stories already told of the impending danger of famine at Dawson City during the coming winter. They say there are at least 7,000 people now at Dawson City and that more are swarming in every day, but that the provisions are already running short, and the prospects of getting more are remote. The Excelsior's passengers are unanimous in the opinion that the Klondike region is richer than was at first supposed, but are also of the opinion that unless the immigration to that country is stopped temporarily there will be terrible suffering.

Louis Sloss, Jr., of the Alaska Commercial company was one of the passengers on the Excelsior. He went to Dawson City for the company and reports that all the good claims are taken up.

There is no chance for the newcomers unless a rich strike is made in some other section. Mr. Sloss says that his company's store at Dawson was closed for but one day, to receive freight from a river steamer. He thinks provisions will be scarce, but hesitates to say there will be actual starving.

There are about 300 impatient miners at St. Michaels, most of whom will have to stay until spring unless they have already secured passage on the river boats. There are plenty of provisions at St. Michaels, and every effort is being made to get supplies up the river to Dawson.

It is difficult to say how much money was brought down by the Excelsior. The miners are secretive and will give no accurate information. Some of them, it is known, could not bring much and will be glad to go to work down here. The Alaska Commercial company received a large consignment of treasure, but will not say exactly how much. When asked as to the amount, Mr. Sloss said, "We brought more than came down on the Portland, and we did not need any maxim guns to protect it."

St. Michaels Commissioner Arrives.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The officials of the interior department were much relieved at receiving word that Mr. L. B. Sheppard, the United States commissioner to St. Michaels, Alaska, had arrived at his post and was prepared to take up the business of his office. A government commissioner in a place so remote as St. Michaels practically performs the duties of a federal judge, and the post at St. Michaels has become of exceptional importance since the Klondike discoveries were made. Mr. Shepperd was appointed on the 22d of July, and while he left St. Michaels immediately afterward nothing had since been heard from him, and some uneasiness was felt. He reported by message, wired from Seattle, that his bond had been forwarded and that he was ready for business.

Death From a Railway Collision.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 16.—As the Erie passenger train was leaving this city at 6:45 o'clock last night, it came into collision with a Delaware and Hudson dummy engine at the Union street grade crossing. Neither train nor engine was going over five miles an hour, and yet the accident resulted in the death of John Balfour, the fireman on the dummy, and the serious injury of Engineer George Shaw of the passenger train. Shaw's leg is badly crushed. Balfour was running the dummy at the time, and it is stated that his inexperience was the cause of the accident. Both engines and a baggage car were badly damaged.

Narrow Escape of Thirteen Laborers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—So as to make room for a small public park on the lower east side of this city a number of tenement buildings near the junction of Division street and East Broadway were condemned and ordered torn down. While 13 laborers in the employ of Contractor Max Cohen were removing the roof of 176 Division street, a five story structure, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it began to shake. They escaped to an adjoining roof just as the tall building collapsed and fell in a heap of ruins.

New Drydocks May Be Built.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The navy department is resolved to free itself from responsibility of sending American warships to foreign docks in the future, and to this end the department will recommend to congress that appropriations be made for the construction of at least four new drydocks. It will be suggested that these be located at Boston, League island, Norfolk and Mare island, Cal., and it is hoped that congress will authorize the construction of at least some of stone.

Found Dead In a Ship's Cargo.

GLASGOW, Sept. 16.—During the unloading of the Allan line steamship Towerhill, Captain Brown, from New York Aug. 28, which arrived here on Sept. 10, the body of a young American was found buried deep in grain. It is supposed that the unfortunate man was shot in with the grain when the vessel was being loaded in New York.

Coal Vessels to Be Exempt.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The Mexican government has exempted American and other sailing vessels carrying exclusively coal into Mexican ports from tonnage duties.

CLOTHES OF ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. Hull Western, the well-known New York advertising expert, who resides on Grove street, contributed the following seasonable advice in the last number of Printer's Ink, and though it applies directly to the general advertiser, it is as well applicable to many Plainfield advertisers:

Like mankind, a well-dressed advertisement is best fitted for getting business. Advertisements, too, wear out their clothes and need new ones.

Time measures the usefulness of everything, and may lessen the value of an advertising design as well as the cut of a coat. That which met fully the requirements of the moment and stirred the attention six months ago, burrowing into the memory with a passing glance, is cast into flat commonplaceness by the fad of the hour or the changed character of its environment.

Perhaps the favoring individuality that measured so largely the worth of the advertisement has become dimmed by the adroit imitation of its neighbors, who have borrowed, so to speak, its characteristic makeup until its individuality is no longer distinctive and noticeable.

The happy thought has outlived its time.

The shrewd advertiser—he who advertises for the greatest degree of gain—should watch for this, and apply the remedy as soon as it may be needed.

Go over your advertisements now. Give them a new fall suit.

Get into the spirit of the times; there is profit in the suggestion.

BETTER NEWS SERVICE.

The Press has just completed arrangements whereby it becomes a charter member of the Publishers' Associated Press, and on and after Monday, September 27th, will receive the telegraphic service of this new newsgathering combination, which promises to equal the older organizations in the daily compilation of domestic and foreign events in a bright and concise style for the ready perusal of the busy world in which the patrons of this paper are active factors. The service of this new association will be especially adapted for papers in the smaller cities, but its energies and enterprise will be quite as powerful and successful as the older associations.

A PARTY MEASURE NOW.

The action taken by the Republican State Executive Committee yesterday in determining to make the anti-gambling constitutional amendment a party measure, has been expected right along. Now that the G. O. P. has, so to speak, took the amendment under its wing, the chances for its enactment by the votes of the people is greatly increased. The committee will issue an address in a few days urging the members of the party to support all the amendments, and particularly the anti-gambling one.

WHY DEPLORE?

A great wail is going up in New Brunswick over the fact that the city has no theatre. But why deplore such a fate? Isn't there a jail there—a place, if the newspapers are to be believed, prolific with comedy, tragedy and melo-drama. Yesterday the star features of the jail's continuous show was a marriage and a strike. We always thought that New Brunswick people were kickers, and we know it to be a fact now that they agitate the theatre project with such a bastile in their midst.

THEATRICAL.

A farcical conceit, "A Knotty Affair," was put on by Rice's Comedians at Music Hall last night. There is but little plot to it, but the dialogue is bright, and with the many laughable scenes kept the large audience in the best of humor. A long programme of specialties was introduced. It is something unusual for a repertoire company to carry such clever singers and dancers as are with Rice's Comedians. "The Old, Old Story," which will be given tonight, is a new society play that has been very successful with this company. The dramatic interest is said to be very strong and is interspersed with splendid comedy.

PASSING COMMENT.

It has been well suggested that the wheelmen of the city might save their fellow-sportsmen lots of vexation and money by putting up signs on the sidewalk in places where the road is being repaired. Many ride on the sidewalk in such a place without thinking of it but if a notice stared them in the face they would be far likelier to dismount and lead their wheel by the obstruction.

There are in Elizabeth two brothers by the name of McGrail. One is sergeant of police in that city and one of the most efficient officers on the force and the other is an occupant of one of the cells in the county jail. He was arrested in this city during the raid on the "hoboes" who took possession of a Jersey Central freight train early last Sunday morning. He gave his name as Higgins but the Elizabeth authorities knew him and applied the correct one. This is not the first visit of the younger McGrail to the county jail and he has been a great trial to his brother, who is deservedly popular.

The race meet that was held in connection with the Somerset County Fair at Somerville this week was unique in one particular. On the list of officials was printed the very unusual one of surgeons and following it was the name of one of the leading Somerville physicians. This may be accounted for by the fact that accidents have been numerous on that track and that two riders have been killed there while racing. While those in charge of all race meets usually see that there is a physician in attendance, they do not make that one of the regular positions on the track. It looks too much as if trouble was expected.

FIELD WORKERS TO MEET HERE.

Paid Sunday-school Teachers From All Over the Country to Confer.

The Sunday-school superintendents, with the approval of the pastors, have invited the Field Workers' Association to hold its conference in this city January 18-20 next, and the invitation has been accepted. This association is composed of the paid general Sunday-school workers in the United States and Canada, about seventy-five in all. The sessions of the conference are to be open to the public, and it is thought that the different phases of Sunday-school work to be presented will be especially interesting to the people of Plainfield. Among those who are expected to be present are Marion Laurance, of Toledo; E. M Ferguson, of New Jersey; William Reynolds, of the International Committee; Mamie F. Huber, of Kentucky; Prof. H. M. Hamill, of Illinois; C. J. Kephart, of Pennsylvania, and others.

Excursions to Nashville.

The Tennessee Centennial has proved a great success. It continues until November 1st and the Norfolk and Western Railway has arranged some exceedingly pleasant excursions to Nashville for the occasion. These excursions go all-rail via Washington or Hagerstown, return the same route, or direct via Gettysburg, returning direct via Washington; or steamers to Norfolk, and thence via Petersburg (and Richmond if desired), Roanoke, Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain, returning all-rail to New York via the famous Shenandoah Valley route and Washington or Hagerstown (including Gettysburg if desired.) The Norfolk and Western Railway is the shortest and by all odds the most attractive route to Nashville, the cleanest, the most picturesque. For further particulars address L. J. EMPLOYES OF SUGAR REFINERIES WORK IN THAT TEMPERATURE.

Dante's Inferno Almost Equalled by Scenes in the Plants of the Sugar Magnates—Many Men Fall from Exhaustion During the Heated Term.

Of all the hot places it is the privilege of man to enter sugar refineries are undoubtedly the hottest. In the tall structures along the river front in Brooklyn can be seen daily hundreds of men to whom a temperature such as has driven most New Yorkers to despair would be a godsend. From morning till night these men labor in rooms the temperature of which seldom falls below 140.

In all the tales of suffering from the heat that come from the large cities of the country none are more distressing than those from the sugar refineries. It may be an element in the business that men should literally be roasted to death in order to carry it forward. The capitalists who conduct refineries insist that such is the case. They declare that their plants cannot be shut down during the excessively hot months of the summer, and they add that they keep the buildings as cool as possible for the men.

This is one instance, however, in which it seems incredible that human beings can long survive the burdens imposed upon them. The men engaged in this industry get through the winter months with considerable difficulty, owing to the heat, and when the summer sun returns they find themselves working in veritable furnaces, each in a modern Dante's inferno. They throw the windows wide open, and resort to mechanical devices to keep cool, but the effort is vain. Few men can hold their own against a temperature of 140, even when no exertion is required by them. Much less can hundreds of men engaged in the laborious work of a sugar refinery go about their duties and long survive the intense heat.

The department of the Brooklyn refineries in which the sugar is crystallized would be regarded by most persons as extremely hot, yet it is very comfortable when compared with the temperature in other departments. Here the sugar is poured into a semi-liquid state into metal cones, which act as filters or coolers. The heat is very oppressive, and many employes drop down while at work despite the fact that their dress consists only of light overalls and heavy shoes. The cones into which the sugar is poured stand on their narrow ends in racks all about the floor, and the workmen stand over them in the heat radiating from the hot sugar. Even in the coldest weather of the year and with the windows all open the men here cannot wear thin undershirts with comfort. Streams of perspiration run down their backs as they bend over their work. To add to their discomfort the air in the rooms is moist and steamy.

But wearing as it is the work on the lower floors, it is in the upper stories of the refineries that the extreme measure of suffering is to be found. There the temperature stays regularly in the vicinity of 140 degrees above zero. It is on these floors that workmen fall exhausted day after day. Some revive on being taken to a window, while others are able only to get to their homes. But the collapse of one or two or a half dozen men in the afternoon no longer is regarded as a matter worth mentioning. It has come to be considered as merely incidental to the business.

The majority of the employes in these departments of the big refineries are Poles and Hungarians. They decide to become sugar refiners as soon as they land in this country, and they try to adapt themselves to the conditions they find in the factories. Those who seem able to stand the work are sent to the top floor, where are great vats, with dark, slippery passageways between them. In these vats the sugar is boiled. The men stand over the vats stirring the sugar with long sticks. On all sides are big tanks, and each of these radiates an intense heat.

When to the closeness of the room and the heat from the vats is added the other discomforts of the work, it becomes little wonder that the men drop in their tracks from day to day. They look pale and careworn, all of them; their feet stick to the sugar covered planks as they walk between the vats, and they constantly are covered with perspiration. I am told that as many as eight unfortunates have succumbed to the heat in a single alley in one afternoon, and that four men fell where they stood in the next alley.

One floor of the refineries is of iron and it is covered by the 104 heads of the great charcoal filters below. The feet of the workmen have to become accustomed to the heat of this floor before the men can endure it. The bases of these filters are two floors below, where they are placed so close together that the firemen and stokers barely have room to bring coal for the furnaces. Here air is almost unknown and clothing is a burden. The men go from furnace to furnace with their loads of coal, perspiration dripping from every pore of their half naked bodies. Their only opportunity to get air is when they are waiting for a new load of coal outside.

And for all of the toiling and suffering in this intense heat the men are paid from $1.44 to $1.95 for a day's work of from twelve to fifteen hours.—New York Herald.

His View of It.

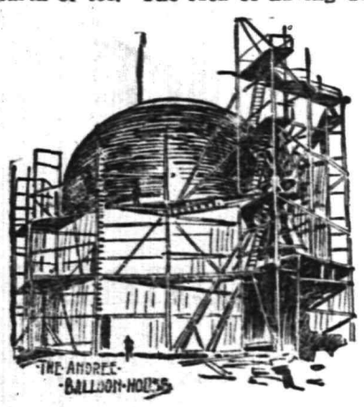
"Why don't you work? Why do you go around begging?"

"Well, mum, if you think beggin' isn't work just try it."—Judge.

THE ANDREE BALLOON HOUSE.

It May Never Again Cover the Balloon for Which It Was Built.

The entire civilized world is waiting anxiously for news from Dr. Andree, whose balloon trip toward the North Pole was started last month. The picture herewith given shows the house in which the balloon was built. Although this balloon may be regarded as being in almost every respect a novelty, the most striking characteristic is the guiding and steering apparatus. This apparatus, to describe it in brief, consists mainly of guiding ropes of different lengths, the shortest being about 1,000 feet, and the longest about 1,200 feet in length. These ropes hang from the bearing-ring just above the car and drag along the earth or ice. The idea of having different lengths of rope is that in case one of them got foul of some object, the others should run free. These guiding ropes drag after the balloon, and are shifted by the voyager as he wills, so that their weight and hold on the balloon shall affect its course in one direction or another. It was Dr. Andree's intention to keep about 500 feet above the earth—that is, of course, on the average; for it is obvious that when the weather is bright and warm the balloon would ascend a little, while when it is dull and colder it would come nearer the earth. Still, the guiding-ropes are intended to prevent its ascending above a certain altitude.



The car is, however, the most interesting part of the whole aerial vessel. It is only about 5 feet deep and a little over 6 feet in diameter. It is covered with a lid of basket-work, and in the lid there is a trap-door to allow the explorers to pass through. One man sleeps at a time, while the others are at work and at watch. The question of the hour is: "What has become of Andree and of his balloon?"

Admiral Beardslee.

Admiral Beardslee, who has just been superseded by Admiral Miller at Honolulu, is expected to make an interesting report to the Secretary of the Navy on Hawaiian affairs.

Lester A. Beardslee is one of the picturesque characters of the navy. He was born at Little Falls, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1836. Receiving a common school education, he was appointed acting midshipman March 5, 1850..

After being promoted to passed midshipman, June 20, 1856, he was detailed for special service on the steam frigate Merrimac. His promotions to be master and lieutenant followed soon afterward. On July 16, 1863, he was made lieutenant commander and was attached to the monitor Nantucket. He participated in the attack of the ironclad fleet upon the defenses of Charleston Harbor, April 7, 1863, and in the capture of the Confederate steamer Florida, at Bahia

In November, 1880, Commander Beardslee got his captain's commission and with it at leave of absence for two years. He commanded the receiving ship Franklin during 1883 and 1884 when he was transferred to the steam frigate Powhatan. Later he was stationed at the torpedo station and on the receiving ship Vermont. From 1891 to 1894 he commanded the naval station at Port Royal, S. C. On August 24, 1894, Capt. Beardslee was transferred to the Pacific station. He was made commodore June 27, 1893, and rear admiral March 1, 1895.

CURRENT COMMENT.

That Kentucky judge who justifies the taking of human life by talking of "unwritten law" is playing with fire in a state which is quite noted for the desire of its people to shoot on sight provocation.

An insurance company for umbrellas and canes has been organized in London, and it will issue policies on other articles easily mislaid or lost. Of course, it will look up lost articles, and may make it uncomfortable for those whose absence of mind takes the form of collecting umbrellas.

In the New York city directory the Smiths still retain a long lead. They number 3,183, the Browns coming next with 1,562. There are 1,495 Millers, 1,210 Murphys, 1,103 Meyers, 1,086 Johnsons, 1,074 Kellys and 1,006 Cohens. No other name reaches the thousand mark.

Secretary of the Navy Long says he cannot make Washington seem like home, and it always appears as if he were there only temporarily. The Secretary is credited with a desire to Americanize the United States navy before his term of office expires. His idea refers simply to the crews, which are now largely composed of aliens.

When Prof. Roentgen announced his discovery of the X ray, eighteen months ago, his films were exposed for two hours. Now a radiograph is taken in three or four minutes. Prof. Roentgen used a preparation of barium, which costs $1.25 a grain, but Edison found that the tungstate of calcium, costing a ninth as much, answers the purpose. No doubt other important improvements in the process will be made during the next year.

During the past four months the Ohio penitentiary has paid all its running expenses, and has a surplus of $2,280.60. It is an object lesson to other states. Criminals are better off when fully employed, and state prisons should not be a burdensome tax upon the people. The cost of sending the rogues and villains there is enough; they should be made to pay for their board, and lodging; and the fact that one state is doing it in a humane way is encouraging.

There will be no trouble about Britain's annexation of the Solomon Islands. Annexation in that country does not mean the same that it does in this one. The Solomon Islanders will not become, in any sense, rulers of Great Britain. They will not be admitted to citizenship, with a chance to cast the deciding vote in a close election. They will be tributaries, governed by an English official, in whose appointment they will have no voice, and their chief privilege under the empire on which the sun never sets will be to contribute their share of the taxes. Ther is nothing dangrous to Great Britain in the British style of annexation.

"It may be that we are approaching a period of government by groups," Edwin Fleming, the Buffalo editor, said. He was talking of the divisions in the House and Senate, especially in the Senate. In the latter body the lines which divide gold Democrats, silver Democrats, Populists, Silverites, silver Republicans and sound money Republicans grow more distinct. The old demarcation between the two great parties, the Republicans and the Democrats is fading. Each group manifests increasing determination to maintain its identity. There is no fusion in the former sense. There are combinations and alliances for specific and limited purposes. When the end is gained the temporary partnership dissolves. What was once known as the party vote is strangely infrequent. Even before the tariff schedules the old alignments can not be maintained.

Either the Andree polar expedition is the boldest and bravest exploit man has ever attempted, or it is a piece of incomprehensible foolhardiness. To find the North Pole by means of a balloon is one of those transcendental scientific feat of which the ordinary layman has no right to express an opinion All he can do is to ask questions. If the winds blow long and hard enough to take these hardy adventurers to the Pole, what is to blow them back again? However, this is childishness. The true scientific spirit, when the Pole is in question, does not ask to come back if he can only reach the terra incognita It is content to write Eureka, put it in a bottle, and die.

Offensive alliances now being in order, the latest is an alliance of Canada and Mexico to flank the United States The Evening Post points out that unless something is done with our tariff-making Senate this is sure to come about and then, with Japan and Spain united against us, the ironclads of one sweeping the Atlantic and those of the other mopping up the Pacific, we will regret when it is too late that we hurt Spain's feelings. The financial experts of the Post thing that the effectual way to stop all this is to cease building a navy of our own. A kindly exhibit of friendly helplesness on our part would disarm all these peoples.

Embroidered Case.

The case here shown is intended for a traveller's "Guide Book," and has also a separate pocket for railway ticket, note book, visiting cards, etc. The ornamentation should signify the country for which the traveller is bound, and a sprig of pomegranate embroidered on front and back of the case, declares its place of destination. A piece of butcher-blue linen 6 3-4 inches high and 10 1-4 inches long across is required for the case, yet stuff must be allowed for the turnings in at the seams, as also for the pockets —these are 4 inches large—into which the cover of the book is slipped. An extra pocket 3 inches large is set on to one of these, and a pencil slipped beside it into a linen sheath, made of double stuff like the leather strings 3-8 of an inch wide and 5 1-2 inches long, set on to the front edges of the case. The embroidery is worked with fine soft white cotton. Brown sateen is laid on for the initial letters and edged with fourfold pomegranate-red thread fastened down with buttonhole stitches made wide apart; the contours of the letters being worked with blue cotton, and knot stitches in the same color giving the fillings. Dull-green is used for the stalks, the veins of the leaves and the line of chain-stitches bordering the embroidery on the outside, which are interrupted by small leaves starting from the flowers done in leaf stitch and edged with satin stitch of a duller shade. The buds and blossoms are executed with two shades of pomegranate-red.

Genius and Might.

Godebski, the most famous of European sculptors, has just placed on exhibition in one of the German art galleries his greatest work "Genius and Night." It is regarded by critics as the century's greatest achievement in marble, and has lifted its creator into the ranks of the immortals. The idea typified is the aspiration of Genius striving after the perfect, reaching out his spiritualized being to heights untrod before, when in the midst of triumph death in the shape of earthly night grapples with and conquers him. It is, after all, simply the story of life, told again, in an ideal way.

An Historical Headquarters.

One of the historical structures at Regonville is about to be torn down, and with it goes an interesting landmark of the war of 1870-71. This is the famous building in which Emperor William I. slept after the battle of Oravelate. Near it is the structure occupied by Napoleon on the night of August 15. All the furnishings of the former building are being kept as historical relics, even to the bed in which the aged Emperor slept.

A criminal from the rural districts, who had heard all about the appeals to the Supreme Court, and who had been convicted of a penitentiary offence, was asked by the judge if he had anything to say.

"I jest wants ter ax one question, Jedge."

"Well, sir?"

He stooped down—picked up his slouch hat from the floor, as though ready to depart, and said:

"Whar 'bouts is this here Supreme Court at?"—Atlanta Constitution.

MICHAEL WINS AGAIN.

Starbuck's Conqueror Lowers Lesna's Colors and Breaks Records.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 16.—The 20 mile match race between Lucien Lesna and Jimmy Michael was won by Michael by 150 yards in the fast time of 38m. 11s., beating the world's record by 2 3-5s. The leader and time by miles follow:

Miles.		Time.
First	Michael	1:55 4-5
Second	Lesna	3:45 4-5
Third	Lesna	5:44 2-5
Fourth	Michael	7:34 1-5
Fifth	Michael	9:23 1-5
Sixth	Michael	11:19
Seventh	Michael	13:16
Eighth	Lesna	15:10 2-5
Ninth	Michael	17:05 2-5
Tenth	Lesna	19:02
Eleventh	Michael	20:56 4-5
Twelfth	Michael	22:50 1-5
Thirteenth	Michael	24:48 1-5
Fourteenth	Michael	26:42
Fifteenth	Michael	28:35
Sixteenth	Michael	30:30 4-5
Seventeenth	Lesna	32:29 3-5
Eighteenth	Michael	34:27
Twentieth	Michael	38:11

Besides breaking the 20 mile record Michael broke the 16 mile record, which was formerly 30m. 32 4-5s. and held by Lesna. The 20 mile record was formerly held by Lesna. The fastest mile was the tenth, made in 1m. 48 4-5s. The two started paced by quads. Michael took the lead at the start and kept it to the third lap, when Lesna passed him. Michael kept a few feet behind until the seventh lap, when he shot ahead and took the lead. At the fourth mile he was 100 yards ahead. He kept the lead to the seventeenth lap, when Lesna's pacers passed his. Michael then hitched on to Lesna, leaving his own pacers behind. Michael's pacers caught up on the next lap, and Michael led again. Lesna then took the lead and kept it for a mile.

Michael took the lead at the twentieth lap and kept it for two miles. Lesna then had the lead by a few feet for a mile. Jimmy then shot ahead and with a fine burst of speed kept 40 yards ahead. He kept this lead till the thirty-third lap, when Lesna gained and led for a mile. That was the last time that the little Welshman was headed. At the seventeenth mile Michael was 50 yards ahead. He gained right along to the finish and passed the tape fully 150 yards in the lead. The crowd piled on to the track when he came around and fairly went wild.

AUGUST IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Interesting Statistics Furnished by the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Domestic exports for August were the largest of any August of which the bureau of statistics of the treasury department has a record. They were valued at $79,497,320, as against $66,689,981 in August, 1896, an increase of $12,807,839. For the eight months ended Aug. 31 they amounted to $629,434,373, an increase of $62,217,387 over last year.

The excess of exports of merchandise over imports for August last was $40,953,753, as against an excess of $19,132,816 in August, 1896, and during the past eight months $95,229,213, as compared with $109,698,493 during the corresponding months of 1896.

The value of imports during August amounted to $39,876,640. This is the smallest value since June, 1879, when they amounted to $38,890,451.

The increase of exports is made up mainly of breadstuffs, which is accounted for by the heavy foreign demand for American grains.

The amount of gold imported during August amounted to $4,374,175 and the exports to $1,983,588.

The silver imports during August amounted to $1,491,752 and the exports to $5,013,277.

NORTH RIVER BOATS COLLIDE.

It Is Believed Three Passengers on the Steamer Catskill Were Drowned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The big Hudson river steamboat Catskill of the night line and the still larger excursion boat St. Johns came into collision last night on the North river off Fifty-ninth street, this city. The St. Johns, which was returning from a day trip up the river, had fully 1,000 excursionists on board, and the other boat had started on its regular night trip with about 30 passengers.

As the result of the smash up the Catskill is now a wreck on the Jersey shore at Weehawken, one of her passengers, Leonard P. Miller of Hoboken, is a patient at the Roosevelt hospital, and three others are said to be in the wreck at the bottom of the river. The St. Johns was damaged, but none of her passengers or crew was hurt.

Miller, who was taken from the water with a fractured leg, says he saw a small boy drown. The boy is believed to have been a son of Moses Timmerman, a resident of Leeds, N. Y.

A young woman, on the dock at the foot of West Fifty-ninth street, said she thought she had lost two friends on board the Catskill.

Convicts Revolt In Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—There is a revolt at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, brought about by an order forbidding tobacco and luxuries brought in by friends and a change in management, brought about by political exigencies. Bedlam was let loose, the 391 convicts making the most awful racket. It was decided to make a united break for liberty yesterday when they were let out of their cells, but this failed, as they were kept in confinement. They are quiet now, but things look bad, and very serious trouble is expected. The force of guards is very small, and reenforcements have been sent from the city.

Sultan Can Stand It if Paris Can't.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—La Patrie says that the sultan of Turkey has invited the divorced Princess of Chimay Caraman to give in his majesty's private theater at the Yildiz kiosk the performance which the Paris police recently refused to allow at the Folles Bergeres. It appears that his majesty has conceived a violent admiration for the eloping companion of Rigo, the Hungarian tzigane.

Warship Sent to Central America.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Upon advices from United States Consul Pringle at Guatemala City to the effect that insurgents had captured the town of Ocos, on the west coast of Guatemala, the state department has called upon the navy department to send a warship here to watch over American interests, and the Abert, at Mare island, has been ordered to the scene of trouble.

FLYING FROM DANGER!

Great Exodus From Jackson One Result of the Fever Scare.

REPORT ON THE EDWARDS CASES.

Quarantines Against New Orleans Are Putting the Treasury Department to Inconvenience In Getting Coin From the Mint at That Place.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 16.—The state capital is depopulated, its business houses closed and its newspapers suspended. Seven cases of yellow fever are officially announced at its very doors, with many suspected cases at various points. An embargo has been placed on the railroads of the state, and there are grave apprehensions that the dread disease has obtained a foothold in numerous parts of the state.

The worst fears of the medical fraternity and the public have been realized, and the prevailing disease a Edwards has been pronounced yellow fever. The state board of health has laid a general embargo on travel, except out of state, by means of an order promulgated yesterday afternoon and addressed to all lines of transportation. Travel from infected places is absolutely barred. The bright side of the situation is that the disease is of a very mild type. The exodus from this city, which began in a small way several days ago, has attained unprecedented proportions. The state board advises all who can to leave, and the railroads say they can handle the largest crowds. The most rigid local quarantine prevails here.

Dr. Guiteras reached Edwards at 4:30 a. m. yesterday and after investigation sent the following message to the state board:

"I arrived this morning. Have visited a number of cases, and the following are pronounced yellow fever: W. A. Montgomery, Patrick Montgomery, Miss Anna Henry, H. W. Barrett, E. F. Suttle and Miss Mamie Austin, three miles out in the country; Mrs. Champion, Champion Hill."

The following is Dr. Guiteras' report to Surgeon General Wyman:

"The diagnosis of yellow fever made in six cases by Dr. Purnell is confirmed. He has two other cases that I have not yet seen. There are many children sick with what is probably a mild type of the disease. The cases are not confined to one locality, but are all traceable to the Anderson case, which came from Ocean Springs. The medium of distribution appears to have been the Champion case. Mr. Champion, who died, was a prominent man, and many people congregated in the house during his illness. Dr. Purnell is immune, and I recommend him as competent to take charge of the situation if necessary. I shall leave for Mobile unless otherwise directed."

Treasury Put to Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The treasury department has already experienced some difficulty in making shipments of coin and currency from the United States subtreasury and the mint at New Orleans in consequence of yellow fever quarantines against that city. No particular inconvenience would result but for the fact that between $500,000 and $600,000 in subsidiary silver recently has been coined at that mint, which is now needed elsewhere. There are also about $16,000,000 in silver dollars in the mint, which may be tied up. If the embargo is materially extended within the next few days or is even maintained as at present, the mint at Philadelphia will be temporarily run on double time to meet the present demand.

A telegram was received by the surgeon general of the Marine Hospital service from Dr. Carter, dated at Fontainebleau, saying that he had appointed guards for the towns of Perkinston and Berkley. He spoke of the stoppage of trains on the Ship Island and Gulf railroad by order of the state authorities and suggested that the same results might be accomplished by a train inspection service.

In view of the report the surgeon general ordered Surgeon Murray to give special attention to the Perkinston case.

Chicago Will Not Quarantine.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—No quarantine will be declared in Chicago against the fever infected districts of the south. This was decided upon by a meeting of the board of health yesterday. It was announced that the yellow fever districts will be received in Chicago without question, it being agreed that the climatic conditions prevailing in Chicago perclude the possibility of any danger from that source.

Refugees Fly to Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Sept. 16.—Yellow fever refugees poured into the city yesterday. During the day three special cars of refugees came in from New Orleans and other infected points. One car was filled with the troops from Jackson barracks in New Orleans. They stopped here but a few minutes and then passed on through to Chickamauga National park, where they will camp.

No New Cases at Mobile.

MOBILE, Sept. 16.—No new cases of yellow fever were reported by the board of health yesterday.

English Shipwrights Strike.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Sept. 16.—The shipwrights are joining forces with the engineers in the formidable industrial struggle which is now seriously affecting the whole country. Following the strike of the men at the Armstrong Elswick works, the Whitworth yards and other shipbuilding yards on the Tyne and along the northeast coast, the Shipbuilders' federation has called out all other shipwrights. This action, supplementing the engineering strike, has completed the paralysis of the shipbuilding trade.

TRAMP MUTINY IN JAIL.

Several of New Brunswick's Chain Gang Prefer a Dungeon to Working.

Eight of the ten tramps in the Middlesex county jail, New Brunswick, mutinied and refused to shoulder ball and chain when called on to do so yesterday morning. Not even threats of a bread and water diet and an unlimited confinement in a dark dungeon could make them alter their minds. As a result of this mutiny only two men plied hoes in the gutters of Livingston avenue yesterday morning.

John Bates, the overseer, when he arrived at the jail, found the members of the chain gang holding an indignation meeting.

"We won't wear the chains," the tramps shouted. "We refuse to submit to public humiliation." "Then its bread and water and the dark dungeon for you," said the overseer. Thomas Owens and Thomas Martin weak ned at this and followed Bates. Smith was put in a dungeon and got a meal of bread and water. By noon he was of the opinion that even the chain gang was preferable to the underground dungeon, and he was very submissive when ordered to don the anklets

Three other tramps, ordered out yesterday afternoon, refused to go and were consigned to the dungeon. Sheriff Litterst has instructed the jailer to give the men who work in the chain gang a double portion of food, and those who refuse to work are to be fed on bread and water.

New Brunswick Bicycle Carnival.

The bicycle carnival of the Brunswick Bicycle Club was held at New Brunswick last evening and proved a success. The entries were not as numerous as was expected, but otherwise the affair was satisfactory to the club. The parade was headed by the Goodwill Band on Wolff-American duplex wheels. The decorations were many of them very pretty. The city was illuminated for the occasion and several thousand people came by train on wheels, and in carriages to witness the parade.

Horse Wedged in a Narrow Space.

A horse belonging to Jacob Voehl, the Somerset street baker, was injured by a peculiar mishap last night. The animal broke loose in its stall and wandered out into the carriage house and into a small room where the feed is kept. It became wedged into a narrow space and was unable to move either way. It was necessary to knock out a partition this morning to release the animal. Its injuries consisted of a few cuts.

GOSSIP OF THE CYCLERS.

ITEMS INTERESTING TO DEVOTEES OF THE STEEL STEEDS.

The Popular Exercise Provides Incidents and Expressions That are of Especial Moment When Wheeling is the Rage

Mrs. W. H. Lyons, of Orange, who is the guest of Mrs. G. R. Vanderhoef, of East Front street, is one of the patrons of the Pierce Cycle Academy, where she is being taught how to manage the steel steed.

Three out-of-town cyclists struck Plainfield late last night, one of whom was carrying his wheel as the result of a puncture he was unable to repair. The young men had been to the carnival at New Brunswick and were on their way to Elizabeth. Being unable to find a repair shop open they decided to take a train home.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Fourth class in the Plainfield High School and the Ninth grade of the Plainfield Grammar School met at baseball Tuesday afternoon and the High School boys won by a score of 17 to 16.

While a complete score has not been kept of every game that the Crescents have played, the records for all but three are on file at this office, and The Press will publish the batting and fielding averages and records of the different local players according to the games that have been played.

The Riverdale Field Club, which will meet the Crescents on Saturday afternoon on the field at the corner of LaGrande avenue and Richmond street, came very near having a Plainfielder for its pitcher. At the beginning of the season, the young men in charge of that club made a determined effort to secure Chauncey Burt, of West Seventh street, this city, to play on the team and pitch for them. Burt made quite a reputation while in college at Princeton and then as pitcher for the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team. He has been doing but little this year and did not have the time to devote to the sport, so he did not play with the New Yorkers.

The baseball season will come to an end on Saturday afternoon, when the Crescents will play their last game. Their opponents will be the Riverdale Field Club, of New York. The local team will consist of the same team as played last Saturday. Clarence Vroom, the younger brother of Dave Vroom, the catcher, has a very swift ball that proved effective against the Steltons. Twice he gave the Stelton batter three balls and then struck him out to the delight of the crowd. As a batter he was a great success. Corbin was a trifle rusty last Saturday, but he will be all right this week and may be expected to put up his usual good game at first.

Arthur Lederer, the High School boy, who has been covering the second bag for the Crescents all summer, has been steadily improving and is now one of the best infielders on the team. He may be confidently looked on as a fixture for next year. Lederer was not much of a hitter at the beginning of the season; he seemed to lack courage, but as the weeks slipped by his batting greatly improved, so that now he is doing very well in that line. While he does not make long hits, he frequently places the ball right over the heads of the infielders for one or perhaps two bases. Cooney, the third baseman, is another of the players who has greatly improved in batting during the season. There has been a marked improvement in his case and he is now considered a fairly steady batter. Will Symons was considered the best batter on the team, but he has lost rather than gained, although on several occasions he has saved his reputation by hitting the ball just at the right time for two or three bases.

FOOTBALL.

Active preparations are now being made to put the Alis football team on a good standing. Roy T. Phillips, the captain of that well known junior eleven, has called all his remaining players together and is looking over the material preparatory to picking the team. Several of last year's players are absent. Dwight has gone to Princeton, or will go soon. Peck and Rittenhouse go to Lehigh, and James Taylor has accepted a situation in New York. The positions left vacant are centre, tackle, quarter-back and one half-back. There are, however, a score of good candidates who are anxious to make the team, and practice is being held every afternoon.

A Merchant's Views

Of the Most Important Local Question we Have at Present to Discuss.

Opinions expressed publicly through this paper by people in the commoner walks of life who live in some distant State lack the interest which is attached to opinions held by residents of this part of New Jersey. The former have always a suspicious halo about them which is absent in the latter. To put it plainly the reader would much sooner believe the statement of a man living in Camden, N. J., than the statement of a resident of Woonsocket, R. I., and when the Camden citizen courts enquires the experience which follows can certainly be depended upon Mr. Jas. A. Brown is a painter, and lives at 701 South Sixth street, Camden, N. J. Write him if you doubt this statement and ask if it is not true. Mr Brown says: "I had kidney trouble for ten years, no doubt brought on from the constant use of irritating material used in my business. I had all the usual symptoms of acute disorders of the kidneys; pain in the back; sometimes in the side, abdomen and hips; restlessness and uneasiness at night and high colored and sedimentary secretions. I could not lift or use a brush without a pain and my condition was the opposite of physicially good. I happened to see in a newspaper that Doan's Kidney Pills cured such ailments and I got them at a drug store They proved to be the very thing I needed and I am more than pleased with the results. If ever the trouble returns I know what to resort to and I shall certainly use Doan's Kidney Pills the moment there are any indications of disordered kidneys. I recommend them particularly to brother painters, nine-tenths of whom require them.'

is the strong point in our advertising. These daily notices have the merit of simple truth.

When we assert that a buyer saves money in getting his Piano here, when we tell you that we have the largest stock of Pianos in New Jersey, when we affirm that you're absolutely sure of getting satisfaction from us, we only state plain unvarnished facts.

JERSEY CLANS LINING UP

POLITICS ASSUMING A LIVELY CAMPAIGN ASPECT.

The Republicans Lead Off—Democratic Hosts Carefully Watch the Enemy's Family Quarrels and May Get Together.

The politicians of both parties have been, during the last week or so, flitting around from place to place, doing a lot of talking and making themselves very agreeable, all of which is taken as an indication that the campaign of this year has been opened in real earnest. Clam-bakes and outings have been numerous in this end of the State, and the men who run the machines have been out in full force repairing fences and devising schemes for contemplated conquests. Such activity so early in the campaign betokens hot work when hostilities are at their thickest.

The Republican leaders seem all aglow with confidence. They are not saying much, but are doing a lot of thinking. At the State Fair last week the old war horses bobbed up serenely, and made their surroundings look pleasant by their affable manners and kindly greeting to the crowds who were there to pay them homage. John Kean, smiling and spinxlike, was prominent in the throng, his general demeanor indicating that he felt happy over his bright prospect for succeeding James Smith, the erstwhile leader of the Democracy, in the United States Senate. All attempts to interview Mr. Kean on the situation were futile, owing to his proverbial persistency in maintaining what is considered by his friends a discreet silence. Congressman Pitney, the slated candidate of the Republican party for Governor, was there, too, and created quite a favorable impression, although he did not say much concerning his own boom, which has been so well nursed by his numerous friends. In fact, all the Republican leaders of high and low degree, who were on exhibition at the fair, looked very happy indeed; so much so that one would think that they owned the political soil of New Jersey and all there is on it.

On the other hand, a silent, demure-looking delegation of Democrats, led by Senator Daly and former Congressman Cornish, were present, and, of course, they did not make much of a stir amid the crowd of enthusiastic Republicans. The Hudson Senator was the only one among them who showed any animation at all. But it is characteristic of Mr. Daly to always present a cheerful front, no matter how dark the cloud may be which hangs over his party. He has things his own way now, and if the element which is at present in the ascendancy continues to rule, he will surely be the next candidate for Governor.

The Republican organization of the State seems to be cohesive, aggressive and defiant. And as long as the Democratic dissensions last of course the Republican fold will be more encouraged as to victory. But there is such a thing as over-confidence, which has more than once led to a party's downfall when least expected. Three or four years ago the Democrats suffered defeat in that way. Over-confidence sometimes leads to nomination of weak candidates for office, and disaster is the consequence.

Pythians' Annual Reception.

Goodwill Lodge, No. 15, Knights of Pythias, will hold its first annual reception in the Pierce Cycle Academy on Watchung avenue, on Thursday evening, the 30th. The music will be furnished by Prof. Vandervere, of Elizabeth. Sir Grant Cannon, D. D. G. C., will deliver an address, and Grand Chancellor F. B. Lester, of Jersey City, and Grand Supreme Chancellor S. F. Mower, of Philadelphia, will also be present. A number of out-of-town lodges have been invited, and every effort is being made by the committee of arrangements to have the affair a success.

Arranging For the Winter Work.

The Y. M. C. A. committee on physical work will hold its first meeting of the season in the association building next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members of the committee are requested to be present as the arrangement of the fall schedule will be considered. The establishment of a special class for students from fifteen to eighteen years of age will be discussed and decided. If this class is organized the work will be of a special character exactly fitted to the needs of students.

Lutheran Service in the English Language.

A number of Lutherans in Plainfield, who are anxious to have services in the English language, have called a meeting of all those having this wish in common with them. The meeting is to be held in Reform Hall, corner of Central avenue and Second street, next Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

CHANGE IN BICYCLE TRADE.

Thomas A. Cuming Succeeds W. L. Price as Manager of the Eldridge Bicycle Co.

A change is soon to be made in the management of one of the leading bicycle stores in this city and the complete charge of the store is to pass into the hands of a hustling young Plainfielder who will conduct the establishment on radically different plans from those of the past years. Walter L. Price has resigned his position as manager of the Eldridge Bicycle Company to go in business for himself in Newark, and Thomas A. Cuming, of Putnam avenue, has accepted the position.

Mr. Cuming is well known in this city, where he has resided for six years. He graduated from the High School in 1893, and then took a six months' course in Coleman's Business College in Newark. He acted as bookkeeper and afterwards as stenographer for several New York firms, and then entered the employ of the Densmore Typewriter Company and finally became outside salesman. His contract with that company expired August 1st.

Mr. Cuming is one of the oldest and most experienced riders in the State. He has ridden a wheel for thirteen years and has been everywhere in this part of the country that wheelmen can go. He made quite a reputation for himself as a racer both on track and road where he won numerous races. He is an enthusiastic member of the L. A. W. and the Crescent Wheelmen.

It is Mr. Cuming's intention to run the business on a much broader scale than heretofore and introduce all the modern methods. The interests of his customers will be carefully studied and the most liberal inducements will be offered. The Eldridge Company is in its seventh year and has the largest capital of any retail cycle concern in the United States. Mr. Cuming will assume full charge on October 1st.

GAVE A DANCE TO HELP TREASURY.

Though Conducted on Business Principals Plenty of Pleasure Abounded.

The annual dance under the auspices of the German Beneficial Society was held last evening in Saenger and Turner Hall. The attendance was large. Every year this society takes this opportunity of raising funds for their treasury to help carry on their good work, and the way in which their many friends assist them by their presence is gratifying. Music was furnished by Frank Conde, who was also floor manager. The officers of the society served as a committee, and consisted of President, Max Menzenbach; secretary, Paul Postler; treasurer, Antione Stenzenberger, Oswalt Schwensky, F. Gombeitz and Fred Conde. The latter was in charge of the refreshments. The affair was one of the best ever held by the society and a goodly sum will be realized therefrom.

LOCAL G. O. P. NOT ACTIVE YET.

It is Their Intention, Though, to Try and Poll a Big Vote for Amendments.

So far the local Republicans have taken no action regarding the proposed amendments to the State Constitution, which are to be voted upon September 28th. It is understood on good authority, however, that they will make an extra effort to poll a large vote on that day. The sentiment of the party here is in favor of the amendments. The county executive committee of the Republicans is preparing to send out a circular relating to the amendments and urging all voters to turn out and support the measures.

SAYS HIS NERVES WERE SHOCKED.

Trouble Between Robinson and a Former Mayor Finds Its Way to Court.

A suit for $2,000 damages was begun yesterday in the Union County Circuit Court by Peter P. Robinson, of this city, against former Mayor Lewis V. F. Randolph. Robinson sues because of the alleged cruel beating on July 26th of a horse owned by him. The plaintiff says he was sitting at the time in a wagon to which the horse was attached and that his nerves suffered a severe and painful shock by the action of Randolph. The horse was valued at $100.

Grand Lodge Officers Coming.

Next Tuesday evening at the meeting of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., the third degree will be conferred by the Past Masters of the Lodge. The Grand Lodge officers of the State will be in attendance and a banquet will follow.

WOMEN'S RIGHT TO VOTE.

MRS. HALL TALKS FOR SUCCESS OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Since it is the Women Who Are to Have the Greatest Interest in the Schools They Should be Privileged to Select Trustees.

"Where children were chiefly taught at home, it might have been well to tell mothers to 'stay at home and take care of their children.' But now that they nearly all go to school, the mother's care should surely follow them." These words, written by a progressive woman physician, are warmly seconded by many New Jersey men and women, who are anxious for the passage of the proposed amendment to the State Constitution, giving full school suffrage to the women of the State. This amendment, which will be voted upon September 28th, is as follows:

"Every female citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the State one year and of the county of which she claims her vote five months next before said meeting, shall be entitled to vote at any school meeting, held in any school district of the State in which she may reside, for members of boards of education and all other school officers that now are or hereafter may be elected at such meetings."

The women of Plainfield, being desirous of helping along the passage of the amendment, a meeting was called for 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the club room of the Y. M. C. A. building, at which meeting, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., all women interested should be addressed on the subject by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall.

Mrs. Carman Parse, president of the W. C. T. U., presided, and opened the meeting by a short Scripture reading, after which prayer was offered by Miss Clementine Yates. Mrs. Parse then introduced Mrs. Hall, who spoke in a very practical and interesting way.

She said, in beginning her talk, that all present would readily agree with her in the statement that the majority both of the educators and the educated in our public schools are women. Among the teachers, the women far outnumber the men, and statistics show that about three girls to one boy are graduated from our institutions of learning. Therefore, it should follow naturally that women should have a voice in school management, and besides, who is so fit to take charge of the affairs of the child's school life as the mother who has taught him his first lessons, and has had the care of his whole early training?

This amendment brings forward no new idea, and will give no new rights or privileges to women, but will simply restore to them the right to vote at school meetings for the election of members of boards of education. This right was granted to them by the Legislature of 1887, and was used by women in increasing numbers and with decided benefits to the schools until November, 1894, when the Supreme Court decided that it was contrary to the Constitution for women to vote for school trustees. The right of women to vote upon all other questions that come before school meetings, such as the voting of a tax, or authorizing the issuing of bonds, was wholly unaffected by the decision of the Supreme Court, and is still possessed by the women of our State. The women of Cranford and of South Orange, have by their efforts, secured appropriations for proper school accommodations for the children of their towns. It is also the law of New Jersey that women can hold the position of school trustee, and a number are doing so in various parts of the State at the present time, having been elected thereto by the votes of men. Many people who are opposed to women's suffrage as a whole, approve of school suffrage, having seen it successfully tried. Moorestown is one place where women have done much for the schools, and the Board of Education of that town numbers almost always at least one woman among its number.

Women at school meetings possess at the present time exactly the same rights as men, with the single exception that after voting a tax or bonding a district they are debarred from voting for the men who are to expend the money voted to be raised. These school meetings are not held in cities; we have none here. But the election on this amendment, which will take place on September 28th, will cover the whole State. It will not confer the vote on Plainfield, but on the rural districts, and therefore will help to settle the question for the whole State.

UNLUCKY SPOT FOR WHEELS

Third Theft of a Bicycle Left in Front of the City National Bank.

Harry S. Potter has no more faith in the saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same place. Potter lives in Mt. Pleasant and has, until yesterday, owned a Pierce wheel on which he rode frequently to Plainfield. Yesterday morning he came to Plainfield and left his wheel in front of the City National Bank building, while he went inside to see McNabb & Clark, the lawyers. It was only the other day that Clark had warned him against leaving his wheel outside. It will be remembered that Robert M. Clark and Edward O. Clark had their Crescent wheels stolen from in front of that same building, and so Potter quoted the old proverb about the lightning never striking twice in the same place.

When Potter came out of the building soon after 11 o'clock his wheel was missing and he has not had a glimpse of it since, although he has been looking for it.

William Sweeney, of W. K. McClure's law offices, claims to have seen the thief. He says he was standing across the street when a young man of medium height, dressed in a dark coat and white ducks, came up to the wheel and rode off on it. He did not stop to put on clips. The stranger wore a golf cap.

The stolen wheel was a Pierce Special, maroon enamel, full nickel forks, 1897 model, No. 35,918, Kimball handlebars, which are very narrow, Brown saddle, Palmer tires, 70 gear.

LUNCHED, LISTENED, CHATTED

Edibles and Sociability Formed a Good Combination at This Event.

A lunch-box social occupied the attention of a large number of people who attended the First Church of Christ last evening. The affair was given for the benefit of the Sunday-school and an encouraging amount was realized. In the fore part of the evening a programme was presented consisting of an address by Superintendent Staats; recitation by Helen Woolley; reading by Miss Mabel Williams: recitations by B. W. Hand and Etta Staats, and vocal solos by B. W. Hand and Henry Staats. B. W. Hand and Superintendent Staats had charge of selling the lunch boxes, and nearly everyone brought a good price. The social part followed, when the lunch was partaken of.

AGITATING WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

Prominent People to Talk on the Subject Monday Evening.

A meeting to hear addresses on the school suffrage and race-track amendments to the Constitution of New Jersey will be held at the Park Clubhouse on Monday evening, Sept. 20th, at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be made by Rev. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church; Hon. Charles J. Baxter, superintendent of public instruction in the State of New Jersey; David Prescott Hall and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall. As the special election, when these amendments will be voted upon, comes on the 28th inst., this will be an important and interesting meeting. The public is cordially invited to be present.

COST OF STREET OPENING

Borough Watchung Avenue Commissioners File Their Report.

The commissioners appointed by the Mayor and Council of North Plainfield to make the benefit assessment of the cost and expenses of the improvement of laying out Watchung avenue, have filed their report with the borough clerk where it can be seen by all persons. The commissioners will meet on Monday evening, September 27th, at 8 o'clock, at the council rooms in the borough where and when the parties interested can be heard by the said commissioners, if any such desire to be heard, or to object to said report or assessment in any way.

PAID FOR PERSONAL INJURIES.

Patrick Melvin Received $20 From Electric Light Company.

The Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company has settled with the two men who suffered damages Monday evening as a result of fallen electric light wires. Patrick Melvin, who was knocked down by the shock he received when he accidentally grasped a live wire blown down by the storm, has settled with the company for $20. Max Neuman, the hackman whose horse was killed by stepping on a live wire on Grant avenue, near Front street, received $125 in payment for his loss.

GLAD HAND GIVEN TO ALL

POLITICIANS' DAY AT THE SOMERSET COUNTY FAIR.

Thousands of Agriculturists Were There to Take in the Sights—Senator Reed on the Rostrum and Received Applause.

The politicians divided the honors with the pumpkins at the Somerset County Fair yesterday. Pretty near all the big and little fry of both parties were there to look wise and shake hands. It was a strange man, indeed, who passed within the gates of the fair and did not see some acquaintance. It seemed that the whole of Somerset county had given up work for the day and had congregated to take in the sights. Though there were several hundred people there who wear creased pants and attend pink teas, the crowd was distinctly an agricultural one. Boiled shirts and store clothes were donned by men whose calloused hands and sunburned visages showed plainly their pursuits on farm fields; calico gowns and Sunday bonnets set off the features of the rural belles. The Johnnies, Sons, Sussies and Samanthas of the elders were there, too. They rode on the merry go-round, heard the band play, teased their elders for five cents and drank red lemonade.

During one of the intervals between the heats of the horse races Senator Reed was introduced to the crowd and made a brief speech. It consisted of a few good-natured remarks and the Senator received vigorous applause from his agricultural constituents. Senator Daly, of Hudson county, about the biggest man in the Democratic party in the State just now, was also introduced to the crowd. He told of the greatness of the farmers and also was given the glad hand.

The racing events were all good. The 2:18 trotting and pacing purse, $250, was won by May Fair, owned by W. Fred Quimby, of Elizabeth, with Carrie W., owned by R. J. Jennings, of Newark, second. The time was 2:20¼, 2:20¼, 2:20½, 2:20½ and 2:22.

The three minute trotting class, purse $200, was won by Barre, owned by Elwood Smith, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., in three straight heats. Ellideon, owned by Charles Gathers, of Newark, took second money. The time was 2:28¼, 2:29¼ and 2:31½.

The 2:24 trotting and pacing purse, $200, was won by Albertiva, owned by William Block, of Newark, in three straight heats. Leota C., owned by Elwood Smith, took second money. The time was 2:25½, 2:22½ and 2:22¼.

TOOK AN ALBANY BRIDE.

P. Daniel Loizeaux's Course of Love Led Him to New York's Capital City.

Last Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, at the home of the bride, Albany, N. Y., occurred the marriage of Miss Grace Temple, daughter of John Temple, and P. Daniel Loizeaux, of Putnam avenue, this city. The home was prettily decorated, and following the ceremony there was a reception, attended by about seventy-five relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The presents were unusually pretty and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Loizeaux are now spending their honeymoon in the Catskill Mountains. On their return they will live on LaGrande avenue, this city. The bride is a highly accomplished woman, while her husband is manager for Loizeaux Bros., publishers of religious literature, with headquarters in New York.

DAMAGED A RENTED WHEEL.

Frank LeMaire Must Now Pay $10 for His Recklessness.

The case of John O'Brien against Frank LeMaire, charging the latter with wilfully injuring a bicycle rented from the former on Saturday, August 28th, came up in Recorder Thomas's court yesterday afternoon. LeMaire hired the wheel on the above date and was to return it the following Monday morning. He did not do so, but in the evening of that day the wheel was returned by another person. The tires were injured, also the saddle. The lessee had ridden the wheel from New Market to Plainfield with the air entirely out of one tire. These facts were brought out yesterday and the Recorder gave the complainant judgment for $10 and costs.

Family Dinner Enjoyed.

E. A. Overton, of 91 Rockview avenue, celebrated the anniversary of his birthday yesterday in a very quiet but enjoyable manner. Edward Wite, of New York, father of Mrs. Overton, was a guest at the house, and in the evening Mr. Overton gave a dinner to his family at the Mt. Park Inn in honor of the event.

FEVER STATISTICS.

Synopsis of the Situation by the Marine Hospital.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN UP TO SEPT. 14

Quarantining Is Going Ahead at a Lively Rate, Several More Places Closing Their Portals Now to All From Fever Infected Districts.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The official bulletin of the Marine Hospital bureau will contain in its forthcoming issue a synopsis of the yellow fever situation, with a summary of the cases and deaths up to the 14th inst. The list of cases and deaths is lower than that reported in press dispatches from infected points, but they are all that are officially established. The summary by states is as follows:

Alabama—Mobile, Sept. 13, 1 case, no deaths; Sept. 14, 2 cases, no deaths.

Louisiana—New Orleans, Sept. 8, no cases, 1 death; Sept. 12, 7 cases, no deaths; Sept. 13, 3 cases, no deaths; Sept. 14, 5 cases, no deaths.

Mississippi—Barkley, Sept. 13, 8 cases, 4 deaths; Sept. 14, 1 case, no deaths; Edwards, Sept. 15, 12 cases, 1 death; Ocean Springs, Sept. 8, 4 cases, 2 deaths; Sept. 13, 1 case; Pascagoula, Sept. 10, 1 case; Sept. 14, 1 case; Perkinston, Sept. 10, 1 case.

The synopsis covers the outbreak from its inception, with all the bureau orders, reports from surgeons and boards of health, etc., concerning the status of the fever at various points. It says:

"A brief synopsis of the occurrence of yellow fever in the south is given as follows:

"Beginning with report of Past Assistant Surgeon Wasdin of Sept 3, stating that the situation at Ocean Springs needed investigation, and his detail to proceed to that place and make an investigation in connection with members of the Mobile board of health and his subsequent report of Sept. 6, stating that an autopsy made by himself confirmed the diagnosis of yellow fever, the representatives of the state board concurring, precautions were immediately taken by the bureau, directing Past Assistant Surgeon Wasdin to arrange for a cordon, employ necessary help and turn matters over to Surgeon Murray on his arrival and to notify the railroad agents that a cordon should be established to sell tickets only to points north of Washington or points in mountainous districts and to keep a record of all persons leaving, with points of their destination, notifying the local authorities."

After detailing the assignment of surgeons to various points, the synopsis proceeds:

"The total number of cases at Ocean Springs Sept. 8 was two in a sick list of 40 persons, and one case, resulting in death, was reported from New Orleans, whose illness, it is stated, commenced at Ocean Springs. Train inspection at the Alabama line was established on the 9th. On the same day yellow fever was reported at Scranton, Miss., and several suspicious cases in one locality in New Orleans were examined by experts of the Louisiana state board of health, train inspection of the Louisiana line having been inaugurated several days previously by the Louisiana board. On the 10th six new cases of sickness were reported by three physicians at Ocean Springs. The suspicious case at Scranton was examined by Dr. Guiteau and reported to be yellow fever. On the 10th Surgeon Carter reported a case at Perkinston, Miss., contracted at Ocean Springs."

The report then refers to the 12 suspicious cases reported on St. Claude street, New Orleans. No positive diagnosis of yellow fever was made. Nine of the cases recovered, and the remaining three are doing well.

The situation at Mobile, Barkley, Biloxi and Edwards is referred to, and the many official dispatches showing the various cases are reproduced. These have been already published.

The bulletin will also contain the full report of Dr. Wasdin on the first yellow fever autopsy.

The bureau received few dispatches during office hours yesterday. The surgeon general telegraphed an inquiry as to the rumored suspicious case at Augusta and received a reply from President Eugene Foster of the board of health of Augusta, saying:

"Utterly false. Without a shadow of foundation. Wire me all infected places."

Surgeon Wertenbaker, at Delaware Breakwater quarantine station, was ordered to ship immediately camp equipage to Waycross, Ga.

The surgeon general officially designated the detention camp near Ocean Springs as Camp Fontainebleau.

The Situation at Edwards.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 17.—The state board has it from Dr. Purnell, at Edwards, that three new cases of fever, which he has not yet seen, are reported. Has no new cases of yellow fever to report. There is great need for nurses, which the board will endeavor to supply. Purnell says people in the country want supplies from Edwards, and some of the Edwards people want to leave for their plantations. The board instructed him to enforce rigid quarantine and to jail any who violate the rules. Edwards is strongly guarded, as are the Austin and Champion places, the only country places infected. The board is hopeful of checking the disease. Meridian still refuses to let Alabama and Vicksburg trains pass, despite remonstrances of the board.

The Boston Case Not Yellow Fever.

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—The health authorities of the city say that Franklin S. Conant of Wellesley, a student at Johns Hopkins university, who died at the Massachusetts General hospital here after his return from a trip to Jamaica, did not have yellow fever, as was at first suspected by several persons who saw Conant. Dr. Durgin, chairman of the board of health, says an autopsy was held and that no symptoms of yellow fever were found. Other officials say that death was caused by malarial fever. Conant's effects were fumigated early in the week.

Why Atlanta Is Quarantined.

ATLANTA, Sept. 17.—Several southern cities, including Charleston, Chattanooga, Selma and Montgomery Ala., have quarantined against Atlanta. The cities quarantining against Atlanta do so because it is feared refugees might use their stay in Atlanta as a cloak for the securing of a certificate of health and might bring to these cities the germs of the disease.

Charleston Quarantines Atlanta.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 17.—The board of health of this city has declared a rigid quarantine against Atlanta. Passengers and freight from Atlanta will henceforth be subjected to the same strict rules governing those from New Orleans, Mobile and other fever stricken places.

To Keep the Fever Out of Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 17.—A quarantine proclamation was issued by the state health office placing a rigid embargo on persons, baggage and freight from all yellow fever points. Inspectors will be placed on all railways.

One New Case In Mobile.

MOBILE, Sept. 17.—The board of health reports one new case of yellow fever, making five cases in all declared. There have been no deaths, one patient having been discharged.

Montgomery Takes Steps.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 17.—The city of Montgomery has quarantined against points in the state of Mississippi.

A Cure for Bilious Colic.

Resource, Screven Co, Ga.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail.—G. D. Sharp. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Alfred Trenchard, of W. R. Codington's law offices, spent yesterday at the Somerville Fair.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul, of Central avenue, have returned from Trenton, where they have been visiting.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

F. L. C. Martin, of Park avenue, has returned from a trip to Burlington county.

It Saves the Croupy Children.

Seaview Va.—We have a splendid sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and our customers coming from far and near, speak of it in the highest terms. Many have said that their children would have died of croup if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had not been given—Kellam & Ourren. The 25 and 50 cents sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Got Hurt In a Boxing Bout—More Expert Evidence In the Trial.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Yesterday was given over to expert testimony in the Luetgert trial, and the attorneys for the defense and the witnesses for the state wrangled vigorously regarding femurs of human beings, femurs of sheep and of hogs. When court adjourned for the day, the fight was still on. When court opened yesterday, the defendant came in upon a pair of crutches. He said that he had a badly sprained ankle, the result of a fall while sparring a friendly bout with one of the guards in the jail. The principal witness of the day was Professor Dorsey of the Field Columbian museum, who took the stand for cross examination. Attorney Vincent, for the defense, made it his business to show the jury that Professor Dorsey did not know anything about bones anyhow and that he was densely ignorant on the subject of femurs.

The closing hour of the afternoon session of the Luetgert trial was lively. Attorney Vincent, for the defense, made a supreme effort to break down the professor's evidence. After a number of questions touching upon the qualifications of the witness to testify as an expert Attorney Vincent picked up a handful of bones and holding them out to the witness, asked him to identify each one of them. Professor Dorsey refused to attempt to do so without first having an opportunity to examine them.

"Can you do it?" shouted the attorney for the defense. "If you are the expert you claim to be, it should not be difficult for you to name these bones."

This exasperated the witness, and Assistant State Attorney McEwen came to his aid with an objection, which was sustained by the court. But Attorney Vincent was not to be stopped by objections. "Did you ever dissect a hog?" he inquired.

"No, sir," answered Professor Dorsey. There was an objection to this line of cross examination, and Attorney Vincent arose to explain that he wished to show that the femur of a hog was identical with the femur the state had introduced and which Professor Dorsey had identified as the right femur of a human being. After further questioning with reference to whether or not Professor Dorsey had ever dissected a calf or a sheep, and receiving a negative reply as to the former and an affirmative answer to the latter animal, Attorney Vincent suddenly asked, "How do you know, then, that this is not a calf's femur?"

"Because from a careful examination of it I believe it to be a human femur," replied the witness.

"Why do you consider it the femur of a woman?"

"Because it is smooth and has the shape and other distinguishing characteristics of the female femur," replied the witness.

The prosecution expects to rest its case tomorrow.

OLD SERVANT MURDERED

The Unknown Slayer Used a Knife, Which the Coroner Now Has.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Bridget Hayes, 58 years old, was found dead in the bathroom in Levett Carpenter's house on Grand avenue, near North street. The woman had been assaulted, and her throat had been cut. The crime was discovered by Henry F. Carter, a young man living near by.

The Carpenter family had been away for about six weeks. Mrs. Carpenter and her two children were visiting at the home of her father, Thomas Westlake, at Prospect Hill. Mrs. Carpenter intended to return home soon, and yesterday she came down to Newburg with her father to see about having the plumbing in the house overhauled before the family again took possession.

Bridget Hayes, who was a domestic in the family, had been directed to put the house in order before the family returned.

Under the bureau in the dead woman's room Coroner Perrott found a blood stained carving knife.

On the bureau was the woman's pocketbook. It contained a little change. A few pennies lay beside it on the bureau. There is as yet no clew to the murderer.

NO NEGRO FOR THEM.

A Georgia Colored Postmaster Murdered In Cold Blood.

HOGANSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 17.—Isaac H. Loftin, a well known negro politician, whom President McKinley recently appointed postmaster at this place, has been murdered. Loftin's appointment aroused considerable opposition, and it is rumored that the persons who did the shooting have formed a kuklux association for the purpose of meting out the same fate to all negroes who get federal places in this vicinity.

Loftin was found in his home shot in many places; but, although he was still alive, he could not tell the names of his assailants. The shooting has aroused the federal authorities in this city, and they have wired the facts to Washington. Loftin was one of the most influential negroes in the state and was a hard worker for McKinley at the St. Louis convention.

A MONSTER MEETING

The Hazleton Strikers to Be Addressed Tomorrow.

WOMEN HEADED RIOTS YESTERDAY.

Troops Led a Fine Chase From One Point to Another, the Disturbers Quieting Down at Word of Their Appearance.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 17. — The American Federation of Labor, with a membership of 500,000, has taken up the cause of the mine workers in this region. Their organizers are already at work here, and when this has been completed a uniform scale will be formulated and presented to the operators There will be no marching nor anything in the way of a demonstration, and no attempt will be made to bring about sympathetic strike movements.

At the mass meeting tomorrow at Old park addresses will be made by Peter J. Maguire, vice president of the Federation and general secretary of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of Philadelphia, and George Chance of the Philadelphia United Labor league. Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, and Frank Morrison, secretary, may also speak.

Concerning the story that Eugene V. Debs will speak at the meeting, the strike leaders say that if he comes it will not be at their solicitation. No invitation has been extended to him, and they do not believe he will be here.

The work of organization is being done by the sending of emissaries by twos and threes from mine to mine, and every effort is being made to avoid the appearance of a demonstration.

The peace prevailing during the past few days was broken by a conflict between striking and working miners, which for a time threatened to be serious. A body of about 150 men and boys, led by a score or more of women, made a raid on the Carson, Star and Monarch collieries at Honeybrook, near Audenreid. The women as well as their followers were armed with clubs and stones, and before the 300 workers could be induced to come out the missiles were used. Some of the women stationed themselves on the top of a culm bank and pelted the workingmen with stones. One Hungarian was clubbed over the head and badly injured, but no further harm was inflicted.

The encounter was the direct result of an attempt to start up the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre collieries. Despite the determination to remain out until Superintendent Lawall was heard from regarding the 10 per cent advance demanded, a number of Hungarians and Italians reported for work. As soon as this news reached Bunker Hill and Honeybrook the attack was made, each colliery being visited in turn.

The superintendent called for the assistance of Sheriff Scott of Schuylkill county, in which Honeybrook lies, and that official made a demand on General Gobin for a body of soldiers.

A battalion of the Eighth regiment, under Colonel Magee, hurriedly marched from their Audenreid camp to the scene of the trouble; but, as usual, it was over and the men scattered when the soldiers reached there.

Colonel Magee received a report of the occurrence and made a demonstration, with the idea of subduing the turbulent inclinations of the strikers.

The march proceeded through Honeybrook, Bunker Hill and McAdoo. Here the troops were halted, while the officers made a short reconnoiter toward Silver Brook. Nothing of a suspicious character was seen, however, and the troops were marched back to camp, hot, weary and dust stained after a seven miles' tramp. The soldiers had not been out of sight ten minutes before a crowd of strikers pounced upon a squad of Hungarians who were screening coal near the Star washery and forced them to quit work.

Strike In St. Louis District Over.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—The coal miners' strike is over so far as the district supplying the St. Louis market is concerned. Seventeen mines in the Sixth Illinois district have resumed work. It is probable that all the small operators in the district will come into line before the end of the week. The representatives of the strikers were met by 17 of the independent operators. The men submitted a proposition for a scale of 37 cents a ton top weight, mine run. After a long consultation it was accepted yesterday evening. The big consolidated and Madison companies ignored the call for the conference and probably will not be able to get men to dig coal for them until they sign the scale.

Haynes Trial Well Under Way.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The principal witness at yesterday afternoon's session of the Haynes murder trial was Mrs. Mary Carr, mother of Mrs. Mary Crouch, one of the murdered women. With tears in her eyes and with a trembling voice she told of the visit of Haynes and the two women to her home on the evening of the murder, of how they spent a pleasant, social evening, of how Soldier Haynes acted the part of a gentleman and how the trio, with laughter ringing in the air, left the Carr residence, and that was the last time the women were seen alive.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Constantinople says, "The embassadors of the powers at yesterday's meeting of the peace conference, at which Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, was present, initialed all the articles of the peace treaty, which will be signed tomorrow."

BAN ON THE PIG FAMILY.

Henceforth dead pigs are the only kind of pigs to be tolerated in Plainfield. There has long been an ordinance of the Board of Health against the keeping of pigs or hogs within the city limits, but it remained practically a dead-letter until one rash colony of porkers desecrated the lawn and garden of an exalted member of the police force—to wit, Roundsman Frederickson. That sealed the doom of the whole species. War, grim and unrelenting war, was declared on them. The power of the Board of Health, the city ordinances and all the resources of the police force were invoked, and now it is solemnly decreed that the pig family must forever leave Plainfield.—New York Tribune.

Lively at the Indian Fair.

Yesterday afternoon and last evening the Indian fair on the LaGrande avenue baseball grounds was accorded good patronage and those in charge were much pleased. The booths all did excellent business and the voting contests were quite lively. A large number of those present availed themselves of the dancing privileges which was continued until nearly 12 o'clock. Today and tomorrow will be the last two days of the fair and those who desire to have a good time should not fail to attend.

Big Crowd at Catholic Club Fair.

Last evening there was a big crowd at the Plainfield Catholic Club fair now being held at the Lyceum. The programme presented in the early part of the evening was a pleasing one and received hearty applause from those present. Following the entertainment the floor was cleared for dancing and many took advantage of it. The sales at the various tables were encouraging to the women in charge. Tonight the fair will close and there will no doubt be a large attendance.

James E. Martine's Claim.

A meeting of the Martin Act Commissioners was held last evening in the Mayor's office. Most of the time was spent in listening to the facts set forth by James E. Martine regarding the claim he holds against the city and the delinquent taxes which he claims the debt cancels. There were six other men present to state their case to the commissioners. The work of the commissioners is estimated to be about half completed.

WOMEN'S RIGHT TO VOTE.

be voted upon at the same time as our own," said Mrs. Hall. "We are told that the gamblers are hard at work, though very quietly, to defeat the amendment, and every lover of righteousness needs to be up and doing, lest the race track gang get possession of the State again. This amendment, however, is likely to be more in the minds of the people than our own. Let us use our influence to get our pastors to preach on this matter of school suffrage, and let us induce every voter we can to vote for the amendment. If we wake up on tha Wednesday morning, and find that i has gone by default, we shall wish we had been more active in the matter. It is a duty we cannot afford to neglect. It is the children of our State who are concerned, and it is the duty of every mother in the State to do her best for the schools that are really the homes of the children during the greater part of their waking hours."

In closing, Mrs. Hall read a number of letters from distinguished men and women, giving the most hearty approval of the amendment, and urging strong efforts in its behalf. She also emphasized the fact that this amendment, if not passed now, cannot be even brought up again for five years.

It seems to be the general opinion of the residents of the borough that the proximity of the sewer beds, whether they smell or not, has materially injured the town, and that it is impossible to get people from other places to come here and live. The very thought of the beds has caused many to think seriously of moving away. This important fact has not, it seems, entered the minds of Plainfield's councilmen, and they do not seem to care very much.

Both are well known, and while the reception was being held at the home of the bride's parents, on the Boulevard, a large crowd congregated at the railway station to see the couple off. The crowd carried rice and other articles which they intended to shower upon the couple as an evidence of their kindly interest. When the time came to leave the house the groom was informed of the state of affairs at the station, and he directed the driver of his coach to proceed to Fanwood, from which place they boarded a train for New York city. The crowd at Westfield realized after a time, that it had been outwitted, and gradually disappeared.

You Choose.

The least thing that can be said in reference to the advantage of using my flavoring extracts is that you have a wide choice. This is not a little thing, however, for you certainly must tire of the constant use of the ordinary flavors.
Nowhere else can you find such a line as this.

Orange,	Peppermint.
Almond,	Wintergreen.
Rose,	Vanilla.
Violet	Lemon.
Pistachio,	Ginger.
Strawberry,	Nectar.
Raspberry,	Lilac.
Banana,	Sarsaparilla.
Pineapple.

Every flavor is as perfect as it can be. We manufacture for the wholesale trade and are able to make prices lower than charged elsewhere for ordinary goods.

THEATRICAL.

Another artistic production of a strong play was given at Music Hall last night by Rice's Comedians, when they produced "The Old, Old Story." All in the cast did well and the strong scenes of the play were handled in a most effective manner. Tonight "The Fatal Step," a new english comedy-drama, will be the bill with a long list of specialties. "The Fatal Step" is a mixture of comedy and tragedy, bordering on the melodrama. "Twixt Love and Duty" will be given tomorrow afternoon at the ladies' matinee with a long programme of singing and dancing.

That Music Hall next Wednesday evening will have its seating capacity taxed to its utmost, there can be no doubt, if one is to judge by the already heavy demand for seats. That the occasion will be a joyous one there can be no doubt, when the announcement that Hoyt's "A Contented Women," the funniest work of this clever and successful playwright, will be the attraction, and it comes with its superb cast and wealth of scenery, the same as used during its phenomenally successful run at Hoyt's Theatre, New York. "A Contented Women", is a satire of the keenest kind, and one that according to flattering reports appeal to all classes of theatregoers. The piece contains quite a pretentious plot and runs as follows: Benton Holme, a wealthy young man, runs for mayor. In his family is Aunt Jim, a violent woman suffragist, and she induces Holmes' beautiful young wife to run for mayor on the woman's ticket against her husband. During the progress of the campaign, which is carried through four acts, all of the incidents of political life with women mixed up in it come in.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Biograph at the First M. E. church at 8 p. m.

—F. W. Butler, who has been residing at 744 Watchung avenue, has moved to 202 East Ninth street.

—The women of the Indian fair will enjoy a trolley ride tonight at 6:30 o'clock in Indian costume.

—White's millinery department is showing a very extensive assortment of ladies' trimmed turbans, bicycle and alpine hats. Also children's school hats; all at very moderate prices.

—H. P. Baldwin, of the Central Railroad, has issued orders that hereafter and until further notice tickets must not be sold beyond New Orleans owing to the outbreak of the fever in the South.

—Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., held a free-will sociable at the residence of Mrs. Henry Angleman, of East Fourth street, near Watchung avenue, last evening. The affair was a success in every particular.

—Van Emburgh's new advertisement in today's Press is attractive enough to be read by every householder—attractive because of the bargains therein mentioned. That's the store to get premiums and insurance coupons at, too.

—Carl Heimerly, of New Market, who was held to await the action of the Middlesex County Grand Jury for assaulting Constable Robert Pierce, says that the constable withdrew the charge of interfering with an officer in the performance of his duty, and simply made it assault.

—The Newark Trading Stamp Company inaugurated a popular movement among the Plainfield tradesmen in their credit coupon system. Their business is growing every day, and is bound to keep growing. Their plan is good for both merchant and customer, inasmuch for the first it acts as a trade inducer and for the latter an advantage in receiving more for their money than before.

Sensational Story About the Heir to the Austrian Throne.

MAY HAVE MARRIED A COMMONER.

The Report Causes Much Talk In Berlin, While the Court Circles In Vienna Are Agitated and Deny Its Truth In Toto.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—A sensation has been caused here and elsewhere by the statement that the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, son of the late Archduke Karl Ludwig and Princess Annunciati, daughter of the late King Ferdinando II of Naples, heir presumptive of the throne of Austria-Hungary, was married in London last week to a middle class lady from Kohlscheidt, near Aix la Chapelle.

The Kolnische Volks Zeitung says the lady's father was formerly a mine manager, that one of her brothers is a clergyman of Essen and that another brother is a tradesman of Aix la Chapelle.

The Lokal Anzeiger adds: "She is a former housekeeper of Herr Krupp, the great iron manufacturer of Essen, where she met Archduke Franz Ferdinand. The couple have gone to Algiers."

A dispatch received here from Vienna says that considerable irritation is displayed in court circles there over the report of the clandestine marriage of the heir presumptive to the throne and that denials have been issued as to its accuracy.

The sensational report of the marriage of the Austrian heir presumptive recalls the suicide or murder of Archduke Rudolph, crown prince of Austria, on Jan. 30, 1889, at Meyerling. All the facts in the case have never been cleared up satisfactorily, but his death was the direct or indirect result of his love for a young and beautiful Austrian lady, Baroness Marie Vetsera, whose dead body was found near that of the prince.

Two May Have Been Drowned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The relatives of Mrs. Marie McDonald, and her daughter, Mrs. Morris, of Bulls Ferry road, Guttenburg, N. J., are fearful that both ladies were drowned in the steamboat collision on the Hudson river Wednesday night. Mrs. McDonald, with her three daughters, all of whom are married, were on the ill fated Catskill. Only two of them, Mrs. Herman Klein and Mrs. William Prosser have returned home. The other two are missing. The four ladies were sitting on the upper deck of the steamer and were thrown down by the force of the collision, Mrs. Klein being rendered unconscious. Mrs. Prosser and Mrs. Klein were taken off in a rowboat, but neither afterward saw the mother nor sister. All of the hospitals and hotels have been searched by the anxious relatives of the two women without success, and it is believed that both were drowned. The Timmermann lad, reported drowned, was rescued.

Interesting to Steel Rail Makers.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—Information was received in this city direct from Tokyo that the Japanese government has finally adopted for the 180 miles extension of the Imperial railway, on which contracts are about to be awarded, the 60 pound section known in America as the Pennsylvania railroad standard. This action on the part of the Japanese government will work in the interest of American mills, inasmuch as the English sectional standard, previously employed, requires special rolls and additional handling of rails. The Pennsylvania standard of 60 pounds to the section means that every yard of steel rail shall amount to 60 pounds in weight, this being about 96 tons to a mile of track. It is expected that the pending award for the material for the new section for the Imperial railway will come to this country.

Towel, Napkins 1c "
What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

Don't Make a Mistake
When you have a painting job on hand. It's the painting quite as much as the paint that costs, and only good paint is worth the expense the work entails. To be sure of getting what will stand the severest exposure better and longer than anything else, drop in and select what you require from our stock. Knowing exactly what is needed to produce a paint that will answer every purpose and thus be economical as well as satisfactory, we turn our knowledge to practical use.

NOTICE!
PIANO
As the safety has superceded the old high wheel so will the Wonderful
CROWN PIANO
supercede the ordinary upright piano. With it any ordinary player can imitate perfectly a Harp, a German Zither, Banjo, Autoharp, Mandolin, and 10 other instruments. The attachment to produce this wonderful result is so simple that it cannot get out of order, and the more it is used the longer the piano is preserved. Aside from the attachment the Crown Piano is equal to any piano made for tone, touch and finish. All are invited to call, especially musicians, at

SHAKERS AND DOCTORS TALK TOGETHER.

In his able work entitled "Longevity," published a few years ago, Dr. John Gardner, of England, predicts that a vegetable agent will yet be found that shall so retard those changes that bring about old age as to prolong human life much beyond its present limit.

Acting, perhaps, upon the impulse produced by this thought, many eminent physicians have called from time to time upon the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon to inquire of them concerning the secrets of medicinal plants, in which these sincere, simple-minded and God-fearing people are known to be wise and skillful beyond all other men.

The Shakers willingly told what they had learned, and in return received from their visitors much valuable information about disease; which they at once made practical use of. The most important point was that if a genuine and certain remedy could be found for indigestion and dyspepsia, and the ailments growing out of it, a long step would be taken in the right direction. Old age, said these physicians, begins in a failure of the digestion, and so do most diseases at any and all periods of life. The result of these consultations was the discovery by the Shakers of the desired specific, made wholly from herbs, and now known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. Its action is magical and worthy of its origin.

Where there is distress after eating, heart burn, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, biliousness, weakness and weariness, cold hands and feet, aversion to food, nervousness, or any other symptom of dyspepsia, the Cordial will prove its curative virtues. Behind it is the reputation of a people who have never defrauded or deceived their fellow men.

In order to test whether this remedy is adapted to your case, at practically no cost, you may procure a trial bottle for ten cents of almost any druggist.

HE USED A PONIARD.

Savage Attack on President Diaz, Mexico's Chief.

ASSAILANT FAILED IN HIS PURPOSE.

He Was Seized by an Army Officer and Then Hurried Away by the Police.

Various Theories as to the Cause of Onslaught.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 17.—An attack was made yesterday on President Diaz as he was proceeding from the palace to the alameda to distribute medals to the survivors of the war.

The city is in a fever of excitement, and the stories generally are conflicting.

The most reliable version of the affair is that as the president was entering on foot the alameda or Central park of the city a middle aged man, armed with a long poniard, jumped forward from the crowd and made an attempt to stab the president.

He was at once seized by the president's suit and the police and heavily handcuffed.

Then by side streets, under a strong guard, he was taken to the Fourth ward police station house.

The president was walking, as is his custom, on Independence avenue and was between Minister of Communications Mena and General Berriosabal, minister of war.

General Mena grappled with the would be assassin, who was at once disarmed and handed over to the police.

The excitement among the foreign colonies was intense.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the declaration of independence.

The attack on the president was made just before the military parade started. Rumors of various kinds soon floated around among the crowd, and the excitement became intense.

The assailant was a middle aged man, with long, dark hair and a prominent nose. He looks something like an Italian. The attack may be the result of the recent propaganda here against all forms of anarchists.

One Jose Ventre, from Spain, has just been expelled from the country and sailed two days ago on the Ward line steamer for New York.

Another version, that the man was simply presenting a petition, is not believed.

The prisoner's name is Ignacio Anulfo.

The ceremonies were not interfered with, and the parade started on time and was reviewed by the president, as planned at the national palace.

President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico is among the foremost statesman of the new world. He is justly conspicuous, not only on account of the success which has attended his military operations and civil government of a republic which had long been the prey to strife, but also on account of the progressive spirit with which he has infused his countrymen.

He was born in the city of Oaxaca, the capital of the state of that name, Sept. 15, 1830.

His father and mother belonged to the upper middle class, having both Spanish and Indian blood in their veins. Diaz was a born soldier. His earliest toys were guns and swords. He became a student at the seminary of Oaxaca and studied theology and canonical law.

From 1854 down to the present Diaz has been almost continually in his country's service. When the united Liberals eventually broke the power of Santa Anna, he was a captain. In the war of reform which followed he rose to the rank of colonel. He became a brigade commander in 1862 and a general in the early part of the so called Maximilian empire.

He was first elected to the presidency of Mexico in 1876, and the country has prospered under his five successive administrations.

His entire life has been one of success, and he is popular throughout Mexico. He has had many thrilling adventures, both on and off the battlefield, and has been pronounced dead, it having been thought that he had been drowned.

Convicts Still Cause Trouble.

MONTREAL, Sept. 17.—The situation at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary is unchanged. The rioting continues at intervals, and word has been received from tale bearers among the convicts that a bomb is hidden in one of the stone piles in the prison yard for the purpose of breaking down one of the prison walls. The convicts are on bread and water diet, and keepers are kept busy knocking against the cell doors with big hammers to keep prisoners awake in daytime so they will sleep at night. The guards will be re-enforced.

Men Killed In a Storm.

FORT WAYNE, Sept. 17.—A severe windstorm swept over the city and vicinity, doing considerable damage and fatally injuring three men. They are George K. Rockenberger, Fred Wehr and Andrew Eindefier. The men were injured by falling bricks from demolished chimneys. Telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated and considerable damage done to barns and plate glass windows and outbuildings.

Now For Australian Tobacco.

SYDNEY, Sept. 17.—The expert recently appointed by the government to inquire into the practicability of growing tobacco in the colony reports that many of the farms contain some of the best tobacco land in the world. He expresses the opinion that there is no reason why the colony should not produce every kind of tobacco.

Will Hunt Down the Lynchers.

VERSAILLES, Ind., Sept. 17.—As Ripley county was shaken to its foundation by the lynching of the five burglars, so it is shaken now by the knowledge that all the power of the state will be employed to hunt down the lynchers. But the people of this town smile and say that nothing will ever be done. The militia may be summoned at any moment to preserve order and aid in capturing the lynchers.

Theatrical Manager's Sudden End.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 17.—Joseph Keeler manager of "The White Slave" company, which just concluded an engagement here, expired suddenly of acut. pneumonia.

GOSSIP OF THE CYCLERS.

ITEMS INTERESTING TO DEVOTEES OF THE STEEL STEEDS.

The Popular Exercise Provides Incidents and Expressions That are of Especial Moment When Wheeling is the Rage

This week has seen a number of wheelmen from this city en route to Somerville to attend the County Fair. The roads between this city and Somerville are good, with the exception of a part of the way between Dunellen and Bound Brook, which can be ridden, however. At the fair special arrangements were made for the accommodation of wheelmen and there were two large stands where wheels could be checked.

One advantage of the road book of the New Jersey Division of the L. A. W. is that it contains maps not only of the good roads in Jersey but in all the surrounding States. One of the nicest runs thus planed out is in Staten Island, which all Plainfielders will find very enjoyable. Staten Island can be reached by going to Perth Amboy via Metuchen and there crossing the ferry to Tottenville. From Tottenville, the cyclist has miles of grand roads before him.

There was no little interest taken in the slow race at the Somerville Fair, last Tuesday afternoon. One by one, the contestants decided that they would not ride, however, until only two were left. They started, but one fell out after riding three feet and the other rode along alone. The audience had not realized that the race had begun when, in reality, it was over. In consequence, there was general regret among the spectators that the event of which so much had been expected should prove so unsuccessful.

—The contract case of Rushmore & Co. against DeMott came up in Justice Matthison's court this morning. Lawyer Winfield Angleman represented the plaintiff and secured judgment for the full amount.

Coal Commuters Up Again.

Three prisoners were arraigned before the City Judge this morning, all charged with being coal commuters. John Leyrer was a young fellow who had a straightforward story to tell. Sentence was suspended on him. John Lemons was a young man from Orange. Even the police spoke highly of him and the Judge was favorably impressed. He was allowed to go. Irwin Jackson, a big colored man with tough face, went down the road for ten days.

Moving Pictures Shown.

The Biograph made a very favorable impression on a large audience at the First M. E. church, last evening. A matinee to the children was given in the afternoon. The pictures were excellent and all very distinct. Another entertainment will be given this evening when fifteen new pictures will be shown besides some of the best of those shown last night.

Death of Caroline Tice.

The death of Miss Caroline Tice, aged 72 years, occurred last evening at the home of her nephew, Albert Crane, 138 Grove street. The deceased had been ill for a long time and her death was not wholly unexpected. The funeral will be held next Sunday afternoon from the above address at 2:30

Rushton Taken to a Sanitarium.

Robert Rushton, whose attempt to commit suicide in Muhlenberg Hospital, on Wednesday evening, was told in yesterday's Press, was sent to the Cooley private sanitarium, in North Plainfield, last evening, where he will receive suitable treatment for his mental malady.

Hurt His Hand.

John Driscoll, of South Second street, an employe of the Potter Press Works, sustained an incised wound of the right hand yesterday while at work in the works. He immediately went to the hospital where the wound was properly treated. He will be detained from work for several days.

Captain Burtis, of the Brooklyn fire department, was the guest of William Townley, driver of the Alert Hose Company, yesterday, and spent the day with him. Townley showed the Captain about the city and together they visited many of the shops in this city.

PASSING COMMENT.

The summer vacation for the college boys is almost at an end. In a week or two there will be a steady migration toward the different sites of the educational institutions. Plainfield has many sons in college and university this year, and there are a dozen or more who will enter this fall.

* * * * *

While there was a great crowd at the New Brunswick bicycle carnival Wednesday evening, it is an undoubted fact that the crowd would have been still larger but for the recent tramp scare in that vicinity. Many cyclists, particularly among the women, were afraid to ride over since so many holdups have been made on the county roads in that direction.

—The American Biograph will appear at the First M. E. church this evening.

—Rev. Geo. C. Needham will meet his Bible class in the Y. M. C. A. hall on Monday evening.

—Street Commissioner Gavett is preparing to lay a new flag sidewalk on West Fourth street.

—Ex-Marshal J. W. VanHorn, of the borough, acted as a deputy marshal at the Somerville Fair yesterday.

—The committee on streets and lights are preparing to present another petition for are lights at the next meeting of the Common Council on October 4th, and a final settlement of the matter will be reached.

—Dr. Hepburn and Edward Baker collided at the corner of Park and North avenues this morning while on their wheels. The step of Baker's wheel struck the Doctor's front tire with such force as to puncture it.

—At New London, Conn., on Tuesday, September 14th, occurred the death of Josiah Fenton, aged forty-seven years. The funeral services will be held from the residence of his brother-in-law, Abram Wild, 306 Monroe avenue, this city, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. E. J. Richards, of Liberty street, has returned from a visit with friends in Somerville.

B. J. Shreve and family, of Grove street, who have been spending their vacation at Mt. Holly, return home tomorrow.

MARITAL BLISS NON EST

HENRY CLARK GOT HIS WIFE THROUGH AN ADVERTISEMENT.

Married Three Months Ago and Now Their Trials Are Aired in Court—Wife Couldn't Live on 50 Cents a Week.

After three months of experience Henry Clark's matrimonial dream has proven a decided failure. The alleged trouble was that Mrs. Clark could not live on fifty cents a week.

Three months ago Henry Clark was a bachelor. He saw his friends married on every side and his past sixty years had been fraught with troubles. He dreamed of a happy home and a neat wife to keep it for him, and so he set forth to have the dream come true. Not knowing any eligible women that suited him, nor having the inclination or courage to pass through all the intricacies of a courtship, he inserted an advertisement in the personal column of a New York paper and waited. A reply came and a woman of thirty-five came to see him. The appearances suited the aged suitor and they were promptly married and went to live on Somerset street.

The details of the matrimonial dream did not turn out as Clark had expected them to and there was trouble between the couple. It continued until yesterday when Mrs. Clark made a complaint to the police that her husband would not support her and City Judge DeMeza was called in to hear the story.

The trial was held this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Clark appeared and neither appeared in a good humor. She claimed that her husband would only give her fifty cents a week on which to run the household and care for herself. He retorted that she received $2 a week. The couple fought numerous verbal battles before the Judge could silence them and then he pronounced the husband guilty and held him under $100 bonds to pay her $4 a week.

Higgins as a committee on amusements After the routine business a general discussion took place and many suggestions were given. The members were invited to submit to the committee on improvements suggestions for an emblem for the club. The club will hold its meetings Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock. The idea of this club is to get the co operation of the boys and to give them some practice in conducting meetings.

Bicycle Thief in Bound Brook.

The bicycle thief has been continuing his depredations in Bound Brook. Wednesday, the Crescent bicycle belonging to James Donnelly was stolen from in front of his home. The wheel was a No. 9, 1897 model, No. 302,541, high frame, finished in maroon and fitted with Crescent single tube tires, padded saddle and ramshorn handles with slight drop. A reward of $10 is offered for the return of the wheel.

Must Pay for Damaged Bicycle.

The case of John Porter against Jacob Coes, in tort, was tried yesterday afternoon before Justice Nash and a six-men jury. The suit was to recover damages done to a bicycle belonging to the plaintiff's daughter and the amount claimed was $12.50. The jury brought in a verdict of $10.

A BUSINESS EDUCATION.

Practical Studies Now in the Course at the Plainfield High School.

The success of the new commercial department at the Plainfield High School is now assured. The introduction of that department was in a measure an experiment which was watched with considerable anxiety by those in charge. The success of similar departments in other public educational institutions seemed to warrant the establishment of one here, but it needed a practical trial to see whether Plainfield really wanted such a branch of learning. The High School has now been in session for two weeks and the large number of pupils in that dement seems without doubt to prove its usefulness.

The commercial department includes book-keeping, which was formerly taught in the High School, stenography and typewriting. The latter studies are new. Book-keeping was never particularly successful under the old regime, but now that a practical instructor, Mr. Sandford, is in charge, the classes are progressing very satisfactorily. The accommodations of that department are stretched to their utmost to accommodate the pupils that have taken up that course. There are over forty in that one class at present. The commercial course finds its most supporters from among the lower grades of the High School, as the other pupils have started in the other courses and are therefore less inclined to give them up. In the Fourth class, where the pupils have the right to choose their course, the commercial course is very popular.

The Board of Education has purchased four brand-new Remington typewriters of the latest model, and on them the pupils in that department will learn. They were secured through F. W. Andress, of East Fifth street, who is agent for Wyckoff, Seaman & Benedict, makers of the Remington machine.

Mr. Sandford, the instructor in this department, is thoroughly up in the branches that he teaches and has also the faculty of imparting his knowledge to those he is teaching. He has made a very favorable impression, so far, on the pupils, all of whom speak very highly of him. Another year will probably see still further improvements in this line of work at the High School, now that the success of the experiment is assured.

Father Murphy; a gold scarf pin, to Mrs. J. H. Hillman; a diamond ring, to Miss M. Murphy, of Summit, and a gold-headed cane, to David Kenney.

Last night a birthday party was given at the residence of Mr. Leahy in honor of Miss Kitty Leahy, it being her nineteenth birthday. Games and dancing were the order of the evening. Among those present were: Miss Minnie Welch, Minnie Callahan, Kitty Duffy, Annie Oleary. Kitty and Mary Leahy, Mr. and Mrs Oleary, Mr. and Mrs. James Strapp, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leahy, Messrs. Mr. Daly commences his duties in Brooklyn next Monday. The company is booked in week and three night stands in the principal western and southern cities. The many friends of Mr. Daly will be pleased to learn of his rapid rise in the theatrical world, this being his second season on the road.

A Visiting Rector.

—Neuman Brothers, the Watchung avenue grocers, will receive today 250 baskets of the finest canning and table peaches ever shown in this city. This choice fruit must be disposed of tonight, and prices will be lower than ever before.

DESPERATE TRAMP'S ACT

STABBED A WOMEN WHO REFUSED TO GIVE HIM MONEY.

The Outrage Committed on Mrs. A. Moebius in New Market Just at Dusk Last Night—He made His Escape.

Scarcely a day has passed during the past month but what an outrage has been perpetrated in some part of Middlesex county by a tramp, and last night the quiet hamlet of New Market was the fated point of operation of one of these worthless characters.

Just about 6 o'clock a coal train passed through the town on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and a few minutes after a hard looking character, togged out in rags and tags, with a scrubby growth of beard on his face, a husky voice, and, in fact, all the attributive appearances of a typical tramp, came ambling towards the little depot that serves the patrons of the railroad in that section. The fellow lurked about the depot platform for sometime in a listless manner, casting furitive glances aroundabout every few seconds as if fearful of the appearance of an officer of the law.

Not far from the depot and fronting the railroad tracks sets a modest little house, occupied by A. Moebius, the village barber, and wife. It was half-past six o'clock and Mrs. Moebius was busily engaged in preparing the evening meal for her husband when she heard a vigorous knock at the back door.

As Mrs. Moebius opened the door a burly-looking man stepped forward and planted his form in the aperture. In the dim light that was fast fading into darkness Mrs. Moebius discerned the features of a man whose very sight brought terrorizing fears that his purpose of calling was no good one. The stranger did not stammer or hem in making his purpose evident, but in a threatening tone of voice made his demands.

"Say, mum, I'd like to have some money from you. I'm dead broke and I know you kin help me," said the tramp.

"I haven't got any money to spare for you," said Mrs. Moebius in a tremulous voice.

"Well, I can't help what you ain't got to spare. I wan't some money, d'ye hear?" responded the stranger, and Mrs. Moebius noticed that he moved his fingers as though he was clasping something in their grasp.

"I tell you, sir, I haven't got any money for you, and I order you to leave this property," replied Mrs. Moebius, summing all her courage and putting on a bold front.

"You won't give me any money, eh? Well, then, I'll show you you'd better," exclaimed the tramp in a menacing tone.

He had hardly got the words out of his mouth when he made a lunge forward and Mrs. Moebius saw the flash of a blade in a big jack knife. The fellow raised his arm and brought it down with force over the breast of Mrs. Moebius. The razor like blade cut through the dress of Mrs. Moebius, but was prevented from entering the flesh by the point striking on a corset steel.

Mrs. Moebius gave a piercing scream and staggered backward. The tramp quickly closed the knife blade and with an oath ran hastily down the road. Miss Moebius then hastened to the barber shop of her husband on the other side of the pond and hysterically told of the brutal attack she had been subjected to. She was so confused that she could scarcely talk intelligible, and a minute after her arrival at the barber shop she fell into a swoon. There was only one or two in the shop at the time, and with the attention that she demanded and the faint description she had given of the man and his actions there was no attempt made to follow the desperado.

After several minutes it was found that Mrs. Moebius did not revive and Dr. Witford was sent for. He treated her, but it was 10 o'clock before she fully regained her senses and then her nerves were almost shattered. She spent a very uncomfortable night, but this morning appeared to be all right.

There is no clew to the identity of the man that committed the outrage.

Rally Service.

The Congregational Sunday-school returns to the afternoon hour of meeting tomorrow. Instead of the regular exercises a programme has been arranged which can but prove interesting to all, since Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, of Trenton, a well-known Sunday school worker and a stirring speaker, is to make the address; and the popular bass singer, Charles S. Lewis, is to sing, and the no less popular Prof. Conde is to play the violin. The roll of the school, the home department, and the Cent-a-Day Club will be called, and all who are interested to attend will be welcome.

THREE IN THE FIGHT NOW

SOMERVILLE STREETS MUCH IN DEMAND BY TROLLEY CAPITALISTS.

Somerset Traction Company, Composed of Local Capitalists, the Latest Applicants—Cash Consideration Demanded.

With two syndicates of capitalists already striving to get the right of way through Somerville for a trolley road, a third has now appeared upon the scene to complicate the decision of the Bridgewater Township Committee. The new applicant is the Somerset Traction Company, composed of local capitalists. At the last meeting of the Committee they formally made application for the right of way through the town.

They were represented by Alex. C. Young, of Hoboken, who asked the Committee to defer action on the other applications until that of the company he represented could be properly brought before them.

It was stated by Chairman Gulick that the Committee had decided to demand a cash consideration of $5,200, to be paid to the collector before the franchise became operative, and to bind the successful company to commence work within 35 days, and have the road in operation within four months of the date of granting the franchise. Both companies agreed to the demand, and the Brunswick Company agreed to macadamize the road from Somerville to Bound Brook, 28 feet wide, providing it was allowed to place its tracks in the middle of the roadway. After the applications of the Philadelphia and New York and the Brunswick Companies had been amended to comply with the new conditions, they passed their second reading, and further action was deferred until Wednesday, September 22d, at 2 p. m.

Hon. J. J. Bergen, Dr. Chichester and John C. Shaw all spoke in the interests of the New York and Philadelphia Company, setting forth its claims to the right of way.

Mr. Snaw in a brief address said that the application of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company was really the only one before the Committee. They had the number of consents necessary to obtain the franchise, while the New Brunswick Traction Company had presented no consents, and it was well known that they could not obtain them.

The Brunswick Company was represented by Lawyer Weigel, of New Brunswick.

The Somerset Traction Company agree to construct as good a macadam roadway along its tracks as either of the other companies.

THE POSTMASTERSHIP.

City Clerk MacMurray and J. Fred MacDonald The Most Active Candidates.

Already the wires are beginning to tighten through the preliminary efforts of the candidates for the Plainfield postmastership. The term of office of Postmaster Hetfield does not expire until the first of next June, but there are already several—nay, many—who are anxious to secure that position when the next incumbent for that office is appointed. Of course, he will be a Republican who will get that valuable plum.

There are already a dozen candidates in the field, but the two who have been most prominently named up to the present day are City Clerk J. T. MacMurray and J. Fred MacDonald. The time for lively work has not come yet, but it is said that the city clerk is securing names on a petition asking that he may be appointed to the position. His chances are said to be good, and he is credited with having some of the leading Republicans in the city at his back.

It seems almost certain that Mr. MacDonald is another sure candidate and will make a strong effort for the place.

Another name, that of a prominent citizen of the Second ward who has played an important part in the recent National election, is mentioned, but there is no affirmation given to the rumor.

Flooded the Street.

While Street Commissioner Conover's men were engaged yesterday rolling Sycamore avenue, they accidentally struck one of the hydrants with the heavy roller, breaking the hydrant off at the main, causing a rush of water which flooded the street for some time. Mr. Conover immediately telephoned to the water company, and the damage was at once repaired.

Change of Meeting Place.

The meeting to consider the school suffrage and race-track amendments to the State Constitution will be held Monday evening, Sept. 30th, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Henry B. Wells, on Washington avenue, instead of at the Park Clubhouse as was announced in last night's Press.

LINES DRAWN IN UNION.

The Anti-Race-Track Crusaders are Beginning to Stir Themselves.

Union county up to the present has been unusually quiet on the subject of the anti-gambling amendments. This has been largely due to the absence of the great anti-race-track crusader, Rev. Dr. Kempshall, from the county, and also to the fact that Richard V. Lindabury, that other champion of the cause, is likewise no longer a resident of Union.

Tomorrow, however, the ball will be set in motion by the reading of the appeal of the State Citizens' League from the pupils of the various churches throughout the county. Most of the clergymen, it is understood, will preach to their flocks on the necessity of vigorous, energetic work if the constitutional amendment is to be carried.

The ministers will call upon their congregations to see to it that the vote of every one known to be opposed to race tracks be cast on Sept. 28th.

The Epworth League and Christian Endeavor Societies will also take a hand in the fray, and are arranging to hold a series of meetings throughout the county to arouse the moral and religious element as it was stirred up in 1893, when the race-track gamblers and their supporters in the Legislature met their first overthrow.

The two organizations have also a plan under consideration which promises to be more effectual in the forthcoming struggle than all the meetings that could be held. This is to make a house-to-house canvass after the manner of practical politicians a couple of days before election and see to it that every supporter of the amendment is supplied with a ballot.

On election day also they are to have tally sheets prepared with the names of all such voters on them and have committees appointed from both societies to take charge of the work in each ward and township of bringing voters to the polls.

The intention is not to confine the work of the Endeavorers and Leaguers in this respect in Union county alone, but to carry it on throughout the State wherever a branch of these organizations exists.

It is claimed that by this kind of electioneering many persons opposed to race-tracks, but who, through apathy, indifference or neglect, might fail to vote, will be brought to the ballot-box and thus help to gain a sweeping victory for the cause.

GEESE FOR PRIZES.

Local Wing Shots Had a Fine Time at Percy Ohl's Farm.

About thirty prominent sportsmen and their friends enjoyed yesterday afternoon at Percy C. Ohl's farm. There was, with the other amusements, a shooting match at live birds, two geese being the prizes. Charles Smith carried off the honor of the day by killing seven straight. Chas. Lister with one miss got the other goose. Quite a number of the contestants got five. The birds were an extra strong and good lot, which, with the wind blowing hard, made the marksmanship worthy of favorable comment.

The refreshments and edibles were very much enjoyed. The entertainment was given under the auspices of Henry Haurand.

Amusements of various kinds were continually in order. The performance of Capt. T. Keller and his Dutch soldier in the drill and manual of arms was particularly funny and heartily applauded.

Brown Leads the Motormen.

Motorman Wm. Brown is now slightly in the lead in the voting contest at the Indian fair as the most popular motorman on the street railway. Motormen Welch and Martin are close behind him. The contest for the ring for the most popular teacher is also very interesting. Last evening there was a good crowd present and the receipts were gratifying to those in charge. The fair will be continued this evening and Monday evening. On Monday evening the contests will be decided.

Organ Recitals to Be Given.

The choir of the First Presbyterian church will begin work for the winter at the service tomorrow morning. In the evening, and continuing until further notice, will be given an organ recital of fifteen or twenty minutes, beginning at 7:30, preceeding the service. Townsend Fellows will sing at the service tomorrow morning.

Burnett Property Sold.

The sale of the real estate owned by the late Henry Burnett, of Washingtonville, was held Thursday afternoon. The estate consists of a homestead and twenty-three acres of ground, and was bought in by the widow for $1,200 Another tract of land, 40 acres, brought $.65. The property averaged about $10 an acre.

100 MEN CHASED THIEVES

CULPRITS CAUGHT AFTER SEVERAL BLOCKS HAD BEEN RUN.

Two Farmers Took a Bicycle Lamp but Were Detected and Run to Earth by an Indignant Crowd—Held for Trial.

Pursued by fully a hundred angry men on foot, a horse, with buggy attached, dashed up Watchung avenue last evening soon after ten o'clock, while between the two men who occupied the seat was the cause of all the trouble, a bicycle lantern.

But to begin at the beginning. Joseph Neill, of East Second street, went down town with a party of friends, last evening, and together they stopped at Findlay's saloon on East Second street. Neill rode his wheel and left it in the vestibule. While Neill and his friends were in there, two strangers entered.

Neill thought their actions were suspicious and he watched. They hung around the wheel for a few moments, and then one of them guarded the door while, Neill claims, the other removed the lamp.

When Neill saw the lamp disappear, he called to his friends and made a break to the door. Those around him heard the words "bicycle" and "thief," and they forthwith started after. The news spread like lightning and fifty men went dashing up the street. In the meantime the two strangers had jumped into a wagon and started down Second street at a breakneck speed, running their horse. Neill headed the pursuers, and passersby heard the yells and joined in the chase.

"Stop, there. Stop, there," yelled the pursuers. It was thought that a wheel had been stolen and every wheelman was only too glad of the chance to run to earth one of the dreaded bicycle thieves. The pursued and pursuers turned into Watchung avenue.

The chase came to an end very soon. Patrolman Myers was on duty in front of the Cycle Academy and heard the yells. He ran toward the railroad bridge and met the galloping horse in the road. The driver pulled the animal to one side but the officer made another jump and finally grabbed the animal.

Neill came up and explained the situation while the crowd gathered around and glared ominously at the pair of captives.

Patrolman Mattox came up and assisted in locking up the men, who first handed back the lantern which lay between them.

The men gave their names as John B. Peaney and Timothy Ingram, both of whom live near Park avenue beyond the Lehigh Valley Railroad crossing. Peaney owned the rig and works for his father, while Ingram has a family and farms on his own account.

They admitted they were drunk and Peaney said he took the lantern but did not mean to steal it.

They were fined $10 by City Judge DeMeza for reckless driving and then held for the grand jury in $50 bail by Justice Nash on the charge of grand larceny. They pleaded not guilty to the latter charge.

An Exchange of Ideas.

An interesting meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps was held last evening in their rooms on Front street, when reports concerning the recent Buffalo encampment were given by the women and a number of G. A. R. men who were present. Nearly everyone had something to offer and the exchange of thoughts and ideas proved very entertaining. At the close refreshments, consisting of coffee, cake and sandwiches were served by the women.

Says He Was Held up.

Clarence Demarest, of Park avenue, claims to have been held up on Park avenue, Thursday evening at 10 o'clock, and robbed of 35 cents in change. He says that he was riding home and was passing between Holly's Corners and Avon Park when he noticed a rope stretched across the road. He says that he dismounted and that two strange men sprang at him and emptied his pockets of what change he had.

Found the Check He Lost.

Al x. Kane, of Cottage place, lost a check for $108.31 last evening while going down town from his home. He searched all along the way and went home after a lantern when he found the check in his own door yard where he had dropped it. He was a very thankful man then.

Set of Harness Stolen.

The barn of David Randolph, of Avon Park, was entered and robbed of a set of harness and a fly net on Wednesday evening. As a party of gypsies spent the night in that vicinity, it is supposed that they committed the theft.

KILLED BY A MOB.

The Crowd Made Mincemeat of President Diaz's Assailant.

HACKED TO DEATH WITH KNIVES.

Arroyo, the Would Be Assassin, Was In a Straightjacket and Could Offer No Resistance to the Men Who Slaughtered Him.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 18.—A most sensational ending to the attempt on the life of President Diaz occurred when Arnulfo Arroyo was lynched by a band of the common people determined on revenge.

It was an act unprecedented in the history of the country. A number of men belonging to the common people forced their way into the municipal palace, ascended the stairway, overcame the guards and made their way to the office of the inspector general of police and killed Arroyo, whom they found there.

The killing was a wild and savage scene and was followed by a wild and noisy retreat.

The assistant chief of police, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, was awakened by the noise. He arose and ran to the balcony, firing his pistol as a signal for help.

At the same time he called to a policeman who was in sight to make an attempt to detain the lynchers, who were making their escape.

The firing of pistols and the whistles of policemen brought other policemen, who succeeded in capturing a score of persons.

It was not long before the inspector general and Inspector Villavicencio arrived on horseback. When the police entered the room, they found the body of Arroyo lying on the floor.

It was literally hacked with knife stabs.

At his side were found a door bar and several knives and other steel instruments.

An examination showed that the panes of a window were broken. The men who were captured would not say anything. A group of people was found on one of the side streets. They were talking and discussing the lynching. They appeared to know all about the affair, but when approached by reporters became suddenly noncommunicative.

On several other streets reporters found persons who seemed to know all about the killing.

When Arroyo was surprised by the mob, he was sitting in a chair in a private office. There, mixed with fragments of window panes, was a long pool of blood marking the spot where Arroyo had been stabbed.

The body was removed to the Fourth ward police station.

The gendarmes who were guarding Arroyo were unarmed. Over 200 persons penetrated the building. When they surprised Arroyo, he was in a straightjacket and could make no resistance. He seemed too terrified to speak.

May Agree on a Scale.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 18.—Indiana operators and miners are in a joint conference to agree on a scale. Miners and operators are more fully represented than ever before in the state, and all agree on 56 cents, but the operators say they want assurance that Danville, Ills., will not work for less. The Danville miners sent three delegates to give that assurance. The operators at Danville are represented to be willing to pay 56 cents, but unwilling to recognize the miners' labor organization by signing with a committee.

IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS.

Some Fear a Reaction, but Dun's Review Does Not Think This Probable.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The end of the bituminous coal strike and the return of many thousand men to work at advanced wages adds to the purchasing power of the people, and the anthracite region affects not a fifth as many workers. The starting of many mines and works, the enormous exports of wheat and corn, the favorable news as to those crops and cotton, the fall in sterling exchange and the report showing that gold imports began in August, exceeding exports by $2,390,587, while merchandise exports exceeded imports by $40,953,753, have all contributed to forward the improvement in business. The replenishment of stocks cannot be half finished, though some who could see no sign of improvement a few weeks ago are now finding it so vast and rapid that they fear reaction. But reasons for apprehension are not urgent. When the tide rises after four years of depression, it does not fall again after four weeks.

The wheat market has declined over 4 cents on account of crop reports which promise larger prosperity, and corn and cotton are both a little lower for like reasons, yet estimates of the highest financial authorities regarding requirements from this country are not smaller, but larger than before, while better prospects in Argentina, Australia and India hold out no promise of large European supplies, or of any until winter is about over. Atlantic exports of wheat, flour included, are more than double last year's each week. Corn declined over 1 cent, with growing belief that the yield will surpass estimates. Cotton was depressed from 7½ to 7⅛ cents, with favorable news of yield, although the mills are now consuming with great rapidity.

Failures for the week have been 204 in the United States against 317 last year, and 40 in Canada against 32 last year.

Blood Vitality.

Dr. Campbell Succeeds in Restoring Iron to the Blood in its Natural Form thus Increasing the Supply of Oxygen and Curing Disease—A Marvelous Process.

Modern science teaches us that the blood is the vehicle by which the nutriment of the food is taken from the stomach and carried throughout the entire system.

While it is being carried by the blood, it becomes oxidized and is thus converted into a form that can be taken up by the tissues.

If this nutriment was not oxidized it would filter through the kidneys as really occurs in Bright's disease, and no benefit would be derived from it. Oxygen is absolutely essential to this process. Its existence in turn is dependent upon the iron or Hæmoglobin in the blood without which anæmia would result, and no benefit whatever would be derived from the food.

Physicians long ago recognized that to discover a method of renewing this Hæmoglobin would be to discover the true method of curing disease.

Little advance was made until Dr. Campbell, an eminent English physician, learned that the component parts of the blood of the bullock were identical with human blood and sought to extract from it the natural iron or Hæmoglobin.

Success crowned his efforts, and for the first time man has it in his power to renew at will the vital element in his own blood.

Dr. Campbell enclosed the fruit of his labor in small, pointed globes of pure gelatine called Capsuloids, with which the most remarkable results have been obtained in the hospitals of London and elsewhere in curing all diseases of the blood; rheumatism, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous prostration and St. Vitus' dance.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

Miss Carrie Potter, of Rahway, is the guest of her friend, Miss Cornelia Rockfellow, of Park avenue.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

George Randolph, of Park avenue, has secured a good position in New York, where he will have charge of an elevator in a large building.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

C. L. Case and family, of Central avenue, have returned from their summer outing.

CHAINED IN THE HOLD

Italian Captain Claims One of His Sailors Is Crazy.

THE MAN HIMSELF DENIES THIS.

Says That He Was Set Upon by the Skipper and His Crew For No Reason Whatever, Then Beaten and Bound.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—When the Italian bark Spena arrived here last night, Captain Martino Frazego reported to the police that one of the members of his crew had become violently insane during the voyage and requested the removal of the man to a hospital for treatment.

Boarding the bark at quarantine, in a little dark hole in the bow of the vessel Police Captain Schultz saw what he first thought to be a large dog chained to the floor. It was groping about on all fours, and a matted beard and long and unkempt hair covered the face and head. Captain Schultz was informed that the cowering object in the hole was the crazy man, and as he descended into the place there was a rattling of chains and piteous moans. A cold chisel was required to cut the rivets which held a five-eighths inch chain about the sailor's arms and legs.

The sailor, when questioned by an interpreter, said his name was Stefano Spagnalo and that he is 29 years old and a resident of Alasia, Italy. He also stated that he shipped on the Spena 150 days ago. On Aug. 5, the sailor said, he was set upon by Captain Frazego and his men without any reason, terribly beaten and then, bound in chains, was thrust into the dark hole. His hands were fastened behind his back. He was given enough food to keep him alive. Spagnalo said that when he boarded the vessel he weighed about 160 pounds, but the ill treatment and suffering had reduced him to nearly 100 pounds and turned his hair gray. The sailor declares he is perfectly sane.

At Bellevue hospital, to which institution Spagnalo was removed, large sores caused by the chains were found on his ankles and wrists. He will be examined as to his mental condition.

The police do not think the Italian sailor is demented and wonder how he survived the cruel treatment he claims to have received during the past 55 days.

The Spena, which carried a cargo of rice, coffee and sugar, sailed from Singapore for this port 155 days ago.

Changes In Color of Stamps.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—While on account of the agreement made by the international postal congress there will be no change in the color of the 2 cent postage stamp the colors of stamps of some of the other denominations will be altered. That congress provided for uniform colors for stamps of certain denominations or their equivalent in the money of each country, applicable to all the administrations of the postal union. This will require a change in the 5 cent stamp, which represents the single rate of foreign letter postage. It is now a light brown, but it will become a dark blue. The 1 cent stamp, now a blue, will be changed to green. These changes, which will become operative on the 1st day of January, 1899, were incorporated in the international postal treaty concluded by the postal congress, which, when it shall be attested by the official signatures of the postmaster general and the approval of the president, will have the effect of law. The president and the postmaster general are expected to sign the document within the next few days.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 18.—John Smith Rice, the wealthy Wall street broker who disappeared so mysteriously from his home in Pasaic, N. J., on May 3 last, is at the Ampersand hotel here with his wife and sister-in-law, Miss Gorhmann, and some friends. He is looking very well, much better than he did when in the Adirondacks last fall. Reorganization Not Settled.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—It has been declared on good authority that negotiations between the stockholders and bondholders of the Hocking Coal and Iron company have made little or no progress since last June and that a reorganization of the company is as far off as ever. No answer, it was declared, has yet been received by the bondholders to the proposition made to the stockholders several months ago.

Stevedores on Strike.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 18.—Sixty-five stevedores and longshoremen in the employ of the Maine Steamship company have struck on account of a reduction in wages from 30 to 25 cents an hour. Orders were received from New York to this effect, and the cut went into operation last night. Unless they can get men the steamship companies will be seriously inconvenienced.

Elevator Carried Him to Death.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—A young man named Peter Cameron was killed on a freight elevator in the workshop of C. J. Peters & Son. Cameron, whose duty it was to oil the elevator, mounted to the top of the machine for the purpose of performing the work, and while there the elevator ascended, crushing him to death.

YELLOW FEVER NEWS

Dr. Wyman's Instructions to Marine Hospital Surgeons.

A BAD REPORT COMES FROM EDWARDS

The Dread Disease Seems to Be Steadily Gaining Ground There, Despite All Efforts—Paragraphs and Briefs About the Pest.

WASHINGTON, Sept 18.—Surgeon General Wyman has issued to Marine hospital officers the following instructions, defining their field of operations in behalf of the government in aid of state authorities in dealing with yellow fever:

"Surgeon Murray in charge of all matters between Louisiana and Alabama, line south of but not including Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss.

"Surgeon Sawtelle at Atlanta, in charge of Georgia.

"Surgeon Carter in charge of New Orleans and Louisiana.

"Past Assistant Surgeon Glennan at Mobile, in charge of Alabama, and prepared to establish a detention camp near Mobile.

"Past Assistant Surgeon Geddings at Jackson, Miss., in charge of northern Mississippi, is establishing detention camp near Edwards, Miss.

"Past Assistant Surgeon Young at Memphis, to aid Mississippi river inspection and co-operate with local authorities.

"Each officer to wire daily, if possible, the number of cases and deaths at points in district."

The following telegraphic report from Atlanta was received from Surgeon Sawtelle, the official in charge of the Georgia district:

"Railroad officials here have agreed not to sell tickets to persons from infected districts to points south of Atlanta. Medical inspection of all incoming trains from the south has been inaugurated by the board of health. Atlanta and West Point trains are met by competent inspectors 40 miles from the city and southern railroad trains from Birmingham 20 miles out.

"Any suspicious cases found on the trains will be put off four miles from the city limits and cared for in the detention camp. No suspicious cases are reported in the city and no cases found on trains. To meet demands of quarantines all coaches bound south from Atlanta and Montgomery are fumigated before departure by railroad authorities. New Orleans and New York pullmans are fumigated in Jersey City by health inspector from Montgomery. No malarial diseases in the city. Exodus from infected districts continues, many passing through Atlanta to points north and east.

"There are about 500 refugees now in Atlanta. Health authorities aiding them to reach northern places by issuing health certificates after thorough examination of each person.

"Will wire promptly all facts ascertained."

Two More Cases In New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18.—Seens Braunner of Webster and Second streets, Carrollton, has died. The case was reported as suspicious on Sept. 12 by Dr. Bell. An autopsy will be held. It has not been declared yellow fever. Two new cases of yellow fever have been reported—a boy named Williams, son of a sporting writer for The Times-Democrat, at 1558 Camp street, and a man named Rubinstein, at Poydras and Rampart streets, brother of the Touri infirmary patient. Business houses are notifying their customers in the country of the steps that have been taken to fumigate all merchandise and render it proof against germs.

Quieter In Jackson.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 18.—Matters have assumed a quieter tone here, and the few people who are left in town are in hopes that the fever will not reach them. A meeting of citizens was held and arrangements were made for a special train of 12 coaches to be used in case of an emergency and a signal agreed on to give an alarm.

Fifteen Cases at Edwards.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 18.—Dr. Purnell reports to the state board of health 15 new cases of fever, including one convalescent, at Edwards. This is the worst report yet. Four trained nurses have been sent to Edwards by special train.

Perhaps Died of Yellow Fever.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—A Mayfield (Ky.) special dispatch says: Lizzie Bowena, a white woman, died in the depot here. She was taken from the train, and her death is said to be the result of yellow fever.

Accused of Wounding His Wife.

Mrs. Cook is the daughter of a wealthy lumber merchant and has returned to her father's home, taking nurse and child with her.

ALBANY, Sept. 18.—Governor Black has approved an amendment to the state civil service regulations which places police courts, magistrates' courts, courts of special sessions and minor civil courts in the cities of the state under the jurisdiction of local civil service boards instead of under the supervising authority of the state civil service commission regarding appointments.

A CHURCH PROBLEM.

Methodists are taking a good deal of interest in the Methodist Laymen's Convention, which will meet in Indianapolis, the object of which is to agitate for an increase of lay representatives in the General Conference. Dr. H. K. Carroll, of the Independent, and who is active in church circles in North Plainfield, where he lives, who is himself a Methodist, writes thus to a friend in Indiana: "I am particularly glad to see that the laymen of Indiana have taken a firm stand, and I trust that the influence of what they say will be great throughout the church. I do not think that the ministers will concede what is asked of them until they are satisfied that the laymen not only want it but are determined to have it. Up to the last General Conference I was perfectly indifferent as to whether the laymen were represented in the annual conference or not. But what I saw at Cleveland convinced me that we want representation in the annual conferences as well as in the General Conference; that laymen need to be trained in church statesmanship as much as ministers, and that they appear at a decided disadvantage in the General Conference because of their lack of acquaintance with the ins and outs of the church."

PREPARED TO DEFEND THEMSELVES.

A number of Union county bicycle riders, men of mature age and habits, have applied to the authorities for license to carry revolvers, and in most cases the licenses have been granted. If road agents attempt to hold up these armed men there will certainly be shooting, and very probably bloodshed. The number of attempts by burly negroes, vicious tramps and professional footpads to hold up and rob bicycle riders, after dark, has become quite too great to be overlooked. Moonlight rides have become more or less dangerous, unless the bicycles go in such numbers as to practically assure safety. Within the past few weeks a number of rides have been abandoned, particularly by ladies, for very fear of being attacked by these vicious road agents. It seems to be impossible to identify any of them and bring them to justice in the ordinary way, and therefore the privilege of carrying arms for protection has been asked for and granted. The serious wounding of a few of the rascals who attack bicycle riders would do much toward inducing them to quit the business. —Elizabeth Journal.

A GOOD WORD FOR ROGER.

Roger F. Murray, of Plainfield, is rapidly coming to the front in the race for the Assembly nomination. He is one of the active, brainy young Republicans of that city, and will, if nominated, make a winning fight and prove a valuable representative.—Rahway Advocate.

What's in a Name?

The name of the maker has everything to do with the value of a Piano. Tell us the name on the fall-board and we'll tell you all there is to know. By it we can say just what is the standing of the factory, whether good, bad or middling materials were used, what is its musical worth and what is its money value.

The names of the Pianos that we handle are well known all over America. Each individual name has a solid reputation back of it that puts beyond question the musical excellence of the instrument. If you buy a CHICKERING, HARDMAN, GABLER, VOSE, STERLING or STANDARD, you will own a Piano the quality of which is above criticism.

A successful peach festival was held in the Fanwood Clubhouse on Thursday night, under the auspices of All Saints' Episcopal church of Fanwood. Early in the evening a musical entertainment was given. The pastor, Rev. E. H. True, began the programme with a number of National and patriotic airs on the piano, which were well executed and received much applause. Master Delatour delighted the audience by his quaint character songs. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Delatour, and both were frequently encored. Mrs. Force sang a number of excellent contralto solos, and Miss Keeb's piano solos were much admired. The tables, prettily decorated, were arranged about the hall, and after the entertainment the guests were served with peaches and cream. The candy booth looked inviting and did a thriving business. Later in the evening the floor was cleared and the young folks enjoyed a dance. A neat sum of money was realized from the affair, which will be used to help pay for the new interior decorations of the church.

WANTS TO LAY TRACKS.

TROLLEY COMPANY ASKS FOR USE OF NORTH AVENUE.

Route Will Include County Road—A Public Hearing to Be Held Oct. 8th —News of Churches and Other Items.

The Westfield Township Committee at its meeting last night received a petition from the Elizabeth and Westfield Railway Company, through its representative, S. A. Gaddis, for permission to run tracks and overhead wires for an electric street railway through the town. The proposed route is from the Cranford line along the county road to Middlesex street; along Middlesex street to Broad street, and along Broad to Elm; then to the railroad station and along North avenue to the Fanwood line. The petition was placed on file and the Committee appointed a public meeting to be held in the Westfield Club hall on Friday evening, October 8th, to enable citizens to express their views upon the matter. Oliver Pierson appeared before the Committee and protested against the project to increase the width of the brook which runs through his property, to six feet. He proposed that the width be allowed to remain at four feet and the depth be increased. L. G. Cohen called attention to the damage to sidewalks on North avenue by the recent floods. H. L. Fink submitted an estimate of $20.50 for the repairs upon the ice wagon of Clarence Lambert, which was damaged some weeks ago by falling into a sewer cave-in in the township. The Committee passed a resolution offering to settle Lambert's claim for $15. A communication was received from E. L. Taylor, complaining of the poor condition of the sidewalk in front of the land on North avenue, belonging to the Mary E. Clark estate. The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Taylor that necessary steps will be taken to have suitable repairs made. The Suburban Electric Company notified the Committee that the changes in electric street lights asked for will be made at once. Checks were reported by Tax Collector Clark from Martin B. Clark and A. D. Huffman, in payment of taxes upon their property, which has been advertised for sale by the tax collector. W. R. Wilson, attorney for George W. Tice, wrote to the Committee asking them to relay the sewer connection from Mr. Tice's property, which was torn up some time ago by the superintendent of sewers, because it is designed to carry surface water into the sewer, which is forbidden by an ordinance. Chairman Endicott was appointed a committee of one to interview the attorney and explain the provisions of the ordinance in the matter. Superintendent of the sewers E. W. Chamberlain submitted his report for the month ending September 16th, which showed the sewers to be in good condition. A check for $36, the amount of fees received for sewer permits, accompanied the report. The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company informed the Committee that the house of Chief Engineer Dennis will be connected with the fire tower by a direct wire, as requested. The contract to construct a wire fence on the township farm was awarded to Thomas Dickson. The clerk was instructed to request a written opinion from Counsel Frank Bergen upon the question of the right of exempt firemen living out of the State to claim tax exemption. The opinion has particular reference to the case of A. J. Miller, an exempt fireman living in New York and owning property in Westfield. Bills to the amount of $658.89 were ordered paid, the township treasurer was authorized to discount a vote for $1,000, and the Committee adjourned to meet October 1st.

Rev. N. W. Cadwell, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Wm. H. Ruth, of the Methodist church, will preach tomorrow in favor of the proposed anti-gambling amendments to the State Constitution.

THEATRICAL.

Tonight is the last night of Rice's Comedians, and the successful sensational drama, "Daniel Boone," will undoubtedly be greeted by a packed house. Good houses have greeted this company all the week and they deserve credit for the best and most refined performances ever seen in this city at ten, twenty and thirty cents.

Hoyt's latest and cleverest comedy will be seen here at Music Hall on Wednesday, September 22d. Unlike others of the Hoytian comedies, "A Contented Woman" has a cleverly-woven and well-defined plot, treating as it does upon a law recently passed in Colorado giving the right of suffrage to the fair sex, and giving them the right to hold municipal offices. Upon this dramatic skeleton hangs fun, wit and melody. One might say that "A Contented Woman" is a mirror wherein are reflected the grace of the costumer, the colors of the scenic artist's brush, the flower of power of sound, the sparkle of wit, and many handsome forms and faces, all working harmoniously toward the common end of pleasing the senses. Miss Belle Archer, who is said to be the handsomest women on the stage, plays the title role. She is peculiarly adapted to play the role of the new woman, having a rare magnetism in her favor and a voice of intense sweetness. The company is made up of just the kind of talent that is required for the production; there are pretty girls for the stage pictures, singers for the music, and actors and actresses for the speaking parts. The scenery, properties and effects are all from Hoyt's Theatre, New York, and the play will be mounted and produced here in identically the same manner as it was given in the metropolis.

Humors in the blood, boils, pimples, scrofula sores, are promptly eradicated by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier, nerve tonic and health builder.

Those Extracts Again.

There is no more effective way to hurt trade than to make overdrawn statements about one's goods. I am careful about that, but I have reason to be enthusiastic about the quality of my flavoring extracts. They are sold in New York in competition with the largest and best houses in the country and they gain in favor all the time. I want these goods to be universally used in Plainfield and I am confident that sooner or later they will be. Genuine merit is bound to win in the end.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union held on Thursday, Sept. 2, 1897, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholder King.—1

The minutes of the previous meeting, (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, PETITIONS, ETC.

City Clerk's Office,
Elizabeth, N. J., Aug. 28, 1897.

The Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county, N. J.:

Gentlemen: At a meeting of the City Council of the city of Elizabeth, held Wednesday evening, Aug. 25th, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the clerk of this Council be instructed to communicate with the Board of Chosen Freeholders and invite said board to a conference with this Council concerning the obstructions to the clear and free flow of water in the Elizabeth river, and particularly to the present system of arches at the various bridges.

Very respectfully yours,
Jas. J. Manning,
City Clerk.

On motion of Freeholder Clark received and placed on file.

From the village of South Orange, as follows:

August 23, 1897.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of this village, held this day, the following resolutions were adopted on motion of Mr Campbell, viz:

Resolved, That the board of trustees accept the permission granted to the village of South Orange to lay and maintain sewer pipes under and across Springfield avenue, as such permission was granted by resolution of the Union County Board of Freeholders at a meeting held July 1, 1897, under the restrictions and conditions set forth in said resolution. Signed,

Official. I. W. Wildey, Clerk,

On motion of Freeholder Farrell received and placed on file.

From C B. Holmes, C. J. Kissling, Lewis S. Hyer, H. Rosenbaum, Elihu B. Silvers and thirty four others, residents of the city of Rahway, requesting that immediate steps be taken to remove the arches of the old Bridge street bridge, replacing the same with a raised one-span bridge.

It was claimed that the old bridge at time of freshets had acted as a dam, causing destructive overflows above and below it, thereby entailing frequent losses on those whose property was inundated.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher received and placed on file.

From Louis Quien, C. E., as follows:

Elizabeth, Sept. 2, 1897.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen:—The undersigned respectfully reports to your Honorable Body that John Rehill, the contractor for regulating and paving with macadam pavement St. George's avenue, from Lake avenue to the county line, Rahway, N. J., has completed work to the amount of nine hundred and seventy-two dollars, less fifteen per cent. retained, as in accordance with his contract.

Respectfully submitted,
Louis Quien, C. E.

On motion of Freeholder Littell received and placed on file.

From Jas. W. Fink, County Road Inspector, as follows:

Westfield, N. J., Sept. 1st, 1897.

To the Honorable, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.:

Gentlemen: The undersigned would respectfully submit to your Honorable Body the following report of repairs on county roads to the present date: There has been 10,280 feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone; 14,073 feet with ¾ inch stone; 20,473 top dressed with fine stone; 51,827 feet of gutters cleaned; 8,284 feet of washouts filled.

Adding to this the work in my report of June 30th, which was done by direction of your honorable road committee, makes a total of 3 miles of 1½ inch repairs; 2¾ miles of ¾ inch repairs; 4¾ miles top dressed with fine stone; nearly 12 miles of gutters cleaned; 1¾ miles of washouts filled; 15 miles top dressed with clay. The total cost of this work is $7,183.94. Of this amount $338.03 was spent for work caused by the late storms. The contract work is still in progress on South avenue and at the same time Mountain avenue is being top dressed with clay and fine stone. Signed,

Respectfully submitted,
James W. Fink, Inspector.

On motion of Freeholder Clark received and placed on file.

From the County Attorney, as follows:

August 31, 1897.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen: — The matter of the claims of the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Union county to certain fines alleged to have been paid to the county of Union, having been referred to me for my opinion, I beg wherewith to submit the result of my investigation concerning the matter.

The said society of the county of Union claims the following sums for fines alleged to have been paid to the county of Union by the respective parties, to wit:

April, '94, Joseph Higgins	$ 5.00
November, '94, Mark Dowd	25.00
December, '94, Aaron Weinstein	10.00
April, '96 Max Fern	25.00
April, '96 Max Samson	50.00
May, '97, Wm. Waneker	10.00
Total	$125.00

Regarding the above matter I would say that wherever fines or penalties are collected by virtue of proceedings taken by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, or any agent, member or officer thereof, one-half of the fines so collected shall be paid to the informer, and the remaining one half within thirty days shall be paid to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, if there be such a society in the county where such conviction is had. If there be no such society in such county, then to the State society.

I have just received a communication from Prosecutor Marsh, in answer to an inquiry made by me regarding the above matter, in which he informs me that the prosecution in each of the above cases was instituted either by Mr. Edwards, the president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, or some one of his officers.

Therefore, I am clearly of the opinion that one-half of the fines collected in the above named cases should be paid to the society claiming the same.

Whether the above amounts claimed signify the whole amount or only the one half, I am not able to say, as I have no means of positively ascertaining what amount was received by the county. This, however, can easily be ascertained.

Very respectfully submitted,
W. R. Codington, County Att'y.

On motion of Freeholder Robison received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Freeholder Swain reported progress on matter relative to control of trolley lines on county roads, and heretofore referred to him as a special committee on same.

Freeholder Littell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Clark:

Resolved, That a committee of five (5) be appointed to build a new bridge on the Willow Grove road, near L. Thies' place, Westfield, and if they deem it advisable and necessary that they be empowered to build said bridge at a cost not to exceed $1,000.

Freeholder Roll moved the adoption of the resolution, and after some discussion the resolution on roll call was unanimously adopted.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Clark, Tier, Roll, Robison and King.

By Freeholder Littell;

Resolved, That a duplicate check be given by the County Collector to the order of Chas. J. Fox, for the sum of $266.55, in place of one issued to him August 5 last, which has been lost, upon sufficient bond being given to cover amount of said check.

Freeholder Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That the sum of eight hundred and twenty-five dollars ($825) be paid by the county collector to John Rehill, contractor of St. George's avenue, Rahway, N. J., on account of work done on said contract, when a properly audited bill for the same be presented to the county collector.

PROPOSED COLONY OF WIDOWS.

A Farm Given to Each of Them Which Must be Cultivated Without men.

Mrs. Hattie N. Bemis of Arabia, Neb., owns a large tract of land in northwestern Nebraska, which she says she intends to give to twelve deserving widows of Northwestern farmers. In return she will require them to cultivate it without male assistance. She says that she will start them out with all the machinery they need, a sufficient number of cattle, horses, swine and poultry to serve as a nestegg, and money to last them until the first harvest can be disposed of. She admits that the climate is dry, but she proposes to instruct her wards in the operation of the Campbell system of soil culture, by which method experiments have proved that the rainfall of the section is sufficient to insure bountiful crops. The nearest the women will be allowed to come to dealing with men is to sell their crops to them. If Mrs. Bemis should learn that a farm hand of the male persuasion has been employed about the premises the farm will revert to her. Any member of the community who marries will also forfeit her title to share in the property.—Chicago Record.

WOUNDED HEARTS HEALED.

The Organ Laid Bare and Given Same Treatment as Any External Wound.

At Berlin a day or two ago Herr Relin, of Frankfort-on-the-Main, astonished the members of the Surgical Congress by recounting his experiences in the treatment of wounded hearts. It has always been held that ninety per cent of such cases must prove fatal, death being caused either by shock or by the flow of blood into the pericardial cavity, whereby the heart's action is gradually brought to a standstill. Hitherto no serious attempts have been made to save the patient's life. Herr Relin, however, conceived the daring idea of applying precisely the same treatment that would be used in the case of an external wound. A man was brought into the hospital suffering from a stab in the heart. He laid bare the organ, and succeeded in checking the hemorrhage by means of a suture. The patient made a capital recovery, and was produced before the congress alive and well.

CHORUS OF WHIPS.

Curious Whip-Cracking Contest in France with Interesting Exhibitions of Skill.

Nogeant, the thrifty little town on the river Marne, in France, seems destined to become famous for the oldest contests enacted in modern times. Not long ago the town was treated to the unique spectacle of a whip-cracking contest, with about fifty contestants. The whips were, in class A, the usual driver's whips, and in class B, the so-called perpignan, much resembling the long whips used by the lumbermen in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin on their log sleighs.

At least thirty different kinds of cracking sounds can be made by these whips in the hands of an expert, and the prizes were distributed to those who produced the most of these sounds in rapid succession. The judges laid considerable emphasis in this odd contest on the kind of crackings which would stir a horse most without injuring him. In conclusion, all the drivers cracked their whips in chorus, which had the effect of an ear-deafening cannonade.

A driver by the name of Lermission received the first prize. This man can handle the whip in so masterly a manner that he is able to crack the "Marseilaise" and familiar French songs out of it—New York Journal.

In Honor of America.

During the queen's jubilee our country folk were in high favor in London; the British court officials from royalty downward seemed to go out of their way to show something more than official courtesy to distinguished American visitors. At the closing spectacle of the celebration, the anchorage at Spithead of twenty-five miles of fighting craft of every conceivable character belonging to the British navy—a most impressive exhibition—as the American line steamship New York took the position assigned to her in the line of merchant vessels she traversed the lines of the British warships and each vessel dipped her flag and greeted her with hearty cheers. As she passed the German warship Koenig Wilhelm the band of the latter played "Hail Columbia." It was a pretty incident, long to be remembered.

Walloped the Old Man.

One of the men in the newspaper colony had the misfortune not to be born in America. He has done his best, however, to remedy the mistake of his parents, and his children are all American-born. One of them is a youngster at the age when patriotism is most ardent and firecrackers most alluring.

"Say, papa," he said the other day, "you weren't born here, were you?"

"No, my son," answered the father, "I was born in England."

The boy put his hands in his pockets and squared his shoulders.

"Well, say," he said proudly, "didn't we just wallop you in 1812, though?" Washington Post.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

NEW GOLD DIGGINGS.

HOW THEY WERE DISCOVERED—FORTUNES MADE WITH EASE.

The Biggest Field Yet Found According to Reports—Laborers Receive Fifteen Dollars a Day With Board, and Work Guaranteed One Hundred Boys.

Among the people who have recently returned from the new Clondyke gold mines are men who had been for more than ten years facing the dangers and hardship of the frozen North in the hope of making a rich find, and signally failed. Now they come back with fortunes stored in their gripsacks and stories of untold millions to be picked up in the country of which so little is known. The new Eldorado lies just across the Alaskan boundary in British territory. It is of recent discovery, but already there are at least three thousand people on the ground, and more are flocking in that direction.

The discovery of the Clondyke region presents a story that is uncommonly interesting. Around Forty-Mile Camp, on the Yukon, is a tribe of Indians, known as the Slickers, and with them is a man, who, years ago, was known as George Cormack, but who is now called "Slick George." In September last, at the head of a party of Indians, he left his hut near Forty-Mile Camp and started in a southerly direction, saying that he intended to find a new gold field before his return. He came back two weeks later and startled the miners with the announcement that forty miles away there was gold to be found in plenty. The streams abounded with the yellow metal, and all that was needed was for something to pick it up. Many persons flocked to the place, and in time the word reached Forty-Mile Camp that untold riches could be found along the bottom of Bonanza Creek, and its tributaries. Men who had failed at the former camp immediately packed up their belongings and set out for the new fields. It was a hard and trying journey, but that was nothing with the promise of millions at the end of the route.

The following is an extract from a letter received by the steamer Excelsior, which arrived from Alaska, a short time ago. It was sent from the Clondyke region by a prominent and wealthy young business man of San Francisco to his brother in this city:

"The excitement on the river is indescribable and the output of the new Clondyke district is almost beyond belief. Men who had nothing last fall are now worth a fortune. One man has worked forty square feet of his claim, and is going out with $40,000 in dust. One-quarter of a claim is now selling at from $15,000 to $50,000. The estimate of the district given is thirteen miles, with an average value of $300,000 to the claim. Some are valued as high as $1,000,000 each. At Dawson sacks of dust are thrown under the counters in the store for safe keeping.

"Some of the stories are so fabulous that I am afraid to repeat them, for fear of being suspected of the infection. Labor is $15 a day and board, with one hundred days' work guaranteed; so you can imagine how difficult it is to hold employes.

"If reports are true, it is the biggest placer discovery made in the world, for though other diggings have been found quite as rich in spots, no such extent of discovery has been known which prospected and worked so high right through."—New York Tribune.

Kaffir Mothers-In-Law.

The son-in-law can speak to her only when they are 50 or 100 yards apart at the top of his voice to make himself heard. If he meets her suddenly he must turn his head and if possible cover his face. Unless he happens to have his shield with him, however, his whole wardrobe may consist of a displeased expression of countenance and a loin-cloth. He will then turn his back and get away as fast as possible. The mother-in-law herself generally turns her back and kneels under a bush or behind a rock, as if hiding from him. Neither son-in-law nor mother-in-law ever mentions the other's name. The origin of this remarkable custom is unknown.

The theory that etiquette belongs only to high society among civilized people is generally held, but it is a mistaken one. It is among barbarous tribes that it is carried to the highest perfection. The Kaffirs have a most intricate code, well illustrated in the ceremonies necessary in all dealings, a man has with his mother-in-law in Kaffir society. After a Kaffir marries he is never allowed to speak familiarly to his wife's mother or look her in the face. When he wishes to speak to her he must get away fifty or a hundred yards from her—so far that he is obliged to shout.

Sightless Woman Farmer.

There lives in Oak Hill, Tex., a blind girl who has from a few acres of land cultivated by herself, cleared about $200 each season for several years by the growing and sale of vegetables. She began with no capital and an unfenced piece of uncultivated land. There is now a neat fence about her domain, a well and pump in the centre, and she has, in addition to purchasing these, paid for a piano and hack to take her vegetables to the market, which is twenty miles from her home. Each evening during the dry season she waters a certain number of plants until she has gone over the entire piece, when she begins and goes over it again in the same way. Insect life she detects from her acute sense of hearing, and grass and weeds are easily distinguished from plants by the sensitive fingers of the blind gardener.—New York Journal.

STILL QUIET AT HAZLETON.

General Gobin Will Prevent Any Disorder at Tonight's Meeting.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 18.—The strike situation may be summarized thus: Over 10,000 men are still out, with no apparent prospect of settlement, sporadic outbreaks of violence are occurring near the outlying collieries, and the withdrawing of troops is not only unthought of, but the guard lines of several of the camps are being constantly strengthened, and the wisdom of bringing more cavalry is being discussed. It was said that if the soldiers are kept here much longer the Sheridan troop of Tyrone, attached to the Second brigade, will be ordered out.

A captain of General Gobin's staff is authority for the statement that an uneasy feeling prevails at headquarters in consequence of the little outbreaks of the past few days and the indication they hold of the underlying disturbance.

The brigade commander himself admitted that the action of the raiding women was giving him much perplexity. He does not care to use force against them and has instructed the soldiers, in case of necessity, to use only the flats of their sabers upon the amazons. The story reached the general that many men were in the attacking crowds disguised as women. A call for troops came from Cranberry yesterday and was the act of a scared night watchman, who mistook the soldiers for strikers. All the dynamite that can be found in the region is being collected and stored in Turnbach's powder house to keep it from the hands of the miners, and 100 men from the Ninth regiment were sent over to guard the house. The watchman saw the lights and moving figures, lost his nerve and telephoned that an attack was threatened.

Another territory has been turbulent. A body of strikers at Lattimer, No. 2, quarreled among themselves, and bloodshed threatened, when company E of the Thirteenth regiment, which is camped at Lattimer, restored quiet.

Deputy Coroner Bowman will begin the inquest over the bodies of the dead miners next Tuesday afternoon. Over 100 witnesses will be examined.

General Gobin will not interfere with tonight's big mass meeting unless highly colored speeches are made. The principal speakers are to be P. J Maguire, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and George Chance of the United Labor league. As a precautionary measure, a guard of soldiers will be present. Organizer Faney and other leaders have asked that the militia be withdrawn, and General Gobin has advised them that the speediest way to accomplish this will be to stop holding mass meetings and thereby exciting the people.

The only change in the strike situation proper was the return to work of the 500 men employed at Coxe's Beaver Meadow colliery. The miners say that this is only temporary and that if the other Coxe men at Drifton and elsewhere decide at their meeting of Monday to go out the Beaver Meadow men will join them.

ON CAPTAIN RAY'S REPORT.

That Is Why Our Government Is Sending Soldiers to Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The report from Captain Ray, the army officer who was sent to Alaska to investigate the condition of affairs there, formed the basis of the cabinet decision to send a small force of soldiers to St. Michaels at the earliest moment. Captain Ray's advices were dated Aug. 27.

He was then at St. Michaels, about to take the steamer up the Yukon for Circle City. His report showed that without doubt great suffering must be expected in the Klondike region this winter owing to the lack of food supplies. Further details on that point were promised at a later date. He regarded it as essential that some kind of force acting under lawful authority be placed at St. Michaels to restrain the lawless element. Secretary Alger late yesterday afternoon gave the necessary orders for the sending of troops. There will be only 25 infantrymen, and they will be sent from Fort D. A. Russell, where Captain Ray had made a selection of hardy men to accompany him when he was about to go north before. Those men will be under the lead of Lieutenant Colonel Randall of the Eighth infantry, at Cheyenne, Wy., and there will be a surgeon and three members of the army hospital corps, because of the report of prevailing sickness in Alaska.

Secretary Alger has managed to overcome the difficulty in the matter of transportation by means of telegraphic correspondence with President Weare of the Alaska Transportation and Trading company. That gentleman has informed the secretary that the company will start another boat from Seattle for St Michaels within the next seven days. This boat will take up mainly food and clothing supplies, but the troops will be taken also if the war department so desires.

GEORGE GOULD HOME.

He Discusses the Angell Case and the Financial Situation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—George Jay Gould, the millionaire, who with his family and a personal retinue, arrived here last night on the steamship St. Louis, from England, said there is absolutely nothing in the rumors about the selling of the Gould and Sage interests in Manhattan Elevated stocks. He said that the proposed suit against his father's estate by Mrs. Angell had been completely disposed of by the affidavit of the latter. He knew from the first, he said, that the whole matter was a fraud. When asked if he intended to prosecute the parties implicated in the conspiracy, Mr. Gould said that he would let that rest with the public prosecutor.

Regarding the financial situation, Mr. Gould said he is greatly pleased with the fine outlook. He declared that there has been material improvement in the country's condition and said that in England and on the continent there is a very good idea of the improvement here and that the general impression here is that the good times have come to stay. He believes in this himself.

Actor Willard Here.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—E. S. Willard, the English actor, with ten members of his company, arrived last night on the steamship St. Louis. He will open the season here with a play called "The Physician." THE INDIAN TROUBLE British Soldiers at Camp Anayat Sustain a Loss.

MANY WERE KILLED AND WOUNDED.

The Momunds Show That They Know Something About Warfare and Give the Sikhs and the Buffs a Hard Contest.

CAMP ANAYAT, via Panjkora, Sept. 18.—Severe fighting has taken place between the Second brigade of General Sir Bindon Blood's division and the Momunds. The British loss was 150 killed and wounded.

The brigade had moved out to attack the Momunds in the valley north of the camp, to punish them for the assault Tuesday night upon the force of General Jeffreys at the foot of Pawar pass. The Bengal lancers found the enemy intrenched on the hills about eight miles distant.

The Thirty-fifth Sikhs was ordered to make the attack. The regiment was supported by four guns of a mountain battery and six companies of Buffs The Sikhs drove the enemy into the hills, but eventually fell back upon the Buffs before superior numbers.

The enemy then advanced against the left flank, drove back the cavalry and surrounded a company of Sikhs. The cavalry charged brilliantly and relieved the Sikhs, and the guides coming up swept the enemy back. The force halted for some time, destroying the enemy's towers, and then retired.

A company of Sikhs on the hills to the extreme right was hard pressed and was running short of ammunition when the general officer commanding moved the guides forward to their relief, which was gallantly accomplished The guides carried the wounded Sikhs back and executed the withdrawal in good order, though the enemy pressed them hard.

Darkness came on before the force reached the camp, and the guides, with General Jeffreys and his escort of Buffs, became separated from the column, which passed them in the gloom. General Jeffreys remained with the guns and took up a position in a village.

The enemy had occupied a part of the village and, the escort not being strong enough to expel them, had inflicted considerable loss on the little party before Major Wortledge, with two companies, each composed of Sikhs and guides, came up and compelled them to retire.

A large party of cavalry and the Thirty-eighth Dogras left the camp and brought in the whole detachment.

Captain Birch and Lieutenant Watson behaved with great gallantry. Lieutenant Hughes and Lieutenant Crawford were killed.

Lieutenant Watson, Lieutenant Gunning and Lieutenant Winter were severely wounded, and General Jeffreys, Lieutenant Cassels and Captain Birch slightly wounded.

The Buffs lost 1 killed and 7 wounded, the Sikhs 21 killed and 42 wounded, the guides 2 killed and 10 wounded, the gunners 7 killed and 21 wounded and the sappers 3 killed and 16 wounded.

Two Bengal lancers were wounded. Many horses and mules were killed.

English Papers Comment.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—All the morning papers comment upon the British reverse north of Camp Anayat.

The Daily Telegraph calls it "disastrous" and says:

"Whether it was due to rashness or to some not yet explained cause, it will be a matter of unfeigned sorrow. When we read of the loss of so many valuable lives, we can only deplore a casualty which, though it will doubtless be speedily avenged, casts a gloom upon the happier intelligence received from Fort Gulistan."

Builders' Convention Ends.

DETROIT, Sept. 18.—The National Builders' association convention finished its business yesterday. Milwaukee was chosen for the next convention, which will be held the first Tuesday in February, 1899. Thomas R. Bentley of Milwaukee was elected president, William H. Alsip of Chicago first vice president, Stacey Reeves of Philadelphia second vice president. George Tapper of Chicago was re-elected treasurer for the eleventh time and Secretary W. H. Sayward of Boston was re-elected secretary. The following board of directors was named: C. E. Clark, Boston; C. A. Rupp, Buffalo; W. M. Crilly, Chicago; C. A. Cowan, New York; George Watson, Philadelphia; John Finn, Detroit; William H. Kimball, Lowell; John Luther, Rochester; H. Wallschlaeger, Milwaukee. The Building Inspectors' association re-elected their former officers and decided to meet when the Builders' association meets again.

Killed After a Drunk.

HARTFORD, Sept. 18.—Matthew Ryan was stabbed and killed by Jeremiah Malone. The men had been on a grand drunk. Malone induced Ryan to go into an alley and while there cut him in the neck with a penknife. Ryan died in a few minutes. Malone was arrested. He said he belonged in Bridgeport.

Freight Train Cut Off His Head.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 18.—Joseph Lamont, 40 years of age, a mason, was struck and instantly killed by a freight train at the Roger Williams avenue bridge last night while walking on the track. The body was terribly mangled, the head being severed from the shoulders.

ALBANY, Sept. 18.—Lawyer John F. Montignani of this city bought in the Tenth battalion armory, which was sold for water rent Thursday, for $3 60. Mr. Montignani now holds the federal building in this city and the armory, both of which are new buildings.

Unspun woolen fibre incorporated into the meshes of a knitted cotton fabric form a material which has long been recognized by the medical profession as unequalled for the protection of the body. It is particularly beneficial in pulmonary consumption, rheumatism, kidney diseases, catarrhal troubles, bowel troubles, and should be worn by all persons who indulge in athletic sports.

Excursions to Nashville.

The Tennessee Centennial has proved a great success. It continues until November 1st and the Norfolk and Western Railway has arranged some exceedingly pleasant excursions to Nashville for the occasion. These excursions go all-rail via Washington or Hagerstown, return the same route, or direct via Gettysburg, returning direct via Washington; or steamers to Norfolk, and thence via Petersburg. (and Richmond if desired), Roanoke, Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain, returning all-rail to New York via the famous Shenandoah Valley route and Washington or Hagerstown (including Gettysburg if desired.) The Norfolk and Western Railway is the shortest and by all odds the most attractive route to Nashville, the cleanest, the most picturesque. For further particulars address L. J. Ellis, Eastern Passenger Agent, 487 Broadway, N. Y.

Assessed Property Owner's Complain.

The report of the Commissioners to assess benefits and damages for the opening of Watchung avenue in the borough has not satisfied all the landowners who are involved. Some think that the benefits as assessed are far too large and they are proposing to take some action in the matter. Several of them have gotten together and propose to call a public meeting for some evening next week, when the property owners interested can air their grievances and see what they can do about it.

Another Bicycle Sundry Thief.

D. S. Miller, of Randolph's pharmacy, on West Front street, is looking for a clever thief who stripped his bicycle of all its sundries, including lamp, toolbag and bell last night. The wheel was allowed to stand in a yard at the back of the store, which connects with an alley way leading into Front street. At about 10 o'clock Miller went to get his wheel and discovered that the articles in question had been taken from it. No trace of the stolen articles has yet been found.

Republican politicians in Elizabeth prophecy that not one-fifth of the Republican votes will be polled at the election on September 28th, when the new amendments to the State Constitution come up to be voted upon by the people. Some of the local politicians are of the same opinion, but there will be a determined effort among many of the latter to get the local voters out.

Miss Davenport, of Brooklyn, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Perry, of Willow avenue.

Miss Marion P. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, leaves on Monday for Northampton, where she will enter upon her studies at Smith College.

The Popular Exercise Provides Incidents and Expressions That are of Especial Moment When Wheeling is the Rage.

Miss Daisy Elsberg, of Prospect place, has recovered her wheel which disappeared from the rear piazza of her home several days ago.

The bicycle thief is plying his trade unmolested in this and neighboring towns. Owners of wheels will find it advantageous to take a little more care of their wheels, buy a lock and chain or else insure their machine.

The entrance of Thomas A. Cuming into the bicycle trade is only another case of a wheelman whose love for the sport has finally caused him to give up other lines of work and devote himself to the cycle trade entirely.

Peter Simms, the Plainfield colored rider, won two firsts at the races at the Somerset County Fair Tuesday afternoon, instead of one first and one second as stated in The Press. He rode a Kimball racer purchased of George Gould, the Park avenue dealer.

AROUND THE BASES.

The baseball season closes this afternoon when the Plainfield Crescents play the Riverdale Field Club on the Crescents grounds at the corner of LaGrande avenue and Richmond street. Play begins at 3:30 o'clock.

To those who are on the inside of the trouble with the West End Field Club, the situation is very amusing after all. As was shown by his conduct on the field at the game on Labor Day morning, the West End manager is liable to loose his temper. He has done so in several instances in which he has written to Manager Mumford of the Crescents. The latter tried to secure another game with the West Ends with an impartial umpire but the West End manager would not hear of it. He declared that he was satisfied with the result of the last game and had no wish to continue the fight. He thinks that the charge made against his umpire, Mr. Tippett, will make trouble as Mr. Tippett has southern blood and "will not stand any strain on his good name," which is all very amusing. Mr. Tippett has written to a Plainfield friend that he is going to send a communication to the Press regarding the game. Its arrival will be watched with interest. Meanwhile it is really too bad that the two teams could not have met again. Such games are bound to help the National game and increase the interest in it among the people of this city. A deciding game would draw a large crowd and would certainly be well worth witnessing. Manager Mumford has done all in his power to get them here, however, and the blame lies with the manager of the West End Club who would not accept the really generous offer made him.

FOOTBALL.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Plainfield Athletic Association at the office of the Plainfield Cycling and Sporting Goods Company, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, to make further arrangements for the support of the football team. A number of subscription lists have been started and the work of circulating them among the townfolks has begun. The lovers of good sport have been found willing to do their share to give Plainfield a representative football team to hold up the honor of Plainfield on the gridiron this fall. The New Jersey Athletic Club, of Bayonne, is very anxious to secure some of the best players that Plainfield has, but with good support from the citizens of Plainfield, the players are only too glad to remain at home and play here instead of casting their allegiance with some outside organization.

WHIST.

The contest for the Park Club whist trophy was resumed last Wednesday evening at Passaic. The Passaic club has held the trophy during the summer and they played the first challengers, the Ridgewood club. The latter won by two tricks. The next challenging club is the Elizabeth Athletic club.

It is not too early to think about these things and if you attend to it now you will avoid the rush. They will call for your goods or you can leave them at any time between 7 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock in the evening. Saturday nights the store is open later in the evening.

NEW JERSEY MILITARY ACADEMY.

Thorough Study and Discipline to Prepare the Pupils for College or Business.

A. D. Warde, Ph.D., has just issued a neat little pamphlet concisely and interestingly telling of the New Jersey Military Academy, which is the successor of Dr. Johnstone's Latin School.

The object of the school is to prepare students for the college, the government and scientific schools, and for business. The thorough discipline necessary to secure this object will be supplemented by such elevating and refining influences as will enable the pupils to appear with ease or dignity in the home or social life.

Pupils may enter at any time, though it is desirable that all pupils should enter the school during the first week of the new school year.

The academy will receive pupils at the age of eight, and those of more advanced age, who may remain until fully prepared for business, the government and scientific schools, or for college.

The students will be under the personal supervision of the superintendent during the school session, and the school will be made comfortable and attractive.

The regular course covers a period of five years and provides a thorough and comprehensive preparation for entering the colleges or scientific schools.

The school year will begin Tuesday, September 21, 1897, and will close about June 15, 1898.

It will consist of two sessions; the second session will begin about February 1, 1898.

The academy will be closed on all legal holidays; also from December 23d to January 2d; Friday before and Monday after Easter.

Copies of the pamphlet can be secured at either this office or The News office or of Dr. Warde.

AN ARMY.

Uncle Sam's army is not as big as it was in 1861-5, but his soldiers now as then, suffer from Kidney Diseases contracted by exposure, bad water, etc. A small army of old veterans have been cured of Kidney and Bladder diseases. You too can be

CURED

I wish to express my gratitude for the good results which Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills have effected in my case. I have suffered from kidney disease for the last eight years. Every movement would cause such intense pain that I would almost fall down. I was also obliged to get up six or eight times a night. The pain and weakness of my back interfered with my work as porter. I also suffered from rheumatism, mostly in my ankles. I have taken the Sparagus Kidney Pills for the last two months, with the result that my back is strong and the pain has disappeared. I have been able to be out all winter for the first time in six years. The rheumatism has almost disappeared. I still have to get up once or twice a night, but expect a complete cure by continuing the treatment a little longer. Yours truly, WM. WILSON, 104 Tanner avenue, Harrisburg, Pa.

DEFEAT ENDED SEASON.

CRESCENTS LOST THEIR GAME IN THE FIRST TWO INNINGS.

Warren MacLaughlin in the Box. But No Experienced Pitcher Was There For the First Two Innings—The Score in Detail.

The baseball season of 1897 came to an end in Plainfield Saturday afternoon, when the Plainfield Crescents suffered defeat at the hands of the Riverdale Field Club, a strong team from upper New York. The game was won by the visitors by a score of 10 to 7, after a snappy exciting game.

Had the first two innings been left out, the game would have easily been won by the home team. As it was the Crescents did not have any pitcher for the first inning and when Warrie MacLaughlin was put in it took him an inning to get used to the team, his catcher and the rest of the circumstances. After that he settled down to work and the visitors made but one more hit off him. The home team played a stiff, uphill game and made a desperate effort to capture the game after all, but their chances were lost when Vroom failed to stop the third strike on Lindsay and allowed two men to score on what should have been the third out.

Clarence Vroom was to pitch, but for some reason he could not come and the Crescents found themselves without a pitcher. The beginning of the game was delayed until it looked as if darkness would arrive before it was over, and then Collins was put in the box. Meanwhile Warren MacLaughlin, the left-handed twirler for the Somersets, who lives in North Plainfield, was sent to the dressing-room to get into a uniform and prepare to take Collins' place as soon as possible.

The visitors were first at bat and opened the battle with a vim. Singles by Smith and Tooker, and errors by Hollister and Symons, a wild throw by "Pa" Parrott, of Rutgers varsity, who was taking Collins' place at centre, and two bases on balls combined to give the visitor three runs. The Crescents failed to score in their half of the inning. In the next inning Mac was in the box and but one hit, a double, was made off him, but a base on balls, and expensive errors by Hollister, MacLaughlin and Cooney, together with a passed ball allowed four of the visitors to cross the plate.

With the score 7 to 0, the Crescents braced up and Mac made the first run. There ought to have been two runs or more, but for a foolish attempt to steal second on the part of Lederer. Bodain lost the ball in the weeds in right field and completed the circuit of the bases, scoring the only run of the visitors until the ninth. The Crescents had three on bases, with two out, but Lederer could not bat safely and they made no runs.

In the fifth inning, the local players waked up and made things lively for Terry, of the Montclair Athletic Club, who was pitching for the Riverdales. Symons and Hollister went to first on wild throws to first. Vroom sacrificed, advancing them a base each and then Symons scored on an error by third base. Collins hit safely and Hollister scored. Cooney was hit on the shoulder. Lederer went to first on another wild throw and then Mac and Corbin batted out singles, Collins and Cooney scoring in the meantime. With the bases filled, MacBeth batted a grounder to third who caught Lederer at the plate. Symons ended the inning by going out at first. Four runs were made,

A hit by Hollister and a dropped throw by Tooker at first allowed Hollister to make the circuit of the bases. One run was added to the Crescents' score.

In the ninth, Mac gave two of the visitors their first on four balls with two men out. He struck out Lindsay but the ball passed Vroom and rolled clear into the road, two men scoring in the meantime. MacLaughlin added a solitary run to the Crescents' score in their half of the last inning and the game was over.

Terry pitched for the visitors until the eventful fifth when Lindsay took his place. The visitors were as gentlemanly set of fellows as are to be found on the diamond today. They make no kicks and played a fair honest game that was much to be commended. They all spoke very highly of the Crescents and could not say to much in praise of Ericksen as umpire. They characterized him as the fairest umpire they had met this season. They all want to play here again next season.

The detailed score was as follows:

FRED O. BALL MARRIED.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN TAKES A WIFE IN BUFFALO.

Miss Cornelia Mueller the Bride's Name—The Ceremony Performed in Her Home Which Was Decorated For the Event.

The Buffalo Express on Friday contained the following concerning the marriage of a popular Plainfield young man and a Buffalo belle:

"An interesting autumn wedding was that of Miss Cornelia Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mueller, of Elmwood avenue, and Fred Ossian Ball, of Plainfield, which took place at 8:30 o'clock last night. Rev. Henry Stevens Catley, of Middleport, N. Y., performed the ceremony. The house was lavishly decorated throughout with ferns and pink asters. Miss Clara Diehl, a friend of the bride, presided at the piano, playing the wedding march as the bridal party entered the parlor. Miss Louise Frances Mueller was the maid of honor and Miss Evelyn Doyle and Miss Jessie May Barnes, of Point Chautauqua, the maids. The ushers were William Percy Lloyd, Stanley R. Ketchum and Walter H. Barnes. The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Bert C. Ball, of Erie, Pa.

"The bride was gowned in cream brocade satin trimmed with ruchings of bridal veiling. She wore a long tulle veil and carried a loose bouquet of bridal roses. The maid-of-honor wore white organdie over white. The low cut bodice was edged with pink rosebuds and she wore pink rosebuds and white aigrettes in her hair. The maids wore rose pink organdie with similar rosebud garnishings. The bride's gifts to her maids were old Spanish mahogany treasure boxes lined with a bit of the wedding gown. The groom gave his men handsome illustrated copies of "The Vicar of Wakefield." To his bride he gave a ring set with two large diamonds.

"A reception to relatives and friends followed the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with maidenhair fern and pink verbenas. The centrepiece, which was specially pretty, was the gift of several of the bride's friends. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Ball left on a wedding trip to Boston and along the coast of Maine. After December 1st they will be at home at Plainfield, N. J."

SUNDAY-SCHOOL RALLY.

Congregationalists Gather to Start Afresh For the Winter Season.

Yesterday was Rally Sunday for the Sunday-school of the Congregational church. The afternoon session of the school was resumed after the summer change to the morning, and it was marked by an increase in the attendance. A rally service was held during the afternoon, for which special music and an interesting address were arranged. All the old members of the school were back invigorated and refreshed with their summer outing and ready to begin the year's work with renewed energy. Then there were new recruits.

Joseph A. Robinson, the superintendent, presided at the rally service. There were a number of visitors present. An instrumental trio, composed of Mrs. B. T. Basnes, organist; Mrs. M. E. Dwight, pianist; and P. Ludwig Conde, violinist, rendered two selections, Nocturne, by Matys, and Serenade, by Gounod, during the service An impressive solo, "The Ninety and Nine," was sung by Charles L. Lewis. The opening prayer was made by W. D. Murray. A map exercise and review was conducted by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, assisted by Harold Nomer, Edward Suffren, Marion Dwight, Hattie Messersmith, Edwin Weseman and Agnes LaBoyteaux.

The address of the afternoon was made by Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, of Trenton, secretary of the State Sunday-school Association. He impressed his hearers with the fact that while everything could not be learned in a lifetime, all should do what they could to reach that end. He asked them not to be always learners of God's truths but to teach what they knew to others as well.

The church was artistically decorated for the occasion with various cultivated flowers.

Thought She Saw a Suspicious Man.

Last Saturday evening about 8:30 Mrs. Myers, of East Front street, sent a messenger for a policeman as she thought she saw someone about her place acting very suspiciously. When the policeman arrived no one was to be found and everything was quiet and orderly in that neighborhood.

PULPIT APPEALS TO STAMP OUT GAMBLING.

Local Ministers Raise Their Voices to Dispel Apathy Towards the Constitutional Amendments.

Pastors Exhorted Their Congregations to Vote and Work for the Amendment Prohibiting the Legislature From Legalizing Race-Track Gambling—It Is a Great Moral Issue.

From pulpits all through the State, yesterday, ministers made strong appeals for the support of the anti-gambling Constitutional amendment at the special election September 28. Below are given some of the arguments of Plainfield pastors:

The Christian's Duty.

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, while one of Plainfield's most earnest evangelical preachers, is a very strong advocate of good citizenship, and yesterday morning he delivered an unusually stirring sermon on the Constitutional amendment relating to race-track gambling. His text was Philippeans 1; 27, the margin of the revised version: "Behave as citizens worthily of the gospel," and his sermon was in part as follows:

History has proved that the church and the State must be kept separate, but Christianity and the State should never be separated. No part of life is really secular; all of it is sacred, and our duties to the State are holy duties. We cannot separate the cause of religion from the cause of morality, and it is purely a moral issue which is to come before us on the 28th of September.

If the anti-gambling amendment to the Constitution becomes a law, it is beyond the power of any legislature to change it. You remember the disgraces of the past; you have not ceased to tingle with indignation at the thougth of what made men say of our State that nothing so vile as New Jersey should be tolorated in the Union, or anywhere near the Union. Then the State rose up and cast out the unclean thing. Most of us then settled down in contented quiet, but not so with the Citizen's League. They have secured the passage of this amendment in the Legislature twice in succession, and on the 28th it comes before the people, who have then an opportunity to strike a tremendous blow against a terrible evil.

Gambling is one of the great vices that are blocking the way of the Church of God, corrupting the youth of the nation, breaking up homes, and ruining hundreds of thousands. In one guise or another, its evil influence is felt in almost every class. The essential sin of gambling is that it is the getting of something for nothing, against the owner's will; it is really the same as stealing. And it has behind it the passion of greed, the most overpowering passion of the human heart, before which neither honor, love, nor the soul itself can stand. Race-track gambling is an especially flagrant form of evil.

If the amendment should not be carried, all thus far gained would be lost, and the evils of the past would be brought upon us in magnified power. And there is a great danger that it will be lost. Its enemies are very active; they have the incentive of self-interest, and they have the control of large funds. While good men sleep, evil men scheme and plan; the friends of righteousness are too indifferent This will be a special election, and at special elections the vote is always light. But this is a chance to vote for the right, pure and simple. It is not likely that a majority of the people approve of race-track gambling; the danger is that moral men will not take the trouble to register and vote. It is a plain and simple duty, but one upon which great results depend. If a hoard of savage barbarians were to descend upon our land, to destroy our homes and ill use our wives and daughters, everyone of us deserving the name of man would take a musket and go out against them. But now a danger threatens us, and there is no need to take a musket; all we need to do is to go and vote. We know the terrible results of this evil. If the amendment should be lost, no man who neglected to register and vote could hold himself guiltless of the blood of souls. God grant that on the coming test day, we may all "behave as citizens worthily of the gospel."

The Evils Depicted.

The sermon preached by Rev. H. J. Johnston last evening at Grace M. E. church was one of the most forcible and pointed of the Sunday discourses. The sermon had to do with the coming election on the proposed amendment to the constitution regarding lottery and gambling. There was a large number of people present to hear it. Mr. Johnston took for his text, Matthew 16-26: "What Shall a Man Give in Exchange for his Soul," and his first point was that of self interest as against false self-interest, and quoted as instances of fatal self-care, Lot, Ahab, Gehazi, Judas and the rich fool who was going to build larger barns for his goods and then take life easy. In reference to true self-care Mr. Johnston said that a person must look to self the real number one. Too many look out for number two as what he is doing.

In the second place the speaker said, "Every man has his price. The temptations felt by some would not trouble others. It seems very strange that men will stake their all on gambling, but we no doubt appear just as strangely to the men who do that very thing. Peter was not tempted by gold or silver, but the ridicule of a little girl was his price. On the other hand, Judas would probably have boxed the little girl's ears if he had been tempted in that way, but he fell down before the glitter of money. Politicians would die for their country or for Old Glory, and yet they are doing just what Judas did. The weak spot in a man is his price and their is a tag on each and the devil knows the tag."

In the last place Mr. Johnston spoke of the irreclaimable soul and the would-be purchaser, as one interested in all "sales." He then drew a vivid picture. It was a game of chess with the evil one near by. At the table was seated the man who had staked his all on the game, while beside him was the skillful player, his opponent. The gradual loss of property, friends and honor was pictured in a realistic manner and it came home to the hearts of all present as a wonderful lesson. The final scene "Checkmated," was very impressive. Continuing Mr. Johnston said: "No price offered can buy back the soul, and what can a man give in exchange for his soul? What has he left? There is significance in the fact that Paul committed his soul to God for safekeeping."

In conclusion Mr. Johnston read the proposed amendments and applied his discourse to the evils depicted, and the need of Christians caring for their own souls, refusing to sell, and thus caring for the souls of others.

A Moral, Not Political, Question.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of the First Baptist church, spoke yesterday morning with no uncertain sound on the subject of the Constitutional amendment, to be decided by public vote next week. He did not consider the subject from the standpoint of politics, but of morality. With the strong words of the prophet Amos for his text, "Hate the evil and love the good and establish judgment in the gate; it may be that the Lord God of hosts will be gracious unto the remnant of Joseph," he briefly outlined the history of the ten tribes whose sin led to their downfall and whose sad fate might have been averted by their allegiance to truth and justice. A few bold strokes pictured the shame of New Jersey when in 1893 legalized gambling caused the overflow of corruption from adjacent cities and States, until the people arose in their power and repealed the law. He explained that the passing of the Constitutional amendment would settle forever the question that may otherwise be a menace to morals and cause a political struggle year after year.

The Crime of Indifference.

"The Crime of Indifference: The Anti Gambling Amemdment," was the subject of a very interesting sermon preached by Rev. W. C. O'Donnell at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last evening. It was in accordance with the request of the Citizens' League of the State that all ministers call the attention of the congregation to the amendment to the State Constitution relating to the race tracks and gambling. Rev. Mr. O'Donnell read the appeal of the Citizens' League during the first part of the service.

He began his discourse by asking whether indifference was a crime, and went on to argue that it was. A man, he said, who was indifferent to the interests of his community was a drag to the community, and while guilty of no positive act, he was negatively guilty. The man who neglects the interests of his family and home is criminal. A man who had been utterly indifferent to the result of the struggle in Revolutionary times would have been considered as great a traitor to his country as Benedict Arnold was.

The remedy, Mr. O'Donnell pointed out, was to be zealous in all good works, there must be rivalry in doing good. He pointed out the better work done in school and in business where

DRUNKS OF A NIGHT.

RUM HAD A DEMORALIZING EFFECT ON TWO BOROUGHITES.

Disorderly Conduct Landed Them Before the Recorder—Newark Man Who Couldn't Give a Good Account of Himself.

Several cases occupied the attention of the borough court this morning. Frank Moncton was found on Somerset street yesterday morning by Chief Wilson in a state of intoxication and disorder. He was given his choice of paying $10 or going to Somerville for thirty days. He paid his fine. Dominick Duffy, of Grove street, imbibed too freely Saturday night and was arrested by Marshal Schenck. He became so unruly that the assistance of Marshal Whitely was asked for. This morning a $10 fine paid released Duffy from the lockup and he went home.

About 8 o'clock this morning Marshal George Kliner arrested Jacob Atkinson, of Newark. He was found on Greenbrook road intoxicated. He said that he had walked in from South Plainfield and was on his way back to Newark, but when closely questioned he was unable to give a good account of himself. He also said that during the past week he has been at Allentown, Phillipsburg, Easton and several other places. He had a suspicious look and will be held until this evening when he will be given a hearing. He was continually crying and begging to be released and said that he would leave town at once.

Early Saturday evening a crowd of Plainfielders became engaged in a fight near the Manhattan Hotel, but when the police arrived everything was quiet and no one had anything to say regarding the disturbance. No arrests were made.

BIG WATER PURVEYORS.

Middlesex Water Company's Extensive System is Nearing Completion.

In about three weeks the Middlesex Water Company will have the plant at South Plainfield in good working order. The system comprises about twenty miles of pipe line, nearly all of which is laid. At intervals there are places where the pipes are not connected and as soon as this work is completed the water will be turned on.

In a few days a test of the wells at South Plainfield will be made for the purpose of ascertaining what amount of water can be secured. The work of erecting a standpipe at Ford's Corner, midway between Metuchen and Woodbridge, is well under way. The standpipe will be fifty feet in diameter and thirty feet high. The object of this is that the company has all the elevation it needs and they want to increase the capacity. This will be kept full all the time and will furnish water both ways, and all along the line from South Plainfield to Island View, a place near Carteret.

It is the intention of the company to supply water to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and possibly to another railroad company. Arrangements are now being made to that end. The water has been thoroughly tested and is fully equal to that in this city. There seems to be a good demand for it by people living in the section through which the pipes run. It is also intended to make provision for fire protection for the towns through which the pipes run.

At South Plainfield everything is practically in readiness for the supply, the engines have been located, and as soon as possible a test will be made there. There seems to be no doubt but what the machinery will be all right and nothing now remains except the laying of the pipes.

A CHILDREN'S FAIR.

Successful Event Conducted for a Worthy Institution.

The children's fair for the benefit of The Daisy Field's Home and Hospital for Cripplied Children, of Englewood, N. J., was held Saturday afternoon, at 323 Carelton avenue. The fair was originated by two little girl—Kate H. Tiemann and Henrietta L. Work. At the sale they were assisted by their little friends, Fannie Anthony, of Hackensack, May Emerson, of Brooklyn, Nina Sampson and Antoinette Hill. Cement Morgan kindly acted as ticket taker.

The net sum of seventy dollars realized for the Home testifies to their industry and the kindness of their many friends.

Indian Fair Closes Tonight.

Tonight the Indian fair will close after a very successful week. On Saturday evening the largest attendance was recorded and the receipts were large. The contest for the motor man's rubber suit is still very close, with Messrs. Brown, Welsh and Martin in the lead. Tonight the contest will be decided and a great deal of fun is expected.

HOLDUPS IN CITY LIMITS

HIGHWAYMEN STOPPED TWO BOYS AND A MAN IN NETHERWOOD.

Irving DeHart Took Flight When Accosted and Outfooted the Desperadoes—Money, Not Watches, Was Their Quest.

Within the city limits, last evening, two boys and a man were held up by supposed tramps who concealed their identity under slouch hats. Three suspicious characters were afterwards arrested and it was supposed that they were implicated in the attempts at highway robbery but there was no evidence to that effect and they were allowed to go this morning.

Irving DeHart is a bright little lad living at 905 South Second street. He sings in the choir of St. Stephens church on Ravine road, Netherwood. Last evening, Irving was going to attend the evening service at the church. It was 7:30 o'clock as he passed up South avenue. There are several open fields just at the foot of Netherwood hill on South avenue, and Irving was passing them, walking in the middle of the road, when he noticed two men standing by the gutter.

As the lad came up, one of the men pulled his slouch hat over his face and started for the boy.

"Hey there. Stand!" gruffly said the highwayman.

"What for?" asked the lad as he kept moving down the road.

"Stand!" repeated the stranger.

"I won't," retorted the boy.

"Stand, or I'll shoot yer," yelled the man, and then the boy broke into a run. He ran up the hill and into Woodland avenue, with the two men pursuing closely. Fear lent wings to the lad's feet and he held his own until the thick woods at the corner of LaGrande and Woodland avenues was reached and the men disappeared in its shades. The lad hurried on to the church and told his story.

Not far behind DeHart was Arthur Drake, who lives at 725 West Third street, and also sings in the choir. He was also bound for St. Stephens church. As he was passing the dense woods on Woodland avenue, near Ravine road, the same place where DeHart's pursuers disappeared, two men sprang out of the bushes and grabbed him by the arm. The lad has had an abscess on one arm and one of the men seized him roughly at that place. Fright and pain left the lad speechless.

"Gimme your money," demanded one of the highwaymen. Then they searched the lad's pockets and found his watch, but no money. Then the lad begged them not to take his watch and they replied that they wanted money, not watches. After satisfying themselves that there were no coins about the lad's person, he was allowed to go. It was so dark and he was so frightened that he could give no description of the men.

John Childs was walking along Belvidere avenue, soon after 7:30 o'clock, and had just crossed LaGrande avenue, when a man jumped out of the bushes and grabbed for his arm.

"What do you want?" asked Childs, who has the sight of only one eye, and could not see very plainly.

"I want money," was the gruff reply.

"I haven't got any," exclaimed Childs as he bolted in the direction of the Hotel Hunterston, a block away. When he reached the hotel he looked about, and his pursuers had disappeared. He continued on his way to St. Stephens church.

It was in the neighborhood of 9 o'clock when Patrolman Cash saw three men, all somewhat the worse for wear, walking down Richmond street. He arrested them for suspicious characters and lodged them in the stationhouse over night. It was supposed that they were the highwaymen.

DeHart was positive that one of the men was his acquaintance of Sunday night, but of the other two victims he could not identify form or voice. The three men, two of whom were English sailors, James Pimlett and Frank Miller, and one a lad of seventeen, Thomas Wilson, of New York, told straightforward stories which showed that they had not been in the vicinity of the holdup. They were allowed to go by the Judge.

Supreme Chief Coming.

One week from tomorrow evening the members of Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, will have the pleasure of a visit from Supreme Chief Ida M. Weaver, of Boise City, and Supreme Deputy Lydia E. Palmer, of Brooklyn.

The Union Bible Class.

Rev. Geo. C. Needham will resume the weekly union Bible class this evening in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall at 7:45 o'clock. The subject for this course of expository addresses is "The Life and Times of Nehemiah."

THE SITUATION IN NEW ORLEANS

The Italian Quarter In That City In a Bad Way, and Steps Will Be Taken to Have It Cleaned Out at Once.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—The local fever situation has undergone little change. Last night the record book in the board of health office showed a total of six new cases and one death. The official bulletin shows two deaths, including that of a woman, Santa Graffato, who died in the hospital.

This is the record of yesterday. Deaths, Joseph Gisfasy, an Italian, 2626 Urquahart street. New cases, Rosalie Bacus, Hillary and Burth; John Delli Plum between Cambronne and Jefferson; Irene Terrell, Charity hospital; William Brandon, 639 Philip street; Nora H. Hynes, 3147 St. Claude street; Lena Green, colored, 1558 Camp street.

The first two cases are in the extreme upper portion of the city. One is in the Fourth district, in the St. Claude street house where the original six cases were reported; and one in the Williams house where two cases already existed. There are three cases under investigation, and the health authorities still view the situation with some complacency. They do not yet anticipate an epidemic, as the board has decided to abandon its nightly sessions and created Dr. Olliphant master of the campaign against the disease, with leave to solicit advice from local physicians and the municipal authorities. The afternoon and night bulletins will be continued.

The report of Dr. Metz, the city chemist, on the condition of the Italian quarter moved the board to prompt acceptance of the offer by the city of the Marine hospital as a refuge. Dr. Metz found as many as 60 people huddled together in the Italian quarter, living in filth.

In one of the rooms a goat was found sleeping nightly with the family who owned it. The woman, Graffato, was taken from this quarter, and the board realized that unless something was done at once the block in which the woman had lived was likely soon to become a plague spot. It was therefore decided to guard and thoroughly disinfect and fumigate the entire square and to remove as soon as possible most of the families to the old Marine hospital. The 100 squatters who now occupy the latter building will be given quarters in one of the new schoolhouses in the vicinity, and the Marine hospital buildings will be permanently used as a refuge until the fever is stamped out for the families of the Italian quarter and those of the indigent sick throughout the city. House Surgeon Bloom had a conference with President Olliphant relative to establishing a place to which indigent yellow fever patients may be removed. There are usually 700 or 800 patients in the Charity hospital, and it is considered highly dangerous to receive yellow fever patients in that institution. Dr. Bloom says that the institution is ready to go to any expense to provide a supplementary hospital. At this conference Dr. Beard submitted an offer of the free use of the old smallpox detention camp, which is entirely disconnected from the smallpox hospital, and it seems likely that the offer will be accepted, and all yellow fever patients who for various reasons cannot be treated at home will be sent to Dr. Beard's place. There are now two patients suffering from yellow fever in the Charity hospital, and their presence, although they occupy isolated apartments, is deemed a serious menace.

A special train went to Biloxi and Ocean Springs and from there carried about 40 people to the detention camp. Today the camp was thrown open to all comers. Those who are not immunes will have to stay in the camp 10 days, according to the federal law, which Surgeon Murray, as commander of the camp, is bound to enforce.

Charles Zeigler of a prominent New Orleans family was among those stricken at Ocean Springs, but his condition is not yet considered serious. When the fever had been declared epidemic and yellow, he shut himself up in his home and did not come forth except to go to the detention camp as soon as it was ready. Isolation, however, did not prevent the germs from entering his home.

The Yellow Fever In Havana.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—In his weekly report to the Marine Hospital service Sanitary Inspector Brunner at Havana, says:

For the week ending Sept. 9 there were 326 deaths, of which 15 were from yellow fever, 29 from enteric and pernicious fevers, 34 from dysentery and 55 from enteritis. The inspector says the decline in deaths from yellow fever is only apparent, many deaths from that disease, he thinks, being placed under the head of enteritis and enteric fever. At the same time there are not as many cases of yellow fever in the military hospitals as there were two months ago, the soldiers who are sick being cared for in the hospitals elsewhere. For two weeks, according to the city mortality reports, no deaths from yellow fever have occurred in the city proper. This condition, he says, does not exist.

The enormous death rate from enteritis and dysentery, the inspector says, is a result of the lack of nutritious food, and the deaths from these diseases have not yet reached high water mark.

Unless the laws are so amended as to admit certain important food products none but the favored few will be able to obtain nutritious food. Even at the present time all fresh meats command prices above the reach of the lower class, while breadstuffs are proportionately higher.

I have not had sufficient time to push an investigation of the number of cases of beriberi among the Chinamen here it is certain that no city can show a more inviting presence to epidemic disease than the city of Havana.

Eleven Fresh Ones at Mobile.

MOBILE, Sept. 20.—The official bulletin shows 11 new cases, as follows:

J. W. Carlisle, Augusta street, near Brenide; J. J. Bourne, 695 Elmira street; David Myrton, at the Marine hospital; George Mayfield, Lettie Johnson, colored, Cedar street, near Augusta; E. S. Schanenberg and wife, Lawrence, near Augusta; Frank Collier, Old Shell road; Willie Charpine, 359 Charles, corner Elmira; Eugene Rencher, corner Charleston and Charles; Miss Alman, Old Shell road, near Hellett.

There has been one death, that of Frank Donaldson. He was 16 years of age and a paper carrier. Total cases to date, 29; total deaths, 3.

Two More Cases at Edwards.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 20.—The fever at Edwards shows but slight increase, and no deaths have occurred. Dr. Purnell reported four new cases, as follows: Mrs. Dr. Ratliff, Frank Angele, John Ivey and Jesse Sharp, colored. Disinfection has commenced, and bedding is being burned when it cannot be disinfected. Dr. Dunn, now at Ocean Springs, has been ordered to Edwards. Vicksburg is thoroughly guarded and entirely healthy. It is estimated that perhaps 10 per cent of the population has left town.

Dr. Geddings In Jackson.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 20.—Dr. H. D. Geddings of the Marine Hospital service arrived here on his way to Edwards to establish a camp of refuge. He has with him 300 tents and mattresses. Dr. Hunter, secretary of the state board of health, will confer with Dr. Geddings.

WILL HE NEVER EASE UP?

Michael, In Spite of His Late Work, Shows Bicycle Supremacy Once More.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Jimmy Michael remains the middle distance king. He won the great triangular match race at Charles River park, defeating Lucien Lesna, the champion French bicyclist, and Eddie McDuffie, the fastest middle distance American on the cycle track.

McDuffie was unfortunate in having two of his pacing machines break down during the race, and it is probably due to this accident that McDuffie was defeated by Lesna. Some also believe that Michael's victory would not have been so easy had McDuffie's pacing machines escaped accident.

All world's records from three miles up to 25 were broken, the time at the last mile being nearly two minutes lower than the former record.

Michael rode the 25 miles in 45m. 58 4-5s.

That Conference With Tetuan.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—A dispatch to The Times from Madrid says: "The conference between United States Minister Woodford and the Duke of Tetuan lasted about two hours and has given rise to a good deal of excited surmise. Little appears to have been said, however, beyond the interchange of the customary courtesies and mutual assurances of pacific intentions and good will. The conversation was carried on through a high official of the foreign office as interpreter.

The True Remedy.
W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Rhey T. Snodgrass, of Central avenue, spent Saturday with friends in Newark.

A Cure for Bilious Colic.
Resource, Screven Co., Ga.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail.—G. D. Sharp. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mrs. Groendyke, of West End Park, has returned from Atlantic City, where she has been spending a few weeks.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Miss Middledith, of North Plainfield, entertained company from out of town over Sunday.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Gates Willett and family, who have been occupying the John French house on West Seventh street during the summer, will return to their New York home October 1st.

It Saves the Croupy Children.

Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

AGALLANT SERGEANT

Echoes of the Recent Disastrous Combat In India.

THE QUEEN HAS SENT A MESSAGE.

Deplores the Loss of So Many of Her Soldiers, but Compliments the Troops on Their Behavior During the Engagement.

BOMBAY, Sept. 20.—Advices from the front show that the various columns are advancing against the Mahmoukis from Panjkora and Shabkadr. As ye they have met with no serious opposition, but the difficulties of transportation in a mountainous and almost pathless country are immense. Another formidable obstacle in the way of rapid movement is the lack of water.

The brigade of General Jeffreys has not joined in the advance, but it left camp at Anayat with 16 companies of infantry and four guns in order to reattack the enemy at the village of Damodota. The enemy made a desperate resistance, but were driven out into the hills.

The British demolished their towers and captured 400 mule loads of supplies. As soon as the troops began to retire from the village the enemy reappeared in force. The retirement, however, was effected with great precision, the native troops behaving splendidly. Two Sikhs were killed and six wounded.

It is now known that the enemy's loss during the fight on Thursday last between the Mohmunds and the second brigade of General Sir Bindon Blood in the valley north of Anayat was very heavy. The tribes engaged did not press the brigade during the retirement, but fresh tribesmen appeared. Captain Ryder's company of Sikhs virtually owe their lives to an Afridi sergeant of the Guides' corps, who, when the Sikhs had exhausted their ammunition and were desperately cutting their way back through the enemy, dashed up the hill under a heavy fire with a supply of cartridges. He arrived just in the nick of time, as the swordsmen of the enemy were already among the Sikhs, who were absolutely unable, after the heavy climb and the hard fighting, to continue a successful struggle.

Lieutenant Watson was thrice wounded while gallantly leading a handful of Buffs, who routed a large body of the enemy that was trying to storm the village in which General Jeffreys, with guns, had taken up a position after missing his main body in the gloom Thursday night.

It appears that the enemy lost 180 men before they captured the Saragai police post. They burned alive two Sikh cooks, whom they captured while out hunting for firewood.

The queen has sent the following dispatch, with reference to the reverse near Camp Anayat:

"I am deeply grieved at the loss of so many brave officers and men. I earnestly desire to be informed as to the condition of all the wounded. The conduct of the troops was most admirable."

Mohmunds Will Pay Fine.

PESHAWUR, Sept. 20.—The lower Mohmunds, south of here, have submitted and have agreed to pay a heavy fine and to surrender their arms.

Chinese Like American Goods.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The United States consul at Amoy, China, says in a recent dispatch to the state department that "the Chinese people prefer American cotton fabrics, spinnings, flour, oils, canned goods and meats and even buy them at higher prices than other importations can be had for. There is a more amicable feeling existing between the natives and foreigners at Amoy and in the surrounding country than probably exists at any other port in China." He thinks the rapid increase of trade between the United States and this part of China should command the attention of American merchants and of the United States government.

Inquest to Begin Wednesday.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 20.—Absolute quiet prevailed in the entire strike district yesterday. Vice President Maguire of the Federation of Labor left for Washington to attend the meeting of the executive council, which is to consider the situation, and George Chance of the United Labor league went to Scranton for a similar meeting of labor men there. The only movements among the military were the practice rides of squadrons of the Governor's and City troops and the afternoon dress parade. The coroner's inquest will begin on Wednesday afternoon instead of Thursday as first intended.

To Denounce Lattimer Shooting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A conference of representative labor men of the Greater New York district took place at Farrell's hall on Third avenue, this city, at which it was decided to hold a day mass meeting on Oct. 4 in the Grand Central palace here to denounce the shooting of the miners at Lattimer, Pa. The workingmen taking part in the great labor demonstration will march from their respective meeting places to the big hall on Lexington avenue, where speeches will be delivered and resolutions passed.

Steamer Niagara Returned Safely.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Ward line steamer Niagara, Captain Crocker, from south side Cuban ports, arrived yesterday after being ashore in Santiago harbor for over 60 hours. She brought 23 saloon and 22 cabin passengers and an assorted cargo. Captain Crocker declined to talk about the accident, which was evidently the fault of the Cuban pilot.

A Prospective Spanish Embassador.

MADRID, Sept. 20.—The ministerial organs assert that the Spanish foreign minister, the Duke of Tetuan, will soon be gazetted as Spanish embassador to France. The Duke of Tetuan has had a long interview with the queen and United States Minister Woodford.

Do Not Like Peace Conditions.

ATHENS, Sept. 20.—The conditions of the peace signed by the embassadors of the powers on behalf of Greece and Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, at the Tophaneh palace, are universally pronounced by the Greek press as exceedingly onerous.

HUNG BY THE HEELS.

Story of Cruel Treatment of Alabama Negroes.

GRAND JURY HAS HEARD THE CASE.

One Man Says He Was Laid on the Ground and Horses Were Ridden Over Him. The Negro Postmaster Affair In Georgia.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 20.—A most revolting system of slavery appears to have been practiced the last three or four years near Dadeville, Tallapoosa county, by former Sheriff J Pace. At least this is the tale told to the grand jury now in session by alleged negro victims, whose bodies are covered with bruises.

The grand jury was informed of the state of affairs when it met a few days ago and was furnished the names of several negroes. Summonses were issued to the negroes to go before the grand jury, but they failed to appear. A special corps of deputy sheriffs, fully armed, was then sent out to the farm and returned with a lot of ragged and bruised negroes, who told a pitiful tale.

The witnesses stated that they had been prevented from attending court by Pace and his men. They said they had been at work on the farm for three years. They had been taken up at Sylacauga, brought to the farm in irons and without a semblance of trial put to work. They were given hard tasks by day and watched closely by night. When they attempted to escape or refused to work, they declared they were hanged up by the heels and beaten with hickory switches.

One of the negroes who recently escaped said he was pursued by a pack of men and bloodhounds, was retaken and carried back to the farm. His clothes were stripped from his body, and he was compelled to lie down while horses were ridden over his back. He showed his back, on which were the imprints of horses' hoofs.

The stories were horrible, and the grand jury was so impressed that an open session of court was held, and the negroes were allowed to reiterate their statements in the presence of the public. The presiding judge instructed the grand jury to spare neither money nor time to sift the matter to the bottom, and if necessary a special term of court will be held to try the accused former sheriff.

It is alleged that Pace commenced his system of slavery when he was sheriff of the county several years ago. He was then the chief executive officer, and the negroes, ignorant of their rights, thought he had a right to make them work on his farm. When he retired from office, the negroes had become used to his authority and were made to believe he still possessed it.

Will Prosecute His Assailants.

ATLANTA, Sept. 20.—The attempted assassination of Isaiah H. Loftin, the negro postmaster in Hogansville, will be made the basis of a vigorous prosecution of all who are connected with the affair.

In order to place Postmaster Loftin in a position to exercise the functions of his office, which the residents of Hogansville have denied him, Postmaster General Gary has issued an order directing the closing of the mail boxes on the trains at Hogansville and instructing the postal clerk to receive no mail at that point except from Loftin. This action was taken because Loftin has never been permitted by the whites to assume the postmastership, the business of the office continuing to go to J. W. Hardaway, a white Democrat, appointed by President Cleveland.

District Attorney Angier has been instructed to proceed against Hardaway under section 3,829 of the revised statutes, which forbids any person, without authority from the postmaster general, to set up or profess to keep any office or place of business bearing the sign, name or title of postoffice. A fine of $500 is provided for each separate piece of mail matter.

The only news that comes from the town is that the postal inspectors have been threatened with their lives if they do not leave. Postmaster Loftin is still in a precarious condition, and orders have been received from Washington to lock him up where newspaper men cannot get at him. The only source of information now is District Attorney Angier. He says:

"The rebellious sentiment in Hogansville will discover that Uncle Sam is too big a man for them to fight. Loftin's commission as postmaster bears the official imprint of the constituted federal authorities, and the government must and will protect its own officers, the biggest as well as the smallest—the president of the United States as well as the postmaster at Hogansville."

Steamer Ashore Near St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 20.—The Norwegian steamer Eugenie, which went ashore on Great island, has broken into pieces and will be a total wreck. The crew escaped, but saved nothing. They were almost washed off the decks by the heavy seas. The British warship Cordelia sailed to inspect the wreck and to report as to the practicability of salvage operations.

Earthquake In Switzerland.

BERNE, Sept. 20.—The cantons of Glarus and Grisons were visited by a severe earthquake shock, accompanied by heavy rumbling. The disturbance was so distinct that it was everywhere noticeable, and in many places great blocks of rock fell from the mountains.

A Big Blaze In Kentucky.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20.—With the exception of the store of Joplin & Co. the entire business portion of the town of Wilmore, six miles south of this place, on the Cincinnati Southern railroad, was destroyed by fire, the total loss being over $50,000.

Preaching Against Gambling.

TRENTON, Sept. 20.—The proposed antigambling amendment to the state constitution, which is to be voted on at the special election Sept. 28, was made the subject of special sermons in all the churches in this city yesterday. All condemned race tracks.

A Treaty of Peace Signed.

MONTEVIDEO, Sept. 20.—The treaty of peace between the government and the insurgents has been signed.

WORK MUST FOLLOW WORDS.

The urgent appeals from church pulpits all through the State yesterday concerning the success of the anti gambling Constitutional amendments will do much towards dispelling the apathy that has seemed likely would infect the moral forces of the State to such an extent that the race-track interests would defeat the amendment at the special election September 28th. It is generally recognized, though, that the gambling influences will be brought into play in their strongest details when the issue comes to the ballot box, and that means that the moral elements must not rest content with drawing word pictures of the disgraceful practices and damaging results that may follow its defeat, or indulging in admonition inspired by high ideals of the duty that all moral men owe to their consciences and their State's reputation. With their forces marshalled on election day prepared to work as sincerely at the polls as the ministers expounded truthfully yesterday, there will be no doubt of the victory of this very important proposition of Constitutional government.

GRABBED A WOMAN.

Drunken Caper of Mike Duncko Sends Him to Jail for Six Months.

While on her way to church last evening Mrs. E. J. Perrin, of 87 Grandview avenue, was insulted by an intoxicated man. She was walking along Elm place when a man made a sudden lunge at her, striking her. She screamed. The man ran away. Valentine Utzinger was behind her and called Special Officer Geise, who lived close by. Geise found Michael Duncko hiding between two of the houses in the street.

Duncko was later identified as the assailant of Mrs. Perrin and locked up. He was drunk at the time. His home is on Elm place.

This morning Duncko was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza and convicted. Mrs. Perrin, her companion and Mr. Utzinger appeared against him. Duncko, who is an old offender, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and go to jail for 59 days. In sentencing him the Judge said that the city must protect its women at any cost.

Chamberlain, their agent, payment in full for damages to the dwelling house situated on his farm on the Stelton road three miles south of New Market. This building was struck by lightning during the storm last Monday night. The bolt shattered one chimney, ploughed a deep furrow down one rafter, passed down through the sitting room, punched holes in the plastering, and left the occupants of the room uninjured but badly frightened.

The beautiful lawn surrounding the residence of Christian Schepflin used as a green by the Middlesex Bowling Green Club, was the scene last Saturday afternoon of an auspicious gathering of fair women, wives, sisters and sweethearts of the members of the club. It has been the custom each year to devote one afternoon during the season to the women and to give them the exclusive use of the grounds. This year the event was such a success that the members decided to give the women a second afternoon for such an event, and last Saturday was selected for it. The members turned out in full force and there was the usual large quota from New Brunswick, including the fair sex. The afternoon was given up entirely to bowling by the women and they were assisted by the sterner sex. The women made good scores and there was a marked improvement over the last contest a few weeks ago. A feature of the afternoon was the presence of the loving cup presented to Mr. Shepflin a few weeks ago by Lawyer MacSherry, of New Brunswick, in honor of the celebration of the birthday of the former. It was the first opportunity the members and the women had to see the beautiful present and all joined in the pleasure experienced by the club's genial president. After an exchange of congratulations, all were served with pleasing refreshments and the balance of the time was spent in a social manner.

Mr. Hoyt has surrounded her with a company of an admirable character and the public can rest assured that in the performance of "A Contented Woman", which will be seen here at Music Hall on Wednesday evening, Sept. 22d, there will be a treat for the musical ear, a delightful hour for the lover of fun and a most enjoyable evening for every admirer of fresh crisp and novel comedy.

Those Extracts Again.

There is no more effective way to hurt trade than to make overdrawn statements about one's goods. I am careful about that, but I have reason to be enthusiastic about the quality of my flavoring extracts. They are sold in New York in competition with the largest and best houses in the country and they gain in favor all the time. I want these goods to be universally used in Plainfield and I am confident that sooner or later they will be. Genuine merit is bound to win in the end.

THE CHINESE CRIMINAL CODE.

The Draconian Criminal Code of the Flowery Kingdom.

Parricide is considered only one degree less culpable than treason, and is punished as a crime of the deepest dye, such a violation of the ties of nature being held to be evidence of the most unprincipled depravity. Any person convicted of a design to kill his or her parents or ancestors, whether a blow be struck or not, is liable to suffer death by being beheaded. If the murder is actually committed, all the parties concerned therein, whether principals or accessories, if related to the deceased as above mentioned, suffer death in a slow and painful manner, being cut into a thousand pieces. If the criminal dies in prison an execution similar in mode takes place on his body.

Murder in all cases, is punished by decapitation. When committed with the design of afterward mangling the body and distributing the limbs of the deceased for magical purposes, not only is the offender executed but all the inmates of his house, although innocent of the crime are perpetually banished. Persons giving information by which such offenders are brought to justice receive a reward of twenty ounces of silver from the Government.

All persons rearing venomous animals, or preparing drugs of a poisonous nature, for the purpose of murder, are beheaded, their property confiscated, and the family banished, even if no person is actually killed by such means.

The use of abusive language is very sternly repressed, especially if the offended person happens to be the husband or ancestor of the offender. The Code says: "Opprobrious and insulting language, having naturally a tendency to produce quarrels and affrays, this book of laws expressly provides for its prevention and punishment."—From The Green Bag.

AN UNWRITTEN LAW.

Useful Knowledge for Travelers Crossing the Ocean the First Time.

At the end of a trip every passenger on a transatlantic stemer is supposed to give fees. It is an unwritten law, but as binding as the English constitution. The amount to be given always worries the novice, who dreads giving too little, and usually begrudges giving too much. If you give two dollars and a half to the man who waits on you at table, says Robert Luce in his book entitled, "Going Abroad," and a like amount to the man or woman who takes care of your stateroom, he or she will be perfectly satisfied; that much and no more is expected; if more is given, you are thought generous, but no benefit accrues to you, and often but slight benefit to the recipient, for frequently the receipts of all the stewards are pooled at the end of the trip, and then divided equitably. So, in making a large gift, you but present so much money to the whole body of stewards. The deck steward usually receives a small fee from those who have called upon him for services. When there is a band, it is customary to take up a collection for its benefit. The men who frequent the smoking-room usually make up a purse for the smoking-room steward, but that is wholly a matter of generosity. All in all, probably the majority of passengers give between five and ten dollars; married couples give between them little more than single passengers. And more is given on the outward than on the homeward trip, after novices find that feeing is, for all but the American, a matter of business and not of kindness. Steward's fees are included in the passage money on a few boats, but your steward would probably feel unhappy if he didn't get at least a dollar extra.

A DOG AS LEGATEE.

Old John A. Spooner of Chicago, Has Left by Will, $1,700 to His Pet Dog.

There is a dog called Rover in Chicago, who will one day be heir to an estate should he live long enough. The deed constituting him the sole legatee of John A. Spooner was executed a few days ago by Attorney E. E. Ellison, and it has now been filed away until Spooner's death.

Spooner is an old seafaring man, who has also been a tramp, a fisherman, and an oysterman. During the course of a long life he accumulated $1,700. This money he has now left by will to his dog Rover, naming the Guarantee Title and Trust Company, of Chicago, as trustee. After the death of Rover the money is to go to the sister of the testator, living in England.

Spooner discovered the dog when the latter was little more than a pup, while he was tramping in Southern Illinois. Rover had a tin can tied to his tail and whined so piteously at Spooner that the latter took pity upon him and made him his companion.

Since that day Rover and Spooner have been inseparable, sharing each other's food and bed when sleeping out of doors, and occupying the same room when putting up at city lodging houses.—New York Journal.

Popocatepetl's Rabbits.

One would hardly look for a new species of rabbit high up on the sides of a great volcanic mountain. Yet Dr. C. H. Merriam has recently described just such an animal, which was discovered at an elevation of 10,000 feet, on the flank of Popocatepetl, the "mountain that smokes," near the city of Mexico. It is remarkably small, does not jump like an ordinary rabbitt but runs on all fours, possesses no tail, has short ears, and lives on the grass covering the slopes of the mountain below the region of snow and volcanic sand.

"Bertie, you cruel boy, how can you hear your baby sister cry?"

"Why, that's easy—everybody in the block can."—Truth.

A Parisian Sideboard.

This large decorative sideboard was designed by M. Charles Plumet, the famous Paris architect, and forms part of a complete dining-room suite for a modern residence. A sideboard is intended to hold china, and china is heavy, so strong cupboards with doors have been constructed for its reception. For silver, knives, etc., three drawers have been set apart over the mantel which forms part of the sideboard. In order to prevent an ungraceful effect resulting from this simple combination, the artist has placed over the doors a few shelves of elegant design, destined for pottery, so much in vogue. These shelves are surmounted by a large mirror, in several panes and this forms an effective background for whatever may be placed before it. Finally, to avoid all appearance of heaviness, the two cupboards have vacant spaces beneath, and are sustained by cabriole supports.

New Style Bedroom Furniture.

The roomy and comfortable bed is carved in rich polished walnut, and the light and graceful treatment of the head and foot gives a delightful play of light and shade. The outlines are elegant though simple, and, set off by the beautiful coverlet embroidered in applique in delicate shades and gold thread on a green watered silk, strike one as being peculiarly happy. The wardrobe is in the same style as the bed, and has, to the right and left, two panels of bevelled glass above drawers fitted with gilt-bronze mounts. These mirrors serve to reflect the objets d'art and little feminine fancies which may be placed amid the irregular and picturesque shelving. One cannot but admire the skill displayed in the arrangement of the pediment, the harmonious sweep of its arch, and the graceful way in which it springs from the system of shelves on each side.

At Washington Park, Chicago.

One of the greatest races of the year was the meeting between Agan, Star Pointer and Joe Patchen, at Washington Park, and the picture shows the last-named horse starting on his warming up gallop. All three heats of the race were identical, and the story of one is the story of all. From a spectacular standpoint it was the greatest harness horse race between two horses in the history of the sport, as at no time during the race were they half a length apart. While McClary and Pointer had the pole, they allowed Ames and his black stallion to do all the rating. When Patchen went to the quarter in 30¼ seconds Pointer did the same, and when he went there in 32 seconds the bay horse were no faster. At times the black horse would be on even terms, but always on striking the stretch Pointer would take a head and neck the best of it, and with Driver McClary sitting perfectly still, with a strong hold on his horse and his whip sticking straight up, he would maintain this short advantage to the finish, while the handsome black, encouraged by Ames' voice, his whip and the lines, struggled desperately, but hopelessly beaten, alongside.

"I don't think you will be able to please me."

TOYS OF INDIAN CHILDREN.

They Have Much the Same Desires As Do Those in Civilization.

An article on "Home Life Among the Indians" is written for the "Century" by Mrs. Alice C. Fletcher. The author says: Playthings are improvised by the Indian youngster with no small power of invention. Fine war-bonnets are made from cornhusks, at the expense of much time and labor, and everything that children see is modeled in clay; dishes, pipes, ponies, whole villages, show their imitative faculty, while coffins with a bit of glass set in the lid covering a pinched-up baby indicate their keen observation of new customs. Dolls vary as much as the children and their surroundings. Stone babies are not uncommon among the Alaskans, dull enough in appearance, but evidently responsive in the fancy of the small Northwesterner. Dollies made of fawnskin, with painted eyes and cheeks and real hair, having hands with wonderfully tapering fingers, and clad in gala garments and moccasins fitting well their diminutive feet, are the delight of the children of the plains. One woman who was skilful in the manufacture of dolls, made a pair for me, but refused to duplicate them, because she had already used nearly all her own hair in the construction of dolls. Hobby horses for boys are as universal as dolls for girls. The sunflower stalk, with one nodding blossom left on the end, is a favorite pony. In their races the boys ride one stalk and trail two or three others after them as "fresh horses," thus increasing the dust and excitement of the play.

ARMED FOR EMERGENCIES.

How Nansen's Quickness of Thought Saved Him from Assailants.

When Fridtjof Nansen was a young student he attended a ball and danced with many partners. Returning long after midnight through the streets to his lodgings he heard loud outcries from a woman who was struggling with two ruffians. In another moment the woman broke away from them and ran toward the spot where Nansen was standing. The two men were close behind her in hot pursuit.

Nansen was an athlete full of courage and vigor and put himself on guard as the men approached. He allowed the woman to pass, but called upon the infuriated pursuers to halt, standing directly in their way, and hitting out first at one and then at the other. The ruffians, angered by this unexpected attack, turned resentfully upon the rescuer and would have overpowered him and possibly murdered him, if he had not shown presence of mind. Drawing himself to his full height and throwing back his coat collar so as to expose the cotillon favors which he had worn during the ball, he sternly asked them if they knew who he was.

The two assailants, awed by his manner, and supposing him to be a royal officer, were at once cowed. They apologized roughly for not recognizing him, dropped their arms and sneaked off in the opposite direction from that which the woman had taken.—Youth's Companion.

STOMACH CLEANING.

A Sponge Put in the Stomach and Made to Revolve at Any Desired Speed.

Stomach-cleaning companies may soon be organized on the same plan that window-cleaning companies now operate in our cities, writes George B. Waldron in The Illustrated American. The work of purifying that all-important organ is done by means of an instrument called a gyromele, which consists of a small sponge attached to a spiral steel wire cable enclosed in a tube. The patient swallows the sponge and a portion of the tube. The turning of the cable causes the sponge to revolve at such a speed as may be desired. By pushing or pulling the cable various portions of the inner wall of the stomach may be operated upon. Dr. Turck has introduced a new element into the process in Edison's fluoroscope. This instrument he puts to his eyes, and by means of the X-rays is able to follow the progress of the sponge along the wall of the stomach and to direct the operation. Strangely enough, the process caused no discomfort to the patient, though it was continued for more than an hour.

An Odious Companion.

"I don't think there is any doubt about the Indians progressing in civilization," remarked the professor.

"I haven't had very extensive opportunities for observation," replied the prim old lady, "but the fact that none of the Indians I ever saw were in the habit of expectorating on the floors of street cars or of using profanity in public leads me to think that they have got a very good start."—Washington Star.

Dead to the World.

"You have ruined my life," he said bitterly, just after she had broken the engagement. "My ambition is dead. I go to seek everlasting oblivion."

Twenty-Six Children in Thirty-One Years.

Marion Vanderpool and wife are the parents of twenty-six children, the youngest being about 5 years old. The couple are about 50 years old, and have been married 31 years, and the wife has never given birth to twins, triplets, quartets, or quintets. Most of the children are living.—Corbin, Ky., News.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general household linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes	10c each.
Table Cloth	5 "
Towel, Napkins	1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

SIGNOR REVERTER UNDER A BAN

A Bishop, Acting Against Orders, Reads a Decree of Excommunication.

MADRID, Sept. 20.—Fears are expressed in well informed circles that a cabinet crisis may result from the contumacy of the bishop of Majorca, Balearic Islands, who, in defiance of the order of the archbishop, has persisted in his excommunication of Signor J. Reverter, the Spanish minister of finance, for taking possession of the treasury of a church in his diocese.

The decree of excommunication was read with all formalities yesterday in all the churches of the diocese.

Several influential prelates approve the course of the bishop. Their attitude, which is absolutely opposed to that of all the members of the cabinet who have appealed to the pope against the decree through the papal nuncio, has raised a complicated issue between the ecclesiastical and political authorities.

The cabinet relies upon the dictum of the nuncio that the bishop has no jurisdiction over the minister and upon his further assurance that the pope will undoubtedly censure the bishop.

The notorious sympathies of the bishop with the Carlist movement also aggravate the situation.

Strikers Hold Bosses as Hostages.

WATERFORD, Me., Sept. 20.—A strike of the 200 Italian laborers on the Oxford Central electric railway because their pay was not forthcoming has not yet been settled. They have seized Superintendent Davis, Engineer Wilson and James Hallett, one of the bosses, and declare their intention of holding them as hostages until they receive their pay. Sheriff Porter visited their camp with a posse of deputies, but found the situation such that he concluded to let the prisoners remain. Hallett succeeded in making his escape, but Superintendent Davis and Engineer Wilson are still held by the Italians. W. T. Davis, the contractor, has arrived and expects to be able to pay the men very soon. If this is done, the trouble will quickly end. Sheriff Porter, accompanied by a posse and a priest, held a conference with the strikers, but was not able to effect any material change in the situation.

Suicide or Murder?

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The body of Edward B. Holden, a carpenter, who resided at 321 West First street, was found hanging from the limb of a tree in the edge of the woods near Polley's inn, 3½ miles from this city. He had hired a horse and carriage to go to Millport. The horse and wagon were found near by. The wagon was covered with blood, and Holden had two gashes on his right arm above the elbow and four on his wrist, evidently cut with a knife, but no knife or money could be found on his person, although his wife said he had $167 when he left home. He was hanged with a halter belonging to the rig he had engaged. The family surmise foul play. The authorities think it is a case of suicide. Holden was junior vice commander of L. A. Hazard post, G. A. R., of this city. A wife and six children survive him. There was no reason known for suicide.

Pennsylvania Girl Attempts Suicide.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Miss Belle M. Webb, 27 years of age, attempted suicide yesterday by inhaling illuminating gas through a rubber tube in a room in the boarding house at 239 West Fourteenth street. She was unconscious when discovered, and at the New York hospital, where she was taken, the physicians say she is likely to die. Miss Webb came to this city from South Chester, Pa., to take the position of stenographer and typewriter in a publishing house on West Fifteenth street. Until a week ago she had stopped at the Florence Home For Respectable Working Girls on East Fourteenth street.

Diphtheria Epidemic Raging.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 20.—There have been five deaths from diphtheria within the last week and from 10 to 15 new cases reported, seven having been reported yesterday. Since July 1 there have been 14 deaths, and it is estimated that over 100 cases have existed in the city. Rev. Father Mahoney has announced that all services in the parochial schools would be dispensed with during the week on account of the throat troubles. The health officers and mayor have been aroused by the spread of the disease and will take prompt and summary action toward stamping out the epidemic.

Flay of Niagara Falls; state deputy, Mrs. Sophia C. Weston of Buffalo.

Martin and Dollar Wheat Denounced.

BUFFALO, Sept. 20.—Meetings of English and German speaking socialist labor people and of Poles were held yesterday on Broadway to denounce Sheriff Martin and the shooting of the striking miners. The gathering was orderly. Probably 2,000 people attended both meetings. Dollar wheat was denounced as well as the sheriff, the speakers claiming that the high price of wheat meant only dearer flour for the workingmen.

Found In the Whirlpool.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 20.—A badly decomposed body of a man, supposed to be that of Webber, one of the men who went over the falls in a rowboat with two companions four weeks ago, was taken out of the whirlpool. On the left arm of the body was tattooed a letter "R" and a heart.

GOMEZ AND GARCIA.

One Cuba's New War Minister, the Other Its Army Leader.

DR. CAPOTE ELECTED AS PRESIDENT

Gomez Will Still In Reality Direct Operations—It Is Announced That Consul General Lee Will Return to Cuba.

HAVANA, via Key West, Sept. 20.—Although expected advices from Camaguey have not arrived, news of the election of Dr. Domingo Mendez Capote as Cuba's new president is confirmed. It is also said on good authority that Bartolome Masso was re-elected as vice president, that Salvador Cisneros was elected president of congress, that General Maximo Gomez has been made minister of war and that General Calixto Garcia was appointed commander in chief.

The election promised at its commencement to be a lively one. There was a great deal of friction between rival chiefs, but the astute old Gomez smoothed the whole difficulty over by putting forward Domingo Mendez Capote. Although it would appear that Mendez Capote was selected as a sort of compromise, his election will prove a most fortunate one for the Cuban cause. On every hand he is spoken of with admiration and respect.

Garcia's election as commander in chief was brought about by the desire to have a Cuban at the head of the army, but as minister of war Gomez will continue to practically direct operations.

Garcia has announced his intention of driving the Spaniards out of eastern Cuba. His latest movement was against Manzanillo, one of the most important seaports on the southern coast. On Saturday last 1,200 rebels, under command of Brigadier Salvador Rios, appeared before that town and called upon the garrison to surrender. In reply the Spanish commander, Brigadier Toral, sent out a column of men. The rebels feigned retreat, and the Spanish troops, encouraged by what they thought a cowardly flight, pressed after the enemy.

The flight and pursuit lasted for two kilometers, when, at the estate of Tranquilidad, the rebels turned and, with reenforcements that had been lying in ambush, fell upon the Spanish rear. The rest was a veritable slaughter. The Spanish put their loss down at 108 killed and 69 wounded, but other advices state that out of the column only three men escaped to return to Manzanillo. The others were killed, wounded or taken prisoners.

Lee Will Return to Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—President McKinley, after a long consultation with Consul General Fitz Hugh Lee asked that official to retain his office and return to Havana. Assistant Secretary of State Day was with the president discussing the consular appointment, but soon left, and the consul general made a long verbal report of his observations in the island. General Lee a year ago desired interference by the United States. It is understood he told the president he sees victory for the Cubans without intervention.

Secretary of War Alger heard part of the conversation.

At the close of the conference the president asked General Lee to remain in Cuba, and he acquiesced. It is expected he will sail for Havana about Oct. 20.

That English Treaty.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The Times this morning says: "The statement of the American press that the state department at Washington and the British embassador have received instructions to reopen negotiations for a general treaty of arbitration is at least premature. It is not improbable that the negotiations, which have never been broken off, may be resumed next month, when Sir Julian Pauncefote returns to his post, but it is difficult to see how a treaty of any practical value can be concluded so long as the senate maintains the hostile and obstructive attitude it displayed when it last discussed the question."

Death of a Lancaster Lawyer.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 20.—Colonel Edward McGovern, a prominent lawyer, died here last night aged 62 years. He was the Democratic candidate for mayor 10 years ago, served in the council and was street commissioner.

THE PULPIT APPEALS.

there was rivalry of a friendly nature. The idea of true citizenship is not to try to escape all the work possible, but to vie with each other in doing good work.

He spoke of the great chance that was now offered to rid the State of a great evil, according to the appeal of the Citizens' League. They had appealed, he said, to the State pride. Then he told something of the State and its history and how much there was to be proud of.

He spoke of the conflict between the good citizens and the gamblers that had raged for the past years and how the final fight was now at hand. The carrying of the amendment meant a final defeat for the forces of the gamblers and race-track element. It was the duty, he continued, of all good citizens to cast their ballot for the amendment and also to lead others to do the same. He advised them to use printers' ink, and to get speakers and do anything else to wake up the indifferent ones to the realization of the important issue at stake. And, he said, when the amendment was carried, then they could look up to God and thank him that they had a share in the defeat of evil-wishers of the commonwealth.

A CHRISTIAN WOMAN DEAD.

Mrs Mary M. Dunlap Succumbs to the Ravages of Consumption.

After a long illness with consumption, Mary M. Dunlap, widow of the late William H. Dunlap, died at her home, 225 East Fifth street, yesterday. Couldn't Control the Horse.

While Mrs. M. Lawrence, of East Front street, this city, was carriage riding in Westfield in company with a lady friend, yesterday afternoon, the horse took fright and after running a distance along South Broad street, turned and made a short cut across a field. Althcugh the ground was rough and the flight of the horse rapid, the ladies managed to retain their seats. When South avenue was reached the runaway was caught and brought to a standstill. Mrs. Lawrence engaged a man to drive the animal to this city, and she and her friend returned home by train.

LACK OF SCHOOL ROOM.

Serious Condition Confronts the Borough Board of Education.

A serious condition of affairs now confronts the members of the North Plainfield Board of Education, for it is a fact that the accommodations at the school are not adequate for the number of children who want to attend. At present there are ninety-one children in the kindergarten department and only forty-six can be seated. In the primary department there are over fifty scholars, and the rooms are very much crowded. Every room in the school is crowded and is not able to provide for those who attend, beside there are more scholars who desire to go to school and at present they cannot be accommodated. A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening for the purpose of considering what can be done to relieve the present condition. It may be necessary to secure other quarters for the kindergarten and primary departments. This would give considerable room for other children who are entitled to attend school. Ever since the opening day there has been a steady increase and the situation now confronts the members of the Board in such a way that they are obliged to act immediately.

PASSING COMMENT.

One young man experienced a great surprise the other afternoon while he was out in the garden working on the grape vines. The young man was home from college and was spending his spare time in trimming the vines. In the next yard, close to the arbor, was the maid employed in the next house. She was washing the outside of the windows with a stream of water from the garden hose. While waiting for the water to run down the windows she turned the stream on the arbor. A stifled yell followed as the cold water struck the young man squarely in the face. Completely soaked, the young man stuck his head out and informed the maid across the fence that he did not need another bath. Explanations followed.

It is a fact not generally known that European countries are in sharp competition with America in the matter of perfecting the phonograph, and in the opinion of many people the foreigners are securing better results than the home manufacturers. One of those who hold this opinion is Thomas Shaeffer, of this city, who has been giving entertainments for several years with the best American machines. After examining the foreign phonographs, however, he has decided to discard his Edison machine, and has given an order to a firm in Sweden for the construction of one which he thinks will secure remarkable results. It is named by the manufactures the micro-concert machine, and for purity and volume of sound, Mr. Shaeffer says, it will excel anything ever heard here. The machine will be exhibited in this city upon its arrival here some time this winter.

The New Brunswick Fredonian publishes the story of two New Brunswick boys who attired themselves in the bicycle togs of two of their fair friends and came to this city on a tandem to see the sights and have a little fun. The story tells how they were stopped by a policeman for riding too fast and then how they flirted with two Plainfield boys. The boys, so the story goes, took them to Tier's ice cream garden from which they had to be ejected on account of the noise they made. They then sallied forth with their new found friends to do the town and were arrested and fined a dollar apiece. The Plainfield boys were credited to have paid the fine. While this fairy story sounded very well, it all proves to have germinated in the brain of one of the New Brunswick newspaper men, for no such performance has occurred at the places mentioned, neither was anybody arrested on such a charge nor fined that hour of the night. Had the story been a true one, the pretenders would have had to spend the night in jail and never would have escaped without considerable publicity in this city.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charlie, by his courteous and amiable manners, uniformly correct and modest deportment, has won many friends among his newly-made acquaintances.

You can walk through these warerooms and inspect every Piano in the building, if you want to, and no attendant need accompany you. You can be your own salesman and find out all there is to know without asking a question.

There's a bright red tag on each Piano here; the price is stated in plain figures and so are all the other points. It's an unusual way, but a little experience of Piano stores will teach you that it's the one sure and honest way.

Key Stuck in the Alarm Box.

Somebody made an unsuccessful attempt last evening to open one of the fire alarm boxes and send in a false alarm. As Patrolman Vanderweg was passing the corner of West Front street and Plainfield avenue at an early hour this morning he noticed a key in fire alarm box 43 at the corner. On examination he found that the key was fast. In trying to take it out, the key broke. He notified Chief Doane, of the fire department, and this morning the Chief removed the key. It was an ordinary latch key of simple design. It is supposed that the owner tried to open the box and then could not extract the key.

New Storm Sewer to be Built.

Work was begun this morning on the storm sewer on Grant avenue and the work will be completed in a short time. David Bowden has the contract. The sewer was necessitated to carry off the rain water that gathers at the corners of Front street and Grant avenue and Second street and Grant avenue during the heavy rains. Grant avenue has been badly washed out by the rush of water and the top dressing has been washed away, leaving the large stones underneath. The sewer will be a much-needed improvement. It was ordered and planned by the street committee of the Common Council.

No Definite Steps Taken.

A meeting of those interested in the organization of an English speaking Lutheran church in this city met at Reform Hall yesterday afternoon and considered the advisability of such action. Rev. Mr. Goff was in charge and it seemed to be the unanimous opinion that it would be a good idea to organize such a church. No definite action was taken, however, as the general synod will have to be consulted regarding the matter before anything can be done.

Just in His Teens.

Last Saturday evening John Gray, of Grant avenue, celebrated the thirteenth anniversary of his birthday. A few of his intimate friends were present to help him enjoy the occasion, which was a pleasant one. All sorts of games were played to pass the evening, and refreshments were served just before the guests departed for their homes. All joined in wishing their host many happy returns of the day.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO VOTE

STATE SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT BAXTER FAVORS THEIR CLAIM.

Believes that the Interest in School Affairs Would Be Greatly Increased—Rev. Dr. Richards on Race-Track Gambling.

The parlor meeting held at the home of Henry Wells, No. 80 Washington avenue, last evening, for the purpose of discussing the coming election for the proposed amendments to the constitution, was a great success, and to use the words of the chairman of the meeting it was a "Select audience, brilliantly enlightened." The meeting was called to order by Mr. Wells, and Charles W. McCutchen was chosen chairman. The latter accepted the honor with thanks, but professed his inability to say very much owing to the fact that he was not well posted concerning the subject under consideration. The chairman introduced as the first speaker, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church. The reverend stated that the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield were always ready to stand together on questions of moral issue. He then said that the most forcible statement that could be made concerning the subject under discussion was to take a retrospective view of the legislation in this State during the past few years. The doctor then reviewed the history relative to the acts of the Legislature and the people on gambling and about the race-tracks. He showed conclusively that thus far right had made a decided improvement and won the day. He thought that the election of a race-track starter to the Legislature was a contemptuous piece of business and an insult to the decent people of New Jersey. He spoke of the great uprising a few years ago when the people of this State congregated at Trenton for the purpose of holding a mass-meeting to agitate the issues that confronted them. As a result the corrupt office-holders were swept away and the pernicious law on the statute books was also wiped out. The last step was now about to be taken and he hoped it would be a final step that will forever settle the matter of gambling and lottery.

At this point the proposed amendments were read by David P. Hall for the enlightenment of those present. The next speaker was State Superintendent of Schools Charles J. Baxter. This speaker was very pronounced in his views concerning school suffrage for women, that being his theme. He did not think that petty politics should enter school matters, and was of the opinion that women should be given the privilege of voting as they have petitioned. He was opposed to the one-man power and thought that if women were elected to membership on school boards it would be impossible for such a thing to occur. He said that at present there are 5,620 teachers in the schools of this State and of this number 729 are male and 4,841 female. He said that there should be more male teachers for they have the vital force and power to rule. He felt that there is a lack of interest manifested on the part of the citizens of this State in school matters and things pertaining to education He urged more interest on the part of all

The next speaker, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, was enthusiastically received by all. This ardent and faithful worker in the cause of suffrage for women gave a brief talk urging all to extend the interest of the movement on foot, and to substantiate her position as to right, read a number of letters from school superintendents throughout the State in which everyone expressed the idea that school suffrage for women would be a good thing and gave instances of what it had done in certain localities.

D. P. Hall was the next speaker, and he spoke more especially on the legal status of the coming election regarding the peculiarity of the tickets to be used. He said that the race-track men and their supporters in the State had been alive and awake for some time past and would put forth every effort to defeat the laws of good morals and government. He urged that every voter vote the straight ticket and that the women see to it that their husbands do so. He thought that there was danger to be feared in cities where the proposed amendment regarding suffrage does not apply, for the citizens are likely to show an indifference and not vote.

The chairman then called on S. St. John McCutchen, president of the North Plainfield Board of Education, who spoke briefly concerning school suffrage for women. He stated that it would be a good thing to have women on the school boards and to have a law allowing women to vote in school matters. He thought there was a better field for women where their PUNTS AND KICKS NOW.

FOOTBALL SEASON WILL OPEN IN A SHORT TIME.

Plainfield Expects to Have a Crack Team That Will Hold Its Own With Any of the Amateurs in the State.

The opening of the football season is near at hand and on Saturday afternoon, October 2d, the Plainfield boys will line up on the gridiron for their first game of the season. Practice will begin this week and all the preparations are being made for a strong team to represent Plainfield on the gridiron.

A meeting of the Plainfield Athlectic Association, an organization composed of lovers of the sport with Thomas H. Kellar at the head, was held last evening at the office of the Plainfield Cycle and Sporting Goods Company on North avenue. There were some twenty-five young men who attended the meeting and almost all were candidates for positions on the team. Much interest was manifested and everybody wanted to do all they could to push the affairs of the team along to a successful point.

The financial part of the team, the most important part, was reported on by the finance committee and it was shown that by plenty of hustling, the club could be placed on a firm financial footing. A regular canvass will be mads of the town and all the members will assist. If the citizens all subscribe, Plainfield will have a team of which all can be proud and which will be able to hold its own with those of the larger cities in this part of Jersey and New York.

It was decided to begin practice on Thursday night in the vacant field on Westervelt avenue, on the Plainfield side of the brook. Practice will be by electric light. Several large 50-candle power lamps will be placed in the field, backed by reflectors, and connection made with the light circuit of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. The field is a level one and will serve as a place for the night practice of signals and team play. The candidates who can will turn out on Saturday afternoon for a little practice. There will be a meeting of the association and the first practice at this field on Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Everyone who plays football is invited to attend the practice, for the association will pick the eleven best players they can find, and they wish to have plenty to select from.

At the meeting on Thursday night definite arrangements will be made regarding the location of the field where the team is to play. The choice lies between two fields, one on the line of the trolley and the other is Martine's common. It is probable that a captain will also be chosen.

CANDIDATES IN UNION COUNTY.

Republicans and Democrats Who Are Anxious to Go to the Legislature.

It is now asserted that the Assembly nominees on the Republican ticket this fall in Union county will be J. Martin Roll, of Springfield; Roger Murray, of Plainfield, and Robert Houston, of Elizabeth. These are the men, it is said, whose candidacy is most favored by the party leaders. An attempt, however, will be made to turn down Roll, but he claims it won't succeed. His opponents want James R. Ferguson, of Cranford, to secure the nomination.

Ex-Freeholder Houston wants to be Sheriff next year, but he will take the Assembly nomination as a stepping stone to the higher honor.

Benjamin L. Lawrence, president of the Union County Democratic Club, is being pushed for the Assembly nomination on that side, and Alderman John J. Gardiner, of Elizabeth, has also Legislative aspirations. William Wolfskiel is also spoken of. So far these are the only three names mentioned in Democratic circles.

Motorman Welsh Got the Suit.

Last night the Indian fair closed and the attendance was fully up to the average. Considerable interest was manifested in the contest for the rubber suit for the most popular motorman. The contest resulted in Motorman Welsh securing the suit. He received 217 votes. Almost everything on sale was disposed of and the committee thinks a goodly sum will be realized as profit after all bills are paid.

—The Saengerbund society will give a clam-bake at Keller's Grove next Sunday, which will be their last outing of the season.

—The Y. M. C. A. has erected a large bulletin board on the Watchung avenue side of its building, and notices of association events will be posted thereon daily.

FOUND BY FOOT PRINTS

THIEVES TRAILED TO THEIR ABODES WHERE BOOTY WAS FOUND.

Farmer Smalley Had Eight Bushels of Fine Potatoes Stolen—Followed Tracks in the Loose Sand and Found the Culprits.

Goldson W. Smalley, whose farm borders on Greenbrook road, a mile or two from Dunellen, has been raising some Rose potatoes of a variety that are not common in this neighborhood. He had eight bushels of them that he intended to take to George W. Rockfellow, the grocer, this morning. Last night he stored them away in his wagon shed. During the night marauders visited the wagon shed and removed the potatoes. They came softly and departed in the same manner, and the occupants of the house knew nothing of the nocturnal visit.

This morning when Mr. Smalley went to the shed he found that the potatoes were missing and there were footprints in the sand that led to and from the shed. It was early and there had been no one along at that hour, so Smalley went forth to track the thieves by the footprints they had left in the loose sand at the side of the road. The trail led him directly to the houses of two men who live on West Front street.

Later in the morning Smalley appeared before Justice Nash and a search warrant was sworn out for the houses that Smalley suspected contained his potatoes. Constable Moffett and Smalley visited the place and served the warrant. They hunted and found the missing potatoes.

Satisfied with recovering the potatoes, Smalley refused to make any complaint. The men finally admitted that they took the potatoes, but that they were drunk at the time and did not know what they were doing. Both were in poor circumstances and had large families to support.

FALL ELECTIONS.

Democratic Chances in Assembly Elections Are Better Than Last Year.

Six State Senators will be elected in November, from Cape May, Burlington, Middlesex, Passaic, Sussex and Hunterdon counties. Five of these are now represented by Republicans, and one (Hunterdon) by a Democrat. The Republicans have eighteen of the twenty-one Senators now and could lose all the elections this Fall and still have a majority. Cape May, Burlington and Passaic have normal Republican majorities, while the others have been Democratic in the long run. The Republicans hope to carry Middlesex and possibly Sussex this fall, besides their own, and will make a fight for Hunterdon, too. The Democrats had only four Assemblyman last year. This year they hope to gain two in Bergen, eleven in Hudson, three in Middlesex, with possible success elsewhere. If their hopes hold good they would still have only twenty four out of the sixty members. To the Legislature, in any ordinary contest, the Democrats should win in Essex and Somerset. Essex is the pivotal county, and with the present outlook it will decide the political complexion of the Legislature every year for many years to come. It is this fact which has made it appear strange that Essex Republicans have not asserted the county's right to preference more vigorously in the recent past.—Somerville Unionist Gazette.

The Y. M. C. A. Course in Phonography

The work in stenography at the Y. M. C. A. this year will be based upon the original Pitman and Graham systems. A through mastery of the principles will be required as the prime requisite of success. Dictation will begin with the first lesson and will gradually follow the development of the system, thus leading the pupil up to the point of absolute independence in outline formation and enabling him thus equipped to meet the demands in any field of practice, from that of ordinary amenuensis work, to the most exacting needs of verbatim reporting.

Must Have a Cover on His Wagon.

John Smith, of Elizabeth, a purveyor of hides and fat, was arrested on East Front street this morning for carrying his wares in a wagon that had no cover as required by the city ordinance. He was taken before Judge DeMeza and was paroled on a bond of $100, and if he fails to provide a proper cover for his wagon he will be prosecuted according to law.

Returned From a Sea Trip.

Captain George D. Morrison, mate on the A. G. Rope sailing vessel, sailed from New York for SanFrancisco April 28th, and since that time he spent several months in the vicinity of Cape Horn. Mr. Morrison arrived in Plainfield by the Royal Blue Line last Sunday evening, and today he called at The Daily Press office. Mr. Morrison looks hale and hearty. He will not return to sea again for sometime.

MAINTAIN STATE HONOR.

PUBLIC MEETING OF CITIZENS' LEAGUE TO BE HELD SUNDAY.

Prominent Citizens Urged Such an Event and it Will Be Held in Music Hall—A Number of Influential Men Will Speak.

As the time grows nearer for the special election next Tuesday to vote on the Constitutional amendments, the moral elements are becoming more active in stirring the people to a sense of duty towards the anti-gambling amendment. The following letters explain themselves:

Col. Mason W. Tyler, President of the Plainfield Branch of the State Citizens' League:

Dear Sir—A proposed amendment to our State Constitution, providing that no pool selling, bookmaking, or gambling of any kind shall be authorized within this State, has been passed by two consecutive Legislatures, and is submitted to the people for their votes on the 28th of this month.

Believing that the passage of this amendment is in the interests of public morality, we respectfully urge you to call a public meeting of our citizens at some convenient time and place, when the subject may be duly considered. Respectfully yours,

A. Gilbert,
George W. Rockfellow,
J. W. Johnson,
B. O. Bowers,
W. R. Richards,
Ernest L. Walz,
Erskine M. Rodman,
Albert H. Atterbury.

Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 16th, 1897.

To Ernest L. Walz, Erskine M. Rodman, Albert H. Atterbury, Alexander Gilbert, Geo. W. Rockfellow, J. W. Johnson, B. O. Bowers, W. R. Richards:

Gentlemen—I am this day in receipt of your note of date September 16th instant, calling my attention to the pending proposed amendment to our State Constitution, to be submitted to a popular vote on September 28th instant, and providing that no pool selling, bookmaking or gambling of any kind shall be authorized within this State.

No more important question has ever been submitted to the people of the State of New Jersey. The issue to be decided lies at the very foundation of our free institutions. If we are to be governed by gamblers, we are not a free people. There is too much Revolutionary blood running in the veins of New Jersey's sons to allow them to quietly submit to any such usurpation. The battle was really fought and won four years ago, but the people must now set the matter forever at rest by recording in their Constitution that gamblers shall not rule the State of New Jersey.

In response to your suggestion, I have issued a call for a public meeting, copy of which is herewith enclosed.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
Mason W. Tyler.

Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1897.

To the Voters of the City of Plainfield:

Notice is hereby given that a public meeting, under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the State Citizens' League, will be held at Stillman Music Hall, on Sunday afternoon, September 26th at 4 o'clock, to consider the pending proposed amendment to our State Constitution, to the effect that no pool selling, bookmaking, or gambling of any kind shall be authorized within this State. All persons interested in maintaining the honor of our State are invited to attend.

Yours, etc.,
Mason W. Tyler,
President of the Plainfield Branch of the State Citizens' League.

A BLUE LINER'S MISHAPS.

Express That Was in the Skillman Collision Ran Into a Train at Trenton Junction.

It seems as though the Royal Blue Line train, of which Charles Clapp is the engineer, and Frank Webster, of North Plainfield, is baggagemaster, is fated. It is well remembered that this train met with a bad accident at Hopewell last Spring, and not a great while after the same train picked up a heavy plank on the roadbed after passing Bound Brook and the accident was not discovered until the train reached this city.

The last mishap to this train occurred Saturday night last when the train was near Trenton Junction. A stop was made at the Junction to let off passengers. The Junction had just been left behind when the crash came.

It happened that a freight train on a siding had backed up and got over on the main east bound track just in time to run into the Blue Line train. The side of the cab on the engine of the latter train was taken away and the fireman received several slight injuries. Frank Webster, baggagemaster, was at the time lifting a trunk to place it on top of some others, and his left shoulder was badly wrenched. The injuries were not so serious as to detain him from work. Neither were those of the fireman. The rear part of the freight train was quite badly wrecked. When the Blue Line train reached Bound Brook another engine was secured to take the train to Jersey City.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

All apprentices in Plainfield are invited to attend the reception to be given in their behalf at the Y. M. C. A. this evening.

A PUMPTOWN LICENSE?

THE APPLICATION ENCOUNTERS OPPOSITION FROM NEARBY PEOPLE.

John J. Smith, Proprietor of the Wheelmen's Rest, is The Applicant—Opponents Say it Would Draw Rough Characters.

A great ado is being raised by the people who live in Metuchen and the vicinity of "Pumptown" over the attempt of John J. Smith, proprietor of the wheelmen's rest at that point, to secure a liquor license from the Middlesex County Court. When the matter was first considered last week by Judge Strong, Louis Campbell, Smith's nearest neighbor, opposed the granting of the license. He said it was a new place and not necessary, as there were two hotels within a mile and a half on the Metuchen road, two at South Plainfield and a fifth, a clubhouse at the north of that vicinity, near the Plainfield line. When this house was built last spring it was given out by the applicant's wife that only soft drinks would be sold. Her husband had retired from the liquor business, having closed up his New York wholesale business and sold his Perth Amboy Hotel. Now he applied at the first term of court for a license. There is plenty of singing and shouting there on Sunday nights.

Howard MacSherry represented the applicant. He asked Mr. Campbell if he was not a relative of Ellis Campbell, who had a few minutes previous been granted a license for the clubhouse which is but a mile or so distant from Smith's place, and if that was not his reason for opposing this application.

Mr. Campbell said he was a relative, but had not entered the clubhouse but once in seven years. This man had already deceived them, and if he was given a license and promised to keep a first-class place it was fair to presume that he would deceive them again.

There was a remonstrance against the granting of the license and two petitions favoring it. The signers to the remonstrance sets forth that the place is not needed and that it would be a gathering place for the rough characters from Plainfield, Metuchen and New Brunswick.

One petition certifies that the signers have known the applicant for several years and have always found him to be an honest, capable and worthy business man and recommends him to the citizens of Metuchen as a man who understands the management of a first-class hotel.

The matter was postponed two weeks, when both sides will have witnesses in court.

NEW JERSEY DAY

Ceremonies For Its Celebration at Nashville.

The commissioners appointed by Governor Griggs to represent New Jersey at the Tennessee Exposition now being held at Nashville have arranged the programme for "New Jersey Day," which occurs October 7th. Most of the commissioners will go to the exposition for that day. Gov. Griggs cannot attend, and Gen. James F. Rusling, the president of the commission, will in his stead respond for the State to the address of welcome by the Governor of Tennessee.

Jeremiah O'Rourke, of Newark, and W. H. Bodine, of Williamstown, will also make addresses, and a Mr. Atkinson, a Jerseyman residing in Kentucky and employing there 1,000 coal miners, will speak for New Jersey men in the south.

The commissioners will hold another meeting on the 24th instant.

MAY REMOVE THE KINDERGARTEN.

Plan to Remedy the Overcrowding of the Borough School Building

At the special meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education last evening, called for the purpose of considering ways and means for the accommodation of the increased number of scholars, it was stated that in the kindergarten forty-six children could be seated, and there are ninety-one scholars enrolled. In grades one and two of the primary department there are fifty-two more children than can be seated. The condition of affairs was reported and the matter was referred to the building committee and they are to report at a meeting to be held next Monday night. It is likely, as was reported yesterday, that the kindergarten department will be located outside of the school building.

Valuable Horse Dead.

"Baron Rose," the $2,000 trotter belonging to Robert Fairbairn, of Westfield, died at the Somerset County Fair grounds last Thursday night. The horse trotted one heat in the 2:22 class and was then taken ill in its stall. An operation was performed and it was found that the horse had a cancer of the stomach. The animal died during the night in great agony.

ASLEEP IN AN ICEHOUSE.

A CHILLY NIGHT IT WAS BUT IT DIDN'T BOTHER HAMILTON.

He is an Up-to-Date Hobo Who Takes Things as They Come—A Saucy Word to Judge DeMeza Got Him Thirty Days More.

Ward McAllister Hamilton lived on the western prairies once. There they used to fight fire with fire. Being somewhat of a philosopher in his humble way Hamilton believed in fighting cold with ice. That was the reason that, last evening, he picked out the icehouse of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, located near Grant avenue, on West Front street, for his lodging place for the night.

Hamilton came into the world with very bright prospects. He visited many parts of this country, but as his age increased so did his troubles, and Hamilton finally degenerated into a "hobo" of the first rank. Hamilton has always been proud and he now boasts of being the most up-to-date "hobo" on the road. He claims to be the "Ward McAllister of hoboism."

In all his travels, Hamilton never struck Plainfield until last night. He was fascinated with the place, but not its police force. He came from the direction of Somerville, where he has been studying municipal government and county fairs. It was chilly when Ward reached Plainfield and he wrapped his rags around him and bolted for the big icehouse. The icehouse was partially filled with the salt straw used in packing the ice for shipping and in a heap of that Mac found his bed.

Patrolman Vanderweg was on duty in that precinct and he spotted Friend Hamilton and marched him off to jail during the night. Hamilton growled at being disturbed but the powerful hand of the law brought him along all the same and he spent the night in one of the cells.

Roundsman Flynn felt rather sorry for the man locked up in the damp chilly cell on such a cold night and asked him if he was cold. Hamilton immediately ordered Flynn to a place where the cold does not trouble and blankets are at a discount.

After that, nobody disturbed the weary wanderer's slumbers.

This morning Hamilton was arraigned before the City Judge on the charge of vagrancy. He was was defiant and sullen and would talk little.

"I sentence you to the county jail for thirty days," remarked the Judge.

"Ugh! I don't care a —— for that," promptly replied the up-to-date "hobo."

"I'll make it sixty days," said Judge DeMeza. "And if you open your mouth again like that, I'll make it ninety." Hamilton was silent, and defiantly marched back to his cell satisfied that his lodging was provided for two months at least.

TROLLEY LINE BLOCKED.

The construction of the line of the Brunswick Traction Company, between New Brunswick and Bound Brook, received another unexpected setback yesterday, and again work was temporarily abandoned. It is practically a continuation of the fight which is being waged against the corporation by George W. Metlar, since the objector in this instance is his wife, Catherine Metlar. The writ of certiorari ordering a cessation of the work was obtained on Saturday before Chief Justice Magie, and is returnable October 4th.

When the first writ was argued before Judge Ludlow, recently, the traction company obtained an order permitting the continuation of the work except along the property of Mr. Metlar. This did not prevent the building of the line along some property owned by Mrs. Metlar, and Edward W. Hicks, counsel for the Metlars, at once took the matter into the court with the result as stated.

As yet there is apparently no disposition on the part of the trolley company or Mr. Metlar to make any compromise. The work of building the line from New Brunswick to Metuchen is nearly completed, and in less than three weeks cars will probable be running over that part of the line.

Said to Have Assaulted His Wife.

Last evening at Dunellen a family quarrel at the home of Paul Kratzel, the borough shoemaker, resulted in the arrest of Mr. Kratzel on a charge of assaulting his wife. The complaint was made by Miss Kratzel, daughter of the accused, and the offender was taken before Justice Storms, at New Market, where he was held under bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The condition of Charles Kading, of Liberty street, who is ill with consumption, is now very serious.

HE AVENGES DEFEAT

General Jeffreys' Advance Against the Mohmunds In India.

THE NATIVES ARE GOOD MARKSMEN.

Correspondent to the London Times Says That the Natives Have Been Well Punished Already For the Assault on the British at Camp Anayat.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 21.—The operations against the Mohmunds continue to be the center of interest. The latest dispatches from General Jeffreys report that he advanced again on Sunday morning from Camp Mayate to attack the enemy west of the valley. The chiefs came for a parley, but were informed that they could not be heard until all arms had been surrendered.

A remarkable feature is the accuracy of the enemy's fire. Lieutenant Crawford was killed at a range of over 1,000 yards.

The tribesmen show great courage and astounding rapidity in moving over the rocks. General Sir Bindon Blood, who is moving in a parallel direction to General Jeffreys and who keeps in heliographic communication with him, reports that the Haddah mollah, with 4,000 followers, debouched on the Nawagai plain, where General Sir Bindon Blood was encamped. The mollah held a fanatical kuttock dance, fired a few shots and then retired, but the same night the camp was attacked, though so half heartedly that the enemy was easily repulsed.

The tribesmen daringly creep up the ravines around the camp. An English private was stabbed only five yards from an outpost.

Victorious General Jeffreys.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of The Times at Simla says: "General Jeffreys has inflicted such punishment upon the Mohmunds that they are begging for mercy and asking his terms. Their valley is swept of fighting men. No one is now offering the slightest opposition. The Salarzai tribesmen have declined to fight further, fearing that their villages will also be punished. General Jeffreys has demanded the surrender of 50 breechloaders and those captured by the Mohmunds last Thursday. When these terms are complied with, he will resume his march into the Mohmund country.

THE LAJOIES ARRESTED.

An Angry Mob Attempts to Lynch One of Them.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Frank Lajoie, the murderer of Deputy Sheriff William Jackson, was captured by a volunteer force of several young men from Schroon Lake, near Whitneys Clearing, Paradox lake, late yesterday afternoon, within a mile and a half of where the murder was committed. Lajoie went to his mother's house for something to eat and was in an exhausted condition. He said he would give himself up and offered no resistance. Lajoie, with the other two brothers, will be taken at once to the county jail at Elizabethtown.

Schroon Lake village came very near being the scene of a lynching when, under the guard of the Adirondack guides and a posse of armed men, Murderer Frank Lajoie, Jr., was brought to town. No sooner had the news become known than a large crowd gathered for the purpose of summarily disposing of the prisoner, but were prevented only by the firm stand of his guard. Loud threats were heard on every side, and for a time it looked as if a rush would be made and the men in charge of the prisoner overpowered. The posse held their ground, and the prisoner was finally placed in charge of Sheriff Nye of Essex county and safely lodged in jail.

A Parliament Dissolved.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 21.—The Newfoundland legislature was dissolved today. Sir Herbert Murray, the governor, announces in his proclamation that Oct. 28 next is the date for the election of the new parliament. It is agreed on all sides that Sir William Whiteway, the premier, if elected, will have a largely reduced majority. The fishery news continues most discouraging, and the vessels are returning home empty, having given up work. During the last fortnight three vessels have been lost off the Labrador coast and four men drowned.

Believed to Be Letter Box Firebug.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—There have been at odd intervals for years in the Harlem district of this city a number of mysterious and suspicious fires, which were started in the letter boxes of the vestibules of big flathouses. A man named Robert L. Klume was arrested on suspicion of having started two fires, at 205 and 254 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street. At the Harlem police court Klume was held in $3,000 bail to answer to the charge of arson.

Death of an ex-Treasury Official.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—News has been received here of the death at Atlantic City of E. P. Baldwin, formerly auditor for the treasury department. Death was due primarily to an operation for appendicitis. He lived at Laurel, Md., and leaves a wife and three children. He was born in Maryland 47 years ago.

Perhaps He Robbed Ikey Thompson.

SARATOGA, Sept. 21.—Nicholas Moran of New York city, an alleged hotel crook, who has been convicted at Toronto for robbing a hotel there, is believed to have robbed Bookmaker Isaac Thompson of New York city at the Grand Union hotel in this city last August.

PERHAPS FIRED THE SHIP.

Vessel Burned at Sea After One Crew Had Deserted the Ship Just Before Starting.

SALEM, Mass., Sept. 21.—A telegram was received here from Captain J. W. Dunham, who is in Pensacola, Fla., stating that his ship, the Savonius, had been burned at sea.

The Savonius was 1,500 tons and was carrying lumber from Pensacola to Rio Janeiro. The vessel was loaded about two weeks ago, but a difficulty arose over a crew, as no one would ship, owing to the prevalence of sickness at Rio Janeiro. A crew was ultimately secured, however, and the difficulty seemed to have been overcome, but just as the vessel was on the point of starting the whole crew deserted. Captain Dunham was then obliged to secure a crew which consisted half of whites and half blacks. He started on his voyage last Saturday.

Shipping men here are of the opinion that when the vessel got outside the crew set fire to the ship. The telegram states that the crew were all saved.

The Savonius was a British ship and hailed from St. Johns, N. B. Thompson & Co. of that city owned the vessel.

IN BURNING PIT.

Miners Caught In a Deathtrap at Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 21.—Fire broke out in Belle Ellen, No. 2, mine, near Blecton, in Bibb county. Many miners were rescued at first, but a number have been cut off from escape and will certainly perish. Pandemonium seems to prevail at the place, and assistance has been called for from Blecton.

The mines were recently opened, and more than 50 miners were working in the place. How the fire originated cannot be learned, but before discovered it was burning briskly.

Five men are known to have been cut off in one room, and they cannot possibly escape the fire and smoke.

The Bessemer Land and Improvement company operates the mines, and representatives of the company left for the scene on the first train after the arrival of news of the disaster.

The True Remedy.
W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Benjamin Newell, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with his friend, John V. Beekman, Jr., of West Eighth street.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

DELINQUENT DOCTOR

New Orleans Physician Makes an Irregular Fever Report.

THE PEST GAINS GROUND THERE.

Dr. Guiteras Reports That Two Cases Found at Cairo, Ills., Are Mild and Have Not Excited Much Alarm In That Place.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—The largest number of cases reported on any day since yellow fever first made its appearance in New Orleans two weeks ago was recorded on the books of the board of health last night, although up to a late hour not a single case had proved fatal during the day. There were 18 cases in all.

The most sensational incident of yesterday was the announcement from Dr. Joseph Holt, expressed to the board of health, that he had discovered nine cases in his practice, the first of which had come under his observation on Friday. Dr. Holt wrote a letter to President Olliphant and intrusted it to the mail; but, fearing that the letter might not reach its destination in time, Dr. Holt sent a special messenger to the residence of Dr. Olliphant, giving this information. At the board of health, when the Holt letter was opened, there was first incredulity and then criticism of Dr. Holt because he had adopted what the board considered an irregular way in which to make known his cases.

Immediately upon the receipt of the letter the machinery of the board was placed in motion, and inspectors were sent to the various houses where Dr. Holt reported sickness to exist. The places were all disinfected and guards placed in front of them, but the board said it had very little hope of the effectiveness of these measures, since all those who desired were given an opportunity to escape from the infected houses.

One of the houses, where are four of the patients, is a fashionable boarding house. The first case to develop in this house was at 2:30 Saturday morning, and the other cases in the same place were noted on Saturday afternoon. Those living in the house, of whom there were quite a number, knew of the existence of fever early Saturday morning and therefore got out as fast as possible. Some of them moved their baggage on Saturday and others on Sunday, while it is said some of the boarders took a train and went to Atlanta.

Shortly after the board of health was made acquainted with the contents of the letter of Dr. Holt it held an executive conference and decided to immediately order its board of experts to visit the nine cases of Dr. Holt and decide whether or not they are suffering with yellow fever. The experts attempted to carry out the instructions of the board, but when they proceeded to the first house Dr. Holt entered an objection and refused them permission to examine any of his patients, taking the position that he had properly diagnosed them and that being an expert himself there was no occasion for further investigation.

After the experts made their report the board of health went into executive session and discussed at length what was termed Dr. Holt's violation of a city ordinance, which he himself had had passed, and which provides for the punishment by fine or imprisonment of any physician who fails to report a positive or suspicious case of yellow fever in a period like the present. The board finally decided to summon Dr. Holt to appear before them and explain his alleged negligence. It will then be decided whether or not there shall be a prosecution of Dr. Holt in the courts.

Last night most of the patients in the city were reported as doing well. Trouble in two cases was reported in the effort to enforce quarantine regulations. Down town one man managed to escape from the infected quarter and was chased and arrested and after being arraigned in court and frightening everybody present was sent back to his home. In the evening a report was received that a man had appeared in front of one of the infected houses up town armed with a shotgun and had torn down the yellow fever flag and taken possession of the premises. A squad of police was sent to the scene.

The board of health has decided to send an appeal to Governor Foster asking him to supply the board with $25,000 from the surplus fund of the state to assist the board in prosecuting its fight against the fever.

Yellow Fever Hits Illinois.

CAIRO, Ills., Sept. 21.—Two cases in the Marine hospital, pronounced yellow fever in a mild form by Dr. Guiteras and the hospital surgeon, are improving, and one of them is convalescent. A strict quarantine is in force around the Marine hospital. Experienced physicians of the epidemic of 1878 deny that these cases are yellow fever and pronounce them malarial fever, such as prevails every season among men working in swamps and along the river. The state board of health, with inspectors stationed at Cairo, has decided to quarantine against East Cairo and all southern points.

The Cairo Cases Mild.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Information has been received at the Marine hospital from Dr. John Guiteras that the two cases of yellow fever at Cairo, Ills., have been isolated and every precaution possible taken to prevent spread. He says that the cases are very mild and have caused little alarm in Cairo.

France Fears the Pest.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—M. Barthou, the minister of the interior, has instructed the prefects of the maritime provinces to watch particularly all arrivals from America, with the view of guarding against yellow fever.

The Commission's Plans Changed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The Nicaragua canal commission has changed its plans and will not go to Nicaragua as soon as was expected. The indications are that the start will not be made from this country before November next at the earliest, by which time it may be that the engineer board of inquiry into the case of Captain Carter will have developed the actual foundation for the charges made against that officer.

PEARY BACK AGAIN.

The July Expedition Returns From Greenland's Shores.

ALL ON BOARD SAFE AND SOUND.

The Last Ton of Coal Burned Steaming Into Harbor at Cape Breton, but the Ship Is Ballasted Well With a Giant Meteorite.

SYDNEY, C. B., Sept. 21.—The steam sealing bark Hope, with Lieutenant R. E. Peary and party on board, returning from north Greenland, arrived here late yesterday afternoon. All on board are well.

The Hope came into port burning her last ton of coal and with her bulwarks and decks giving evidence of the furious seas of an unusually stormy summer. She is nearly as deep in the water as when she left here in the latter part of July with her bunkers full of coal, for the huge Cape York meteorite, the largest in the world, is in her hold.

Lieutenant Peary has on board also six Cape York Eskimos, who will go with him when he returns next year to attempt to reach the north pole. The

LIEUTENANT PEARY.
[The Greenland explorer.]

Eskimos have their tent, sledges and canoes. They are eager for the undertaking, and all the arrangements have been made.

The expedition visited Cape Sabine, and relics of the ill fated expedition led by Greely have been obtained. The summer in Baffins bay was marked by almost continuously stormy weather and by an unusual scarcity of ice.

The investigating party from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, under Mr. R. W. Porter, landed at Cape Haven on Aug. 3 and did not re-embark until Sept. 13. The party led by Mr. Hugh Lee, the arctic explorer of Meriden, Conn., landed at Godhaven on Aug. 7 and re-embarked Sept. 7. Professor Schuchert's party, of the National museum, landed at Omenak on Aug. 8, re-embarking on Sept. 4. The party led by Mr. Robert Stein of the United States geological survey was on land from Aug. 10 to Sept. 2.

The Hope will coal here and then proceed to New York, where she will land the meteorite.

The object of the expedition, which left Boston on July 19 last for Sydney, was to bring about the establishment of a settlement at a remote northern point in Greenland, which would be used as a base of supplies for an expedition in search of the north pole under Lieutenant Peary in 1898. To this end, according to Lieutenant Peary's plans, as made known at that time, a party of Eskimos was to be established at the new settlement and would during the ensuing 12 months be engaged in making preparations for the expedition.

The Hope was to skirt the coast of Greenland, dropping scientific parties at various points and taking Lieutenant Peary to Whale sound, where it was proposed to establish the settlement.

In the party as originally constituted were 43 persons, including, besides Lieutenant Peary and Mrs. Peary and their daughter, their servant and the crew, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Lee, who chose a cruise in arctic waters as a wedding trip; Robert Stein of the United States geological survey, Albert Operti, the well known arctic scenic artist; J. D. Figgins of Falls Church, Va., taxidermist; Dr. Frederick Sohon, surgeon, Washington, and several investigating parties, one under the direction of Professor C. H. Hitchcock of Dartmouth, having in view a study of glaciers and the relics of the old Norse colonists from Iceland; another from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, under Mr. R. W. Porter, whose plan was to hunt the big game of the country and bring back zoological specimens, and a third, headed by Professor Charles Schuchert and Mr. C. D. White, representing the National museum, with instructions to examine fossil formations, which it had been claimed tended to prove that Greenland was once a country of tropical climate.

The bringing home of the Cape York meteorite was a secondary, though a scarcely less interesting object of the expedition.

Off For the South Pole.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who was a member of Peary's Greenland expedition of 1891, sailed from here on the steamer Coleridge for Montevideo, where he will join the Gerlach antarctic expedition. He hopes to reach the south pole.

The Coleridge only goes to Rio Janeiro, from which place Dr. Cook will reship.

The Gerlach expedition, under command of Lieutenant Adrian de Gerlach, left Antwerp on July 25 on the Belgiac, a whaling ship especially strengthened and fitted up for the perilous undertaking. The Belgiac is provisioned for two years. Every man of the 25 aboard her is experienced and ready to face any new dangers for the sake of their enthusiastic commander.

As far as known Dr. Cook will be the only American in the party, and his duties will be purely scientific. Andree's theories will be followed to some extent, as a balloon, which is now on the Belgiac, will be utilized, if possible, for taking observations and making aerial progress where ice prevents navigation. The most prominent of past expeditions to the south pole was that of Sir James Ross in 1839, who reached the seventy-third degree of latitude.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 21, 1897

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair, Followed By Increasing Cloudiness; Probably Showers Wednesday Afternoon; Stationary Temperature.

At 2 o'Clock the Thermometer at Leggett's Pharmacy Registered 71 Degrees.

ACTIVE MORAL INFLUENCES.

The interest and determination of Plainfield's substantial and respected citizens to do their duty towards paving the way for the victory of the anti-gambling Constitutional amendment is evidenced in the letters published on the first page of today's Press. It is gratifying to contemplate that on the very eve of the decisive balloting day the apathetic inclination that seemed to burden the moral element is being supplanted by agitation that will, to a large extent, stir good citizens to a sense of duty in voting to forever crush out the curse that once blighted the State's fair name, and would probably become a reality again if left to the discretion of a Legislature who might act at the behest of the influences that were once intrenched at Trenton. But as The Press cautioned the leaders yesterday, they must not stop with the mere depiction of the evils possible and probable if the amendment is defeated; to use a trite phrase, to clinch the argument into effect they must work with the same energy on election day in urging citizens to vote that they impart fervor to their admonition now.

UTILITY OF THE CORSET.

The utility of the corset has been demonstrated. In Plainfield, N. J., a tramp the other day attacked a woman with a knife. The knife struck one of the steel ribs of her corset and broke. Thereupon the tramp fled. Let nothing more be said against the corset—Rochester Union.

NOT PLEDGED.

The New York Tribune is the authority for the statement that neither Senator Voorhees nor Senator Reed are pledged to vote for any certain man for the United States Senate.

NO LONGER FRIENDS.

The coal dealer and the ice cream merchant are no longer friends. This weather wasn't made to suit both of them.

UNRULY PUPIL HURT.

Teacher Shook Him and His Head Struck a Desk Forcibly.

The following letter has been received at this office from Joseph B. Newman, of the borough:

To the Editor of The Daily Press: Dear Sir—I wish through the columns of your valuable paper to deny certain rumors to the effect that one of the teachers of the primary department of the North Plainfield Public School gouged out the eye of my little boy, broke his cheek bone, etc. I do this in justice to the party, as the matter will in all probability be settled by the courts.

Jos. B. Newman.

A Daily Press reporter called on Superintendent Wightman, of the North Plainfield School, this morning, and made inquiries concerning the above. Mr. Wightman said that one day last week Mr. Newman's son, who is a member of Miss Claypoole's class, was disobedient and very troublesome, so much so that she felt obliged to shake the boy. The boy accidentally struck the side of his face against a desk, causing a black and blue mark. It was not the teacher's fault, but the carelessness of the boy that caused the accident. The boy is now all right and attends school, although at the request of the boy's parents he has been transferred to another room.

Those Extracts Again.

There is no more effective way to hurt trade than to make overdrawn statements about one's goods. I am careful about that, but I have reason to be enthusiastic about the quality of my flavoring extracts. They are sold in New York in competition with the largest and best houses in the country and they gain in favor all the time. I want these goods to be universally used in Plainfield and I am confident that sooner or later they will be. Genuine merit is bound to win in the end.

THEATRICAL.

The law of heredity was never better exemplified than in the case of Miss Belle Archer. She has inherited the wonderful dramatic vigor that has made her ancestors famous; she has that indescribable spark of genuis and magnetism without which it is impossible to mount the ladder of fame. No amount of talent and ability can carry the dramatic artists to success without this spark of genius. In Hoyt's "A Contented Woman" Miss Archer has found a part so thoroughly congenial to her that she has achieved success with but little effort Her performance of the "New Woman," in Hoyt's latest and best creation, has met with the most fulsome praise. In appearance she is peculiarly adapted to the bewitching "Contented Woman," and she plays the character with that admirable abandon and subtlety that has all to do with the success of the play. The play will be seen here at Music Hall on Wednesday evening, September 22d.

An innovation in the line of musical farce comedies will be seen at Music Hall, Friday night, when Messrs Rogers & Ryan will make their appearance in the metropolitan success, "A Broadway Girl," which is a comedy with a plot, which runs through the entire three acts, and the interest is never allowed to flag for a moment. Original songs, dances, etc., are introduced throughout the performance, while high-class specialties are blended in by such well-known artists as E. Rogers, Australia's acknowledged champion dancer, song writer and comedian; Ed. Ryan, for the past five seasons star of "One of the Finest;" Nellie Franklyn, late soubrette of "A Baggage Check;" Edwards & Kernell, Ryeford Sisters, Charles H. Gorman, Edith Chapman, John Fields, Jr., and many others. Those desiring to see a clean, wholesome comedy, constructed for laughing purposes, should not miss this rare treat.

A PRACTICAL TEST.

The Invention Proved That It Was Equal to All That Was Claimed for It.

Dom Pedro, the last Emperor of Brazil, was a man of a practical turn of mind, as the following story told of him by a Spanish newspaper well illustrates:

He once gave an audience to a young engineer who came to show him a new appliance for stopping railway engines. The Emperor was pleased with the idea, but wished to put it to a practical test.

"Day after to-morrow," said he, "have your engine ready. We will have it coupled to my saloon-carriage and start. When going at full speed I will give the signal to stop, and then we shall see how your invention works."

At the appointed time all was in readiness. The Emperor entered his carriage, the young inventor mounted his engine, and on they sped for several miles as fast as they could go. There came no signal, and the engineer began to fear that the Emperor had fallen asleep. Suddenly the engine came to a sharp curve around the edge of a cliff, when, to his horror the the track directly ahead of them the engineer saw a huge boulder.

He had just sufficient presence of mind to turn the crank of his brake and pull the engine up within a couple of yards of the fatal block.

Here the Emperor put his head out of his car window and demanded to know the cause of the sudden stoppage. The engineer pointed to the rock, and, much to his surprise, Dom Pedro began to laugh.

"Push it to one side and go on," he said, calmly.

The engineer obeyed, and kicking the stone, was still further astonished to see it crumble into dust before him.

It was nothing more nor less than a block of starch which the Emperor had had made and placed on the rails the night before.—Harper's Round Table.

THE MEXICAN SHEPHERD BOY.

They Control their Flock by the Use of a Sling.

When going up the valley of the Rio Grande, in New Mexico, my attention was drawn to the flocks of sheep and goats, and their pastores, of shepherd boys. These little shepherds wore neither hats nor shoes. Their only garment was a tunic, reaching a little below the knee and confined by a girdle, from which depended a small pouch or scrip. A quiver, with bow and arrows, hung athwart the shoulders, and the right hand held a sling. Presently a stone from the scrip was hurled forward toward the right or left, to make the flock swerve to the left or right. It was impossible not to recognize little "David, the son of Jesse," and one might have almost expected to behold Goliath, the Philistine coming to defy the children of Israel.

The portraiture of the scene described the Book of Samuel was too exact to be ascribed to accident, and, for the first time it occurred to me that David bore a sling not for the purpose of slaying bears or lions—or even Philistines—but to guide and control the flock, and that these little shepherds of a kindred race, dwelling in a country not unlike the pastoral regions of Judea, very naturally continued to re-enact the scenes described in sacred history.—Catholic World.

PORCUPINE QUILLS.

They Are a Commercial Article, and Yield A Good Profit.

Porcupine quills are a necessary of life to anglers, for they make excellent floats for bottom fishing. Also, scores of penholders are made from the black-and-white spikes, and many kinds of ornamental screens and fans are pierced and knitted of these quills.

Something like two million porcupine quills are imported yearly, and they chiefly come from India; also, a few from Spain. The animal has to be hunted and killed before the quills can be obtained, and many hundreds of porcupines are slain for this purpose every year. The quills are carefully extracted and dried, packed in crates and shipped away to Europe, where they are used for all manner of things in the way of tackle and ornamentation. A porcupine is always worth killing, for every "spike-pig" carries $2.50 worth of quills on his fretful back.—Golden Days.

Why He Married.

In the North of England, where rabbit-coursing is most in vogue, swift, well-trained dogs often win large sums in prizes. It is therefore little to be wondered at that the owners of these animals should bestow so much attention on them.

An old Yorkshire collier, well known for his success in the coursing-field, recently surprised all his mates by marrying a very unprepossessing pauper-woman. He had always been reckoned a confirmed hater of the other sex.

"Why has ta gone and got spliced, lad, at thy age?" one of his friends asked him.

"Oh, that's not much of a tale," answered the old man stolidly. "I agree wi' ye 'at Betsy yonder is no beauty—if she had been I shouldn't have wed her. But that there dog o' mine he was simply pinin' for somebody to look after him while I was away at t' pit. I couldn't bear to leave him in the house by hissen, so I hit on the idea o' marryin' Betsy. She's not handsome, but she's mighty good company for the dog!"—Answers.

To add to the number of astonishing things that are made of paper, Krupp, the great German manufacturer of cannon, has lately completed a number of paper field-pieces for the use of the Germany infantry. They are intended for use in situations where the movement of field artillery would be impracticable.

Floral Design for Needle-work.

This design includes two forms of shading applicable to conventional treatment of floral ornament. To begin with the central spray. This part of the design is carried out in embroidery stitch, also called "long and short" stitch, because the several stitches of different lengths overlapping one another combine to make one even surface like the plumage of a bird's back or breast. Various shades of one color, and even a variety of different colors, may be blended together in this manner, producing numerous effects of light and shade. The beauty of the work is in this instance heightened by an outline of light chocolate-brown silk. The outer part or frame of the composition (with the exception of the stamens and centres of the flowers, which are worked in embroidery stitch and French-knots respectively) is entirely in laid stitch, the plainest form of which consists in covering the surface to be occupied with long parallel stitches close together, then crossing them at right angels with a second series of silk threads at intervals of an eighth of an inch or more apart from one another. These cross-bands are then fastened down, as gold thread is sewn down, by stitches coming through from the back, passing over, and then brought through to the back again so as to hold the whole securely in position. Nothing can be simpler than this method of embroidery, but at the same time it requires considerable skill and practice to carry out the work with that precision and nicety on which the appearance largely depends.

Corbett as a Bicycler.

James J. Corbett has blossomed out ately as a baseball player and a cycler. In the latter capacity he has even entered himself in some of the big races, and has met with fair success only. He won one event in Asbury Park, but was unable to score at the Manhattan Beach Track, New York, earlier in the season. With constant and careful training there are those about Corbett who say he will give the best of amateurs a taste of speedy riding before the year is out. At present, however, he is being utilized largely to attract crowds to the various Eastern meets.

Philadelphia's Esplanade.

One of the greatest achievements in municipal growth and improvement is undoubtedly to be credited to Philadelphia, to whose Fairmount Park has just been added the famous Esplanade. This work, when undertaken, meant the reclaiming of the eastern and western banks of the Schuylkill river from the Grand Avenue bridge south, to tide level. Al lof this vast stretch was simply a mass of useless swamp land. The work of filling in and of building the sloping terrace, which is surmounted by the Esplanade, has taken several years and was indeed peculiar in its nature. The new driveways, are not yet completed, but it will not be many months before Fairmount Park may claim to be the finest specimen of landscape art in America.

REUNITED TWIN DIAMONDS.

Famous Throughout Europe and India, They Find Each Other in America.

Diamond dealers the world over are speculating as to the identity of a mysterious personage of unlimited means who has recently purchased of a Parisian diamond dealer two of the most famous gems in existence, a pair of diamonds so nearly alike in appearance that they have become known to collectors and dealers as the "Indian Twins." The wealthy individual who has just become possessed of them is lieved to be Mrs. William Astor.

A jeweler would describe the "Twins" as a pair of old Indian diamonds, cut in cushion shape, weighing eight and a half carats each, and of a remarkable pale blue color. Their tint is far deeper than steel blue, and much lighter than the blue of the celebrated "Hope" diamond. The twins are so full of fire that many a pure white diamond is pale by contrast. So absolutely perfect are the gems that the slightest flaw cannot be discovered by the aid of the most powerful magnifying glass Their combined weight is seventeen carats, which is divided exactly between the two. They are alike beautifully proportioned, and the peculiar shade of blue is precisely the same in each. So perfect is their correspondence that experts do not doubt that they were originally one stone, which was divided for some reason, probably because the original shape was such that, while susceptible of division, it could not be cut to advantage as a single stone without great loss in weight

The first record of the "Indian Twins" places them in the possession of Warren Hastings, at the time he was governor of India. Next they came into the possession of a Russian nobleman, who was afterward exiled. As expatriated noblemen have to eat and drink like ordinary mortals, the Russian found himself under the painful necessity of parting with his diamonds.

They parted from each other, and for a long time only one of the gems was known to diamond dealers. The lone twin, after many wanderings, fell at last into the possession of the Duke of Brunswick, whose agents searched the world for the lost twin, but were unable to find any trace of it, although the price offered for its recovery was a tremendous one. Finally, the Duke was gathered to his fathers, and his fine collection of diamonds was sold, the "Indian Twin" coming to America The final chapter of the story is told by Mr. E. August Nereisheimer, of New York city, vice president of the Theosophical Society of America.

"I had the diamond in my possession," said Mr. Nereisheimer, "and my agents were looking for its missing relative, although we had little hope of finding it. This was about twenty years ago. A newspaper at that time recorded the story of the strange finding of the long lost gem. One of the agents who had been for so long engaged in the search for the 'Twin' that it had become a mechanical habit for him to study the jewelry on men and women whom he met, was surprised almost out of his wits one day when seated in a Chicago saloon, he saw a Western man enter in whose shirt bosom blazed the identical 'Twin' the whereabouts of which had been for so long sought.

"He lost no time in negotiating for and securing the diamond, which was forwarded to me. The united 'Twins were valued at $125,000.—New York Herald.

NEVER NEEDED A DOCTOR.

A Remarkable Record for a Woman 105 Years Old and Mother of 18 Children.

Probably one of the most remarkably old women now living in Pennsylvania, says an exchange, is Mrs. Mary Ann Cassiday, of Coalport, Pa., who is now 105 years of age, hale and hearty. She was the mother of eighteen children, thirteen boys and five girls. Of this number nine are living and nine are dead. Mrs. Cassiday was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, in 1792, coming with her husband and family to this country in 1845. From their landing at New York they went to Philadelphia, thence to Broadtop, Johnstown Gallitzin, Houtzdale and finally located in Coalport, where she has lived ever since. She lived in Johnstown forty-two years ago, when the canal was first operated there. Her husband was killed at Broadtop a few years after coming to America by being caught in a coal shaft when returning from work.

Mrs. Cassiday was never known to be sick and never had a physician. She never went to a dance in her life. For the past twenty-four years she has had her second sight, and now does not need to wear glasses. Though she is toothless she can eat heartily three times a day. She weighed 220 pounds when coming to this country, but during the past fifteen years she has dropped to about 200. About a year ago she kissed one of her twin boys goodby as he lay in his coffin, he having died at the age of 65 years.

A Curious Marriage Custom.

In Brittany there is said to prevail a curious marriage custom. On certain fete days the young ladies appear in red petticoats, with white or yellow borders around them. The number of borders denotes the portion the father is willing to give his daughter. Each white band denotes silver—one hundred francs per annum; each yellow band represents gold—a thousand francs a year.

"I pity a man who is not beloved by children."

"Don't lavish too much sympathy on him; he can wear a linen suit all day and look respectable."—Chicago Record.

Rather Remarkable.

A Half Dozen Ideas Will Suggest Themselves to the Reader While Perusing This.

It is seldom that a passenger on board a train gives a thought to the man at the throttle, and rarer still that a man chosen above all others by the people does so. Of all the flowers placed on the Presidential train on its way through Pittsburgh and Alleghany City on its way to Washington, there is one cluster of white carnations destined to be preserved for generations and handed down to children and grandchildren as long as the petals and stems will hold together. That was the handsome bouquet presented by President McKinley to the locomotive engineer in charge of the train we have just spoken about. This graceful act of the President has nothing to do with Locomotive Engineer Frank McCleary, of 240½ Van-Horn street, Jersey City, N. J., engineer on the D. L. and W. R. R. We merely introduce him in this way so that in a measure the reader may know whom we are talking about, and if afflicted in this way, the benefit of this valuable advice can be utilized. Read what he says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy for the kidneys and they are becoming well known among railroad men, especially engineers and firemen, as lame back and kidney ailments are quite common among railroad employes I was troubled with backache and other symptoms of kidney disorder, and hearing everyone who had used Doan's Kidney Pills speak well of them I got a box at a drug store. I had not used them long before I was entirely freed from backache and lameness across the shoulders and in the loins. I take pleasure in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills as a splendid remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

HAZLETON STRIKE SEEMS OVER.

Warrants Have Been Served on Sheriff Martin and His Deputies.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 21.—Unless unforeseen developments occur the anthracite coal strike in this region is ended. Twelve hundred men, half of the full complement, yesterday returned to work at the Honeybrook collieries of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company, as did 300 of the 1,300 at Pardee's Lattimer mines, while the Cranberry, Crystal Ridge and Harwood collieries of the same company and Coxe's collieries in the Drifton district remained at work. The latter were to have settled the question of strike, but at the request of the operators held off until next Thursday.

The only incidents of yesterday were small outbreaks at Lattimer and Eckley, both of which were quickly subdued, and the serving of warrants of arrest upon Sheriff Martin and a number of his deputies.

At Lattimer a band of women attempted to drive out 300 Italians who returned to work. They were armed with clubs and stones and moved on the engine house and company's stores. The raid looked dangerous for a time and was not ended until three companies of the Thirteenth regiment, with fixed bayonets, had pressed back and dispersed the crowds. A number of Butler valley miners who wanted to return to work at Lattimer were driven back by a body of armed strikers, who met them as they came over the mountain, a mile or more from camp.

The disturbance at Eckley was an attempt by strikers to intimidate the men who wanted to work, and it, too, was quieted down by the troops without violence. The break of the strike is practically a victory for the operators, as in only one or two instances have the demands of the men been granted, although several companies have promised to consider the grievances.

The warrants for the arrest of Sheriff Martin and his deputies were issued by Judges Lynch and Bennett at Wilkesbarre. They were served here last night, and no resistance was made. The writs contain 78 names, including the sheriff, and the latter has agreed to deliver all the deputies for a hearing. A company of the Ninth regiment will escort them to Wilkesbarre. General Gobin permitted the service of the writs, because he thinks the civil authorities are now able to handle the situation. The gradual withdrawal of the troops will be considered now.

Mines Resume Work.

STOLE FOR SIXTEEN YEARS.

Trusted Clerk Confesses to Embezzlements For a Long Period.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Joseph Rodgers of 40 Berkley street, Brooklyn, for the past 22 years has been the confidential clerk and chief bookkeeper for the firm of Fairwether & Laidew, leather merchants at 159 East Houston street. He enjoyed the greatest confidence of the firm, and his responsibility was large.

Recently experts were engaged to examine the books of the leather firm, and they discovered irregularities and false entries of collections. Then Rodgers broke down and confessed that he had been robbing his employers for the past 15 or 16 years and that his total stealings amounted to about $15,000.

He pilfered systematically and doctored the accounts to cover the several larcenies, which never exceeded $60 at a time. The money, he admitted, had been squandered in betting at the race tracks and in the city poolrooms. Rodgers, after making the startling confession, was arrested and committed for trial. He is 40 years of age, married and has a family of four children.

A FATAL FIRE.

A New York Framer Perishes Miserably In a Blaze at a Stable.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Adam Schuebert, a framer, perished in a fire which destroyed the Morton boarding stables at 618 and 620 Washington street, this city. Three other men who were working with Schuebert at the time of the outbreak of the flames managed to escape to the street. Fifty horses, which were in the stalls on the lower floor, were rescued with difficulty.

How the fire gained such headway in the big building with so many people about is a mystery which the fire marshal will endeavor to solve. When the alarm was raised, the entire upper part of the premises was ablaze. The damage to the stables is about $10,000, which does not include 29 wagons, which were also burned.

After the fire was extinguished Schuebert's charred remains were discovered in the ruins.

Three weeks ago a mysterious fire caused a loss of $15,000, and Schuebert and his associates were putting in new roof beams in place of those destroyed by the first fire.

Explosion as Emperor William Leaves the Station at Budapest Causes a Panic.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Vienna says:

It is reported that as Emperor William and Emperor Francis Joseph were leaving the station at Budapest a sharp detonation was heard, which was followed by a thick cloud of dust and smoke. The crowd took fright, broke through the military cordon and swarmed around the imperial carriage.

Emperor Francis Joseph was greatly agitated and shouted to the police to keep the people back. Some arrests are reported, but owing to the secrecy maintained by the officials it is difficult to ascertain details of the affair. The Neues Wiener Journal was confiscated this evening for publishing telegrams as to the occurrence.

Uruguay Troubles Seem Over.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—Official advices have been received by P. de Murguendo, consul general from Uruguay, resident in this city, to the effect that articles of peace have been signed by the agents of the late revolutionary party and of the government of Uruguay. It is also announced that the articles have received the approval of the Uruguayan congress and that the rebellion in that country is at an end.

TALKED TO TETUAN.

What Our Minister Said to the Spanish Dignitary.

ONE REPORT CALLS IT AN ULTIMATUM

From Washington Is Wired the News That the American General Did Not Attempt to Dictate to Spain, but Merely Explained Our Position.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from San Sebastian to Le Temps says that in the interview with the Duke of Tetuan, the Spanish minister for foreign affairs, the United States minister to Spain, General Stewart L. Woodford, did not present any claim whatever for indemnity, but confined himself to a moderately phrased statement of the great injuries commerce and industry have suffered in the United States through the prolongation of the Cuban war.

General Woodford is said to have added that Secretary Sherman had desired him to declare to the Spanish government that it was evidently impossible for Spain to end the rebellion in a reasonable time, and, further, that if the war was continued Cuba would be devastated and of no utility to Spain or to the Cubans.

In conclusion the United States minister is reported to have insisted courteously but firmly upon the necessity to terminate the war, declaring that if it was not terminated by the end of October the United States would feel justified in taking measures to secure the independence of Cuba.

The Duke of Tetuan, still according to the dispatch to Le Temps, while protesting against alleged American "pretensions," said he would reply officially to the United States minister when the Spanish court returns to Madrid.

Not an Ultimatum Exactly.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—It can be stated in reference to the Paris publication purporting to give the substance of General Woodford's communication to the Duke of Tetuan that there has been misapprehension on several important points, notably in respect to an ultimatum and the setting of a time limit for the conclusion of the war.

Instead of fixing the end of October next as the date for the termination of the war, that particular date was mentioned as the time when the Spanish court would return to Madrid from San Sebastian and when, consequently, it might be in order to return an answer to the latest representations of the United States government through Mr. Woodford. It is declared at the state department that while Mr. Woodford did, according to the original idea of his instructions, set out the deep interest the United States had in witnessing a cessation of the deplorable conflict in Cuba he did not deliver himself of an ultimatum, but simply made a statement of our deep interest in a settlement of the Cuban war as a reasonable explanation for intervention in any manner at this time.

Mr. Woodford's telegram regarding his conference with the Duke of Tetuan is now before President McKinley.

Spalding Creditors Must Wait.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The University of Illinois has filed a petition in the Globe Savings bank receivership case asking that its claim against President Charles W. Spalding, recently convicted of embezzlement, be made a preferred lien on all the assets of the bank. The Chicago Title and Trust company, as receiver, objected to the filing of the petition, but the objection was overruled, and all the other parties interested in the assets were ordered to answer the petition. The claim of the University of Illinois against the defunct bank amounts to $299,500. The effect of the petition will be to prevent the declaration of any division to depositors for a long time to come, as even should the court's ruling be adverse the case will be appealed.

Leprosy In North Dakota.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Acting Assistant Surgeon F. R. Smyth of the Marine Hospital service has written to the surgeon general informing him of the existence of two cases of leprosy in Walsh county, N. D. The victims are Scandinavians, and the disease is said to be well developed. One of the patients is said to be anxious to return to Sweden. Dr. Smyth says he is uninformed as to what precautions the local authorities have taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

PASSING COMMENT.

If Seth Low sticks to his guns in the Greater New York Mayoralty election and the regular Republicans nominate District Attorney Olcott, there is bound to be an "all cut"-Low combine.

The autumn seems to be with us again. Soon the season of frosts and falling leaves will be here The autumn has many pleasures, however, to offer to old and young and they soon will be here ready for enjoyment.

The theatre hat is far famed in song and story. This year, the management of the Stillman Theatre are trying to rid their patrons of that troublesome belonging by putting a notice on every programme requesting their lady patrons to remove their hats on sitting down. Of course, they don't all do it but there are a number that do and the men are very thankful in consequence.

Some day there will be a tragedy on the outskirts of this city. As the hold ups grow more in numbers there are more men that go about armed. Sometime one of these will come in contact with a would-be highwayman and trouble will follow. It would probably do much to end the frequency of the attempts when one of the highwaymen is shot while trying to holdup some armed man.

A correspondent writes to The Press regarding the great amount of profanity that is heard in many shops and factories. They suggest that as there is an ordinance which prohibits the use of such language on the street, that there should be another protecting the employes in the shops from being forced to listen to the curses and vile language of some of their companions. The correspondent calls attention to the fact that many of these shops where the language is the most shocking, the establishment is owned by a professedly Christian man.

An old swindle has just made its reappearance in this city. The swindler has adopted the role of a "shoe lace merchant" and if he finds anyone who will buy his laces, he immediately plies his nefarious trade. His game is to say he has just arrived in town from Summit, or some other town not too far away, and that on the way he found a pair of gold-rimmed eyeglasses. As he has no use for them he will sell them for anything he can get He generally manages to sell them for about $1 or $1.25, and upon examination they, of course, are found to be pure "brass." Two or three cases are known where he has sold a pair for $1.

There was an amusing little incident that took place on East Front street, Thursday afternoon, in which the bullying driver and the wheelman, very particular about his rights, were the principal characters. The driver was on the right side of the road but he turned across the car track directly in the way of the wheelman who was coming on the right in the other direction. The wheelman kept in the path where he belonged until any further movement meant collision, then he dismounted right in front of the horse. The driver yelled at him to get out of the road, to which he prefixed a strong adjective, but the wheelman did not stir. He demanded that the driver turn out where he belonged. They argued and the driver swore, but neither was inclined to give way. The wheelman began to insist on his rights in the matter and at last the driver backed his horse and drove around the persistant cyclist and continued on his way. The young man on the wheel proudly displayed his L. A. W. badge and told one of the spectators that had the driver tried to bulldoze him any further that organization would have taken up the case. It is too bad that there are not more of the persistant wheelmen who will stand up for their rights.

Visitors From Elizabeth.

Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, held a meeting last evening and enjoyed a visit from the members of the Elizabeth Division. It required four stages to convey the latter to Plainfield and back home. The evening was passed in a social manner and a feature was an improvised programme consisting of songs, recitation and speeches, by members of the home Division and the Elizabeth Division, At a late hour refreshments were served and it was nearly 12 o'clock when the visitors departed for home.

ONE DISEASE AND ONE REMEDY

"The art of painting," said Millais, "consists in selecting the right colors and putting them in the right place." —"The way to win a battle," said Napoleon, "is to mass your troops at the critical moment against the weakest spot in the enemy's line."—"The way to cure many ailments," said the great Dr. Abercrombie, "is to purify the poisoned spring in which they arise, generally the torpid and inflamed digestive system."

Thus wisdom and experience simplify and condense. Thus the Shakers of Mount Lebanon reasoned when they sought, and finally found, a remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia Where one person has somthing else, they argued, a thousand have this. To cure this alone will almost rid the world of sickness. Why should we vex ourselves with confusing definitions? A good digestion is life and health; a bad one disease and death. Hence, from the healing and stimulating mountain herbs, they extracted the principles which make the Shaker Digestive Cordial the rarest and most effective of medicines for one disease, and one only—indigestion and dyspepsia.

Do you suffer from any of these miserable feelings?—depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, bad taste in the mouth, wind in the bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness and alarm, worry and weariness, costiveness or irregularity of the bowels, nausea, palpitation, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite and sleep, dry skin, etc —?

Don't indulge in fifty foolish fancies. You have indigestion and dyspepsia and nothing else. Set the disordered stomach right with the one medicine which will surely do it, Shaker Digestive Cordial, and these symptoms will vanish with their cause. A good effect will follow the first doses. Even chronic cases soon yield

Test the cordial, at practically no cost, by taking a ten-cent trial bottle. For sale by nearly all druggists.

A regular slave mart still exists in many country districts of Finland. Once a year such paupers, lunatics, and aged people of each parish as cannot support themselves are put up at public auction and consigned to those families or farmers who will board them at the lowest prices offered by the parish authorities.

A Sepoy regiment will out-walk any European regiment, and do it on food which their competitors would pronounce wholly insufficient to sustain vigorous life. They invariably take off their boots and sling them across their shoulders while on the march.

An English paper, quoted by "The Living Church" says that there is in Paisley, Scotland, a Baptist cathedral with a surpliced choir of both sexes. In a Glasgow Congregational church a liturgy is used, with choral responses, including the Ten Commandments and the chanted psalms; the lessons are read from a lectern; daily services are held, and over the altar, or communion table, stands a large gilt cross.

The Witness' Soliloquy.

"I stepped in the court room at Napa one day," said Attorney Garret McEnerney, "while a murder trial was in progress. A prominent citizen named Wilson had been shot down in his field, and the only witness, a half-witted relative of the deceased, was on the witness stand for the prosecution.

"'What did you do when he fell?' asked the prosecuting attorney.

"'I walked up to where he was lying.'

"Then what did you?"

"The witness paused, reflected a moment with concentrated brows, to concentrate his scattered faculties on the matter, and then replied very solemnly:

"'I said: "There he is. (Pause.) School trustee. (Pause.) Notary public. (Pause.) Justice of the peace. (Pause.) Delegator. (Pause.) All gone to hades in one pop."'"—San Francisco Post.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ALL-AROUND CHAMPION.

The Games Will be Held on Friday Afternoon, October 1st, and Hot Contests Will be Made by the Participants.

Athletics have again temporarily taken possession of most of the spare time of the boys at the Plainfield High School. Yesterday afternoon the members gathered together for the first time since the summer vacation and made plans for the fall season.

The regular routine of duties at the High School are now in full sway, so the annual meeting of the athletic association was called for yesterday afternoon. The retiring president, Geo. Proctor Smith, was present, and presided over the meeting. The most important part of the meeting was the election of officers, who hold office for the year.

The election resulted as follows: President, Carroll L. Runyon; first vice-president and manager of general athletics, Lindley M. Hillman; second vice-president and manager of the baseball team, Arthur Lederer; third vice-president and manager of the football team, Albert Finch; fourth vice-president and manager of the hockey team, Henry W. Brower; secretary, Elwood Davis; treasurer, Wm. A. DeLong, Jr. Harry Cuming was elected captain of the bicycle squad.

It has been the custom of the association to hold a closed meet in the fall at which the championship of the school shall be decided. All the events are handicapped and everybody is given a chance to show what they can do. The members were unanimously in favor of continuing the practice and it was decided to hold a meet during the fall.

A representative of The Daily Press was present and offered the Daily Press medal to the association for the all-round championship to be decided at the field day. The Daily Press medal has been offered for the last three years and has been a great stimulus to the young athletes. The association accepted the invitation and extended a vote of thanks to The Daily Press.

Arrangements were then made for the games. It was decided to hold the games on the afternoon of Friday, October 1st, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. The following events were selected; 100 yards dash, 220 yards dash, 440 yards run, putting the shot, throwing the hammer, throwing the discus, running high jump, running broad jump, three legged race, one mile bicycle race and one-third mile walk. The games will be held at the Crescent Oval. There was considerable discussion as to whether the polé vault should be included in the list of events, but it was decided that it should be left out, as it was not an event in which most of the students could compete.

The arrangements of the field day were left in the hands of a committee composed of William A. DeLong, Jr., chairman; Henry W. Brower and Lindley M. Hillman. The handicappers chosen were: Thomas A. Cuming, George Proctor Smith and Charles Burdette Morse.

A decided change was made regarding the admission of visitors. A limited number of complimentary tickets will be issued by the committee and distributed among the members of the association to be given by them to their family and friends. The rest of the spectators will be charged 25 cents each at the gate. The money will be used to cover the expenses of the meet.

The games are open only to students at the Plainfield High School. Entries will close with William A. DeLong, Jr., on Tuesday, September 28th, at 2 p. m.

Vestibules for Trolley Cars.

The vestibules for the Plainfield street cars are now being made at Spicer & Hubbard's mill. It is hoped to have them completed before real cold weather sets in. The improvement will be a great benefit to the motormen who heretofore have been obliged to withstand the cold blasts of winter unprotected.

Inspecting Roads.

State Commissioner of Roads Budd was in Middlesex county yesterday inspecting some of the roads of that county. In company with the members of the road committee of the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders he inspected several roads in the vicinity of New Brunswick, and was well pleased with them.

City Election December 7th.

The city election will be held on Tuesday, December 7th. At that time seven new councilmen will be elected. Mayor Fisk will have another year to serve, this being his second year in office.

BABY CRIED FOR AN APPLE.

Neighbor Thought It Was Being Abused and a Policeman Was Summoned.

A dear little innocent baby nearly caused a pitched battle between several residents of West Third street, yesterday. Patrolman Flanagan had to take a hand, trot the baby around and order the excited ones to their homes. Then came the customary complaints and arrests.

The case came before City Judge DeMeza for trial this morning. Mrs. Anna Robinson, colored, was the prisoner. Her tongue wagged at both ends, and so did that of the complainant, Mrs. Peter McDonough, who lives next door.

The cause of all the trouble was a little white baby that was brought by its nurse to Mrs. Robinson's house on West Third street. The baby wanted an apple and Mrs. Robinson thought it might give the child colic and therefore took it away. The baby screamed and cried until Mrs. McDonough was assured that it was receiving harsh treatment and protested. A bombardment of phrases was begun and only quelled when Patrolman Flanagan arrived at the request of Mrs. McDonough.

After the officer had decided that there was nothing the matter with the baby, he departed, telling the arguers to go home. The quarrel was continued later, however, and names were called. Mrs. McDonough threw a dish of dirty water on her neighbor and all was excitement.

After hearing the contradictory testimony, the Judge reserved his decison for two weeks from Saturday morning and will look into the matter closely.

THESE WOMEN WANT TO VOTE.

An Address Sent Out by the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs, in which many Plainfield women are active, is actively at work for the proposed amendments to be voted on next Tuesday. At a meeting in Englewood yesterday an appeal to the separate women's clubs was drafted, to be sent out. Referring to the female suffrage amendment the address says:

"The amendment restoring to women the right to vote for school trustees is of vital importance to the welfare of our children. It is warmly indorsed by our highest school authorities, as well as by a great number of our best and most prominent citizens. The delegates present at the Englewood meeting of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs voted in its favor without a dissenting voice. We ask you, in the name of the little children, in the name of our sons and daughters, to bestir yourselves and to prevent this great evil and disgrace—the defeat of those amendments—from coming upon us."

JUSTICE NASH OPPOSED.

Says That He Does Not Favor the Constitutional Amendments.

It was rumored that the Republican county committee was to issue a call regarding the new amendments to the State Constitution, but there has been no meeting so far. The local workers still are on the move. In Elizabeth, however, great apathy is shown by the Republican politicians and others as well.

There is a movement against the amendments in this city, and although it has taken no organized form, there are several who are working against it on the quiet. Justice Nash, one of the well known Second ward Republicans, has expressed himself as being against all the amendments.

AT THE REQUIRED HEIGHT.

Trinity Reformed Church Successfully Elevated Five and a Half Feet.

Henry & Johns, the building movers, succeeded this morning in raising the edifice of Trinity Reformed church to the required elevation of five and a half feet above its old foundation. Their work has been done in such a manner as to give ample evidence of their ability in this line. There are forty-five jack screws under the structure, which is 61x92 feet. The building was not damaged in the least. Seaman Williams & Co. will now put on an extra force of bricklayers in order to get the building on its permanent foundation as soon as possible.

Laying Dust With Oil.

The roadbed of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the vicinity of New Brunswick was treated to a coating of oil yesterday in accordance with the new method recently adopted by that company to lay the dust along its line. It is expected that one treatment will last for at least four months. The cost of oiling the tracks in this manner is understood to be about thirty dollars a mile.

UNDER A FLORAL ARCH.

MARRIAGE OF MISS LAURA VAN NEST TO WILLIAM S. SMITH, JR.

Ceremony Performed at the Home of the Bride's Parents, Rev. J. O. McKelvey Officiating—Guests Who Witnessed Union.

Last evening at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Van Nest, of Woodland avenue, took place the marriage of their daughter, Miss Laura Van Nest, and William C. Smith, Jr., son of former Councilman William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue. These two popular young people were united in marriage by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, in the presence of the relatives and near friends of the contracting parties.

The parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was artistically decorated with flowers, while a beautiful arch of flowers was arranged in one part of the room where the interested parties and officiating clergyman stood.

The bride was gowned in blue cloth trimmed with white satin and chiffon, and in her hand was a beautiful bouquet of white roses. The bridemaid, Miss Ella VanNest, sister of the bride, wore a gown of green cloth trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The flower girls, Alice Sharkey and Mary Smith, were prettily gowned in white, and both carried baskets of flowers. The best man was Arthur Smith, brother of the groom.

As the bridal party entered the parlor the Mendelssohn wedding march was rendered by Miss Jennie Smith, sister of the groom. Congratulations were showered on the happy couple after the ceremony which was followed by a reception and a wedding supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were the recipients of many useful and costly presents as tokens of esteem and high regard. They have taken up their residence on Fairview avenue in a house owned by Mr. Smith and which is already furnished.

Those who were present at the festive occasion included William C. Smith, Sr., and family, Gilbert H. VanNest and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Sharkey, Mr. and Mrs. S. Sharkey, Mr. and Mrs. J. NOTED SPEAKERS TO BE THERE.

Arrangements for State Endeavor Convention Are Being Perfected.

The final meeting of the programme committee of the Eleventh State C. E. convention, to be held at Paterson, October 6th to 8th, was held last week. Among the prominent speakers, from outside of the State, will be the following: Rev. E. E. Clark, D. D., Boston; Rev. Maltbie D. Babcock, D. D., Baltimore; Rev. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., Philadelphia; Rev. W. J Hawsha. D. D., New York; Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., Philadelphia, and Rev. W. G. Puddefoot, South Framingham, Mass.

The entertainment of the delegates will be almost wholly in private families. It is necessary that the entertainment committee, Mrs. Louis Fox, 665 East Twenty-third street, chairman, should be notified as soon as possible.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

Thirty of Miss Mowinkle's Friends Paid Her an Unexpected Call.

Miss May Mowinkle was given a pleasant surprise party by about thirty of her young friends at her home, 312 East Third street, last evening.

The conspirators assembled at the residence of Mrs. Ira Riker, 132 Central avenue, and then proceeded to the home of Miss Mowinkle, who was completely surprised. She recovered her faculties after a few minutes, however, and proved a charming hostess. The evening was passed in playing games of various sorts and dancing, and at a late hour refreshments, consisting of cake, lemonade, cocoa and fruit, were served. Miss Mowinkle received a number of beautiful remembrances of the anniversary from her guests.

THE HOBO HISTORIAN.

WARD M'ALLISTER HAMILTON IS THE AUTHOR OF "TRAMPDOM."

History of the Wanderings of an Up-to-Date Hobo Who Used His Spare Time to Record Important Points of Tramp Life.

The Plainfield authorities did not appreciate the fact, yesterday, that they were entertaining an anthor at the city jail. If they did, perhaps, he might have had a chance to spread his manuscripts before their wondering eyes. The police did not appreciate the versatile achievements of Ward MacAllister Hamilton. They thought that if he was a "hobo" it was not possible for him to delve in the literary line.

When Ward MacAllister Hamilton was arrested Monday night in the icehouse of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, he was taken to the station house, and before he was consigned to his cell, he was ordered to empty his pockets. He turned out great packages of manilla paper and several dozen stubs of pencils. When Sergeant Kiely started to look over them, the prisoner became angry, indeed, and demanded that his personal property be left alone.

Yesterday afternoon Hamilton was taken to Elizabeth in the custody of Chief Grant to serve his sentence of sixty days in the county jail. Hamilton had his papers stowed in every pocket and he missed one train for the reason that he could not carry it all at first and had to find new hiding places.

When Warden Blore searched the prisoner before turning him over to the bath, he found a large package tied to the hobo's leg.

"What's that?" demanded the warden.

"Only some paper," said the prisoner, and he slowly removed it. The package proved to be a thick roll of manilla paper of the same kind that filled his pockets. These sheets were covered, however, with fine writing.

Several sheets of paper contained an essay entitled "Why I'm a tramp." In them, the writer plainly stated what his reasons were for continuing to remain in the army of "hoboes."

There were nearly a hundred sheets covered with fine writing and they composed Hamilton's masterpiece, "Trampdom." It was a history of the wanderings of this up-to-date hobo and included a number of chapters on the mode of life of tramps, system of signaling and signs for gate posts and the like. The story was well told and made very interesting reading. Sheriff Kirk was in the office at the time and he joined Warden Blore, Chief Grant and several reporters in looking over the pages of the wonderful composition. It all showed Hamilton to be a well educated man after all.

As he was being searched, Hamilton said in reply to a question of one of the reporters, that he was going to be an author when he was free once more and that some day he would be a famous one.

Hamilton is a colored man, five feet seven and a half inches in height, with an intelligent face. He wrote in his treatise on his reasons for being a tramp that he loved the life and would not give it up.

FAVORS WOMAN'S VOTE.

School Superintendent Maxson Wants to See Women Recognized.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall received the following letter from H. M. Maxson, the superintendent of the city schools, in lieu of his presence in person at the meeting held Monday night at Mr. Wells' house on Washington avenue:

Mrs. Hall, Dear Madam:—If I am not present this evening, it is not because I do not sympathize with the cause, but for the reason that I cannot be in two places at the same time.

I shall vote for the school amendment and urge my friends to do so, as occasion offers. I only wish that its passage would confer the power of voting for school officers upon the women in the cities of the State, as well, for I consider the mothers to be interested and watchful for the welfare of their children above all other citizens.

If I am not there at 8:15 please accept my regrets that I am detained elsewhere.

Sincerely yours,
H. M. Maxson.

TO WED DESPITE THE LAW.

Nuptial Event Arranged for Westfield Will Take Place in Brooklyn.

Miss Eva Kelley, daughter of Frank P. Kelley, of Westfield, will be married to Charles D. Kells, at the latter's home in Brooklyn, today.

The marriage was to have taken place at the bride's home in Westfield, and invitations were sent out and all arrangements were made in accordance with that plan.

A few days ago Rev. William H. Ruth, of the Westfield Methodist church, who was to perform the ceremony, looked up the new marriage law, and found to his consternation that as one of the parties to the marriage lived out of the State, the license must be served five days in advance of the ceremony.

Mr. Kells, on being informed of this fact by the pastor, made a trip to Elizabeth and interviewed County Clerk Howard to learn weather the marriage could not be performed on the day set. He was told that there was no way in which the five days rule could be evaded, and rather than postpone the marriage, the couple decided to be married in Brooklyn.

APPRENTICES TALKED TO.

Young Artisans Impressed With Educational Ideas at the Y. M. C. A.

The reception given to the apprentices of this city at the Y. M. C. A. last night, was largely attended. The guests met in the small hall on the second floor of the building and were addressed by George E. Schull, Jr., A. Clemens and Stephen Cahoone, on "The Educational Needs of Plainfield and how the Y. M. C. A. will try to meet them this winter."

After the addresses, which were listened to with much interest, the audience adjourned to the large auditorium, down stairs, where a musical and literary entertainment was given. Fred VanEps gave two banjo solos, accompanied by Prof. W. E. MacClymont, on the piano. Both numbers were heartily encored. Frank O. Bristol gave a number of humorous recitations amusing the audience exceedingly. After the musical and literary programme, refreshments were served, and a social hour followed.

I. W. Travell also delivered an address to the apprentices. The ladies in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. J. W. Gavett, Mrs. Roger F. Murray and Mrs. S. R. Struthers.

ALL DEALERS ASKED TO JOIN.

Merchants' Association Make Vigorous Efforts for New Members.

Today there is mailed to every merchant in this city an application blank for the Plainfield Merchants' Association. The present members of that association are now planning for an active campaign. They claim that the Board of Trade did not accomplish its purpose, but that a Merchants' Association would be of great benefit to all the local merchants and their customers. There are many matters in which the merchants could take united action and push their individual business as much as ever.

The application blanks are being sent to all the merchants who have not already joined, and it is expected that almost all will be united in the ranks of the association.

COMMANDER SAND'S SUCCESSOR.

Will Probably be Samuel G. Hayter, of Bloomfield, Who is Now Acting.

By the death of Immanuel Sands, department commander of the Grand Army of New Jersey, Senior Vice-Department Commander Samuel G. Hayter, of Bloomfield, is now acting department commander, and in all probability the position will be made permanent at the next meeting of the council of administration, to be held next month.

Mr. Hayter is well known in Grand Army circles, and is a past commander of William S. Pierson Post, G. A. R., of Bloomfield. He is now one of the letter carriers in Bloomfield.

Very Penitent This Morning.

John L. Sullivan, no relation, however, of the famous John L., was arrested yesterday afternoon on Madison avenue for being dead drunk. Patrolman McCue locked him up until he recovered from the effects of his spree. This morning Sullivan was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza and was very penitent. His previous good conduct saved him and the Judge suspended sentence.

PAST MASTERS WORKED.

MASTER MASON DEGREE CONFERRED IN AN IMPRESSIVE MANNER.

Jerusalem Lodge Entertained Representatives From Sister Societies in Many Sections — Sociability After Business.

An unusually interesting communication was held last evening by Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M. The spacious hall was crowded by the members and their visitors, who had been attracted on this occasion to witness the impressive ceremonies of the Master Mason Degree, conferred by the Past Masters of this lodge by special invitation from Worshipful Master Stephen Beeching.

The Lodges represented were: Anchor Lodge, No. 149, of Plainfield; Orient Lodge, No. 289, of Philadelphia; Atlas Lodge, No. 125, of Westfield; Eastern Star Lodge, No. 105, of Bound Brook; Lafayette Lodge, of Boston, Mass.; Hiram Lodge, of Washington, D. C.; Star of Hope Lodge, of Brooklyn; Delaware Lodge, No. 52, of Phillipsburg; Northampton Lodge, No. 234, of Virginia; Century Lodge, No. 100, of South Orange; Anthem Lodge, No. 769, of Brooklyn; Burlington Lodge, No. 32, of Burlington; Millbury Lodge, of Millbury, Conn.; and Union and Crown Lodge, No. 103, of Glasgow, Scotland.

The work was rendered in an excellent manner, which proved that the old timers have not yet forgotten how to do masonic work. The musical part of the ceremonies, rendered by W. H. McClymont and Elmer Runyon, of Anchor, No. 149, were impressive and sublime. At the close of the ceremonies a collation was served in the banquet hall by the stewards of the lodge, who exhibited great ability and activity in the capacity of caterers by serving so large an assembly in so short a time with the numerous courses. They certainly deserve credit. After satisfying the inner man and the customary after dinner cigar was lighted, witty remarks and humorous stories were indulged in, and a pleasant hour spent generally.

GUARDING AGAINST WRECKERS.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company's New Plan of Policing Its Tracks.

The tramp problem has become a serious one for the Pennsylvania Railroad. The company fears that the hoboes, emboldened by their success in holding up wayfayers, will turn their hand to train wrecking. Steps have been taken to forestall any such action, and the company is arranging for a special patrol system to thoroughly police its lines, especially at night.

A checking system will be employed, the trackwalkers being used as the patrols. Each trackwalker will be supplied with a bundle of checks. He will be given a district to police touching at each end of the district of another patrol. The beats are so arranged that he will, on arriving at the end of his beat, encounter the patrolman on his next beat. They will exchange checks, each check being indorsed with the time of the meeting and any other information of importance. These checks are then to be carried to the signal tower at the opposite end of the beat. These checks, after being filed, are at once wired into the Jersey City office. In this manner the main office at Jersey City is in constant connection with every part of the line. Any attempt directed at the safety of passengers or freight is certain of discovery, and on its discovery immediate steps can be taken to capture and punish those guilty of it.

Thanked For His Services.

Yours in F. C. and L.,
S. G. Hayter,
Senior Vice Commander.

WALL STREET PANIC

Big Slump In the Railroad Stocks on 'Change In New York.

ESTIMATED DROP OF $20,000,000.

The Bears Profited by Cuban War News and the Announcement of Mr. McKenna's Opinion on the Discriminating Clause In the Tariff.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Stocks dropped in Wall street yesterday in a way that has not been equaled for months.

For a time it looked as though the bottom had fallen out of the market and that a panic would follow.

As it was, within a few hours—minutes they seemed to those interested—fully $20,000,000 was taken from the value of the stocks as they had appeared in the quotations at the opening of the trading in the Exchange.

That many firms were not forced to ruin is deemed remarkable. As it is, however, it is certain that hundreds and perhaps thousands of small speculators have lost their all.

These men have been investing their money in the belief that the continued bull influence would be kept up. As soon as they profited by one rise in the market they reinvested their original capital and their winnings in new ways.

They were in no position to withstand a falling market, and when it came ruin followed for them.

And the chances are that the end is not yet and that another slump will follow.

Of the causes for the slump, many are given. At least half a dozen facts contributed to the sudden action.

Of these perhaps the most influential was the steady but quiet realizing by big bull operators, which has been going on for days. These men bought stocks before the present rise began. They took advantage of every circumstance to force the price up.

Having sent the price to a point far above where it had been for months they felt that they had gone as far as was safe. Then they began selling out.

This change was not noticed on the market, for so soon as one of the big operators began selling his holdings were at once bought by some of the smaller fry, whose belief in a continued bull market was not hampered by definite knowledge.

In this way the stocks, though kept at top notch prices, passed from the hands of strong operators who could support them if necessary into the possession of men who had no resources and must let go at the first bear raid.

And the bears were waiting for just such an opportunity as came yesterday.

In the first place, the rumors of trouble and possible war with Spain aided them. This caused a feeling of uncertainty in foreign countries, and instead of being buyers these markets showed a weakness, if they were not actively unloading.

Coupled with this came Attorney General McKenna's decision in regard to the 10 per cent discrimination clause in the Dingley tariff law.

This clause was aimed to give United States railroads an advantage over those of Canada.

His declaration against it was a blow to American securities, for it left the United States roads open to business rivalry with Canadian lines.

These two points would have caused a slump anyway, but when taken with a tightness of money which is wanted for other business and a natural reaction due to continued high prices it resulted in a huge slump.

As a consequence, stock after stock went down, and for a time the wildest excitement prevailed on the Exchange.

Men who knew nothing of the cause of the drop in prices and only feared that their profits would be swept away hastened to sell all their holdings and in this very act added to the general demoralization.

Western railroads were the first affected, but with them went the industrials, which dropped in sympathy. Then came nearly every stock on the list.

New York Central showed the biggest tumble. It went off 2¾ per cent, to 111.

The decline was not only forced by short selling, but by liquidation of long accounts.

Canada Southern, Big Four, D. and H., Northwest and Omaha were among Vanderbilt stocks that got the tumbling ginger into them.

The full effect of a tight money market has been severely felt by the street. Much of the selling for long account was done by traders whose loans had been called by the banks for the purpose of making new loans at higher rates.

Instead of obtaining money at from 1 to 1½ per cent, as in the early stage of the buil movement, the brokers were compelled to pay 4 per cent.

This is because the heavy demand from the interior for money for crop moving has drained the big banks of loanable funds.

Situation In Athens Serious.

ATHENS, Sept. 22.—The political situation arising out of the conditions of the peace convention is serious. M. Delyannis, former premier and leader of the dominant party numerically in the boule, has asserted that if the proposed scheme of foreign control should prove to imply an interference with the sovereign rights of the state he would not hesitate to advise the chamber to reject the treaty. The tone of the press continues indignant. The Asty and The Akropolis declare it "the most iniquitous document of modern times." Many are preparing to demonstrate against the treaty.

Walters Recovers From His Wound.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Timothy Walters, colored, who is said to have been shot in the holdup of a saloon keeper at Haverstraw, N. Y., three weeks ago, was discharged from Bellevue hospital here as cured. A detective from Haverstraw took Walters back to that place for trial for participating in the bold robbery, during the perpetration of which the saloon keeper and another man were shot.

FOR THE INSURRECTIONS.

Statement From the Spanish Government About Munitions Sent to Cuba.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—An official statement has been issued showing the number of men and the quantities of munitions of war sent to Cuba and the Philippine islands during the insurrections now in progress in those quarters.

Between November, 1895, and May, 1897, the Spanish government sent to Cuba 181,738 soldiers, 6,261 officers, of whom 40 were generals; 212,542 guns, 320,406 kilogrammes of powder, 92,088,670 cartridges, 16,712 swords, 91 cannons, 12 mitrailleuses and 29,500 shells.

Since the outbreak of the present rebellion in the Philippines the government has sent 27,760 soldiers, 881 officers, of whom 9 were generals; 43,100 guns, 24 cannons, 24,910 kilogrammes of powder, 21,726,585 cartridges and 30,604 shells.

According to telegrams from Orense, capital of the province of the same name, on the river Minho, the palace of the Marquis of Leis has been destroyed by a dynamite bomb.

The outrage was perpetrated during the absence of the family, and no one was injured.

The government has decided to send a memorandum to the pope on the subject of the excommunication by the bishop of Majorca of Senor Reverter, the Spanish minister of finance, who has incurred the bishop's displeasure by taking possession, it is alleged, of the treasury of a church in his diocese.

The memorandum will be presented personally to his holiness through Mgr. Merry del Val.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Percival Stewart Brown, of Mercer avenue, has returned after an outing at Delaware Water Gap.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

ON SERIOUS CHARGES

Suit to Remove Two Trustees of Millionaire Rogers' Estate.

EMBEZZLING LAID AT THEIR DOOR.

One of the Trustees a Son of the Deceased, the Complainants His Two Sisters, and Nearly $213,500 Is the Alleged Deficit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A summons and complaint filed in the county clerk's office here asks for the removal of two of the three trustees of the estate of Jason Rogers, the millionaire locomotive builder at Paterson, N. J., who died at Morrisania, N. Y., in August, 1868, on the ground of misappropriation and embezzlement. These charges are made at the instance of Mrs. Mary J. Westerfield and her sister, Flora E. Rogers, daughters of Rogers and heirs to the estate. The trustees accused are Thomas Rogers, brother of the complainants and also one of the heirs, and William Cauldwell. The third trustee, who is said to be blameless in the wrongdoing, is William Shillaber, Jr. The latter, it is stated, is willing to resign his trusteeship.

Trustees Rogers and Cauldwell, the papers state, in September, 1893, presented their accounts to the surrogate of Westchester county, N. Y., in which they claimed to have a balance on hand of the principal trust fund of $483,588.76 and on account of the special estates in trust for Mary J. Westerfield $128,953.48 and for Flora E. Rogers $145,836.62.

The complaint next says:

"Since the entry of the last decree the plaintiffs have learned that at the time decree was entered the defendants, William Cauldwell and Thomas Rogers, did not, in fact, have the same or anything like the amount they claimed to have in their possession; but, on the contrary, a very considerable part of the assets and amounts wherewith they were charged as such trustees had been withdrawn and misappropriated by them in and prior to January, 1896, and that there was then a deficit of $213,480.95, which sum the said William Cauldwell and Thomas Rogers have appropriated and applied to their own use in violation of their duties as trustees and of their duty to plaintiffs."

It is said that as a result of the misappropriation of the funds of the trust estate the latter has been seriously impoverished and wasted and that the plaintiffs are not in receipt of sufficient amounts for their proper support and maintenance as designed by the testator.

In conclusion, the two sisters say that the trustees are still in possession of all the property of the estate which their brother Thomas and Cauldwell have not misappropriated and embezzled and ask that they be removed until suitable trustees and a receiver are appointed to look after the estate. In addition the sisters ask that proceedings be taken to recover the amounts of the deficits and that Thomas Rogers be debarred from any further interest or claim in the estate until the amount of the deficit is paid back.

When Jason Rogers died, he, before creating the trust fund for the benefit of his son Thomas and two daughters, provided liberally for them with absolute bequests, and in the case of Thomas he was left a large number of bonds and mortgages, 100 shares in the Rogers Locomotive works at Paterson, N. J., and stock in the Paterson and Hudson River railroad and the Paterson and Ramapo railroad.

Among the property left by Jason Rogers which figured in his large estate was extensive real estate in the upper part of this city, principally in the Harlem and Annexed district.

A Very Guileless Farmer.

BROCKTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—It has been learned that Martin Wood, a Bridgewater farmer, 70 years of age, was swindled out of $5,000 Monday. A would be land purchaser called at his home and asked to be shown over a piece of property near by. They met a tramp on the road, who claimed to have recently fallen into a large inheritance, and eventually a game of three card monte was proposed. The farmer won $5,000, being staked by the man with him, who had first "won" a like amount from the wanderer. The farmer was induced to put up $5,000 as a guarantee of good faith. He drew it from the National bank at Middleboro. It was put into a tin box with the other money and given to him. He drove home. The land prospector, who was to join him after doing a little business in Middleboro, never came back. Mr. Wood found that the box contained three stones and a warning to keep the matter quiet. No trace of the swindlers has as yet been secured.

Not a Knife, but Pneumonia.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Crescenzo Ferogamo was put on trial in the superior court, charged with manslaughter in killing his cousin, Filipo Greci, in a house in Barbers alley, Aug. 15. Ferogamo is defended by Lawyer Meehon, who outlined two points of defense, the first of which is that Ferogamo stabbed Greci in self defense, and the second is that Greci died of pneumonia and not of the wound caused by the knife.

New Professors at New York College.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The trustees of the College of the City of New York announce the appointments of Dr. Carleton L. Brouson, formerly of the American School of Classics at Athens and later instructor of Latin at Yale, as professor of Greek at a salary of $2,200, and Joseph Allen, formerly instructor of mathematics at Cornell, at a salary of $1,400.

Earthquakes In Italy.

ROME, Sept. 22.—Two slight earthquake shocks were felt here late yesterday afternoon. The subterraneous disturbance was also felt at Rimini, Fermor, Recanati, Bologna, Sinigaglia, Fabriano, Cagli, Florence and Ancona. At most places the people were panic stricken, and at Ancona a few old houses fell.

Suicide of Aged Warrior.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22.—William Howard, aged 68 years, a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, committed suicide at his residence, 881 Ramsey street, by firing a bullet into his right temple. Mental derangement is given as the cause. A widow, three sons and three daughters survive him.

WAS A COOL OLD LADY

Aroused by a Burglar She Engages In Conversation.

RECALLS THE MEMORY OF HIS MOTHER

The Housebreaker Weakens When His Dead Parent Is Spoken of and Walks Out of the House Without Purloining a Single Thing.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Tears were in a burglar's eyes as he crawled out of a window of Mrs. Pardon Hazeltine's house. A sweet, brave, white haired woman, Mrs. Hazeltine, had reminded him that he had a mother and that if she were alive she would be old and feeble and helpless, like the woman he had come to rob.

The burglar hung his head.

"Maybe she's looking down at you now," said Mrs. Hazeltine.

The burglar's lips began to tremble.

"If she could speak to you, she would also beg you to go away and not harm or rob a poor old woman," continued Mrs. Hazeltine.

The burglar broke down.

Mrs. Hazeltine lives at 467 Columbus avenue. She was awakened by a slight noise and beheld a strange man standing in the door of the bedroom. She was not frightened.

"How did you get in, and what do you want?" she asked in a clear voice.

"In the door," she says he answered.

"Tell the truth," said the motherly old woman, with old fashioned firmness. "You know you didn't. Now, didn't you break in by the window?"

"Yes."

"Sit down," said the old woman softly.

The burglar sat down awkwardly.

"Aren't you ashamed to rob an old woman like me?" asked Mrs. Hazeltine.

"How did I know you were old?" answered the burglar.

"Did you ever have a mother?" asked Mrs. Hazeltine gently.

The burglar made no answer.

"She would be about my age, and her hair would be as white as mine," continued Mrs. Hazeltine, "wouldn't she?"

"Yes."

"Is she alive or dead?" asked Mrs. Hazeltine in her low, frail voice.

The burglar turned white. "Dead," he answered, "thank God."

After the burglar's eyes filled with tears Mrs. Hazeltine asked him:

"Won't you show me the way you got in?"

"Yes," he answered, and they descended the stairway together.

One of the windows in the parlor was open.

"There," he said.

"Won't you please go out the same way you entered, for your mother's sake?" asked Mrs. Hazeltine appealingly.

"Yes," he answered brokenly, "for your sake and for my dead mother's sake I will obey you."

The burglar climbed out of the window and vanished in the night.

Mrs. Hazeltine said, after describing how she had pleaded with the burglar:

"I had some valuable papers in the house. I thought he might shoot me. But as soon as I saw his face I was not afraid. He did not look like a cruel man.

"He was young, with a dark complexion and smooth, well featured face. He wore a dark suit, four in hand tie and fedora hat. I hope he will be a better man in the future. I know those tears did him good."

Lobster Factories Closed Down.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 22.—There is indignation in St. Georges bay over the action of the British warships in closing down the lobster factories of residents and confiscating the products. On Saturday the cruiser Pelican landed a body of men, who surrounded the factories, ejected the inmates and took on board all the packages of prepared lobsters that were ready for shipment. The residents are much incensed at this proceeding, a repetition of which is threatened all along the French shore. The excuse given by the marines is that the factories interfere with those of French fishermen. The people threaten to resist the marines, and serious consequences are feared before many days elapse. The colonial government is powerless to interfere, as the warships have supreme authority in the matter.

Peace Restored In Hazleton.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 22.—Peace has been restored in the anthracite region, and nearly every colliery therein is working again. Included in these were the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre company's Audenreid mines, employing 2,500 men. The strike was practically inaugurated by them, and their return to work caused a stampede of the other strikers. Yesterday, however, the grievance committee of the Audenreid men waited upon Superintendent Lawall and complained that they are receiving less than the men at any other colliery in the region. He told them to submit a list of names and figures to him and he would give it every consideration.

A Weighman Causes a Strike.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 22.—The Long Run and Dillonvale miners are out on a strike because the company objects to a check weighman whom the Miners' union elected for Dillonvale. At Kelly's Coal works the company has threatened eviction to the Huns whom they brought in to take the strikers' places, but who refuse to go to work. The Huns promise to leave if the strikers pay their fares, and the Miners' union is soliciting funds to send them elsewhere.

Runaways Bound For the Klondike.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Murdock McKenzie, 18 years old, and Harvey Burnett, 17, both of Worcester, were arrested here and are being held by the police until something is heard from their parents, from whom it is supposed they have run away. When they were arrested, they were trying to find a steamer bound for the Klondike, with the intention of shipping on it. Each carried a heavy valise, in which was a supply of clothing and supplies.

Agree on a Scale.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Sept. 22.—The scale agreed upon by the joint conference of miners and operators has been finally adopted by all except the northern Illinois operators.

CHECK BETTER THAN A WHIPLASH.

It is a common understanding that next to a man losing his collar button under a bed there is nothing more aggravating than a balky horse. But let that suspicion be diverted otherwise now. Truthfully newspapers record the fact that Former Governor Flower, of New York, was driving through the campus of Cornell University behind an equine that is sometimes possessed of a spirit to plant its hoofs solidly on the ground and not move till its own perversive will is inclined that way. Fortunately, let it be said in this case for the treasury of the University, the horse came under one of these balky spells while within a shadow of one of the college buildings. Mr. Flower may be onto the ways of the politicians, but the balky horse was out of his class, even though its sudden determination bore close resemblance to the attitude of certain politicians. Awaiting a change in the horse's disposition, the Former Governor adjourned his person from the carriage to the college building. There he became so impressed with the work of the college that he wrote out a check for $5,000 to be used in assisting the institution. Then he returned to the presence of the balky horse and without a second chirp the animal resumed its progress, presumably unconscious of its worth to the University. The moral of this instance, of course, is that hereafter irate horsemen will derive better results from balky horses by writing checks for philanthropic purposes rather than applying the whip as an inducement for the contrary critter to start.

PRISON LOGIC AND ENTERPRISE.

John Myers, the Union county prisoner, who came near getting out of State prison yesterday, is just a sample of what ambitious men we have in this bailiwick. However, it seems that John found it easier to get in prison than to get out. When detected just as he was about to gain his liberty, the audacious prisoner philosopically said to his captor: "It's your place to keep me; and it's my place to get away if I can." That, indeed, is simple and truthful reasoning. The least that can be said of Myers, his actions and his logic, is that he adds a spirit of brilliancy in enterprise and thought to the jail birds of Union county.

WHISKEY THE CAUSE.

It appears that Brooklyn bridge jumpers are a drug in the market so far as commercial purposes in the museum line are concerned. No. 24 did the act yesterday. We are inclined to believe that the only effective law against the continuance of this foolish practice is the tenet advocated by the Prohibitionists, since whiskey is the thing that spurs most of the leapers to do the act. The Prohibitionists are at liberty to use this argument without credit.

A LOW DOWN DEAL.

If, as hinted, the Citizens' Union candidate for Mayor of Greater New York should withdraw from the canvass, it would assuredly be a Low down deal.

—Goodwill Lodge, No. 15, K. of P., colored, will meet tonight and confer degrees upon two newly-elected members.

—John J. Goff, of Liberty street, attended a meeting of the State Committee of the Liquor Dealers' Association, held at Orange today.

—Woodull & Martin, Plainfield's popular dry goods merchants, are much pleased with the fall trade, and they say that the prospects are bright for good business through the winter.

—James Scott, Charles Jefferson and B. S Hayward, members of Goodwill Lodge, No. 15, K of P., went to Newark last night to assist in the installation of four new members of Olympia Lodge, No. 17, of that city.

The American Institute.

The sixty-sixth annual fair of the venerable American Institute opened Monday night at Madison Square Garden. The ladies seemed particularly partial to the flower show, which is the finest New York has ever seen. Dr. Hexamer, the noted horticulturist, has charge of this department, and great praise must be accorded him for the excellence of this show. Machinery Hall contained many novel inventions and proved a magnet to those interested in up to date labor saving devices. The grocers' specialties department was the rendezvous of good housewives and bon vivants whose mouths watered at the good things there artistically temptingly displayed.

Those Extracts Again.

There is no more effective way to hurt trade than to make overdrawn statements about one's goods. I am careful about that, but I have reason to be enthusiastic about the quality of my flavoring extracts. They are sold in New York in competition with the largest and best houses in the country and they gain in favor all the time. I want these goods to be universally used in Plainfield and I am confident that sooner or later they will be. Genuine merit is bound to win in the end.

THEATRICAL.

Among the many attractions that will be presented this season at Music Hall there is none that will command more attention than "A Contented Woman," presented there tonight, the latest, and according to all reports, the best and most successful comedy of that popular playwright, Charles Hoyt. As a rule Mr. Hoyt has never relied much upon plots or stories for a foundation of his comedies, but in the case of "A Contented Woman" he has cleverly woven a well defined plot and interesting story with many amusing complications following one upon the other, which are happily worked out in Hoyt's most humorous vein. The story is based upon the law recently passed in some of the western states giving the fairer sex the right to vote, and making them eligible for municipal offices. The new piece is in three scenes, all of which are laid in Denver, and the scenery used in the production is said to be the most elaborate Mr. Hoyt has ever presented.

"A Broadway Girl," which will appear at Music Hall, on Friday, Sept. 24th, is a musical farce comedy which is brimful of good things, that are new and up-to-date, not a wornout or threadbare feature are introduced from the rise to the fall of the curtain. From the time the performance begins laughter reigns supreme, and yet it is comedy that has a plot, and a purpose, with a cleverly written story, interpreted by a good, strong and efficient company headed by El. Rogers and Ed. Ryan, who are ably assisted by Nellie Franklyn, Harry Edwards, Daisy Kernell, John Fields, Jr., Ryeford sisters, Chas. H. Corman, Edith Chapman and others. No pains or expense have been spared in making "A Broadway Girl" the foremost farce comedy of the season. New and original music, songs, dances, specialties and big acts are introduced throughout the play, and an enjoyable evening is promised to those who will witness this matchless performance.

The leading feature of the entertainment at the Pleasure Palace this week will be a sketch called "The Peep o' Day Club." Incidental to this will be a cake-walk, the "Salvation Army Lassies Quadrille" and a dance by Miss Mildred Howard DeGrey. The olio introduces Sam Devere, Hines and Remington, Johnson and Dean, Leonard and Bernard, Pearl Haight and Minnie Gilbert, Weston and Beasley, Bryon and Langdon, Kathryn Rowe Palmer, contortion dancer; the Glissandos, French musical clowns; Edward Rentz, equilibrist, and others. At today's concerts Steve Brodie will sing a song, and other entertainers will include Hilda Thomas, Frank Barry, Annie Hart, Hiatt and Pearl, Coakly and Husted, Leslie and Curdy, Mason and Healy and C. W. Williams, the ventriloquist.

The performances of "A Stranger in New York" at the Garrick Theatre, New York, have been attended by large audiences. The stay of the farce at this house will be short, on account of previous engagements, but it is likely to be removed to another theatre. Harry Gilfoil has found much favor with his song in the first act and his imitations in the last.

NEW YORK LETTER.

When Seth Low was mayor of Brooklyn he began by notifying the people that there would be competitive examinations for office. He appointed commissioners of the several departments from the ranks of the independent Democrats and regular Republicans and notified all of them that they would have to work eight hours a day or resign. The charter gave him the power to appoint whom he pleased, but not the power to remove. The young mayor got over this by having a perfect understanding with all his appointees that their resignations should be at his command at any time. Then came the excise question to bother him. He named a German of liberal views and two Americans who were not temperance men. He said excise laws were for the proper restriction of the traffic, not for its extinction, and the enforcement of law could be made so obnoxious that it would not be "respected by our great cosmopolitan population." Mayor Low's attitude satisfied all but the extreme temperance people.

HON. SETH LOW.

Early in his administration he at once set about the completion of the Brooklyn bridge. He arouse the citizens to the necessity of having it thrown open to traffic. He hurried the commissioners, and finally saw the great structure open. He also began to deal with the arrears question. The Democrats had left a tax arrears account of $13,000,000, and the city's finances were in bad shape, with the averages piling up and the confiscation of property by the city an every-day affair. He got William M. Evarts to draw the famous arrears law, by which the property of citizens in several sections was largely relieved, and a bulk sum thrown upon the city at large. When he retired from office the arrears question was settled, and property owners were paying their taxes. Mr. Low made the board of Education non-partisan, and took the police force out of politics. He demanded a most rigid scrutiny of contract work, the building of new schools and the opening of needed avenues in outlying districts. His record was his own platform when he ran again in 1883 and succeeded in defeating a reform Democrat, Joseph C. Hendrix, who was supported by Edward M. Shepard and other leading citizens Mr. Low obtained Brooklyn's model charter, recognized the public charitable institutions, and gave a business administration the second time that would have insured his re-election if he had cared to be a candidate.

Widow Victoria Woodhull.

New Yorkers who formerly knew Mrs. John Biddulph Martin as Victoria Woodhull, have been wondering since the death of her husband if it were not possible that she might return to New York to promote some one of the many schemes with which her name has been associated. Since her marriage Mrs. Martin has from time to time visited this city and talked with great frankness for publication. On one occasion she was accompanied by Mr. Martin, but his stay here was short. New Yorkers knew very little about him, beyond the fact that he was a reputable English banker and a man of large fortune. Since his death Mrs. Martin's acquaintances here have been watching with interest for a detailed statement of her husband's will. It has reached this city in recent English newspapers, and the statement shows that Mrs. Martin is now a wealthy woman beyond all question. She is the sole executrix of his will, which bears date March 4, 1894, and, according to the English papers, Mr. Martin's personal estate has been valued at more than £147,000. He was the holder of 10,000 shares of £20 each, with £10 paid up thereon, in Martin's bank. He directed in his will that his body should be cremated and that the ashes should be scattered or otherwise dealt with as his wife should determine, and he bequeathed to her his books, ornaments, plate, pictures and all his other real and personal estate except a few private papers, which he left to his partners in the late firm of Martin & Co. The publication of this will is a sufficient answer to the various rumors that were set afloat several years ago, to the effect that the relations between Mr. and Mrs. Martin were not harmonious. No two women were more conspicuous in their time than Victoria Woodhull and her sister, but the present generation has forgotten many of the details of their career in this country, and a threatened libel suit on the part of Mr Martin several years ago prevented a republishing of them.

CYRUS THORP.

"He gives twice that gives quickly," urged the collector, earnestly.

"True," responded Snagge, calmly, "but I've often noticed that he that gives slowly very frequently doesn't have to give at all."—Harper's Bazar.

HE MARRIED THE MOTHER.

How a Kentucky Maiden Acquired a Stepfather Instead of a Husband.

In the White Oak neighborhood, in the eastern end of the county, lived a comely widow, Mrs. Martha Berry, aged about forty, and her pretty daughter, Matilda, who had just entered her eighteenth year. In the same neighborhood lived Johnson Whitley, a prosperous farmer, of thirty and a widower. Whitley had been paying attention to Mrs. Berry's daughter for the last six months, and it was generally supposed throughout the neighborhood that they would be married soon. The mother, however, would not give her consent to the match, but she did not object to the young widower's calls. He pleaded with the widow for the hand of her daughter, and the young couple decided on an elopement says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

All the arrangements were made for the clandestine leave taking, but the watchful mother discovered what was on foot, and on Friday night, the time set for the elopement, she went to her daughter's room shortly after dark and bound the girl hand and foot. She also tied a gag in her mouth and took her to her own room and tied her to the bed. She then returned to the daughter's room and when Whitley came to steal away his lady love the widow answered the summons, and without speaking a word, joined the young man in the yard. He assisted her into his buggy and drove with her to Grayson, the county seat of Carter county, where he had arranged with Judge Morris to perform the ceremony.

Whitley was struck by the silence of his companion, but as she leaned confidently on his arm and appeared to be sobbing all the time, he could do nothing more than caress her now and then and cheer her up by telling her that her mother would forgive her. He had no idea that he was carrying off the mother instead of the daughter, and it was not until after the ceremony was performed on the Judge's front porch and they had repaired to a hotel that the deception was discovered by Whitley.—New York Herald.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

If I Were a Girl.

A Young Graduate of Cambridge University Tells What He Would Do.

William Dickson, of Cambridge University, England, recently told a bevy of girls, that if he were one of them, he would always have rosy cheeks, red lips, bright eyes, and robust health. Six months ago he was a physical wreck from overstudy. A friend offered him Capsuloids. He thought he could not take them because they contained iron, but he discovered that this form of natural iron or Haemoglobin, contained no acid and caused no indigestion or constipation. Capsuloids, by their natural non-irritating iron, in eight weeks, gave him such health and color that he was enabled to make the statement to the girls as above.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct for the same price by The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York.

STATE RESTS ITS CASE.

Ex-Judge Vincent Says the Court Defense Will Produce Startling Evidence.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The direct evidence in the Luetgert case is in and the state has rested. Yesterday afternoon the last witness of the prosecution was heard. This witness was Mrs. Louise Miller Johnson. She came into court supported by Captain Herman Schuettler of the Sheffield Avenue police station. Mrs. Johnson has been ill for several weeks, and the prosecution feared she would not be able to appear to testify. When sworn, Mrs. Johnson testified that upon one occasion she saw Luetgert in a rage chase his wife out of their house. The sausage maker, the witness said, was armed with a revolver. He called his wife names and threatened to shoot, but did not. Ex-Judge Vincent did not cross examine this witness at length. When she left the stand, State Attorney Deneen said, "If the court pleases, the state rests." There was a general movement in the crowded room as the spectators glanced toward Luetgert and his counsel. Luetgert leaned forward and whispered to ex-Judge Vincent.

The latter arose and made a formal motion that the case be taken from the jury on the ground that the state had failed to make out a case. Judge Tuthill promptly overruled this motion without argument.

Then ex-Judge Vincent stated that owing to the lateness of the hour he would like to postpone his opening address to the jury. There was no objection to this, and an adjournment was taken.

It required just 20 days for the presentation of the evidence of the prosecution. Ex-Judge Vincent says the defense will present its side of the case in just half that time.

"My address to the jury in opening will be short and directly to the point," he said. "We deny the murder. The corpus delecti has not been proved as the law requires, and this fact cannot be assumed nor inferred from such testimony as has been presented here. We will explain away all the evidence brought out here by the police department after months of investigation and manipulation. I do not care to give out in full our defense until we get started, but I promise some startling developments before we are through."

CANADIAN ROADS WIN.

The Discriminating Duty Cannot Be Enforced Against Them.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Attorney General McKenna has announced his opinion in the matter of section 22 of the new tariff law.

He holds in effect that goods coming directly into the United States from foreign countries through Canadian ports are not subject to the discriminating duty of 10 per cent.

He also holds that foreign goods shipped from countries other than British possessions in British vessels are not subject to the discriminating duty.

Two questions were asked the attorney general, the first of which was in effect whether the discriminating duty of 10 per cent provided for in section 22 should be assessed against an invoice of tea from China which had arrived at Vancouver, B. C., in British vessels and thence shipped through Canada to Chicago.

The second question was whether the discriminating duty should be assessed against a cargo of manganese ore from Chile which recently arrived in a British ship at Philadelphia. Both these questions the attorney general answers in the negative.

Hurricane In Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 22.—Florida was visited by a West India hurricane yesterday. The maximum velocity here has been between 30 and 40 miles, accompanied by sharp gusts. In Tampa the rainfall was more than six inches, while here it has been half that amount. At Fernandina considerable damage was done along the river front. Two persons, names unknown, are reported to have been drowned. The center of the storm on the east coast appears to have passed over Titusville and Cocoa, about 160 miles south of this city. At the former place 15 inches of rain fell, and washouts are reported on the railroads. At the latter place several buildings were demolished, and several fishermen probably lost their lives.

Pleads Guilty to Theft.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 22.—Insisting that under the statutes he had committed no crime, Eugene Moore, ex-state auditor of public accounts, pleaded guilty to embezzling funds to the extent of $230,328. Moore's contention is that the money, which consisted of insurance fees, should under the law have been paid to the state treasurer instead of to himself and that he is responsible only to insurance companies, by which the money was paid. His action was due to an understanding between attorneys for the prosecution and the defense, and the case will go to the supreme court whatever the decision of the lower court may be.

No Explanation For the Explosion.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Vienna says that no explanation, official or otherwise, is offered of the sharp detonation which was heard on Monday when Emperor William and Emperor Francis Joseph were leaving the railway station at Budapest. It has been variously attributed to a fog signal and to an accident to electrical machinery. In the panic caused by the report and the thick cloud of dust and smoke which followed 76 persons were injured.

Held Up In New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Two men entered the drug store of Gordon & Flacks, at the corner of Market and Madison streets, last evening and at the point of a revolver held up Gordon, who was behind a counter, and frightened Mrs. Flack, who entered the store. They got away with about $15 worth of property. The attempt was a daring one, for at the time the streets were very full.

A Long Jump For Notoriety.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. — William Gantz, aged 25, a Brooklynite, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge and was picked up by the government tug Manhattan apparently safe and sound. At the hospital to which he was taken it was decided by the surgeons that he was not hurt in the least by the leap. He jumped for notoriety's sake. Now he will have to appear in a police court.

ST. LOUIS STARTLED

Rumor of Yellow Fever Having Invaded That City.

DOCTORS FIND NO SIGNS OF THE PEST

Nine New Cases Have Been Reported In New Orleans, but the State of Affairs Seems to Be Improving There—Dr. Wyman's Daily Bulletin.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—This city had a yellow fever scare yesterday, but there seems to have been but little foundation for it. Health Commissioner Starkloff made an examination of the suspected case and declared that it showed not a single symptom of the dread disease.

The suspect is William Tript, 30 years of age, who reached the Marine hospital Monday morning. He had a high fever and said he came from the government dredgeboat Alpha, engaged in revetment work near East Cairo, Ky. Dr. C. E. Decker, physician in charge of the Marine hospital, became interested in the case when he was told by Tript that he had been working on the Alpha, for that boat had been used to transport several cases of yellow fever to the Marine hospital at Cairo, Ills. He telephoned Health Commissioner Starkloff, and that doctor came to the hospital.

In regard to the case, Dr. Starkloff says: "I have made a thorough examination of Tript with Drs. Jordan and Decker. The diagnosis as presented to me makes the case to be one of ordinary intermittent fever. If it is yellow fever, it is of a very mild type. I shall have the patient sent to quarantine and take all necessary precautions."

Two hundred clerks, with their families, employed in the general offices of the Mobile and Ohio railroad company at Mobile, have arrived here, temporary headquarters of the road having been established in this city until after the yellow fever has died out in the south. Dr. Starkloff was asked what would be the effect of so many people from the midst of the fever stricken district coming into this city. He said he had no fear that they would spread the plague. At the worst, there could be only sporadic cases, and these would be quickly reported to the health department and promptly isolated. The doctor declared that it was too cold here for a spread of the disease.

Nine New Ones, but Little Fear Felt.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—There were nine cases of yellow fever reported to the board of health last night. There were, however, no deaths recorded, and the doctors all agreed that the situation was steadily improving. The fever at present, instead of developing into a malignant type, is as mild if not milder than when it first appeared.

The inspectors of the board of health report that most of the cases that had come under their observation were progressing favorably. There are only two cases which give the attending physicians any reason for alarm. These are the new cases:

Joseph Roth, 1224 Cleouet street; Fred Gund, 5335 Marais; Mrs. McAndrews, 120 Howard; child of Judge Lea, 1010 Dublin street; John Bartlett, 1538 Barronne street; Miss Nellie Scannell, 111 Berlin street; C. W. Wood, 1435 Octavia street; R. F. Reynolds, 1703 Coliseum street; S. J. Joor, 1663 Laura street.

Some new places of infection are included in these cases. Up to the present time there has been little dread of the fever. Sporadic cases are appearing about town, but the board of health thus far has been enabled successfully to quarantine each case that has appeared. Confidence locally is steadily increasing. A number of cases have now been discharged, and the total number of cases receiving strict attention does not exceed ten. Half a dozen towns by telegraph and telephone notified the authorities here that they had concluded to withdraw their restrictions against the receipt of freight from New Orleans.

Only One New Case In Mobile.

MOBILE, Sept. 22.—There has been but one new case of yellow fever reported, a child named Willie Goodloe, living in the infected district. One case was discharged, leaving under treatment 28, all of whom are progressing favorably. So many of the reported cases have failed to further develop yellow fever characteristics that not a few of the doctors seem disposed to doubt the correctness of the diagnosis, and one of the most experienced of the doctors has been heard to say that he would not report any more cases as suspicious. Dr. T. O. Summers, representing the Tennessee board of health, has spent two days here. He made two trips to the persons sick with the fever, and his opinion is that there is an exceedingly mild type of yellow fever here. Traffic is picking up despite the rigid quarantine. The Mobile and Birmingham road yesterday got through a train with local and through cotton and some through freight for the first time since the 12th.

Summary of Fever Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Surgeon General Wyman has sent the following telegraphic summary of the yellow fever situation to the state health authorities throughout the south and southwest: "Total yellow fever cases officially reported as follows: Mobile, to Sept. 19, 18; Sept. 20, 1; Cairo, Sept. 19, 2; Sept. 20, 2; New Orleans, to Sept. 19, 39; Sept. 20, 18 (9 of these 18 previously existing, but reported on the 20th); Barkley, Miss., to Sept. 18, 10; Biloxi, to Sept. 19, 22; Edwards, to Sept. 19, 16; Sept. 20, 2; Ocean Springs, to Sept. 18, 11; Pascagoula, to Sept. 19, 1; Scranton, to Sept. 19, 2; Sept. 20, 15; Perkinston, to Sept. 10, 1." The foregoing was sent to the secretaries of the boards of health at Raleigh, Florence, S. C.; Bowling Green, Ky.; Montgomery, Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Little Rock, St. Louis, Nashville, Indianapolis, Springfield, Ills.; Columbus, O.; New Orleans, Austin and Atlanta.

A similar bulletin will be issued daily and telegraphed to the state authorities at the foregoing points.

From Mobile the report comes that two new cases had been officially reported, one recovery, no deaths. The surgeon in charge says he is issuing certificates and disinfecting the baggage of all departing passengers.

Eighty persons were admitted to the detention camp at Fontainebleau, Miss. There are 126 persons at the camp.

The first and only pictures Mrs. McKinley has had taken in ten years appear in the October number of The Ladies' Home Journal. They form part of a series of new and unpublished photographs of the new occupants of the White House. Mrs. McKinley wore for her picture her inaugural ball dress of silver and white brocade, at the special request of the President, who thought it particularly becoming. The excellent portrait of Mr. McKinley in his office was taken in June. The other pictures in the series show the many changes in the arrangements and furnishings of the rooms and grounds, made by the President and Mrs. McKinley.

AMENDMENTS IN PERIL.

CONFUSION LIKELY TO COME FROM THE SINGLE BALLOT.

It is Thought That Thousands of Votes May be Lost Because of the Misunderstanding as to How to Cast Them Right.

There is complaint made that the method of balloting to be used at the special Constitutional amendment election, on September 28th, is not favorable to an honest expression of the voters' opinion. It is believed that thousands of votes intended for the adoption of the amendments will be lost because of the confusion that must necessarily exist in the minds of the voters. The ballot sent out by the Secretary of State to be distributed among the voters has this caption:—

"State of New Jersey. Proposed amendments to the Constitution. For all propositions on this ballot which are not cancelled with ink or pencil, and against all which are so cancelled."

Then follows the text of the three amendments to be voted for. The ballot of itself is for the adoption of the amendments. The trouble comes in the cancellation, which must be done by lead pencil or ink, marking out each amendment not voted for.

A positive act in marking the ticket is essential to secure a negative vote. This is considered unfair and confusing, and the tickets should have been printed so that each voter would have had to make his choice by a positive act whichever way he voted. It is agreed that it would have been just as easy to have made the tickets so that the words "for" and "against" would appear opposite each amendment, and providing that the men voting "for" should cancel "against," and vice versa, and that ballots not having either word cancelled should not be counted at all.

Mayor Carl Lentz, of Newark, chairman of the Republican county and city committee, called at the Secretary of State's office to see whether the statute controlling this special election directed the tickets to be put up in that form, and was surprised to learn that it did. He characterized the scheme as a short-sighted plan. Thousands will cut their votes, not willing to vote for all three amendments, and in cancelling the other two may accidentally cancel them all.

The law directly states that each ballot shall be counted as a vote for each proposition thereon not cancelled with ink or pencil, and against each proposition so cancelled.

It is argued that there would very properly be popular clamor against an election under which, with Republican and Democratic candidates running for office, all the tickets were printed bearing the names of Republicans and it was provided that voters who desired to vote for Democrats should cancel the names of the Republican nominees.

The system now objected to was in vogue in 1890, when the Constitutional amendments were badly defeated, and a later investigation showed that only a few who voted had expressed themselves properly because of the confusion of ideas as to the proper course. There is no way of simplifying the matter and the next move in the campaign will be to instruct the voters how to manipulate their ticket.

SEARCHLIGHT DETECTOR

UNION COUNTY PRISONER'S BOLD ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE PRISON.

Used Marvelous Ingenuity—Cut Through Brick, Stone, Wood and Tin to Gain the Roof and Find Himself in a Glare.

John Meyers, who was serving a seven-years' sentence in the Trenton Penitentiary for a daring burglary in Union county, made a clever and daring attempt to escape from the State Prison in broad daylight yesterday. The convict was caught on the roof of the main building of the prison when he was about to lower himself to the ground by means of a rope made of his bed clothes and a piece of carpet he was permitted to have on his cell floor.

The prisoner was covered by Guard Jacob Reinherdt's rifle, whose attention had been called to the escaping prisoner by Deputy John H. Midcroft, who discovered him crouching behind a ventilator.

Investigation showed that Meyers had fully planned his escape, and had planned well. From tools stolen from the shop he had cleverly manufactured a saw by hacking teeth in the blade of a knife. He then secured a broom handle, which he split in half, and into the flat surface he fastened the saw with the wire from the broom, using nails for wedges. With this Meyers broke through the brick, stone and plaster roof of his cell and sawed the joist to enter the attic overhead. He also sawed away the tin roof on the building. Through this hole the prisoner climbed, gaining the roof of the west wing.

Then he crawled into the eaves of the several buildings until he reached the front or main building of the prison. It was evidently Meyer's intention to escape at night, and he has admitted that he was prowling about the roof last night. Recently the prison supervisors erected a large searchlight, which lights up the roof of the entire west wing. When Meyers reached this roof last night he was caught in the searchlight, he says, and dropped behind the ventilator. Here he was obliged to remain until daylight, when he made his way back over the roofs to his cell, and this morning he was on hand for breakfast and in time to be counted.

The cell searcher's failure to discover the hole in the roof of Meyers' cell may be explained by the convict's clever arrangement for his flight.

What the searcher thought was a man's face peeping towards him was nothing but bread stolen from the prison bakery or saved from the daily allowance. What looked so like Meyers' eyes closed in slumber were clever marks made by soot taken from the gas jet. What seemed like Meyers' body under the blanket was the mortar, sand, brick, stone, lumber and tin taken from the roof of the cell.

The dark-blue blanket in the cell was missing and when the prisoner was brought into the cell for keeps it was found that the blue trousers he wore were made from the blanket. All Meyers would say with reference to his bold attempt at escaping when questioned before his punishment began was: "It's the keepers' business to keep me; it's my business to get out if I can."

PASSING COMMENT.

The City Park is beginning to assume the look of a real park at last. Nice winding paths are staked out and some of them have already been graded. By next year Plainfield will have a park which it need not be ashamed of.

While business in general may be reviving, there is one line of trade in this city which has about come to an end—for the season at least. That is the "mint" business; by "mint" business is meant the brook mint which comes into use early in the spring and lasts until about this time each year. The trade of all the butchers and private customers is controlled by two or three boys, and in the height of the season as much as $2 per day is made by some of these juvenile merchants.

David J. Carney called at The Press office this morning and stated that in the very near future he would commence the publication of a weekly paper in North Plainfield. Doubtless much of its reading matter will be of things political in this section. What Dave don't know about politics isn't worth knowing, and the New Jersey politician with whom he is not acquainted must be pretty small fry, indeed. Like its prospective editor, the paper will undoubtedly be spicy, and, mayhap, saucy at times.

Philip Wing now enjoys the distinction of being Metuchen's only Chinese resident. All summer he has had to share the honors, for Rev. Huil Kin and his family have spent the last four months in a cottage in Dark Lane. Wing is the village laundryman, while Huil Kin is an ordained Presbyterian clergyman and is in charge of the Chinese work of the board of foreign missions of that church. He has lived in America nearly thirty years, has an American wife, a woman of education and refinement, and four interesting, dark eyed children. His household has included eight Chinese boys, ranging in age from eight to ten years; a young man named Sam Hen, who is a student at Princeton College, and a domestic, Lin Fon, a native Chinese woman. The little Celestials have thoroughly enjoyed life in the country. They do the washing for the family, take care of the chambermaid's work and find plenty of time to play and fish. The boys are attending a Chinese school in New York.

CRANKS' COLUMN.

Suggestions that Emanate from Pens of Bicycle Riders.

Papa bought a wheel one day,
And swore he'd learn to ride it;
And he's been swearing ever since
The first time that he tried it.

Endeavor to cultivate the art of riding without curving the back. It is quite possible to lean forward and yet keep the spine straight. Cycling is frequently robbed of its splendid, health-giving qualities by contraction of the chest muscles, resulting from a careless and ungraceful position on the saddle, and many are deterred from adopting the pastime lest the "bicycle back" be acquired. Beginners should never attempt to ride long distances. Some preliminary training is necessary, ere seventy or eighty miles can be covered without stiffness and exhaustion resulting. The pace should be steady all through, and any inducement to ride fast at certain places should be curtailed, so that all superfluous energy, may be reserved for the return journey, when it is most required. Also, make sure that the machine is all right before setting out. These matters must be considered, if the ride is to be carried out with comfort and ease.

Tests which have lately been made at Cornell University relative to the friction in bicycle chains reveal the fact that with the lengthening of chains, caused by wear, friction increases very rapidly. A new chain of the most approved pattern showed about a half of one per cent. friction, while a chain which had lengthened so that it was necessary to move a link had an efficiency of about 60 per cent., showing a loss of power of about 40 per cent. This is one of the disadvantages with which riders of the very cheap, poorly constructed wheels have to contend. The tempered blocks and sides are constructed of soft, poorly tempered steel. They not only stretch to a great extent, but stretch unevenly, making the chain out of pitch, and causing a vast amount of friction, which is generally attributed to the bearings, when, in fact, the latter may be working properly.

There is a wide divergence of opinion on the question of appropriate refreshments. The junior brigade stands out for iced drinks in profusion, while the veterans assert that most chilly beverages are better left alone. A trainer of wide experience volunteers the opinion that thirst can be counteracted by an occasional gargling of cool water, together with an immersion of the wrists in the same liquid. The same authority claims that warm tea will be found much more bracing and beneficial than iced drinks and that ripe fruit will be found much better than meat unless a rider is prepared to stop off and sit down calmly to a comfortable meal. All the old-timers agree that riders out on a trip in the present temperature cannot be too circumspect, and that a regime on the most abstemious lines is much safer than a free indulgence in the various "cooling drinks," provided along suburban routes.

Wheelmen, as a class, have recently been subjected to an immense amount of criticism and even abuse because of the actions and behavior of a certain element who pay no attention whatever to the rights of others, and apparently care for no one but themselves. The editorial columns of many of the most influential papers have contained many articles recommending caution, while some have asked for stern dealing with violations of the laws, and wheelmen themselves, or at least the more respectable portion, look with anxiety upon the present state of affairs, but hope that some method can be devised for breaking up present abuses without curtailing the rights of those who are not and never have proved themselves nuisances.

LIFE IN THE COUNTY JAIL

A PRESS REPORTER IS SHOWN THROUGH BY WARDEN BLORE.

How the Prisoners Are Cared For and What They Do to Kill Time—Everything Kept in Order by "Trusties."

The Union county jail at Elizabeth has been a vague sort of place in the minds of many and there are few that really know what arrangements are made for the care of the criminals and petty offenders of the county or anything of the building in which they are incarcerated. Tuesday afternoon a Press reporter was taken through that institution at the invitation of Chief Grant, and the methods in vogue there explained.

The county jail is a part of the county court house on Broad street and is located in the rear. There Warden Blore and Deputy Warden Smith reign supreme, while several score citizens of the county and other counties are dead to the world for different periods of time.

The Press reporter received a hearty reception from the genial warden and his deputy, who seemed to take pleasure in showing the excellent features of the jail. Chief Grant had brought down the famous Ward MacAllister Hamilton to serve his sixty days' sentence, and the method of treating prisoners was shown in his case. He was searched and all his property removed and laid aside, to be given to him on his release. Then the warden inquired as to his name, age, place of birth, and measured his height. Then Hamilton was turned into the corridor and instructed to go to the bath room at the end of the corridor and take a bath.

The warden's office is a comfortable room, as far as it can be. On one side is a frame consisting of openings to correspond with every cell. Here is kept a record of the occupants of the cell. The windows are grated and so are the doors. One door opens directly into the jail proper. Another leads to the kitchen where the meals are prepared. Everything is clean there. The food is prepared on a large scale, and is plentiful and wholesome, although plain.

Within the jail proper, the cells are arranged in two floors of two tiers each, back to back, and opening out on the corridor and a narrow gallery. The place is scrupleously clean for some of the prisoners are kept busy cleaning it every day. The cells are whitewashed and have a wooden bunk along one side. The prisoners are furnished with blankets, although the building is kept at a comfortable temperature all the time. The heat is supplied from large furnaces in the basement which are cared for by trusty prisoners. The prisoners are allowed to read magazines and books, but the newspapers are kept out. Most of the prisoners spend a great deal of their time reading. Others lie on their bunk for almost an entire day.

Twice a day the prisoners are allowed the freedom of the corridor. They can take a bath once a day if they care to, but they are compelled to take at least one a week. One of the prisoners looks after the bathroom and keeps the water at a comfortable temperature by warming it with steam.

Once a week the prisoners are compelled to wash their underclothing. When the Press reporter visited the place, the prisoners of the back lower tier were washing and drying their clothes. The rest were quietly reading or sleeping in their cells.

Along one side of the room is a shelf on which the prisoners take their meals, standing in front of it while certain of their number pass the food about.

There were several familar faces that have graced the city court not long ago, but the one that attracted the most interest was Joseph Duncan Smedberg, the confessed thief of the Marshall diamonds. He occupied cell No. 44 and lay stretched out on his bed so that his face was hidden. He looked very thin. Warden Blore says that he receives two or three letters a day.

The women's ward is a smaller place of two floors of cells, eight on each. When the door was opened and the writer looked in, the women within scurried to their cells and remained hidden in them until the door was closed. They seemed to feel the disgrace far more than the men, who merely gazed curiously at the visitors.

The dark cells for punishment were shown and also the great furnaces that warm the entire building.

Then the Warden regaled his guests with many strange stories of remarkable prisoners that have been there and some of his experiences with them.

There was plenty to see and a com-

JAMES TAKES A WIFE.

Hospital Orderly Joins the Benedicts and Goes to Housekeeping

Those connected with Muhlenberg Hospital were surprised a few days ago when James Wilkinson, the orderly, informed them that he was going to take unto himself a wife. They had heard James says that before, and were a little bit inclined to think that the event would not take place. However, James gave his superiors such conclusive evidence that he was about to join the benedicts that the matter was considered in a serious manner when he asked for the time off so that he could get married.

The time set was 8 o'clock last evening. The bride, was Miss Clara Stewart, formerly of New York. The two have known each other for a long time and as the years rolled by their love strengthened. Finally Miss Stewart came to Plainfield to live and this move brought the happy couple within easy reach of each other.

At the appointed hour last evening, James and his bride went to the parish house of St. Mary's church, and were married by Father Murphy, the assistant pastor of the church. After the ceremony the couple went to a house on West Fourth street owned by the groom. The cozy little home had been transformed and arranged in a most attractive manner for the reception of Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson.

James has been associated at the hospital for a number of years, first entering as a patient. After his recovery he sought the position he now holds, that of orderly, and since that time he has held it with great credit. He is well-liked by everyone connected with the institution.

SMEDBERG CASE POSTPONED.

Plainfield Society Man Who Turned Thief Chats Gayly in Court.

The Union County Court room at Elizabeth was crowded yesterday with spectators anxious to see the J. B. Smedberg case disposed of.

The young draughtsman was the most comfortable man in the court. He laughed and chatted, seemingly not the least worried about the diamonds he admitted stealing or the penalty.

Senator Voorhees, who appeared for him, had the case postponed until he could secure some letters from the west bearing on the case.

Smedberg's pretty young wife has not been to Elizabeth. She is in New York.

PRESBYTERIAN CONVENTION.

Synod of New Jersey to Meet Here October 19th.

Plainfield has been chosen as the place of meeting for the governing body of the Presbyterians of this State this year. The Synod of New Jersey will hold its annual meeting in this city beginning on Tuesday afternoon, October 19th, and continuing to the following Thursday evening. The meetings will be held at the Crescent Avenue church and will probably be very interesting ones.

To Talk About Gold Fields.

The Klondyke region is the centre of general interest at present and anything bearing on that subject is read or listened to with interest. Rev. Archdeacon Kirkby will deliver a lecture on "Alaska and the Klondyke Gold Mining Districts" in the Grace church parish house on Thursday evening, October, 7th, at 8 o'clock. In connection with it there will also be a phonographic entertainment by W. W. Moore. Tickets will be 50 cents.

Bids for the Hygienic Fountain.

A meeting of the building committee of the Board of Education was held last evening and estimates were received for the hygienic drinking fountains at the Washington School building. Three bids were received and opened. They were Galbraith & Walsh, $220; D. W. Littell, $235; A. M. Griffin, $239.51. The contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, Galbraith & Walsh.

Plainfield Well Represented.

Today the annual Union county convention is being held at Rahway. Plainfield is well reprepresented by many officers and members of the union. The Plainfielders left early this morning for Rahway and they will return this evening.

Junior Superintendents to Meet.

A meeting of the superintendents of the Junior Endeavor societies in the city will be held on Tuesday afternoon to talk over plans for the winter work and consider the advisibility of holding another Junior rally this fall.

MAKING OVER THE DAM.

THE STRUCTURE WILL BE REBUILT ON DIFFERENT LINES.

By Greatly Increasing the Capacity of the Spillway it is Thought That All Future Danger Will be Obliterated.

All is now activity in Washington Valley at the site of the old dam of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, which was partially washed away in the big freshet last summer. The company has determined to rebuild the dam, as has already been told in The Press, and they are now making rapid progress toward that end.

The new dam that is to confine the water from the stream that flows down the valley from the direction of Warrenville will be built on radically different lines from those of the last one. The present plan, as suggested by Engineer Pierson, of New York, a disinterested party, is to have a spillway the entire length of the dam, and instead of allowing the water to pour over the top and falling undermine the wall, there will be a slope to carry off the water that flows over the dam.

So far, there has been considerable done. The dam has been lowered four feet. A core wall of stone, two feet in thickness, has been built in the centre of the embankment to connect with the old masonry on the left and the road bank on the right. It was built on a bed of grouting, i. e.: crushed stone and cement. There will be a similar core wall built across the space formerly occupied by the old masonry that was washed away, and then it will be filled in on either side, making a bank twenty-five feet thick at the top and sloping in either direction.

The bank will be covered with a layer of grouting, a foot thick, and on that will be laid a layer of fire bricks, set in sideways in asphalt. This covering will extend from the base of the slope on the outside over the top and down the inside below the usual height of the water in the pond. Below that, however, there will be a layer of flat stones to prevent an unusually low water from washing the bank.

The centre of the dam will not be filled in and covered until the rest is all completed, so as to allow the water in case of a storm to escape from the pond without washing out the partially erected dam. Around the old masonry, the bank is being rebuilt and the earth is laid in layers, one of mud and then one of dry earth, which is all packed so as to prevent it from settling when the brick is laid on top.

The officials of the company expect to have the dam entirely completed by the first of November for they have a large gang of men at work and will increase it when the work allows.

JUMPED IN FRONT OF A BICYCLE.

T. S. Armstrong Took to Threats From a Careless Driver.

A heavy stone wagon came to a stop on Park avenue yesterday afternoon on the opposite side of the street from Eggerding's cigar store. The driver jumped into the road and started for that store when T. S. Armstrong, the druggist, who was coming along, crashed into the driver and knocked him into the gutter. The driver had been so intent that he had neglected to look behind and had jumped directly in the path of the wheelman. The man was stunned by the fall and Mr. Armstrong and his wheel were both upset. The wheel was slightly bent by the fall.

The driver was inclined to object to such vigorous treatment, but Mr. Armstrong promised to knock him down again if he got in the road again and also promised to have him arrested in the bargain.

New Chapel Work Delayed.

The chances are that the work of building the new chapel for the East Third Street mission will not be started this year unless the weather is exceedingly favorable. Unfortunately, there has been a delay in the matter of securing bids for the construction, as the plans presented were not just the style wanted, and another bid will have to be made.

Not Enough to Elect Officers.

The new board of directors of the Crescent Wheelmen, who were elected to office several weeks ago, were to hold their first meeting last evening at the club house to elect officers of the club. As there was not a quorum present, however, the election was adjourned until Wednesday night of next week.

Taking in the Situation.

William Meehan, of Somerville, a politician of no mean merit, was in North Plainfield yesterday endeavoring to get the gold Democrats into line, and incidentally to get a birds-eye view of the prospects for the office of surrogate.

JUSTICE NASH'S STAND.

TELLS WHY HE IS OPPOSED TO CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Believes That the People Should Rely Upon the Honor and Integrity of Legislators—Opposed to Women Voting.

It was reported yesterday that Justice Vincent W. Nash was opposed to the amendments, and a reporter of The Daily Press called at his office today and interviewed him on the matter.

"Yes, I am opposed to the proposed amendments," he replied in answer to the reporter's question.

"What is the ground for your objection?"

"My reason for opposing the amendment referring to horse racing is that I am not in favor of taking a matter of this sort entirely out of the hands of the people or their representatives in the Legislature for eight years.

"We now have laws prohibiting the evil, and this in my mind should be sufficient. We should have some confidence in our representatives. They are placed in the Legislature by the people, and it might become advisable to alter or slightly amend the law as it now stands, but if it is put into the form of a Constitutional amendment it cannot be changed for eight years.

"Then, again, I am not in favor of a sweeping prohibition of all games of chance, which include a number of harmless amusements, such as grab-bags and other devices used at fairs. A few years ago every church fair had a few of these innocent games of chance in operation, and I think they were good things and never harmed anybody."

"What about the amendment allowing women to vote at school elections, Judge?"

"I am opposed to that, also, because I believe that the women who are by education and general intelligence qualified to vote would remain away from the polls, and the women of lower intelligence would vote as their husbands or someone else dictated. The amendments are a Republican measure, but I shall vote against them."

AN ENDEAVOR SOCIABLE.

Mt. Olive Baptist Church Society Gave the Affair

The Christian Endeavor Society of Mt. Olive Baptist church gave a successful sociable in the church last evening. The attendance was large and the programme provided by the committee in charge was voted an excellent one. Little Miss Mazie Mann sang and recited a number of pieces, and Miss Ara Gibson, the young daughter of Rev. P. S. Gibson, spoke several pieces which were very well received. Miss Minnie Dunham rendered a number of vocal solos and received hearty applause. After the musical and literary programme the refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake, coffee and lemonade, were served. Those in charge of the tables were: Ice cream table, Miss Anna Fields and Miss Julia Randolph; cake table, Mrs. Polina Johnson; lemonade, Miss Evelyn Williams.

DEATH OF CHARLES KAEDING.

His End Came as a Result of an Attack of Consumption.

Charles Kaeding died at his home, 114 East Fifth street, at 7:30 o'clock this morning, of consumption. He had been ill about three months and was confined to his bed for five weeks before the end came. Mr. Kaeding was twenty-four years of age. He conducted a barber shop on Liberty street and had a large acquaintance in that section of the city. He leaves a wife and one child who have the sincere sympathy of a large number of friends in their bereavement.

The funeral service will be held at the house on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. G. K. Newell, of Hope chapel, officiating.

The ladies' class will meet at 2:30 o'clock, and the class for girls at 3:30. The classes will each meet twice a week thereafter, on Mondays and Thursdays.

CLUB HANDICAP SHOOT.

Climax Members Tried Their Skill at Hitting Clay Targets in a Strong Wind.

Most of the local trap-shooters turned out yesterday afternoon to attend the monthly shoot of the Climax Gun Club. It has been several months since the club gave up its old grounds near Benner's roadhouse, and went to the Crescent Oval. It was at the Oval where the shoot was held yesterday afternoon. The day was by no means an ideal one for trap-shooting for the high wind from the north swept over the adjacent fields and caused the clay targets to act in all sorts of unusual ways. There was little sun to bother the shooters.

The principal event of the afternoon was the regular handicap club shoot in which Douglass L. Darby scored the highest. The scores were as follows:

C. Smith, scratch	21
T. H. Kellar, scratch	24
V. Swcody, 6	20
C. C. Lister, 10	21
D. L. Darby, 5	25
A. Woodruff, 2	16
J. Goodman, 7	24
R. Manning, 1	22
T. Brantingham, 2	20

There was a team shoot between C. Smith and R. Manning on one side and T. H. Kellar and T. Brantingham on the other. The shoot was for twenty birds each. Smith scored 18, R. Manning, 19, and Kellar and Brantingham each 19. The latter team won by one bird.

There were several other sweepstakes and small events, some of which were at double birds.

A team of three men will represent the Climax Gun Club at the State Shooting Association shoot at live birds. The shoot will be held at the Clifton race track next week. There will also be several teams from the Climax Club in the contests at clay targets.

CAN'T GET PRIZES THEY WON.

Somerset Fair Officials Refuse Bicycle Trophies Because of False Addresses.

Several Plainfield bicycle racers are mourning over the fact that they cannot obtain prizes that they won at the bicycle races in connection with the county fair at Somerville last week. Now it happened that most of the races at that meet were open to riders in Somerset county only, so it was that a number of riders from Plainfield, Union county, went down and entered the races, giving North Plainfield, Somerset county, as their place of residence. Several of them rode and won prizes. Some of the prizes were taken directly after the races, but other prizes then on exhibition were saved and yesterday two of the young men went after their share of the spoils.

When the riders presented their claims for the prizes they had won, they were immediately accused of not being residents of the county. In some manner the officials had learned that such was the case and they decided that the men were not entitled to the prizes and therefore refused to give them to the Plainfield riders There was nothing to be done and the boys came home disgusted.

RAN FOR A DOCTOR IN PAJAMAS.

John Keiderling Didn't Stop to Dress to Go for a Doctor.

A man, clad in scanty raiment and wildly waving a lantern as he ran, could have been seen last night at midnight, hurrying along West Second street to the City Hotel, and after stopping there for a few moments, contined on his way down Park avenue. The few pedestrians who were on the streets stopped to look at him while the police hailed him and inquired into the cause of his excitement.

The man was John Keiderling, who lives in one of the flats over Roger's sea food market, on West Second street. Late at night his wife was taken with convulsions. Keiderling hurried for the doctor without stopping to dress and called Dr. Long over the telephone from the City Hotel. The doctor responded at once. Mrs. Keiderling is still alive but very low.

GIVEN A SURPRISE PARTY.

Ethel Reynolds Made a Charming Little Hostess.

Miss Ethel Reynolds, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, of 404 Liberty street, was given a surprise party at her home last evening by a number of her classmates of the Washington School. The guests to the number of thirty-two passed the time pleasantly in the playing of various games, after which refreshments were served. All present managed to spend a most enjoyable evening, and it was quite late when the young guests said "good night" and left for their homes.

Thomas Axtell has returned to his home in Brooklyn, after a visit with John J. Goff, of West Third street.

Prof. A. A. Phelps, of This City, One of the Assembly Candidates—Pledged to Support the Anti-Gambling Amendment.

The county convention of the Prohibition party was held Tuesday evening in the W. C. T. U. hall in Elizabeth. Delegates were in attendance from all over the county, and the meeting was enthusiastic.

The committee on resolutions reported the appeal to voters issued by the State committee of the party, and it was adopted in the convention platform. It is a strong appeal for the support of the new Constitutional amendments, especially the anti-gambling amendment. The appeal reads:

"All Prohibition clubs and organizations are urged to take measures to canvass and awaken interest for the support of the amendments, to urge pastors of churches to preach upon the subject, and to assist in any local efforts that may be made in their localities to awaken a favorable sentiment.

"Extra vigilance is needful owing to apparent public lethargy. Maintaining as we do as a party that the only safe and stable government is one that is based upon sound morals and justice, all Prohibitionists who vote will support the amendments, and the object of this appeal is to remind them to note the date of the election and also to remind others of their duty.

"We learn from very good authority that the enemies of the amendments are working actively but quietly, and that their purpose is to endeavor during the last week, when misrepresentations cannot be answered before election, to bring out the solid vote of the friends of the race-tracks and other forms of gambling. If the friends of morality are equally active and alert a great moral question, and another of justice to the mothers of our State, will be settled permanently and settled right."

The convention nominated a full ticket for the fall election as follows:

For members of assembly, Joel G. VanCise, of Summit; A. A. Phelps, of Plainfield; Neil McLeod, of Elizabeth.

For surrogate, Ira Osborn, of Rahway.

For coroner, F. W. Myles, of Elizabeth.

After the convention there was a public meeting and Rev. J. H. Howard, D. D., made an eloquent address, urging the voters to be loyal to Prohibition principles and to strive for the passage of the Constitutional amendments.

This evening A. A. Phelps, of Plainfield, will be the speaker.

SOMERSET COUNTY SCHOOLS.

Superintendent Mets Quotes Facts and Figures Encouragingly.

County Superintendent Mets has made his report for the year ending June 30th, to the State Department. Prof. Mets has performed his duty of visiting the schools faithfully and has raised $100 among the teachers, to be added to the $100 contributed by the State, for a pedagogical library. A uniform course of study for the schools of the county has been arranged. It facilitates the classification of the scholars.

The report has many interesting features. There are 5,565 pupils in the county. The amount expended for teachers' salaries was $55.774.81, Somerville's being $9,225. The average daily attendance in the county was 3,215; average number of months the schools were kept open, 9 6 7. The average salary paid to the sixteen male teachers is $73.45 per month; female, $38.09 North Plainfield paid the largest average salary, $160 a month to her male teachers and $50 to female teachers. Bound Brook paid $100 for her male principal, and an average of $42.28 to the female teachers. Somerville paid an average of $82.50 to two male teachers and $17.50 to two male teachers, and $47.34 to the female teachers.

Road Bids Wanted.

The Middlesex Board of Freeholders advertise for proposals for the macadamizing of another road, being one of the series between Metuchen and Rahway. The road begins at the Woodbridge-Plainfield road, near Iselin station, and extends in a northwesterly direction to the New Dover road. It is 5,630 feet long.

Sociable Postponed.

The sociable that was to have been held at the First Baptist church this evening, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, has been postponed indefinitely.

—A meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening to form an association of the alumni of the Y. M. C. A. shorthand courses.

NAVARCH RESCUERS.

Official Report of Captain Cuttle, Commander of the Bear.

THE WHALER FIRST SIGHTED AUG. 9.

Adventures of the Vessel, Her Captain and Those of Her Crew Who Were Finally Found by the Bering Sea Patrol Boat.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Captain Cuttle, in command of the revenue cutter Bear, one of the Bering sea patrol fleet, in a report to the secretary of the treasury gives an official account of the rescue of Captain Whitesides, his wife and a number of the crew of the whaling steamer Navarch, which was caught in the ice pack off Icy capes on July 30. Captain Cuttle says that the Navarch was first seen on Aug. 9, seven or eight miles in the pack. Owing to the dense fog which then came on she was lost sight of and was not again seen until the 16th, when she was again sighted about 15 miles in the pack and rapidly drifting north. Every effort was made to get assistance to her, but without success.

The next day, while steaming along the edge of the ice pack, a signal was seen flying from an Eskimo camp near Christie point. A boat came alongside, when it was found that the captain, his wife and three others of the crew were at the Eskimo camp. The captain reported they had left the Navarch on the 14th, dragging a small canvas boat. They had been 60 hours without rest or sleep when they landed on Icy point.

On the 12th inst. 29 of the crew and Mr. C. D. Bower of Cape Smythe left the vessel to walk across the pack, expecting to find the natives with their boats hunting walrus along the edge of the pack. When the captain left the vessel, they had been gone 48 hours. All of this time the current was carrying the ice rapidly to the northward. When the captain and wife left the vessel, there were still 17 people remaining on board, nine of them declining to leave the ship.

After picking up Captain Whitesides and party the Bear steamed to the eastward as far as Smiths bay, where the whaling schooner Rosaris was met. The captain of this vessel said he would remain in that vicinity for a couple of weeks and would keep a lookout for the lost whaler. The Bear reached St. Michaels on Aug. 28, where about 300 miners were found camping on the beach. On arrival Captain Cuttle received requests from the Alaska Commercial company and the North American Trading and Transportation company to remain with his command at St. Michaels until some means could be devised to maintain law and order. He was informed that among the sudden influx of people were many bad characters, and previous to the arrival of the Bear open threats had been made as to what they would do if the Transportation company failed to get them up the Yukon. This was impossible with the means at hand.

Captain Cuttle says that transportation would close in a few days and that 12 vessels were then on their way to St. Michaels, most of them with passengers, and it was his opinion that if they did not return on the vessels which brought them much suffering must result. The captain decided to comply with the requests which had been made until Captain Hooper, in command of the Bering sea fleet, could be communicated with and another vessel detailed for the duty until Sept. 30, when, he says, a military force will arrive.

In concluding his report Captain Cuttle says that in his opinion the situation on the Yukon river this winter will be a very serious matter, and in his judgment the limited supply of food will result in much suffering and starvation.

No Falling Off In Passengers.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 23.—The steamship Rosalie sailed for Skagguay and other Alaskan ports with a passenger list that indicates little falling off in the travel to the north. At Victoria the Rosalie will pick up a number of the Eugene's passengers who wish to go to Wrangel, and will try the Stickeen river route to the Yukon. There was a noticeable change in the nature of outfits taken by prospectors.

Iron Workers Out on Strike.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—All the furnace and range men, roofers and sheet iron workers in Brooklyn were called out on strike by committees representing the various unions. The strike is a sympathetic one, it being expected that by this action the employers will be brought to terms with the cornice makers, who struck on Sept. 7 on a demand for a minimum rate of wages of $3.50 a day instead of $3. There are 55 shops in New York and 19 in Brooklyn which have been under the control of the union, and the strike will altogether involve in the neighborhood of 2,000 men.

A Yale Celebration.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 23.—Plans are being completed for the celebration of the semicentennial of the founding of the Sheffield Scientific school, the scientific department of Yale, this fall. It will take place on Oct. 18. Invitations have been sent to graduates of the school in all parts of the country to be present. The programme for the celebration has not yet been decided upon.

A Mill's Big Loss by Fire.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 23.—J. W. Day & Co.'s sawmill, on the river at North Twenty-fourth avenue, was burned. The total loss is $75,000; insurance, $40,000. The fire department managed to save 150,000,000 feet of lumber that was in danger. The mill handled 150,000 feet daily and employed 250 men.

Princeton Begins Work.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 23.—Princeton university was formally opened yesterday afternoon by President Patton in Marquand chapel. The incoming freshmen class is the largest since 1892. Several changes take place in the faculty. Recitations and lectures will begin in earnest on Monday.

Suicide by Poison.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Samuel Fuller, aged 28, of Oswego Falls, committed suicide by taking poison. His people live in Oneida county. He left several letters.

MARTIN AND DEPUTIES HELD.

Benovitch, Over Whom the Lattimer Tragedy Began, Gives Strong Evidence.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 23.—The taking of testimony in the preliminary hearing of the commonwealth versus Sheriff Martin and his deputies was resumed yesterday.

Many of the commonwealth's strongest witnesses admitted on cross examination that their object in going to Lattimer was to get the men at work there to quit and join them.

Antony Benovitch testified that he was in the seventh row of the marching column. The sheriff called out something. Then he took hold of the witness by the coat collar and pointed his revolver at him.

Witness pushed the revolver aside. Then he heard the sheriff give the command to fire. He said Sheriff Martin was about 300 yards in advance of the deputies.

Martin Sholocki was suffering much pain from a bullet wound in the shoulder when he took the stand. He said he was running toward the bush when he was shot.

He saw the sheriff in the middle of the road, heard him say something, and immediately the firing began.

The judges thought sufficient evidence had been produced to hold the defendants for trial.

The sheriff and deputies then came before the bar and entered bail for trial in the sum of $6,000 each, $5,000 for murder and $1,000 for feloniously wounding.

A bond was provided by a Philadelphia Trust company.

The True Remedy.

Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Miss Frances E. Loomis, of New York, has been the guest of Miss M. G. Morse, of Franklin place.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St, Louis, Mo. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. OLD NANCY'S BROOD.

Terrible Crimes of the Staffleback Family.

THE BENDERS ARE OUTBENDERED.

Evidence Secured of Six Murders and Possibility That a Total of Fifty May Be Ascribed to the Inmates of the Galena Den.

GALENA, Kan., Sept. 23.—The first act of mob violence against the Staffleback family has been committed. The old den known as the Staffleback house was burned to the ground by indignant citizens.

About 40 men quietly went to the scene where so many murders, robberies and other crimes had been committed, saturated the old house with kerosene and applied the torch. No alarm was turned in until the house was nearly burned to the ground, and then the fire department made no effort to extinguish the flames.

The work of searching for the bodies of men and women murdered by the Staffleback family stopped three days ago for the lack of funds, but the county attorney has ordered the search continued in another shaft, and the county will now bear the expense of prosecuting the search, which has heretofore been borne by the committee of safety.

Workmen are still pumping out the mine shafts at Pickers point in search of more of the victims of "Nancy Staffleback's hell brood," for it is believed that the Staffleback boys, whose crimes for multiplicity and atrocity rival if they do not surpass those of the Bender family, have made the abandoned mine shafts serve as graves for many a murdered man.

So far, evidence of six murders, believed to have been committed by the Stafflebacks, have been secured, and under the pressure of the determined investigation now going on some new horror is added to the frightful record daily.

It is believed that at least 50 undiscovered murders would be recorded if all the shafts at Pickers point were pumped out. For many years they have served as the dumping ground for as desperate and criminal an element as exists anywhere on earth.

The Staffllebacks were seven in number—Nancy, the mother; Ed, George, Mike, Cora, Louisa and Emma. Cora is George's wife.

The murder that led to the downfall of Mother Nancy, and the others occurred on the night of June 19.

Frank Galbraith, a miner, was murdered by Ed and his body thrown into an old shaft.

A stranger passing through the town on July 20, peering down into the shaft, saw a body floating on the water. He notified the police, and the body was recovered and identified. In the meantime Anna McCourt, Rosie Bayne and Cora had left the place and were living at Joplin.

Sheriff's Deputies C. L. Raines, Lafe Roe and L. M. Radley, known as the nerviest men in Lawrence county, were at work on the mystery, and to them goes the reward offered by the governor.

These three decided to arrest the whole Staffleback gang, and the round up was done on the night of July 30, only Charles Wilson eluding the officers, while Louisa, too ill to be moved, died the next day. Cora says it was the result of a criminal operation.

It was not until George and Ed Staffleback were convicted of murder in the first degree and Mother Nancy of murder in the second degree for the killing of Frank Galbraith that Cora and the other inmates of the place began to tell the story that led to the revelations of murder simply blood curdling.

Cora told of three murders, and Rosa Bayne added her mite.

The six murders known to have been done by this precious family have not netted $100 in booty to them.

That Trouble Over the Capitol.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 23.—Governor Hastings, Auditor General Mylin, State Treasurer Haywood, President Pro Tem McCarrell, of the senate and Speaker Boyer of the house, comprising the state capitol building commission, have been restrained by a preliminary injunction issued by Judge Livingstone at the instance of Architect James H. Warner of this city from adopting any design for the erection of the legislative building at their proposed meeting on Sept. 29 except it be one of the eight designs selected by the board of experts to whom that duty was assigned. The first choice of the experts was the plan submitted by Warner, but after several meetings of the commission the eight plans submitted were rejected and returned to their authors and an invitation issued for new plans to be submitted on Sept. 29. This action was opposed by Governor Hastings, but he was outvoted by his fellow members. An answer to this bill in equity is required to be filed in 15 days.

Miners Are Back to Work.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 23. — The peace of the anthracite district was disturbed by only one outbreak yesterday. When the men at Pardee's Harwood colliery reported for work, a crowd of strikers, led by women, assembled about the mine, and their threats of violence to the would be workers were so menacing that troops were asked for. A detachment of cavalry was sent over and remained during the greater part of the day. There was no further trouble, but only a small minority of the miners were courageous enough to work. With the exception of the Jeansville colliery of the Lehigh Valley company and the Harwood men, who did not go back, all the mines of the region were working, though not with a full complement of men.

Burned a Copy of the Treaty.

ATHENS, Sept. 23.—With the exception of The Asty and The Akropolis, the newspapers are preaching a national crusade against the conditions of the peace treaty with Turkey. Several of them publish interviews with members of the legislative assembly—the boule. In a few instances the deputies favor war, but the majority adopt a very reserved attitude. A mass meeting was held in Concord square to denounce the terms of peace, and a copy of the treaty was placed upon a bonfire and burned amid a great uproar

JAPANESE LANDED.

Queer Story Comes From Hawaii by the City of Peking.

SOLDIERS TO OPPOSE ANNEXATION.

Particulars of the Ratification of the Treaty by the Native Senate, Who Voted Unanimously In Favor of It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—If the stories told by the passengers and crew of the steamship City of Peking, which arrived here from Hongkong via Honolulu, be true, a state of affairs exists in Hawaii which demands the attention of the state department. When the City of Peking arrived at Honolulu, the attention of the other passengers on board that steamer was attracted by the remarkably symmetrical movements of 174 Japanese steerage passengers who were disembarking.

Although classed as laborers, their well drilled and military appearance was too palpable to escape observation and occasioned considerable comment.

The Japanese were apparently under the command of a veteran sergeant and divided into squads of 20 under noncommissioned officers. During the voyage a military discipline was observed, which created comment among the other steerage passengers and steamer's crew, and many conjectures were hazarded as to the means of their being shipped to the islands. It was generally believed that they were sent to the islands for the purpose of forcibly resisting annexation if necessary. Rumors of the presence of the mikado's soldiers are not new on the islands. It is said that over 1,000 well drilled men have already been landed there, and about 400 veterans of the Japanese and Chinese war are expected on the next steamer.

These particulars of the ratification of the annexation treaty by the Hawaiian senate were brought by the City of Peking:

The Hawaiian senate met in extra session on the 8th inst. When the senate was called to order, the president's message urging the ratification of the treaty was read, as was also a protest on behalf of the Hawaiians who opposed the measure.

The president's message stated that under the authority conferred upon him by the constitution and with the approval of the cabinet he had negotiated a treaty of political union with the United States of America and the Republic of Hawaii, which was signed by the plenipotentiaries of both governments in Washington June 16.

He transmitted the same to the senate for consideration of the ratification thereof under its constitutionality and called attention to certain events which bore upon the matter. The text of the treaty was referred to the foreign relations committee for consideration. On the following day that committee reported favorably, and upon its recommendation the senate adopted the following resolution by a unanimous vote:

Be it resolved by the senate of the Republic of Hawaii, That the senate hereby ratifies and advises and consents to the ratification by the president of the treaty between the Republic of Hawaii and the United States of America on the subject of annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States of America concluded in Washington June 16.

Jeffreys Keeps It Up.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 23.—The brigade of General Jeffreys continues the task of punishing the rebellious tribes. Umra Khan's village Zogai was chastised. General Jeffreys encountered but small opposition, though several sepoys of the Afridi tribe deserted with their rifles and ammunition. One Afridi killed a fellow sentry, and a Sikh deserted. Both took their rifles. After the attack on General Sir Bindon Blood's camp at Lakarai the enemy left 20 dead upon the field and carried off the bodies of others who were killed.

Colonel Lyman's Will Filed.

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The will of ex-Congressman Colonel Theodore Lyman, late of Brookline, was filed at Dedham late yesterday afternoon for probate. The testator leaves the bulk of his property to his widow and children, but makes the following public bequests: Ten thousand dollars to the Boston Asylum and Farm School, $10,000 to the president and fellows of Harvard college and a choice collection of valuable books to the Museum of Comparative Zoology in Cambridge.

A Postoffice Robbed.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The postoffice at Saranac, near this city, was entered by burglars. The postoffice is located in the store of Henry J. Bull, postmaster. When the store was opened, the safe was found wrecked, the door being blown across the room, evidently by gunpowder inserted in a hole drilled near the lock. The loss is estimated at over $500, consisting of money and stamps. The burglars had used tools taken from an adjacent blacksmith shop.

Flywheel Causes Death.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 23. — By the bursting of a flywheel weighing over five tons at the factory of the Providence Rubber Shoe company, corner of Westfield and Public streets, two men were killed and several persons injured. The killed are William J. Benner, engineer, 38 years old, who resided with his family at 546 North Main street, and James M. Brown, 73 years old, who resided with his family at 445 Washington street.

Peru's Prosperity.

LIMA, Peru, via Galveston, Sept. 23.—The best proof of the prosperity and progress of the country under the administration of President Pierola is supplied by the report just published by Senor Rey, the minister of finance, which shows that the imports for 1896 totaled 17,500,000 sols and the exports 25,500,000 sols. The customs revenues for the year were not much short of 7,000,000 sols.

TO PROMOTE CHURCH INTEREST.

The movement for an increased representation of the laymen in the legislative councils of the Methodist Episcopal church has advanced to the point of calling a national convention of laymen of the church, to be held in Indianapolis in October of next year. This action was taken at a conference of Indian laymen, which was attended by over two hundred of the most influential members of the church. The speeches made and resolutions adopted at the conference were mild in tenor, but very earnest. Will Cumback, the presiding officer, gave the keynote to the gathering in his opening remarks, in which he argued that equal representation in the councils of the church would cause more zeal in action and better results from methods. It was declared in the resolutions adopted that a more active participation of the laity in the management of the large and growing business interests of the church, and in the legislation of the General Conference that controls these interests, would bring the ministry and laity into closer touch with each other, and in many ways greatly promote and strengthen the interests of the church. This desire of the laity for equal representation in the General Conference was claimed to be quite general, and only needing organization to find expression in such manner as to be recognized by the ministers and laity alike.

NATURAL ASSUMPTION OF VIOLATION

The principal objection made to the issuing of a liquor license for that rural point known as "Pumptown" to thousands of Jersey cyclists is made on the assumption that the place will become a congregating point for rough characters on Sunday, and even on other days—a virtual admission that the granting of the license will carry with it the intent of violation. Such an assumption, however, is not unusual inasmuch as nearly all, if not quite all, licenses that are granted in Middlesex county are received with the tacit understanding that the letter of the law exists only on the statute books and not in the minds of the administrative officials. It would, indeed, be refreshing to witness a case of where a restrictive traffic or act that requires a license is assured of being conducted as the law says.

The New Brunswick Home News is anxious to know who are the six most conspicuous men in that city, irrespective of glorious public service. Tramps in the chain gang—judged from newspaper publicity

It is one thing to spend money so as to distribute it in many avenues of trade, but quite another to dispense it where it does good permanently.

The Price of Wheat

May or may not be governed by price of silver. It all depends on your point of view. In our sense, the price of wheat has something to do with silver. A silver half dollar, for instance, spent at the great Inter-State Fair, at Trenton, will aid you in producing better wheat and more of it.

Amusement and recreation are worth while, but instruction is of more use to you. You get all three at the Inter State. A day spent there in intelligent observation will make you a better farmer, a better merchant or a better housewife.

The dates are September 27th to October 1st.

Upon a motion made by Alexander's attorney, Justice Collins reduced the amount of bail from $250 to $100, and B. M. Ogden, of Elizabeth, furnished the bond. Since Alexander's arrest it has been hinted that the charge against him was the result of a conspiracy among his fellow-workmen in Garwood, among whom he is said to be unpopular. Three of the men concerned in making the charge have since been discharged from the factory and have left for their homes.

Those Extracts Again.

There is no more effective way to hurt trade than to make overdrawn statements about one's goods. I am careful about that, but I have reason to be enthusiastic about the quality of my flavoring extracts. They are sold in New York in competition with the largest and best houses in the country and they gain in favor all the time. I want these goods to be universally used in Plainfield and I am confident that sooner or later they will be. Genuine merit is bound to win in the end.

THEATRICAL.

"The Broadway Girl," is the title of a new and up to-date musical farce comedy which will appear at Stillman Music Hall tomorrow evening. Of the same it can be said that it is entirely new and original and far away from the regular run of performances of this kind. Special care has been taken in selecting the cast, each member being an artist of merit, and engaged for their ability to fill the parts as laid out by the author. The company is headed by those versatile comedians Rogers and Ryan, who appear as Kraus and McSweeney, two staunch friends, who are the cause of endless merriment, which is warrant d to keep an audience in the best of humor for two hours and a half. They are ably assisted by such well-known artists as Harry Edwards, Daisy Kernell, John Fields, Jr., Nellie Franklyn, Ryeford Sisters, Chas. H. Gorman, Edith Chapman and others. If you want to drive dull care away don't fail to see "The Broadway Girl."

Katie Emmett and "The Waifs of New York" are coming to town. This announcement should please the lovers of melodramas. There will be thrilling escapes, sensational climaxes and scenery galore. The success of Miss Katie Emmett's well-known play is directly responsible for the number of dramas touring the country that deal with life in the great metropolis, but it is hard to conceive how the author of these could hit upon anything new in the shape of sensation, for "The Waifs of New York" seems to have monopolized everything in that line. This year new scenery and effects are promised, and many novel specialties are introduced. Miss Emmett will appear at Music Hall next Tuesday.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Charles F. Lewis has rented the house on East Sixth street, near Sycamore street.

—H. S. Squires has rented his house on Watchung avenue to G. E. Strauss, of New York.

—In a few days a vestibule storm door will be placed in the offset in front of the City National Bank.

—In White's show window is a very pretty display of new fall neckwear for gentlemen at remarkably low prices.

—One of the open cars on the Front street trolley line broke down yesterday afternoon, but it was returned to duty this morning.

—Motorman Welsh, of the street railway, who was the fortunate winner of the rubber suit in the contest at the Indian fair, christened the suit today.

THE CALF PATH.

One day through the primeval wood
A calf walked home, as good calves should;
But made a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail, as all calves do.
Since then two hundred years have fled,
And, I infer, the calf is dead.
But still he left behind his trail,
And thereby hangs a mortal tale.
The trail was taken up next day
By a lone dog that passed that way.
And then a wise bell-wether sheep
Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep,
And drew the flock behind him, too,
As good bell-wethers always do.
And from that day, o'er hill and glade,
Through those old woods a path was made,
And many men wound in and out,
And dodged and turned and bent about,
And uttered words of righteous wrath,
Because 'twas such a crooked path;
But still they followed—do not laugh—
The first migration of that calf,
And through this winding woodway stalked
Because he wabbled when he walked.
This forrest path became a lane,
That bent and turned and turned again;
This crooked lane became a road,
Where many a poor horse, with his load,
Toiled on beneath the burning sun,
And travelled some three miles in one.
And thus a century and a half
They trod the footsteps of that calf.
The years passed on in swiftness fleet,
The road became a village street,
And this, before the men were aware,
A city's crowded thoroughfare,
And soon the central street was this
Of a renowned metropolis.
And men two centuries and a half
Trod in the footsteps of that calf;
Each day a hundred thousand rout
Followed the zigzag calf about;
And o'er his crooked journey went
The traffic of a continent.
A hundred thousand men were led
By one calf near three centuries dead.

AS MARTHA SAID.

BY MAE MESEROLE MERTIN.

"I confess I do not understand you, Joyce."

"And yet you said a moment since that I was but a child."

"Children are sometimes harder to read than their less fortunate kindred of a larger growth."

"I gather from your remark that you consider it better to be a child of quick intelligence than a woman of slow wit."

"That was its purport."

"Then accept my thanks for the compliment."

"Joyce, Joyce, you are hard to please!"

"I think not."

"But how else could I so frequently incur your displeasure?"

"You are so stupid!"

"Now it is my turn to give thanks for a compliment."

"Tim, Tim, you are hard to please!"

Silence. The hammock swings gently back and forth, urged by the alternate pressure of a dainty heel and toe on the bit of worn turf, accompanied by the crisp swish of white duck skirts. From an upper limb of the cherry tree hangs a pair of highly polished tan ties, surmounted by a considerable length of duck trousers. Suddenly the tree is seized and vigorously shaken, and a shower of cherries descends with force. A goodly supply having fallen into her lap, the girl in the hammock calmly makes way with them.

"Beg pardon," says a contrite voice from above. "Did I hurt you?"

"Not at all."

"I am afraid I was angry, and without thinking I shook the limb."

"As Martha would say, 'He that is soon angry——'"

"Ah, but you forget; 'who so provoked him to anger——'"

"By the way, did you know Martha was coming home?"

"No. I am sorry to say I am not honored with your confidence."

"You don't deserve it. I am telling you now."

"Not being deaf, I——"

"You will love Martha."

"I am sure of it."

"Yes, of course. Everybody loves Martha."

"Then surely she could dispense with the little affection I have to spare. Is she like you?"

"In what way? Greediness?"

"Well since you mention it, yes."

"Oh, no! I'm only healthily greedy. Martha is abnormally so. It worries her if people don't fall instant victims to her charms. But she has no cause to worry for they always do."

"I thought her host was an exception."

"To be sure. I forgot him. But then poor old Uncle Dallas never loved any one but himself. He thinks more of Martha than all the rest of us rolled together, though that is not saying a great deal. I am glad he has decided whether to live or die, for I couldn't have gotten along another week without Martha. I hope he'll stay well for a great long time, or else go off suddenly."

"I'm afraid you're a heartless young person, Joyce."

"Oh, no! As Martha was saying before she——"

"Never mind Martha now. I suppose I shall not see much of you after her arrival. Will you play me a set of tennis."

"You have not mended my racquet yet."

"You did not remind me of it. I told you I would forget. I'll do it now."

"What a fib! You thought Tommy would do it if you waited long enough. As Martha tells poor Tom a dozen times a day, 'procrastination is——'"

"Bother Martha!"

"I don't understand you."

"I said bother Martha!

"And had the temerity to repeat it."

"There, there, Joyce! Look out, I'm coming down."

In another second he lands lightly at her feet. Joyce breaks into a gay laugh.

"Who told you not to climb trees in duck trousers? Another time, sir, perhaps you'll listen to my advice."

"The deuce!" says Tim with rueful concern, trying to see the whole of his person at once. And then he looks at her. "Why, Joyce, you wanted some cherries."

"Tommy picked a panful this morning. You were too lazy to go to the house for them."

"Well, never mind. Ducks wash, so it isn't so bad as it might be."

"Meantime?"

"I'l sit in the hammock with you."

"There's no room."

"You can make it."

"If I choose."

"Dear Joyce, won't you choose?"

"Dear Tim, I won't."

"You don't love me, Joyce."

"As Martha was saying, 'If you can't say something, don't speak.'"

"Martha again! Always Martha! I hate Martha!"

"Wicked youth! Never fear, you'll get your deserts."

"Seriously, Joyce, don't you like me a little?"

"To be sure I do—next to Tommy."

"Joyce!"

"But you couldn't expect me to like you better than Tommy. Why, he's my brother."

"Perhaps you are rather tired of having me around, Joyce?"

"That may be. As Martha was saying——"

"Aren't you sorry that I shall never make Martha's acquaintance?"

"But you will. She is coming tomorrow afternoon."

"And I am going in the morning by the early train."

"Nonsense! What for?"

"Well, I think I've neglected father long enough. I have felt guilty ever since reading his last letter; and then you know I have fully recovered my strength after that beastly typhus, and I haven't a shred of an excuse to stay longer. It has been very pleasant, and you've all been uncommonly good to me. I don't like to leave the old place and your sweet mother, but life is not one long holiday. And then you are tired of my hanging 'round."

"But that need not take you off. You can keep out of my way."

"Thanks; I wasn't brought up an adept at dodging folks. Well, I suppose I ought to go over and say goodby to the girls at Moor Lodge. I'd ask you to acompany me only you seem to be weary of my society."

"Shall you return soon?"

"Oh, yes, by bed-time, unless they invite me to stay. If I am not back by six, you'll explain my absence to your mother, will you not?"

"I don't mean that. From the city, you know?"

"Oh, I beg pardon! But why should I return? I'm perfectly well now."

"To see—Martha."

"Oh, Martha——"

"Yes, but don't put yourself out, you know, because Martha has plenty of friends."

"So I judged. Do you think she would care to see me?"

"I think she would. I told her all about you. Please don't swing me. I like to sit still. As Martha was saying, I—I mean you——"

"Well, what was Martha saying? By Jove, since it has got to be Martha, let it be Martha once and for all! What was the oracle saying this time?"

"I'll not tell you."

"Joyce, you are blushing!"

"I'm not. Please, Tim, don't step on my toes."

"Dear Joyce, I will if I like. I insist upon knowing what——"

"Oh, Tim, your knees will be smeared with—dirt!"

"Never mind my knees. Ducks can be washed, you know. You are blushing, Joyce. Tell me what Martha was saying."

"Never!"

"You're ashamed of it."

"I am not."

"Then tell me, won't you, Joyce?"

"No, Martha——"

"Never mind that part. What was it she said?"

"Tim, do you love me?"

"Oh, Joyce!"

"Then, don't ask me what Martha was saying."

"I won't if——"

"If what?"

"You'll make room for me in the hammock."

"Well, there! Oh-h, Tim!"

"What's the matter? Are you not comfortable?"

"Ye—es, but——"

"But what? Now don't say you don't because you do. I see it in your eyes. Ah, my dear, I know what Martha was saying!"

"You don't."

"Shall I tell you?"

"Yes."

"Then look into my eyes. Can you see the reflection of yours?"

"Yes."

"What else can you see?"

"N—nothing."

"No fibs, Joyce. Deny it if you dare. Well, that's what Martha was saying."

He Could Dodge.

"There's nothing slow about Jones," he said reflectively.

The other laughed scornfully.

"I guess you never loaned him any money," he said.

"Oh, yes, I have," replied the first speaker. "That's what made me speak that way. I loaned him $10 six months ago, and I haven't been able to catch him since."—Chicago Post.

Might Make a Difference.

"I'll tell the people who talk about employing you that you are incapable of a falsehood!" said the warm friend.

"Thank you, ever so much, only express it carefully. There's a good deal of difference you know, between saying that a man 'cannot tell a lie' and declaring that he 'has no diplomacy.'"—Washington Star.

Some people haven't enough hospitality in them to entertain their own opinion.—Dallas News.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW YORK.

Two Cases, but Very Slight Ones, Arrive on a Steamer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Two cases of yellow fever, both in a mild and comparatively harmless form, have been brought to this port by the Columbian steamer Finance from the Panama isthmus.

Both patients were removed to the hospital on Swinburne island, and owing to the cool weather no further spread of the disease is likely.

The two cases of sickness developed on the voyage. On Sept. 18 Pat Keating, a fireman, was taken ill and removed to the ship's hospital, and a few hours later John Endman, a student from San Jose, Guatemala, aged 20 years, was also taken sick.

The passengers will be held on the island for five days. The ship's men who did not come in contact with the fever patients will be allowed to come to the city after having their clothing thoroughly fumigated.

Dr. Doty says that there is absolutely no danger of the diesase spreading.

Eighteen first class passengers from the Finance, 5 second class and 15 of the crew have been transferred from the ship to Swinburne island, where the fever patients were taken.

A Priest Stricken Down.

MOBILE, Sept. 23.—New cases are four in number—namely, Father Daniel Murray of St. Vincent's parish; John H. Matthews, Church street, near Marine; John Shea, Charles street, near Selma; Paul Violet, a child, corner of Franklin and Augusta streets. All these are in the infected district. There has been no spread of the disease from the cases in other parts of the city. Father Murray, whose illness is announced, came here from Montgomery 10 days ago. He is reported as doing well.

Two Deaths In New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—Two deaths are reported, making now eight in all. One of these was Dr. Lovell, who contracted the disease while attending to patients.

UNITED STATES JUSTIFED.

All European Countries but One Said to Favor Interposition In Cuban War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The state department officials refuse to discuss the most important statement made in a dispatch from Madrid yesterday—namely, that the countries of Europe, with the exception of Austria, justify the interposition of the United States in favor of a termination of the Cuban war. Still, it is recalled, while Mr. Woodford was tarrying in an apparently purposeless manner in London and Paris instead of proceeding to his post in Spain it leaked out that the United States ministers at the various European courts had been instructed to sound the governments to which they were accredited, with a view to learning how intervention in favor of Cuba would be regarded. Although it was generally supposed at the time that this effort would not succeed, there is now good reason to accept the statement in the Madrid cable as fully warranted by the facts. With such a lever in the hands of Mr. Woodford, and of its existence the Spanish government must be aware by this time, it is regarded as extremely improbable that it would reject a tender of our good offices made in a spirit of friendship and disinterestedness. The Spainish minister, Dupuy de Lome, remains at Lenox, and the recent developments at Madrid have not led the Spanish authorities in this country to hasten their return to Washington. The minister expects to remain away for another month or more. Senor du Bosc, first secretary of the legation, has been here for several days. He did not call at the state department to deliver important dispatches, as has been stated, and the fact that he had no vital information to communicate is indicated by his visit to the golf links. It is not expected that any answer from Spain, if a formal answer is made now or later, will come through the authorities here, but that it will be communicated to Minister Woodford direct.

MRS. LUETGERT IN GERMANY.

The Defense Claims This and Say They Can Prove It.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The first witnesses for the defense in the Luetgert trial were called yesterday.

Attorney Vincent, for the defense, made the opening statement for Luetgert, and, according to him, the defense will be simple. It will consist chiefly of a general denial of all the expert evidence submitted by the state, proof that the caustic potash used in the vat was purchased by Luetgert for the purpose of making soap and evidence tending to show that Mrs. Luetgert is alive and in all probability in Germany. Concerning the rings found in the vat, Attorney Vincent said that they were not those of Mrs. Luetgert and that he would prove that she had never seen them, much less worn them. He also declared that he would bring witnesses to show many of the bones identified by the experts for the prosecution as human bones are in reality those of the lower animals. He will also show, he said, that Mrs. Luetgert has been seen alive and well, save for her mental troubles, since May 1, the night on which it is claimed that she was murdered. He also asserted that Luetgert will go on the stand in his own defense.

Investigation Seems a Farce.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 23.—Last night was the time to which the police board's investigation of the stopping of the Ryan-McCoy fight on Sept. 8 was adjourned from last week. Not a commissioner, witness or other interested person appeared at police headquarters, Mayor McGuire, who has prosecuted the investigation, said it was difficult to get at the right witnesses, and he doubted if future hearings would develop material evidence.

Anarchist's Papers Seized.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Vienna says: "It is reported from Budapest that the police have searched the offices of The People's Tribune, the organ of the ultra Socialists, and seized a pamphlet violently denouncing Emperor William, together with other compromising documents."

Wants Chief of Police to Resign.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—Mayor Flower has requested the resignation of Chief Gaster of the police department.

DUKE'S AWFUL DEATH

German Nobleman Drowned In a Torpedo Boat's Sinking.

EIGHT OF THE CREW LOST ALSO.

The Second Tragic Death of the Year In the Mecklenburg-Schwerin House, the Father of Present Victim Having Committed Suicide.

HAMBURG, Sept. 23.—Duke Frederick William of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and eight of the crew of torpedo boat No. 26 have been drowned by the capsizing of the boat.

The boat tipped over and went to the bottom off the first lightship at Cuxhaven. Duke Frederick William was in command of her at the time.

Details of the sinking are meager. A salvage steamer has gone to the scene of the wreck.

Thrown Into Mourning.

SCHWERIN, Sept. 23.—The mother of the duke received the news of his death late last night at Castle Rabensteinfeld. The whole town has been thrown into deep mourning. The church bells were tolled, and the performance at the theater was abandoned.

This is the second tragic death in the Mecklenburg-Schwerin house within the year. The father of Duke William committed suicide on April 11 last at Cannes, where he had gone for his health.

He was of a sensitive disposition and feared pain greatly.

He had been suffering for a long time with a nervous affection, and one night, when left alone, he wandered to a high bridge near his villa and threw himself over the parapet to the rocks below.

Both legs and his backbone were broken, and he died within half an hour after being found.

On his death his eldest son succeeded him.

The duke, who was drowned yesterday by the sinking of the torpedo boat of which he was in command, was born in 1871.

He was a lieutenant in the German navy.

From boyhood he displayed a remarkable love for the sea. Many of his ancestors had been soldiers, but he was the first of recent years to seek honors on the ocean.

He rose to the grade of lieutenant in the German naval service and was considered a first class officer.

His official title was Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, Prince of Wenden, Schwerin and Ratzeburg, Count Schwerin, lord of Rostock and royal highness of Stargard.

University and Charities Enriched.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—By the will of the late Mrs. W. S. P. Field, formerly of this city, who died recently in East Grimstead, England, the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania are left the sum of $80,000 for the purpose of establishing beds in the hospital and for general uses of the university. Among the bequests to other charities are the following: American Home Missionary society of New York, $10,000; trustees of the Home of Shelter, Albany, $500; City orphanage, Albany, $500; House of Mercy, Washington, $10,000; Friends' meeting, Washington, $500; to the Homeopathic Free Dispensary association of Washington, $4,000; trustees of the Williams college, Williamstown, Mass., $1,000.

Supervisors Removed.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23.—Mayor Tafel, who has been conducting an investigation of charges against members of the board of supervisors, decided that as to M. G. Roe, Lewis Werner and John Zumstein the charges were sustained, and he ordered their removal. As to Lewis Krohn he will consider further. Mayor Tafel appointed Henry Haack, S. A. Miller, E. G. Scheifer and J. F. Meader in place of those removed. Some show of violence was made when the new members claimed their seats. The new board finally organized, and the removed members went to the court for an injunction.

Belle Webb Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Belle M. Webb, the young stenographer and typewriter who inhaled illuminating gas through a rubber tube in a boarding house on West Fourteenth street, this city, last Sunday morning, died yesterday afternoon at the New York hospital. She was said to have been in love with a newspaper reporter in Philadelphia named Harris, and his suicide three weeks ago led her to destroy herself. Miss Webb's home was at South Chester, Pa. She came here last April and secured a position in a publishing house on Fifth avenue.

Postmasters Will Be Needed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The following named postoffices will be raised from fourth to third class on the 1st of October, rendering necessary the appointment of a postmaster for each of them by the president: Ellicott City, Md.; Townsend and Walnut Hill, Mass.; Groton, Conn.; Riverside, N. J.; Elmhurst and New Hartford, N. Y.; East Pittsburg and St. Clair, Pa.; Blackstone and Hot Springs, Va.; Romney, W. Va.

Team Pacing Record Lowered.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—The pacers John R. Gentry and Robert J., on the Belmont track, lowered the world's double team record for a mile to 2:09. The quarters were 33, 1:04, 1:37, 2:09. The previous record was 2:09¼, held by Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes' Miss Rita and Josie B.

Judge Parker Indorsed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The National Democratic state committee last night nominated Alton B. Parker for chief judge of the court of appeals. This is an indorsement of the regular Democratic nomination.

Another New York Suicide.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—John P. Mount, 48 years old, of 61 South Oxford street, Brooklyn, shot himself in the temple last night in the Occidental hotel, Bowery and Broome street. He is dead.

Low Will Not Withdraw.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Mr. Seth Low has made a statement to the effect that he will stand by his colors and not withdraw from the mayoralty fight unless asked by the Citizens' union.

CAT CAME BACK AT LAST.

ITS ABSENCE CAUSED COAL BARON STEVENS TO WEEP.

The Feline Was Caught Under a Railroad Bridge and Couldn't Extract Itself—Once More It Purrs Contentedly.

When George O. Stevens purchased the coal yard in the West End, of which he is now the proprietor, one of the things not inventoried, but nevertheless revered and valued, was a cat—just an ordinary white and black tabby. Mr. Stevens fell in love with the cat and patted it and said "nice kitty." The feline purred its approval and pre-empted the waste paper basket in the office for its domicile. Frequently, however, kitty made excursions to the top of the desk and acted as cashier, or at least stuck its nose out of the oval hole in the wire netting and purred a soothing "thank you" to the debtor as he paid his bill.

Last Saturday morning, as usual, tabby went out for her morning constitutional, but she failed to turn up at the accustomed time. The next day and the next day after that came and no tabby came. Mr. Stevens became suspicious that the cat immortalized in song as coming back must be a myth. Yesterday Mr. Stevens gave up all hope of ever seeing his tabby again.

This morning he left a note for the milkman, spotted with sorrowing tears that fell to give vent to his remorse, not to leave any more milk for the cat.

"M-e-o-w, m-e-o-w," plaintively whimpered a cat as two boys were passing under the Grant avenue railroad bridge about that time. The boys looked around and finally spied a cat apparently caught in the timbers on the bridge. The cat cried so faintly that the boys got a big plank and released it. They had heard of Mr Stevens' loss and straightway carried pussy to his presence.

So dirty and gaunt did the cat appear that the coal baron scarcely recognized the animal, but when she commenced to talk cat to him he quickly understood the language. The meeting was affecting between the two.

Then tabby was treated to a Turkish bath in a water pail and given a little food. Now she is installed in her old quarters.

It is evident that the cat had been under the bridge ever since its disappearance, unable to get away.

PASSING COMMENT.

A few days ago a Plainfield pastor, who has been away enjoying his summer vacation, remarked to a Press representative that he had noticed an increase in the attendance at his church since his return. He is of the opinion that the increase is general among the Plainfield churches and feels as though it is a good sign for progressive work.

* * * * *

A day or two ago a progressive Plainfield business woman was passing through East Second street when she suddenly felt something tugging at her hair and bonnet strings. Womanlike, she screamed and made all sorts of motions for a few minutes. Investigation developed the fact that some unknown person had purposely thrown a Maltese kitten at her head and the little kitten was having lots of fun. For a time the woman was inclined to be angry, but on second thought she decided to let the matter drop, also the kitten.

* * * * *

As an example of the cleanliness to be found in Plainfield homes a good story is told of an incident that happened a few days ago when a member of a certain household accidentally cut himself with a knife. Immediately there was a rush of blood, also a rush on the part of the family for something to stop the bleeding. Some one suggested cobwebs as a good preventative, and a still hunt was instituted for some cobwebs. After a long search, during which the blood still flowed profusely, it was impossible to find any cobwebs, and flour had to be used instead.

* * * * *

People who have a penchant for placing costly collars upon their pet canines will do well not to let the animals roam about the streets too freely, as the latest thing in the way of thieves in this section is a number of men who go about as peddlers and make a practice of stealing dog collars. A resident of Scotch Plains, whose dog was buncoed in this manner followed the men and threatened them with arms if they did not at once restore the collar. They became frightened and offered him what they supposed was the collar taken from his dog. It was not the right one, however, and another, and then another was shown before the right collar appeared. The incident showed that the men make a practice of collar stealing, and that their efforts had been quite successful.

GOSSIP FROM GRIDIRON.

WORDY PUNTS AND KICKS ABOUT FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

A game is being arranged between the Alis boys and the Cranford Athletic Club. Both teams average about 140 pounds.

The Alis football team will play a practice game on Saturday morning against Whitney's team, on the Martine common.

The Scooth Plains football team will not appear on the gridiron this fall. The team has split up and most of the best players have joined the ranks of the Westfield team.

A number of the candidates for the Plainfield Athletic Association team met for practice yesterday afternoon. They passed the ball around and practiced tackling and falling on the ball.

John Gluck, of Westfield, is now trying to organize a football team in Roselle to play the Alis team. Gluck has never forgiven the Alis boys for defeating him when he played with the Scotch Plains team, and he is now trying to get something that will defeat the Alis team. Owing to a misunderstanding between Gluck and the other Westfield players, he will not play in Westfield.

The candidates for the football team of the Plainfield Athletic Association will hold their first night practice this evening in the field on Westervelt avenue, next to the home of Thomas U. Smith. The field will be lighted with electric lights which are being put up now. In case of rain, however, the practice will be postponed. It is hoped that everybody in Plainfield that plays football will be present.

Plainfield has two representatives among the candidates for the Yale 'varsity team. They are Raymond A. McGee and Wesley Abbott. Abbott played substitute tackle on the team last year. McGee would have made the freshmen team but an injury of the knee prevented him from playing. He is looked upon as a prominent candidate for one of the guards. Both of the old guards have left the college.

GOLF.

Mixed doubles will be played on the Golf Club grounds next Saturday afternoon. There will be no prize.

ANENT CREDIT COUPONS.

In Elmira, N. Y., the Merchants Have Discontinued the Practice.

Just at this particular time the Plainfield merchants are undergoing a surfeit of premium-giving plans as trade inducers. Some of the more conservative decline to enter into such arrangements, while others realize the force of the competitive weapon accepted by rival dealers in the plan of companies formed for such a purpose and have met it with an organization of their own conducted on the co-operative system. In a word, the credit coupons have attracted the attention of nearly every housewife in the city and in many instances diverted their patronage from merchants long accustomed to serving them. In view of this fact, the following taken from The National Advertiser will be interesting:

The grocers of Elmira, N. Y., have decided not to give any more premiums to their customers. After discussing the matter at some length, the grocers decided that the premium system is not profitable, and a committee, consisting of E. N. Sergent, W. J. Cole and Clinton Berry, was appointed to formulate a plan by which all the grocers in the city should bind themselves to abandon premiums. For some time trading stamps have been given out to the purchasers in Elmira, and a $100 bicycle was offered to the buyer who presented six books of stamps, which cost the merchant about $5 a book. This offer was opened to cash purchasers only. A correspondent of the Elmira Telegram says that this system only pays cash customers for trading at a particular store, and is not an inducement to credit customers.

W. D. Thickstun and family, of Central avenue, have returned from Belmar.

Miss Jessie Hutchison, of Eastport, Me., is the guest of her brother J. P. Hutchison, of Leggett's pharmacy.

Mr. Stine, of West End avenue, who has been confined for a long time at the hospital under treatment for a disease, was discharged cured yesterday.

—Miss Jenkins, of East Sixth street, has opened her millinery parlors, for fall and winter trade.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—This evening a "Cobweb Social" will be held at Warren chapel, to which a cordial invitation is given to all.

—Marshall P. Wilder, the little humorist, who has been petted and lionized by the people of two continents, will be heard in W. C. T. U. hall next Thursday evening.

—It is quite possible that before a great while the marshals of the borough will be provided with new winter overcoats. The present coats are worn out and will hardly do another year.

—At the meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Warren chapel last Tuesday afternoon Miss Swain resigned her position as secretary and Mrs. William Wilson was elected to fill the vacancy.

CHINESE OBSTACLES.

The Numerous Evil Spirits That Must Be Exercised Before Work is Begun.

If a house is to be repaired, wonderful forethought is necessary. The evil spirits which are supposed to occupy each dwelling that mortals have inhabited cause the carpenter no end of trouble and no trifling expense. First, an astrologer must be consulted with regard to the most lucky day for beginning the work; then a square suspended from the ridge beam is a notification to the spirits of darkness that their dwelling place is to be disturbed, wherefore the square thing for them to do is to move out quietly and peacefully. Next, the carpenters make offerings to these unseen residents. These gifts seem to say, "if you please, spirits of darkness, accept this bribe and speedily take your flight." Next, the neighbors must be warned that these evil influences are about to be turned loose, perhaps to seek shelter under a neighboring roof. Every house on that street receives a notice that upon a certain day and hour repairs are to begin on the dwelling of Ah Sin. Each household can then pay the imps not to enter their doorway, but to go to the next neighbor.

Even the farmer cannot begin his work in the spring until after the national festivals are celebrated in honor of the special gods who are supposed to make it their particular business to look after the welfare of those who till the soil. In a land where more than one hundred million people are supported by agriculture, where many farms have been in cultivation for three or even four milleniums, we naturally expect to find skill in that line of work. In this we are not disappointed, for Chinese farming is scientific handwork.—Lippincott's Magazine.

THE NATURAL BRIDGE OF TO-DAY.

One of the Notable Place of Interest 150 Years Ago.

The Natural Bridge is 215 feet in height, 100 feet in width, with a span of 90 feet. Under the arch might be placed the Washington monument at Baltimore. Cedar Creek, the stream over which it stretches its arch, is clear as crystal. No photograph or painting can impress the mind with its immensity or grandeur, or geometrical proportions, or the rich coloring, or the picturesque surroundings. One must feast his eyes upon the mighty arch to realize its vastness. Under the arch are the outlines of an American eagle, formed by moss and lichens. Upon one side is where George Washington, when a surveyor for Lord Fairfax, 150 years ago, carved his name in the rock. The ravages of time and exposure of elements have nearly obliterated the name, but some of the letters are quite distinct. In the years gone by Henry Clay, Daniel Webster and many prominent statesmen, before railroads were built, spent days of inconvenient travel to look upon this—one of the wonders of the world. Now the iron horse speeds over its steel roadway, and in a few hours one can reach this destination without fatigue.—Baltimore Sun.

Rather Remarkable.

A Half Dozen Ideas Will Suggest Themselves to the Reader While Perusing This.

It is seldom that a passenger on board a train gives a thought to the man at the throttle, and rarer still that a man chosen above all others by the people does so. Of all the flowers placed on the Presidential train on its way through Pittsburgh and Alleghany City on its way to Washington, there is one cluster of white carnations destined to be preserved for generations and handed down to children and grandchildren as long as the petals and stems will hold together. That was the handsome bouquet presented by President McKinley to the locomotive engineer in charge of the train we have just spoken about. This graceful act of the President has nothing to do with Locomotive Engineer Frank McCleary, of 240½ Van Horn street, Jersey City, N. J., engineer on the D. L and W. R. R. We merely introduce him in this way so that in a measure the reader may know whom we are talking about, and if afflicted in this way, the benefit of this valuable advice can be utilized. Read what he says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy for the kidneys and they are becoming well known among railroad men, especially engineers and firemen, as lame back and kidney ailments are quite common among railroad employes. I was troubled with backache and other symptoms of kidney disorder, and hearing everyone who had used Doan's Kidney Pills speak well of them I got a box at a drug store. I had not used them long before I was entirely freed from backache and lameness across the shoulders and in the loins. I take pleasure in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills as a splendid remedy."

THE WHITE WALES TAIL.

Wherein the Tails of All Aquatic Mammals Vary from Those of Fishes.

Looking at the white whale at the Aquarium in New York a person not familiar with water animals might be mildly astonished to see that creature lean outward when swimming around in a circle, instead of inward. Seeking the cause of this the observer unfamiliar with whales would discover that the whale's tail is set, not in a vertical plane as is the case of fishes, but in a horizontal plane.

Set horizontally instead of vertically, the whale's tale is of the very greatest assistance to it in diving, and especially in rising promptly to the surface, which it is necessary for it to do at intervals to fill its lungs with air.

Going over again to the wall tanks the observer may note again, and this time with a new interest, that all the fishes there have tails up and down, in line with the body, in a vertical plane; and he learns upon inquiry that all fishes have tails in a vertical plane, and that all aquatic mammals, of which the whale is one, have tails set exactly the other way, in a horizontal plane.—New York Sun.

California's Asphalt Fields.

The plant of the California Asphalt Company at Ventura, Ventura county, is being rapidly pushed to completion. Its output will be about 300 barrels of refined asphalt per day. The asphalt beds of California are beginning to attract much attention. An officer of the state mining bureau, who has been examining the asphalt beds of the Sisquoc country, San Luis Obispo county, says they form one of the largest fields ever discovered. California asphalt is now being tested on the streets of Paris and of Glasgow to compare it with the supply from other sources. It is an asphaltic sandstone, while that from Trinidad is an asphaltic limestone, which is said to be much inferior to the California produce, as it cracks when used for paving. The total value of the output of asphaltic products in California last year was $485,000.—Cor. New York Sun.

A bicycle path in midair is the latest thing. The Brooklyn Elevated Railway Company is seriously contemplating a plan to build a cycle roadway on top of the "L" structure. The matter will be considered at the next meeting of the board of directors.

What a difference it makes whether a girl's nose is freckled from riding a bicycle, or picking cherries and hanging out clothes in the sun, and yet they are all one style of freckle.—Dansville Breeze.

A SMITH HALED TO COURT

AN ECHO OF THE GREAT FAMILY PICNIC HELD AT PLUCKAMIN.

Isaiah, the Patriarch, Accused of Assaulting a Photographer, Who Wants $200 Damages—Many Smiths at the Trial.

A desultory echo of the all-around good time enjoyed by the famous Smith family of New Jersey at Pluckamin last month was heard in Justice Kitchen's court at Somerville yesterday afternoon, when the patriarch of the tribe, Isaiah Smith, was haled to the Dogberry in the suit for $200 damages instituted by John Rider, a Somerville photographer, ejected from the picnic grounds by the patriarch. Mr. Smith appeared in court smiling and confident, and appeared highly elated over the fact that he was first man to be defended by the second woman lawyer of New Jersey, Miss Mary Steele. It was Miss Steele's maiden effort in open court and she threw all her talents into the defense of the case.

Photographer Rider testified that on the day of the Smith family reunion he pitched his tent on the land of Mrs. Perry, near the Smith picnic grounds. He was ordered off the place by Isaiah Smith, president of the society. He was about to leave when President Smith became so enraged at his slow movements that he upset his tent and wrecked his entire outfit. A lamp was overturned and set fire to the contents. A coat and hat belonging to his sister, Miss Rebecca Rider, were burned, and many valuable articles were ruined.

Rider's story was substantiated by a number of witnesses. His counsel attempted to prove that Isaiah Smith had no legal right to eject him from the place.

Mrs. Perry testified that she owned the land occupied by Rider at the time of the alleged assault. This year she was absent from home, and no agreement was made. She would have agreed to allow the society their former privilege if she had been home.

Isaiah Smith took the stand and denied Rider's story of his violent actions and the assault. He said that the lamp that set fire to the tent had been dropped as he was handing it to Rider.

Several members of the Smith family testified to the rules and regulations of the society, excluding venders, etc.

Justice Kitchen reserved his decision. The trial was largely attended by Smiths from Peapack, New York, Brooklyn and elsewhere.

THE TEXT MISUNDERSTOOD.

Manifesto Issued by Socialists Answered by Florence Howe Hall.

The manifesto issued by the Socialist party of New Jersey this week, in which a stand is taken against the Constitutional amendment relating to the right of women to vote at school elections because paupers are barred under its provisions, has attracted the attention of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, and she issued the following statement to the press:

"It is an unfortunate thing that a misunderstanding should have arisen in the minds of some people as to the wording of the proposed amendment to the New Jersey Constitution, restoring school suffrage to women.

"Owing to the requirements of the law the amendment is not published as such—but merely as a part of section 1 of Article II, as that article will stand if the amendment is carried. This section defines who are and who are not entitled to vote in New Jersey, and is now, it is almost needless to say, a part of the Constitution. The amendment itself—the only words which it is proposed to add to the section—are the following:

"Every female citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the State one year and of the county of which she claims her vote five months next before said meeting, shall be entitled to vote at any school meeting held in any school district of this State in which she may reside, for members of Boards of Education and all other school officers that now are or hereafter may be elected at such meetings.

"Section 1 of the remainder of Article II, relating to the qualification of voters, and excluding paupers, idiots, insane persons, etc., is now a part of the Constitution."

A COBWEB SOCIABLE.

Participants Endeavored to Untangle Thread Wound in a Mystifying Way.

Those who attended the "Cobweb Social" held at Warren chapel last evening, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, had a good time. There was a goodly number of people present, and the rain without did not in the least mar the pleasures of those within. The president of the society, Theodore Chamberlain, was in charge, and the forepart of the evening was devoted to the rendition of a programme consisting of remarks by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the chapel; recitations by Helen Woolley and Frank Bach; piano solos by Miss Cortwright; and vocal solos by Mrs. Andrew Stiglitz. Each number was well rendered and won hearty applause from the audience.

At the close of the programme the president announced that all were cordially invited to participate in the "Cobweb" part of the entertainment. The folding doors were then rolled back and the sight that attracted the eyes of all was the large cobweb that encircled the room. It was made of thread and was wound about in a very mysterious manner. Several of those present entered the web and started to wind up the thread. Miss Kohler was the first to complete her task and Miss Dolly Bolsterli was a close second. Others followed closely after and in a little while the thread was all put back on the spools. The scheme afforded a great deal of amusement for all. After this part of the evening's entertainment was completed refreshments were served by the social committee and the balance of the time was spent in social chat. The affair will be repeated October 24th, when prizes will be offered to the ones who come out first in clearing up the cobweb.

Improvements will also be made in the Park avenue shop by the owner of the building.

Owing to last night's storm, Rev. W. C. O'Donnell did not deliver his lecture on "New England, the Home of the Poet and Patriot," as was expected. FIRST HARVEST HOME.

AN AUTUMNAL EVENT HELD AT MT. ZION A. M. E. CHURCH.

Many Varieties of Grain and Fruit on Exhibition of a Seasonable Nature—A Very Pleasing Programme Given.

The first harvest home of the season was held at Mt. Zion A. M. E. church on West Fourth street last evening, under the auspices of the Helping-Hand Society of the church. Considering the weather the church was well filled with members and friends who took great pleasure in the programme presented. In the large audience room the collection of all kinds of fruit and vegetables were displayed to advantage about the pulpit and platform. The fruit was arranged by Mrs. Henry, while Mrs. E. B. Maynard and others had charge of the flower decorations.

During the evening short addresses were made by visiting clergymen. Presiding Elder Sturges was assigned the topic of "Vegetables," while Rev. M. M. Dent, of Elizabeth, spoke about "Grain." "Fruit" was the subject given to Rev. F. D. Tilden, and Rev. R. H. Gooden, of Bound Brook, made a few remarks about "Flowers." The last speaker was Rev. J. H. Christmas, and his subject was "Leaves." All of the speakers were interesting and they imparted much knowledge hitherto unknown by those present.

A feature of the programme was the part taken by the members of the Sunlight Mission Band. Each one bearing a basket of some kind of fruit or a bunch of grain or corn marched to the front of the church where they placed their offering on the altar. Interspersing the speeches there were several selections of instrumental music. After the rendition of the programme all adjourned to the room below where refreshments were served by the members of the society. The watermelon and fruit stand was in charge of Samuel Tills, while Mrs. Down and Mrs. Jones looked after the candy, fruit and flowers. The cake table was presided over by Mrs. Dunham and Mrs. Tills, and Mrs. Sarah Marsh was in charge of the sandwiches and coffee. Mr. Henry and Mrs. Down served the ice cream.

This evening all of the fruit and vegetables donated by various ones will be disposed of at auction and the proceeds will be devoted to the church. The admission this evening will be ten cents. Rev. James Groves, pastor, is in charge of the affair, and those who serve as a committee from the society consists of Mrs. A. Peters, president; Mrs. R. Voorhees, vice-president; Mrs. G. Henry, treasurer; Miss B. Groves, secretary; Miss H. Langford, assistant secretary. Another committee, consisting of a large number of the members of the society, assisted in making the affair a success.

LOST MONEY RETURNED.

Praiseworthy Act of an Honest Bound Brook Young Man.

Last Wednesday morning Miss Ella Hanan, of New York, who has been employed at the Mountain Park Inn during the summer, lost her pocketbook containing about $40 and some valuable papers. The book was lost near the North Avenue station and the unfortunate woman reported the loss to the officials at the station. In the afternoon of the same day a young man from Bound Brook found the book and contents at the station and returned the same to Edward Nelson, ticket agent. It proved to be the property of Miss Hanan and she was notified of the recovery of the book. The young man who found the book did not give his name, but he will probably be rewarded.

THIEVES IN SHOE STORE

DETECTED BY PATROLMAN M'CARTY, BUT MADE THEIR ESCAPE.

Gained an Entrance Through a Rear Door, But Nothing of Value Was Taken—No Clew to Who the Offenders Might Be.

A daring attempt at burglary was committed last evening about 10:30 when an entrance was effected in the rear part of the shoe store owned by William Schloss, on West Front street. From all appearance there were two men implicated in the burglary. When Patrolman McCarty passed the store at that time he noticed that someone was inside the store, but they were behind the desk and he was unable to see their faces. He at once went through a near-by alley to the rear of the store thinking that he could catch the thieves. The men evidently heard footsteps and in quick order made their escape through several yards to Madison avenue, where they disappeared into Second street. At the time there were a few persons on Madison avenue and they saw two persons running very fast but, of course, they knew not the cause.

Soon afterward Patrolman McCarty blew three rounds on his police whistle. This brought Sergeant Kiely to the spot and an investigation of the place was made. By this time a small crowd had been attracted by the police whistle.

Investigation proved that the thieves had broken open one of the shutters to the window in the rear and had then pried the window open. They had not been in the place very long for nothing of any consequence has been missed. It is believed that the thieves are the same ones that broke into Barnes' grocery store, on West Front street, a few weeks ago.

GROCERY STORE BURGLARIZED.

Barnes Brothers Robbed of a Small Amount of Stock.

Thieves last night forced an entrance into the grocery of Barnes Brothers, at 330 West Front street, by breaking a pane of glass and drawing the bolts to the back door. The intruders tampered with the safe, unscrewing the caps upon its door hinges and then ransacked the entire store. It is not possible to tell how much was stolen, but a quantity of groceries, including a large cheese, was carried away. There is every indication that the thieves were amateurs.

A NEW FIRM NAME.

William J. R. Thiers Joins Elston M. French in Real Estate and Insurance.

The Daily Press takes pleasure in making the announcement that Elston M. French, the real estate and insurance broker, of 107 East Front street, has taken unto himself a partner in the person of William J. R. Thiers, of Grove street. The change will take effect October 1st, and the name of the firm will be Elston M. French & Co. The business will be carried on at the above address, and these two popular young men will no doubt win a large portion of the real estate and insurance business to be placed by their many friends.

Telephone Franchise Asked For.

Representatives of the Home Telephone Company, which desires to establish a system in the city of New Brunswick, have had a conference with the streets and roads committee of the Aldermen, and it is thought a franchise will be offered at the meeting of the board tonight for its consideration. The Home Telephone Company offers to furnish the city with twelve telephones free of charge, and it is believed that the Council will grant the competing line a franchise.

A BUSINESS FAILURE.

Edwin E. Titus Unable to Convert Property Into Cash to Satisfy The Creditors.

Edwin E. Titus, proprietor of the Golden Rule bakery, has made an assignment for the benefit of all his creditors. He is in the sad position of having property amounting to all his debts, but being unable to convert it into ready cash.

Titus came here from the west nearly three years ago, and established the Golden Rule bakery on Somerset street. He has been meeting with varying success during that time. Of late, several of his creditors have been pushing him, and as he could not convert his property into ready cash, he made an assignment this morning to protect the rest of his creditors. Assemblyman W. R. Codington was named as assignee.

An inventory has not been made, but the assets are estimated to amount to $1,500 while the liabilities are about $1,200. The business will probably be continued.

A COON DODGER.

A Title Conferred By Reason of Agility in Escaping Thrown Tomatoes.

Irving Jackson, an odd character who was taken to the county jail a few days ago from Plainfield, on a charge of being disorderly, and who is aged about 21 years, prides himself on the fact that he is a coon "dodger." When brought to the jail he carried a cane, and sported a fall overcoat. The term "coon dodger" was too deep for Warden Blore, and he was unfamiliar with the term. Jackson was asked what it meant, and he said it was a degree that had been conferred on him for his ability to dodge tomatoes. It was his mission to secrete himself behind a canvas at county fairs, and poking his head out of an aperture in the canvas, would remove it suddenly when ripe tomatoes were thrown at it, the charge being five cents for each person so practicing.

Jackson told the warden that he had an extraordinary season at the Waverly State Fair grounds, and that he had not been struck once, although he had experienced a number of very narrow escapes. Jackson went to the Somerset County Fair a few days ago, and there achieved great success.

When he returned to Plainfield, however, he got into difficulty, and this got him into the county jail, where he is spending his time.

TRIED TO WHIP AN OFFICER.

Didn't Succeed, Though, and Was Landed in a Rookery Cell.

Charles Jenkins and Henry Russell are colored men employed by Captain Hand. Both are usually quiet and well behaved. Yesterday they came down town and partook too freely of Jersey lightning, with the usual result. Jenkins became fighting drunk. After being put out of a downtown saloon, they went up to Willis' place on West Third street. They ordered drinks and acted in such a disorderly manner that Patrolman Flanagan was called to assist them to the door.

Jenkins objected and started in for a fight but the officer subdued his prisoner with his "billie." When he dragged Jenkins out in the open air, he was quickly surrounded by a crowd of colored men. Flanagan blew his whistle and Patrolman McCarty, who was off duty and happened to be in the neighborhood, answered. The prisoner was dragged to jail. Russell was arrested later for being drunk and disorderly. Sherman Jenkins was arrested for attempting to rescue his brother, but the evidence conclusively proved that he acted as a very orderly citizen and made no attempt at rescue.

When arraigned before City Judge DeMeza, this morning, the elder Jenkins was find $25, and Russell $10, while the peaceful Jackson was discharged.

Arranging for a Public Meeting.

A meeting of Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., was held last evening. One candidate was initiated. Then Grand Outside Watchman V. W. Nash and Past Master Bauersachs made short addresses regarding the public meeting which is to be held in this city under the auspices of the Grand Lodge. A committee was appointed to co-operate with Columbia Lodge in arranging for the meeting. The committee consisted of Edward Mosher, George W Clark and Wm. Newcorn.

Couldn't Speak English.

Angelo Loozey, an Italian who could not speak English, was found wandering about Netherwood, last evening, by Patrolman Myers. He would not leave and was locked up. This morning City Judge DeMeza released him.

—The Y. M. C. A. bicycle run to Paterson, which was to have taken place last evening, did not come off on account of the storm.

REPUBLICANS STIRRING.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION TAKE A STAND FOR ANTI-GAMBLING AMENDMENT.

A Special Committee Appointed to Lay Plans for Getting Out the Full Vote of the Party—Public Address May be Issued.

Tonight, or tomorrow night at the latest, the Republican organization in this city will announce its plans for Tuesday's election. That it will support the amendments is already known, but to what extent and in what way is still a secret.

Last Friday evening a meeting of the city executive committee of the Republicans was called to consider the proposed amendments. As the mouthpiece of the organization, the decision of the committee will bear much weight with the local politicians. The committee discussed the amendments and decided to solidly support them. The party, through the State leaders, has drawn party lines on the issue and decided that the amendments should be supported by Republicans. It was this same race-track question that largely enabled the Republicans to carry the State at the election of the last Legislature. The Republicans then carried the present anti gambling law through the Legislature and they are now bound to continue on the same lines and effectually clinch the matter by carrying the Constitutional amendment at a popular vote.

The members of the city committee were unanimous on the race track and gambling amendment, although opinions differed somewhat on the others. The Republicans will support all three of the amendments but it will be the race track amendment on which they will lay the greatest stress.

It was decided to appoint a special sub-committee to take the question in hand and lay plans for the campaign which, at this late day, will necessarily be a short one. Assemblyman W. R. Codington, chairman of the committee, made the appointments as follows: J. B. Coward, First ward; William N. Runyon, Second ward; Roger F. Murray, Third ward, and William A. Westphal, Fourth ward. It was suggested that an address be issued by the committee

The sub-committee was instructed to arrange a plan of action and report to the city committee as soon as possible. So far nothing has been heard of what the committee intends to do, but a meeting of the city committee will be held this evening or tomorrow evening when the report will be heard.

RAHWAY RIVER POLLUTION.

The Water of an Inky Hue Because of Dye Stuffs Thrown Into It.

A movement to prevent the further pollution of the branch of the Rahway river originating in the mountains back of Springfield, and flowing through South Orange, Millburn, Springfield, Cranford and Rahway, was set on foot yesterday. Game Warden Brown, of Roselle, upon receiving notice that the fish were being poisoned by the dyes discharged into the river by the various Orange, Millburn and Springfield hat and woolen manufactories, visited those towns yesterday and verified the complaint. He then directed the offenders to dispose of their refuse elsewhere than in the river, and all, with the exception of Berg & Co., he says promised to do so. The water passing through Cranford for several days past has been of an inky hue, and so thick with dye stuffs that boats have been discolored. As this water is the source of Rahway's supply, the Board of Health of that city is expected to take vigorous action in the matter.

Drove Over a Steep Embankment.

Charles Johnson, of Dunellen, met with a bad accident last evening at Washingtonville while he was driving home. It was between 8 and 9 o'clock and the night being very dark he was unable to see the road very far ahead. Suddenly his wagon and horse went over a steep embankment and he was thrown out into a ditch. The wagon was thoroughly wrecked, but the horse escaped uninjured, so did Mr. Johnson. Mr. Johnson succeeded in securing another wagon to get home and the broken one was brought to J. P. Homan's repair shop on Somerset street, where it is now being fixed up.

—Tonight a missionary prayer-meeting will be held at Warren chapel, to which all are invited.

—Thomas Brannan, of Randolph road, appeared before City Judge DeMeza, this morning, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly and abusing his wife. He was sent to jail for forty days.

—"Fast in the Wilderness," is the name of a novel entertainment that will be given in Bethel chapel, corner of Washington and East Fifth streets, Thursday evening, October 7th, under the auspices of the Earnest Workers of the chapel.

SAY THEY SAW HER.

Kenosha (Wis.) People Claim to Have Seen Mrs. Luetgert.

'TWAS AFTER HER ALLEGED DEATH.

The Defense Produces Some Startling Evidence and Impeaches the Testimony Given by Emma Schimpke, a Star Witness For the State.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Yesterday's proceedings in the Luetgert murder trial were the most remarkable that have occurred within three weeks. In the face of the sensational circumstantial evidence that has been produced to prove that Mrs. Luetgert met death in her husband's sausage factory on May 1 three witnesses testified that they saw the woman alive on May 3 and 4.

One of these witnesses talked to her and believed from a description and a photograph of Mrs. Luetgert that the woman he saw was Mrs. Luetgert. The witness was one Sholey, a barkeeper at the Hotel Maple, Kenosha, Wis. He said he saw a strange woman at the Hotel Maple on the evening of May 3. He talked with her nearly 10 minutes. She asked to be directed to the farm of one Mueller, in the neighborhood, but as no one seemed to know of such a person the woman left on the following day. He described her general appearance and her clothing and identified a photograph of Mrs. Luetgert as the woman he saw.

On cross examination by State Attorney Dineen, Sholey also fixed the weight of the woman he saw at 130 or 140 pounds.

Then he hesitated, said he had got mixed up and remarked that the woman weighed 115 to 118 pounds, which was about Mrs. Luetgert's weight. This hesitation and correction was made much of by the prosecution, which intimated that Sholey had forgotten the weight that probably had been told him at first.

Policeman Henry Feldshaw of Kenosha, Wis., testified that he saw a strange woman in the police station of his town on May 3. The witness said he afterward saw the woman at the Hotel Maple and the following day at the railway station. He described her as a blond and said she wore a sailor hat and slippers. One of the slippers she had worn was found in the police station after she had left. The witness identified the picture of Mrs. Luetgert as closely resembling the woman he saw.

William J. Grunsten, a clerk in the Grant hotel, Kenosha, identified the photograph as the picture of a woman he saw in his hotel on May 3. He said she came to the hotel and remained ten minutes and left. He described the woman and corroborated the testimony of other witnesses.

Emma Schimpke came to the courtroom in the afternoon to hear Rosa Gleich impeach her evidence given on Wednesday. She was fighting mad when she heard herself made out a falsifier. Attorney Phalen discovered her presence in the room and called her to the witness stand. When asked if she had not told Rosa Gleich she had lied, the witness replied, "I don't remember."

"Did you not tell Harry Fiedler you lied when you said you saw Mr. and Mrs. Luetgert on May 1?"

"I don't remember."

"Did you not tell Rosa Gleich you did not see Mr. and Mrs. Luetgert the night of May 1?"

"I may have said so."

Mrs. Mattie Sherrer, the last witness of the day, testified positively that Emma Schimpke told her that the testimony the Schimpke girl had given on the witness stand was untrue.

Valera on the Cuban Question.

MADRID, Sept. 24.—Senor Valera, formerly Spanish minister at Washington, publishes an article on the Cuban situation, in the course of which he says that certain advantages were accorded to American subjects in 1877 as the result of the declarations of the Spanish foreign minister, but as these were not ratified by the chamber the government, he declares, can annul them. Senor Valera adds: "The majority of self styled American citizens who claim indemnity are not, according to American law, legitimate citizens, but Cubans, who employ this method to obtain immunity and indemnities. It is to be believed that the American nation will end by doing justice to Spain."

Big Decrease In Wool Imports.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The records of the treasury department show that the imports of wool at the ports of New York, Philadelphia and Boston during August, the first full month since the new tariff act went into effect, amounted to 2,875,897 pounds, the smallest importation of any month since January, 1894, when the aggregate was 2,744,406 pounds. The wool importation for August, 1896, amounted to 4,719,778 pounds, and the largest previous importation was for April, when it reached 95,559,933 pounds. Last August's importations were very largely of class 3, or carpet wools.

Tollgate Keeper Tortured.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Robinson, 75 years old, who attended the Coleville Turnpike company's gate for the past 25 years, was found bound, gagged and nearly dead, beaten and otherwise tortured at the hands of three men who broke into her house. She heroically refused to divulge the hiding place of the company's money. After a careful search the burglars secured $25 belonging to the company and a small sum belonging to the woman. No clew to the burglars has been found.

A New Theatrical Venture.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—The Interstate Theatrical Production company, limited, has been organized in this city and chartered under the laws of Pennsylvania. The directors of the company are: Charles H. Yale, chairman; William J. Gilmore, treasurer, and David Henderson, general manager. The object of the new company is to organize and manage theatrical companies, and its principal office is in this city.

ENGINE RAN AWAY.

Startling Experience of a Staten Island Engineer.

FOUR CARS WERE BADLY WRECKED.

Feeney, Who Had Charge of the Train, Tried to Climb Into the Cab and Was Thrown From a Fifteen Foot Trestle.

CLIFTON, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Engineer Thomas Feeney was badly hurt, and four cars of the Staten Island Rapid Transit company were wrecked by a runaway engine.

Feeney takes out the newspaper train, which leaves Clifton every morning at 4:10. He was about the Clifton yards at 3:30 o'clock, and as the train was not made up volunteered to assist.

He got in his engine, which had three cars behind it. There were two cars on a siding which were needed, and Feeney, with his engine and three cars, started to get them. This made two cars before the engine and three after it.

Then Feeney started along the track until he reached Bachman's trestle. There was no fireman in the cab with Feeney, because he was switching.

When Engineer Feeney reached the trestle, near where the switches began, he noticed that there was something the matter with his locomotive.

Feeney got out to examine the different rods of the engine, and just as he was about to get back into the cab he was startled to see the engine puff and start as if some one was at the throttle.

Although he had closed the throttle tightly, he knew it had been opened in some mysterious manner.

Feeney ran along the trestle, endeavoring to get into the locomotive and fell from the trestle to the ground, a distance of about 15 feet.

Although bruised and injured, he climbed up the side of an embankment to the railroad tracks and continued after the train, which was on its mad run.

When Feeney saw that he could not overtake the train, he ran back to Clifton to report the matter.

As he reached Clifton the engineer fell unconscious from the result of the injuries he received by going through the trestle.

The train continued on, having a clear course and nothing in front of it, to South Beach, the end of the Staten Island company's line. There it stopped with a crash.

There was one car on the track at South Beach, and the two in front of the locomotive went against that car with terrific force.

The car was broken up, and the two cars in front of the locomotive were telescoped. Two of the cars following the engine were thrown from the track into a ditch beside the track. Their trucks were the most damaged. The third car and the locomotive were not much hurt.

News of the accident reached the officials, and a wrecking train was sent to South Beach. The crew discovered that the bumpers at the railroad depot as well as part of the platform had been badly damaged.

Engineer Feeney is at his home in a serious condition, and the shock he experienced from the fall and the unlooked for start of his engine may keep him indoors for some time.

Klondike Vessel Wrecked.

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 24.—An explosion of naphtha occurred on board the schooner Abbie M. Deering, anchored in the harbor, late yesterday afternoon. The vessel is almost a complete wreck. One man was badly hurt. The vessel was purchased in Gloucester recently and was being fitted out for a Klondike expedition. A quantity of naphtha had been placed in the hold and was used to destroy vermin. It is supposed the stove in the galley ignited the gas formed by the fluid, and a loud explosion was caused. The forward bulkhead had been ripped up, and the deck was torn up nearly its entire length, and it is thought the hull was injured. It will cost several thousand dollars to repair the vessel.

Imprisoned For Scalping Tickets.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 24.—In the Atlantic county court at Mays Landing, Judge Thompson presiding, George V. White, indicted for scalping Pennsylvania railroad tickets, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment in the county jail and to pay a fine of $100 and costs. White came from Washington and was arrested in August while plying his trade as a scalper in Atlantic City. Stephen Murray of Atlantic City, indicted on a similar charge, escaped conviction on one count of the indictment by a legal technicality.

Customs Officials In Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The secretary of the treasury has appointed Thomas S. Luke, T. A. Marquam, Emanuel Hermann and Charles I. Roth as customs inspectors at Sitka, Alaska, at $5 per day. These appointments were made necessary by the exodus to the Klondike region. The secretary has also appointed Ira W. Porter as assistant surgeon of the Marine hospital service at Mobile, to assist in the care of yellow fever cases.

Men Blown to Pieces.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Bucharest says that while a battery of artillery was passing through the town of Pitesti, Roumania, 65 miles northwest of Bucharest, ammunition in a wagon exploded. Four men were instantly blown to pieces and 11 injured so seriously that three have since succumbed. Eight horses were killed and 14 badly injured.

Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whoop-Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. BUFFALO'S GAS SOLD.

A New York Syndicate Buys Out the Various Companies.

BUFFALO, Sept. 24.—The sale of Buffalo's gaslight interests to a New York syndicate has been concluded. The contract was negotiated in New York. The purchasers are New York men, making up a syndicate, the personnel of which is as follows: Emerson, McMillan & Co., Hollister & Babcock, Lehman Bros. and J. and W. Seligman & Co., it being understood that the Seligmans take 40 per cent of the purchase.

The purchase price is $5,000,000 cash, the companies to be turned over free of debt, floating or bonded. It is stated that the new purchasers of the three companies will immediately reorganize them into a single company, with a capital stock of $7,000,000 and a bonded indebtedness of $7,000,000, making a total capital of $14,000,000.

In making the deal the Queen City Gaslight company, it is stated, has also been absorbed. The transactions with the Addicks company was, however, entirely outside of the $5,000,000 paid for the three old Buffalo companies, but the New York capitalists are now said to be in control of the Addicks franchise.

INDIAN GIRL HATES EDUCATION.

And Because She Ran Away From School the Indian Police Have Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—According to a report received by the commissioner of Indian affairs from Lieutenant Hall, acting agent for the Indians on the Fort Hall reservation in Idaho, that reservation recently has been the scene of a quite lively skirmish between the Indian police and about 75 of the young Bannock bucks.

The encounter grew out of an effort on the part of the police to restore a young Indian girl to the agency school, which she had left without permission of the school authorities. This the young men undertook to prevent, and while they were not successful they beat some of the police badly before the latter accomplished their work of returning the girl to her place in the school.

The officers found themselves unable to arrest the insubordinate bucks, and Lieutenant Irwin asks the detail of a troop of cavalry to the agency for this purpose. The secretary of the interior has forwarded this request to the war department with his favorable indorsement.

THE INQUEST BEGUN.

Investigation Into the Deaths of the Striking Lattimer Miners.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 24.—Coroner McKee yesterday afternoon began the inquest into the deaths of the score of striking miners who were shot by a posse of sheriff's deputies at Lattimer. A two hour session was held, during which a score of witnesses were examined.

Nearly all the testimony adduced was a repetition of that brought out at the hearing of the deputies in Wilkesbarre. Most of the witnesses were foreign strikers.

The strike situation remains unchanged except for the return to work of those Harwood miners who have been afraid to go back. Every colliery in the region worked, and there was not the slightest disorder anywhere.

The question of the withdrawal of the military remains undetermined, but that it will begin very shortly is felt by those at headquarters to be almost a certainty.

AS BAD AS EVER.

No Improvement In the Fever Situation at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24.—The local fever situation did not show any improvement last night when results were summed up. There were nine new cases and three deaths.

No Deaths In Mobile.

MOBILE, Sept. 24.—Two new cases of yellow fever are reported, but no deaths. Ten patients have been discharged, leaving 19 now under treatment.

Ocean Springs Has More Cases.

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss., Sept. 24.—There are four new cases of yellow fever here. Nothing is reported from Scranton.

No One Held Liable.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—A coroner's jury has returned a verdict that Nicholas Neilson and Isaac Bachrach were killed by a fall of a passenger elevator in the American Tract society's building, on Nassau street, this city, Sept. 10, by the release of the safety guards of the lift after some one had pawled them. The jury also found that no one understanding the system in use was in charge at the time and holds no one criminally liable for the accident. The verdict in addition recommends that high speed elevators open to the public should be in charge of a competent engineer at all times.

The Duke Died Bravely.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the disaster which befell the torpedo boat No. 26, which capsized and sank near the First lightship off Cuxhaven, with her commander, Duke Frederick William of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and eight of her crew, was due to her being swamped by a heavy sea. As she was sinking the duke called out to his men, telling them to save themselves. The survivors praise his great courage and coolness.

An Odd Death In Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The police are investigating a suspicious death here. John Kane, 30 years old, who resided with his wife in the Brighton district, was found dead in bed, with the gas turned on in full, by his wife Martha. A further examination by the police revealed a large number of blood spots on the man's shirt, and as the couple had been quarreling the police decided to hold Mrs. Kane until the medical examiner can decide the cause of death.

Republican Mayoralty Candidate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The leaders of the regular Republican party in the assembly districts of New York county have decided to ask former Secretary Benjamin F. Tracy to run for mayor of Greater New York.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Authority has been granted for the organization of the National bank of Ocean City, N. J.; capital, $50,000.

VICTORY FOR PLATT

Walter B. Atterbury Nominated For Sheriff of Kings County.

PALMER WAS WORTH'S CANDIDATE.

The Organization's Majority In This Preliminary Struggle Was 10,407 Votes, the Total Number of Votes Polled Being 108,935.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 24.—Clermont rink was the battlefield where Jake Worth and Tom Platt gathered their warriors yesterday afternoon to fight to a finish for the control of Brooklyn.

The delegates from 629 election districts surged around the doors eager for the fray.

At 3 o'clock, an hour ahead of the time set for the convention, there were hundreds at the doors clamoring for admittance.

Hugo Hirsch of the Third ward called the convention to order at 4:15 p. m. as temporary chairman.

Jacob Worth entered the hall at 4 o'clock sharp with Sheriff Buttling.

None of the big chiefs cared to talk before the fight. They were too busy to talk. They had time for nothing but delegates, for delegates they must have to win.

The Worth people made charges of bribery, and the Willis crowd said, "You're another."

Lieutenant Governor Woodruff said he had 75,000 voters out of 109,000, and Buttling said, "You're another."

For the first half hour the convention proceeded with its business as if there was a cut and dried love feast. No one seemed to know whether the rival factions would show their hands on a test vote.

It has been the custom to retain the temporary chairman as the presiding officer of the permanent organization. It was thought to be improbable that there would be a show of hands on the choice of that officer.

Secretary of the County Committee John K. Neil began to call the roll by wards. Willis' name was applauded by the gallery gods. Jacob Worth's name also got a moment's applause.

"He's all right!" some one shouted, and his followers rose as one man and yelled, "Jake Worth!"

Mr. Worth smiled, although he had just heard that eight delegates of the Twenty-eighth ward had gone back on him. He had thought that he had 29 of the 31 delegates, but found that number cut down to 21.

Palmer, the Worth candidate for sheriff, had certainly developed unexpected strength, and it was reckoned that he would lead the Worth muster by 8,000 votes. Palmer has been comptroller of Brooklyn for years, and his manner of distributing little contracts to little contractors was the molasses that caught the extra delegates.

At 5:40 the roll call was finished, and Sheriff Buttling moved that the roll be adopted as the roll of the convention, which was carried.

Coroner Nathan moved that the temporary officers be made the permanent officers of the convention. All was harmony still, and the knives were yet hidden up the sleeves of the factions, so the motion was carried.

Jesse Johnson then moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of sheriff, register, county clerk, county treasurer and president of the borough of Brooklyn.

He further moved that no other business be done by the convention until those nominations had been made. Both these motions were carried.

This settled the question about nominating coroners and a district attorney, which it was rumored before the convention met would be done.

There was a buzz of excitement as the real work of the convention began.

Francis H. Wilson, the newly appointed postmaster of Brooklyn, accepted the convention's loud invitation to take the platform to place in nomination Walter B. Atterbury for sheriff for the Willis-Woodruff faction.

The delegates from Atterbury's ward rose at mention of his name, and a round of applause swept over the smoke laden rink.

Mr. Atterbury, he said, was a Republican in and out. He was a man of splendid character and with a magnificent record.

"I would be false to him, the best comptroller Brooklyn ever had, if I didn't mention some of the things he has done."

Atterbury looked faint and dazed as three cheers were given for him, followed by cries of "Palmer!"

Frank M. Ward jumped to the reporter's table, leaped to the platform and raised the Worth crowd. Every sentence was punctuated with applause.

Nominations were closed at 6:17, and the roll call began.

The chairman said that the chairman of each delegation was to announce the total vote of the ward unless there was an exception, when the delegation would be polled.

Harry Hanbury of the Eighth ward demanded that his ward should be polled.

The result was: Atterbury, 1,581; Palmer, 2,112.

When Hanbury announced the vote of his district of 262 for Palmer, he was wildly cheered by the Worth people, whom he deserted at the meeting of the county committee.

After the Twenty-third ward the vote stood: Atterbury, 45,869; Palmer, 33,442.

Necessary to a choice, 55,000.

When the totals were figured up after the Twenty-seventh ward's vote was in, it was found that Atterbury was a sure winner, having 54,883 to Palmer's 41,068.

The vote finally stood: Atterbury, 59,671; Palmer, 49,264.

The complete ticket, in addition to Mr. Atterbury, is as follows: County register, Theodore D. Willis; county clerk, Henry Trenchard; county treasurer, John G. Turnbull; president of the borough, George H. Roberts, Jr. This is a complete victory for the Platt organization.

A Costly Experiment.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Daily Mail says that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, has lost $250,000 in experiments in sisal growing in the Bahama islands. He chose land unsuitable for successful cultivation. Sisal grass, or Sisal hemp, is the prepared fiber of the American aloe, used for cordage. It is so called from Sisal, a port in Yucatan.

MARTIN ACT IN BAYONNE.

Just at the present time when almost all Plainfield property owners are vitally interested in the enforcement of the Martin Act, and what it will result in to both city and the land upon which there are delinquent taxes, the experience of Bayonne in the same way will be interesting to observe. The provisions of the act were brought to apply to that city long enough ago to allow foreclosure sales of involved property to take place last Wednesday. Newspaper reports state that they were satisfactory to the city government, though no mention is made of the property sold under the provisions of the act, its real value, the tax held against it or what it brought under the hammer. The property offered was nearly all in the Third ward, and brought enough to reimburse the city. Good prices were easily realized upon many desirable lots. It is expected that many of the lots sold will be built upon at an early date, thus improving scores of lots which have formerly been growing up with underbrush.

DECADENCE OF COUNTY FAIRS.

The decadence of the county fair is not far off, if the Somerville Unionist-Gazette's definition of the Somerset county farmers' attitude towards it is a truthful one. A county fair cannot long exist unless the agriculturists themselves take a distinct interest in providing the exhibits that are the real foundation of its establishment. The Unionist-Gazette says:

The results at the county fair last week indicate that the farmers in Somerset care very little about an annual exhibit of farm products or cattle. They do seem to enjoy a horse-race, and the fair was well attended, more because of this than anything else. But the old-fashioned agricultural fair seems to be a thing of the past. Those who go to fairs in these days want to be entertained by acrobats or fakirs or racing. But simply as an agricultural exhibit the county fair is a fizzle, not because of bad management, but because the farmers do not want it.

There was a fair representation at the meeting of the executive committee of the State Republican League in Trenton last night. They decided to hold the convention in Trenton on Feb. 22d. They also indorsed the action of the Republican State committee in reference to the Constitutional amendments.

Fourteen years and four months is a horribly long sentence, but the Albany kidnappers may consider that they got off lucky. In some towns a crowd of men, a rope, a tree and a broken neck would have been their share of reward for the dastardly crime they took part in.

Irrespective of the merit of his argument, one cannot but regard Justice Nash as a bold man to take a stand against the anti-gambling amendment in defiance of the attitude taken by the leaders of his party.

It is announced that hereafter dead hogs are the only hogs that will be allowed in Plainfield. Very good. This will probably eliminate road hogs and bicycle hogs, as well as the other kinds.—Elizabeth Journal.

John Somers, of Bound Brook, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination of surrogate in Somerset county. He is a brother of County Clerk Somers, who is a Republican.

Both John L. Sullivan and Robert Fitzsimmons are credited with political aspirations. They'll never succeed. Successful politicians do not talk.

—Brown & Hill, the North avenue barbers, are making some extensive repairs about their place.

—Marshall P. Wilder will appear before a Plainfield audience in Y. M. C. A. Hall, next Thursday evening.

—The usual Sunday afternoon men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. will be omitted next Sunday on account of the citizen's mass-meeting which is to be held in Stillman Theatre at that time.

THEATRICAL.

Among the plays that withstood the wear and tear of time, and have increased rather than diminished in the estimation of the theatre-going public, "The Waifs of New York" seems to head the list. Other dramas come, go and are forgotten, but Katie Emmett's well-known play seems to defy time. It will be presented again at Music Hall next Tuesday evening, and it is promised that new scenery, new specialties and many new novelties will be introduced. Miss Emmett will have the support of a company that is said to be better than any she has heretofore had, and the old familiar scenes, it is declared, will have new interest added by the manner in which they are done.

"A Broadway Girl" is the title of a new and up-to-date musical farce comedy which will appear at Music Hall tomorrow night. Of the same it can be said that it is entirely new and original and far away from the regular run of performances of this kind. Special care has been taken in selecting the caste, each member being an artist of merit, and engaged for their ability to fill the parts as laid out by the author. The company is headed by those versatile comedians Rogers & Ryan, who appear as Kraus and McSweeney, two staunch friends who are the cause of endless merriment, which is warranted to keep the audience in the best of humor for two hours and a half. They are ably assisted by such well known artists as Harry Edwards, Daisy Kernell, John Fields, Jr., Nellie Franklyn, Ryeford Sisters, Chas. H. Gorman, Edith Chapman and others. If you want to drive dull care away don't fail to see "A Broadway Girl.

Louis Fancessa, a driver in the employ of Nichola Orchetti, of Westfield, was held up by three masked men at Picton, last night, and robbed of a considerable sum of money. Fancessa stopped his bread delivery wagon at the Lehigh Valley Railroad crossing about 8 o'clock to wait for a freight train to pass, when the highwaymen jumped from the underbrush at the roadside and made a rush at the wagon. The driver made a plucky fight and was overpowered, and several dollars, mostly in silver, was taken from him. After securing their booty the highwaymen made off into the woods and no trace of them has since been discovered.

—The work of repairing the Giraud avenue bridge has been completed.

—The State convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Trenton the last of October.

Those Extracts Again.

There is no more effective way to hurt trade than to make overdrawn statements about one's goods. I am careful about that, but I have reason to be enthusiastic about the quality of my flavoring extracts. They are sold in New York in competition with the largest and best houses in the country and they gain in favor all the time. I want these goods to be universally used in Plainfield and I am confident that sooner or later they will be. Genuine merit is bound to win in the end.

TAX ALL BACHELORS.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX WOULD CREATE A REPARATION FUND.

A Bachelor After Thirty-Five is Chronic—Men Should Earn Money, and Women Should Use It in the Maintenance of the Family—If They Won't, Tax 'em.

There is everything in modern civilization to render bachelorhood a pleasant life for a selfishly inclined man.

The spirit which actuates invention must be masculine, for almost every day we hear of some new device, which renders woman's services as a caretaker unnecessary in a man's life.

The patent button sneers at the old-fashioned needle and thread.

The electric light and the heat radiator illuminate and warm the bachelor apartment with no aid from woman.

The steam laundry, at a very small cost, keeps a man collared and shirted neatly, with no feminine intervention.

The clubs furnish an excellence and variety of food, much more carefully prepared than can be found in any home save the homes of wealth. And after dinner there are the cardrooms and the reading-rooms and the billiard rooms, and no one to say "don't go."

Of course these luxuries cost money. But so do a home and a wife and children.

The bachelor can estimate the cost of his club life each year. He can only guess at the possible cost of a marriage; and he always puts it at the highest figure, and decides that the luxury is too expensive and the risk too great.

Since it is man's prerogative to decide the question of his own and of some woman's life in this important matter he who elects to be a bachelor ought to be ready and willing to pay a tax towards the support of single women.

Since he refuses to maintain one woman and receive the value of her affection and companionship in return let him aid in the support of many, with no reward save his own self-respect.

Woman was intended by the Creator to be supported by man.

Everything in the organization of the two beings indicates that fact.

Man should earn money, woman should use it in the maintenance of the family. Man should give gladly, woman receive gratefully.

The child-bearer should never be the wage-earner; and however the modern woman may disdain the idea of being regarded merely as a child-bearer we can never get around the fact that she was intended by nature to be the mother of man.

If bachelors deprive her of the privilege they should hasten to relieve her of a life of self-support or dependence in her old age.

Every sane-minded and healthy-bodied woman is entitled to three children. The world is maintained and society exists by the birth of children.

Bachelors who decline to become husbands and fathers should be taxed to supply what might be termed a "reparation fund." If single women refused to draw upon this fund it could be used in the support of homes for the aged or in the education of orphans.

The majority of single men in cities pay several hundreds dollars a year in club dues. Of course, the dues are but a small portion of the expenses of club life. Any bachelor who is able to pay $100 in club dues ought to be taxed $25 per annum for the support of single women over forty years of age, besides a separate tax for the "reparation fund."

No man should be taxed until he has passed his thirty-fifth birthday, because until that age a man may be merely postponing marriage to make himself worthy of it, but after thirty-five, he is liable to settle down into chronic bachelorhood unless roused to the necessity of action.

No woman, unless an invalid, should receive the benefits of the bachelor's taxation before forty because many women remain single into their thirties from choice, remembering that Cleopatra and Helen of Troy were both past that age when they inspired historic passions, and many mothers of successful families have married for the first time in their late thirties. But it is always a tragedy when a woman passes into her fourth decade with no companion by her side.

Unless she has some great life work, like Florence Nightingale or Emma Willard, her outlook is desolate and sad.

However pleasant the bachelor's lot, from a purely commonplace standpoint he misses the sentiment of life. A happy marriage offers more real pleasure in any one month than bachelors find in a lifetime.

For every pain or anxiety or worry in the life of a well-mated married couple there are ten mutual joys to recompense. But though the man misses much by remaining single, the woman misses still more.

Clubs, travel, adventure are not the diversion to her which they are to him.

It is only right that he should be taxed for his selfishness, and that she should receive the benefit of such taxation. ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Still Harder.

Dumbleton: "I'll tell you what, old fellow, when a man has been a spendthrift during a good portion of his life, and has gone the rounds of dissipation, it's a hard matter for him to settle down?"

Flasher: "Yes; but it's a good deal harder for him to settle up!"

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

ONE DISEASE AND ONE REMEDY

"The art of painting," said Millais, "consists in selecting the right colors and putting them in the right place."—"The way to win a battle," said Napoleon, "is to mass your troops at the critical moment against the weakest spot in the enemy's line."—"The way to cure many ailments," said the great Dr. Abercrombie, "is to purify the poisoned spring in which they arise, generally the torpid and inflamed digestive system."

Thus wisdom and experience simplify and condense. Thus the Shakers of Mount Lebanon reasoned when they sought, and finally found, a remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia. Where one person has somthing else, they argued, a thousand have this. To cure this alone will almost rid the world of sickness. Why should we vex ourselves with confusing definitions? A good digestion is life and health; a bad one disease and death. Hence, from the healing and stimulating mountain herbs, they extracted the principles which make the Shaker Digestive Cordial the rarest and most effective of medicines for one disease, and one only—indigestion and dyspepsia.

Do you suffer from any of these miserable feelings?—depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, bad taste in the mouth, wind in the bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness and alarm, worry and weariness, costiveness or irregularity of the bowels, nausea, palpitation, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite and sleep, dry skin, etc.—?

Don't indulge in fifty foolish fancies. You have indigestion and dyspepsia and nothing else. Set the disordered stomach right with the one medicine which will surely do it, Shaker Digestive Cordial, and these symptoms will vanish with their cause. A good effect will follow the first doses. Even chronic cases soon yield.

Test the cordial, at practically no cost, by taking a ten-cent trial bottle. For sale by nearly all druggists.

IS ABOUT WIPED OUT

Tremendous Fire In Bainbridge, an Ohio Village.

BOYS, MATCHES, DRUGS, EXPLOSION.

Two of the Most Prominent Men In the Place Were Burned to Death, and Many Valuable Buildings Were Destroyed.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 24.—The village of Bainbridge was the scene of a disastrous conflagration late yesterday afteroon. An entire square, containing most of the prominent business houses, several handsome residences and the Methodist church, was entirely destroyed, and two prominent men lost their lives in an explosion which occurred in the drug store of W. P. Beardsley.

The fire was started in a barn in the rear of Perril Brown's general store by two little boys who were playing with matches.

The flames spread rapidly. In the midst of the excitement a terrible explosion occurred in the drug store, and Mr. Beardsley, who was inside endeavoring to save some of his property, lost his life.

His brother-in-law, Thomas Higgins, who went to his rescue, was unable to get out and was burned to death, while several others were more or less injured, but none fatally.

There was a stiff breeze blowing, which fanned the flames, and, getting a fresh start from the burning oils and chemicals in the wrecked drug store, the fire leaped from house to house until it was evident that the entire town was doomed. A message was sent to Waverly and this city asking for aid, and both fire departments promptly responded. The Baltimore and Ohio and Southwestern and Ohio Southern railroads sent special trains with the engines, but they did not arrive until nearly three hours after the first alarm was given.

The best that could be done was to prevent the fire being communicated to the other squares, and the fire laddies soon had the flames under control. But two houses were left standing on the square, both being private residences.

The estimated loss is $50,000. The bodies of Beardsley and Higgins were found on the floor about 15 feet from the front entrance mutilated and burned beyond recognition.

The list of wounded includes John Walley, cut on right arm and shoulder; Homer Huling, broken hip; Jack Studer, finger on right hand broken; Albert Frey, internal injuries; George Schrader, William Pencil and Harry Rose, minor injuries.

Scores of people are homeless. Relief has been sent from the city, and the needs of the wounded and grief stricken people of the unfortunate village will be tenderly looked after.

Unique Torpedo Invention.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The naval ordnance bureau has been securing some remarkable results from certain experiments it has been making by direction of Acting Secretary Roosevelt with an attachment for torpedoes, the invention of an Austrian named Obrey. This is a kind of gyroscope, and the reports from the torpedo station where the tests have been made and are to be continued show that it has the property, having been once directed at the object to be hit, of actually restoring the torpedo to which it is attached to a straight course toward that object even after it has been deflected. The addition of this device is said by the experts to make the torpedo almost a weapon of precision.

Squadron May Go to Morocco.

TANGIER, Marocco, Sept. 24.—The United States cruiser San Francisco, flagship of the European squadron, which arrived here on Tuesday last to investigate and obtain redress if necessary for the reported flogging of American citizens at Mogador and to support the promised settlement of former claims of the United States against Marocco, has left this port. It is stated here that if the claims of the United States are not settled within a reasonable time a squadron of United States war vessels will be sent to Marocco. The sultan of Marocco has sent an army corps to punish the Riffians for their several recent acts of piracy.

Injured by Gasoline Explosion.

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 24.—During a fire in S. C. McCardell's grocery store at Third and Pennell streets six persons were seriously injured by the explosion of a barrel of gasoline, which blew out the side of the building. The injured are: J. N. Shanafelt, Jr., a boy who was watching the fire; Frank Coburn, a clerk in the grocery store; Edward McCarey, Robert Elliott, John S. McLurg and Jacob Bauer, all firemen. They were removed to the hospital, where it is stated all are in a serious condition. The building was damaged to the extent of $8,000.

Chinamen to Be Arrested.

MALONE, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The customs officials here have instructed District Attorney Close to arrest 13 Chinamen at Burke and Sheriff Whitney to hold them for trial before United States Commissioner W. P. Badger on Monday. This order rescinds the former instructions that Chinamen should be taken to New York for trial, over which there has been so much controversy throughout northern New York.

A Heavy Fine Imposed.

BUFFALO, Sept. 24.—In the federal court almost the entire session was taken up with the trial of D. Lyle Hawthorne, charged with having advised and participated in the withdrawal and misappropriation of money from the money order department of the Buffalo postoffice. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $938 and to serve two years and six months in Auburn prison.

Heavy Loss From a Wreck.

NEWPORT, Vt., Sept. 24.—The Chicago Bullet freight train, consisting of 14 cars, which left here for Chicago, was wrecked at North Troy, on the Canadian Pacific railroad. No one was hurt. The Boston express from Montreal was delayed eight hours, and the express from Boston to Montreal was held here one hour. The cause of the wreck was a broken journal. The loss is heavy.

TO SAVE THE PALISADES

WOMEN'S CLUBS WILL TRY TO PRESERVE THE FAMOUS CLIFFS.

The National Park Plan Cannot be Accomplished—Project for a Driveway Along the Shore of the Hudson River.

The New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, an organization made up of seventy two literary, educational and philanthropic bodies scattered throughout the various towns of the State, and with which Plainfield clubwomen are prominently identified, has taken up the question of preserving the Palisades, and Wednesday upward of sixty members of the Federation went on a tour of inspection up the Hudson. The trip was made on Harrison B. Moore's yacht, the Marietta, and naturally took on some of the characteristics of a social excursion. But this did not prevent the subject from being seriously considered from half a dozen points of view.

A meeting of the Federation will be held in Camden in October, when some definite plan of action will be decided upon.

The tour of inspection included the stretch of the Palisades between Fort Lee and Nyack. The party listened to brief addresses on the work by Miss Celia Gaines, president of the federation; Mrs. John Gifford, Joseph Lamb, F. P. Albert, George F. Kunz, Colonel Loomis Langdon and General W. C. Stryker.

Miss Gaines explained that the work of the federation was undertaken in absolute disinterestedness, and that its aims were purely æsthetic and patriotic. The members hoped, she said, first through education and then through legislation to eventually succeed in saving the Palisades.

Through the other speakers it developed that the attempt to preserve the Palisades by having the federal government convert the part under consideration into a national park is considered to have failed. As Mr. Albert said: "The military park scheme is dead, and the sooner this fact is accepted the better."

His plan is to have the States of New York and New Jersey unite in condemning a narrow strip from the base of the cliffs down to the river. Here he would construct a driveway along the river edge from Fort Lee to Piermont, a distance of thirteen miles. The land for this purpose, it is estimated, could be purchased for $300,000 or $400,000. With this driveway, it is held, the task of perserving the face of the Palisades would be greatly simplified, and the problem would almost solve itself.

It was thought that it was probable that the federation would decide in favor of this plan, but at present it is committed to nothing definite.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

The candidates for the eleven of the Plainfield A. A. will meet for outdoor practice tomorrow afternoon at Martine common at 3 o'clock.

The Plainfield A. A. will play its first game on Saturday afternoon, October 2d. Games are being arranged for every Saturday afternoon after that until Thanksgiving. Thos. U. Smith has charge of the arrangements of the schedule and would be glad to hear from all teams averaging 150 pounds.

Owing to the rain of last evening, the candidates for the eleven of the Plainfield Athletic Association did not meet. Instead, the meeting will be held this evening on the field on Westervelt avenue, next to the home of Thomas U. Smith. A meeting of the association will be held at the same place at 8 o'clock, to which all members are requested to attend.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The boys at the Plainfield High School are taking a great interest in athletics since the announcement of the offering of The Daily Press medal for the all-round championship. It has formed a principal topic for conversation for the boys and from present prospects, there will be nearly a score who will use their best endeavors to win the medal and the championship. The fact that the events are all handicapped gives everybody a chance. In 1894, when the medal was first offered it was won by Edgar I. Serrell, '95. A new medal was offered in 1895, and was won by George Proctor Smith, Last year, everybody thought that Smith was certain of the championship and little interest was taken. The arrival of the cold weather caused the giving up of the field day. This year, there is nobody who has any cinch on the championship and although Runyon, Long, and Snodgrass are all considered good candidates, nobody has any idea how the games will go. There are a number of new pupils at the school and from among them it is expected that some new athletes will show up.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Chairman Mott, in his official bulletin of the racing board this week, at last deals with that evil of bicycle-racing men, the incompetent judges, who are selected more often for their popularity than from any special fitness for the position in which they are to serve. Mr. Mott says: "They should have the experience which educates the eye, as it is of grave importance to the racing men to be accurately placed at the finish.

BASKET BALL.

The opening of the season in gymnastics at the Y. M. C. A. will begin with the first basket ball game of the season, between the business men's and the evening class teams, on Monday, October 4th.

The first practice game of basket ball was played at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Candidates for the team should apply at once to Physical Director Heywood.

PASSING COMMENT.

One noticeable improvement, which is of interest to all people who use our far-famed good roads, is the general adoption of the "broad tire" on vehicles used for carting heavy loads. A short time ago these were very seldom seen in this city, but now nearly half of our heavy wagons are fitted with them.

A summer visitor to this city has been complimenting his Plainfield friends on the fact that they live in a very lucky city, lucky in the sense that there are very few accidents, wrecks, fires and fatalities that happen here. He particularly noted the very few fires that have occurred in Plainfield during the summer. His home is in a city of not more than two thousand more population than Plainfield, and yet there is a fire there almost every day.

While it was by no means intentional, the play, "A Contented Woman," that was given at Stillman Music Hall, Wednesday evening, came in very appropriately to the present political situation. The play was supposed to show the attempt of women to enter politics and from the finale it was evident that the playwright was not a believer in women's suffrage. In less than a week, now, the people will be called upon to vote on a question giving women the right of suffrage in the election of school trustees. There were many at the play who noted the fact.

A man who is soon to be married is excusable for almost everything. Nobody expects him to remember anything and if he succeeds in arriving at the wedding at the proper time little more is expected of him. It is told of a young man of this city, who was soon to be wedded, who grew so excited as the eventful day drew near that he caused his relatives and friends lots of amusement by his absent mindedness. One morning he started for the train and forgot to don either collar or necktie. A friend met him several blocks from home and wanted to know what was the matter. When the prospective bridegroom learned of his forgetfulness he went home again and completed his toilet.

One of the passengers who went on the Golden Rod excursion and was on board the St. Johns when it ran down the ill-fated Catskill, writes of a little incident that was noticed at the time that the collision occurred which, but for the terror of the situation, would have seemed very ridiculous to those who witnessed it. A dozen men were sitting together in the bow of the St. Johns. They had all partaken freely of the strong beverages and were feeling happy. They were in that state of inebrity in which all care was thrown to the winds and the whole world seemed made for them. They had essayed to sing, everyone on his account, and they straggled through many of the popular airs.

"Sally, don't dally," they roared. "Stick to ——." Then came the crash and the singers were thrown together in a confused heap. The change in the expression of their faces was a grand transformation. From complete satisfaction it changed to one of deadly fear and together they rushed pell-mell through the terrified crowd until they reached the rail at the stern, where they stood, their eyes bulging out with terror.

PROPOSED PLAN OF WIDENING NORTH AVENUE FOR A TROLLEY ROAD.

The above diagram shows the plan proposed by Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, for widening North avenue to 100 feet and constructing a street railroad on it by the county, to be leased to some person or corporation for operation. If the plan is carried out the sidewalks will be each 15 feet wide. Two carriage roads each 26 feet wide will be located between the sidewalks and the trolley tracks, and the railroad itself will be on a strip 18 feet wide, with curbs on each side, thus permitting rapid transit without danger. The upper part of the cut illustrates a street crossing. The avenue at present is 66 feet wide. To make the improvement as proposed it will be necessary to acquire a strip of land 34 feet wide on one side.

A public meeting will be held in the court house in the city of Elizabeth on Thursday evening, September 30th, at 8 o'clock, to consider the suggestion.

ONE STUDENT LESS NOW

RUTGERS COLLEGE LOSES A FRESHMAN BECAUSE OF A HAZING.

He Started Out for an Evening Stroll But Didn't Get Back Till After Midnight—Suddenly Decided to go to His Home.

Fresh from the quiet town of Somerville, with ambitions for his life at Rutgers College, Frank C. Lane had his aspirations dimmed and for some reason apparently found New Brunswick anything but a desirable town to stay in. At all events, according to a story told by one of the Rutgers College men, he made a brief stay there.

Young Lane, so the story goes, reached New Brunswick the day before college opened. He made some purchases of clothing and engaged a room temporarily in Hertzog Hall.

Lane took it into his head to see something of the quaint old college town on the banks of the Raritan, about which he had heard so much, and that evening he sallied forth. The ruins of the theatre building were somewhat of a curiosity to the young man, and he expressed great surprise when he learned that they had been permitted to stand unmolested for eighteen months. After walking around the town he wended his way back to his temporary quarters.

While walking through Hamilton street several collegians are said to have met Lane, and, without the formality of an introduction, announced that they, too, were verdant freshmen, and therefore classmates of the young man from Somerville. Just what happened from then until young Lane reached his room at midnight, cannot at present be ascertained.

That he was hazed there is apparently little doubt, but just what course of treatment the young man was compelled to go through no one seems willing to disclose, and young Lane is not in town to explain.

Whether young Lane feared that he would have to undergo more such treatment if he remained in New Brunswick or whether he reached the conclusion that after all he did not want a college education, is not known. He left the city on the first train the following morning, and that is the reason the freshman class at Rutgers only numbers forty-eight instead of forty-nine men.

Rutgers College Opens.

The fall term of Rutgers College, and the beginning of the 132d year, commenced Wednesday. Dr. Austin Scott, president of the college, delivered the opening address as usual, and urged the students to do their best. The freshman class numbers forty eight. It is thought the college will have a strong football team this year.

FOOTBALL IN SHADOWS.

LOCAL ELEVEN PRACTICED UNDER ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

First Time That the Plan Has Ever Been Tried in This City—Fifteen Candidates for Positions Were Present.

The Plainfield Athletic Association has already shown its enterprise by doing something that has never been done for the benefit of a football team in Plainfield before. The practice field of the eleven of the association has been illuminated by electric light and the players are enabled to practice outdoors at night. The Elizabeth Athletic Club tried such a plan successfully, and now the Plainfield boys have shown themselves to be right up in line.

The practice field is located on Westervelt avenue, just on the city side of Green brook. Three large 50 candle power incandescent electric lights were hung at a convenient height over the portion of the field which the players will use. Last night the team met for its first night practice.

There was a good showing of candidates, most of whom turned out in their football suits. Several who were unable to come last night sent word that they would be on hand at the next practice, and others who could not stay came over to say that they wanted to try for the team and would be out for the next practice.

There were fifteen candidates out last night and after some preliminary practice passing and falling on the ball, they lined up and Louis Waring put them through the principal plays using one of last years sets of signals. The boys played a quick snappy game and all worked hard to do their best. Waring was greatly pleased with the showing and hopes to have a strong team on the field for next Saturday when the first game will be played. There will be several changes in the team and a number of new valuable men will be added. The game next Saturday will be with the Warwick Athletic Club, one of the up-town clubs of New York. The team is composed largely of ex college men and has a reputation of being very strong.

Central's Improvements.

The Central Railroad has broken ground for a tower house at the Bridge street crossing, in Somerville and other extensive alterations will be made in the switches, which will cost between $4,000 and $5,000. The tracks are to be so arranged that all the switches are to be operated from the tower, and the Flemington trains can be switched on to the South Branch road without going on to the main tracks. All drilling will be done off the main tracks.

Manager Willey's New Venture.

George H. Willey, in addition to his duties as the manager of Stillman Theatre, is also director and manager of the Faulkner Comic Opera Company, which is now booked for nearly the entire season of 1898-99.

AN APPEAL FOR VOTES.

SCHOOL SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT HAS STRONG SUPPORTERS.

Educators Say That to Allow Women to Vote for School Trustees Will Promote the Welfare of the Public Schools.

An appeal to the friends of education in the State of New Jersey, explaining the nature and operation of the proposed amendment to the Constitution restoring to women the right to vote for members of Boards of Education in rural districts, to be voted upon on September 28th, is being widely circulated. It ends with the following paragraph:

"Believing, as we do, that public education is one of the most important bulwarks of our system of Government; that this amendment will promote the welfare of the public schools by securing the co-operation of the women, and especially of the mothers of our State, and believing also that all intelligent citizens will vote in its favor if the matter is brought to their attention, we would urge all clergymen to bring it to the notice of their congregations in such manner and at such times as may seem proper to them, and we would also urge all good citizens, and especially the women of the State, to use their influence in favor of this amendment and to see that a full vote is called out on September 28th, lest this good measure, designed to restore to the women of the State the privileges exercised by them so acceptably from 1887 to 1894, should be lost through a lack of knowledge or of interest on the part of the intelligent voters of the State."

Among the signers of the appeal are Florence Howe Hall, Plainfield; Emily E. Williamson, general secretary New Jersey State Charities Aid Association, Elizabeth; Garret A. Hobart, Vice-President of the United States; George T. Werts, ex-Governor of New Jersey; Foster M. Voorhees, member of New Jersey Senate; Charles J. Baxter, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; James L. Hays, president State Board of Education; Rev. J. Clement French, president New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, Newark; James H. McGraw, chairman State Executive Committee Y. M. C. A., and one hundred other prominent men and women, including the county superintendents of public instrucion for the counties of Bergen, Camden, Essex, Gloucester, Hudson, Hunterdon, Mercer, Monmouth, Passaic, Somerset, Sussex and Union; the city superintendents of public schools of Bayonne, Hoboken, Newark, Orange, Paterson, Passaic, Phillipsburg, Plainfield and Salem; the principals of the New Jersey State Normal and Model Schools, the president and corresponding secretary of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey, the State Department President Ladies of the G. A. R., of New Jersey.

MORE TROLLEY DELAY.

FIGHT FOR RIGHT OF WAY STILL GOES ON IN SOMERVILLE.

Three Sets of Capitalists Want the Franchise and Each Claim to Have the Advantage—No Action Till October 4th.

The trolley fight is still on in Somerville—three sets of capitalists seeking the right of way. Wednesday afternoon the Township Committee gave another hearing to the representatives of the applicants, but nothing definite was done.

Walter Rehill presented a plan for dividing up the amount which the macadam was estimated to cost. Several others spoke, and when all had concluded Mr. Wiegel handed up a number of revocations of property owners who had granted their consents to the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company. These revocations amounted to about 3,000 feet. The New York Company had a majority of feet last week, and as they were the only company who had a majority, they felt confident that they would get a franchise. They claimed that the consents were irrevocable, but as no one seemed ready to decide that point, no company seemed to have a majority of the consents.

For the Somerset Traction Company, a local syndicate, Former Senator Keys said: "I must state that I am not in a position to present its application and consents today. I am in possession, however, of a charter that gives me the legal right to break ground at once for a railway on the public highway. I have been advised by a lawyer to go ahead and break ground. But, gentlemen, I am here to represent the interest of my constituents and Somerset county and do not want to fight either the Committee or the rival companies. In two weeks I will be in a position to show you that the Somerset Traction Company have the majority of consents, and if the Committee will then grant me the franchise, I will agree to break ground in forty-eight hours, and will build a road according to the demands of the Committee. I am not here to jolly the Committee. I mean business, and will be in a position to file my bonds at the end of two weeks, but do not intend to tie up my money while this consent business is in dispute."

Superintendent Radel of the Brunswick Traction Company, ventured the opinion that the Committee acted wisely in postponing final action for two weeks as it would give either one company or the other an opportunity to clinch their consents, and knock the other fellow out.

Mr. Bergen, in behalf of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company protested against further delay. The company was very weary with it all. They had already invested a great deal of money, and if they were not now to be allowed to build they wanted to know it.

The Committee adjourned the trolley matter for further consideration on October 4th.

MINERVA'S PEACH FESTIVAL.

Rathbone Sisters Conduct a Successful Affair.

Washington Hall on West Second street was well filled last evening, when the members of Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, gave a peach and ice cream festival, accompanied by dancing. The evening was just suited to the affair and the attraction was a strong one. The music for dancing was furnished by Sam. Frazee, and everyone indulged freely in the popular amusement. Mrs. Andrew Cox was in charge of the ice cream, while Mrs. Haberle dispensed the cake and peaches. The floor manager was Walter Higgins, and J. B. Higgins had charge of the soft drinks. The committee who arranged the affair consisted of Mrs. Bowman, chairman; Mrs. Mattis, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Haberle and Mrs. Cox. Of course the dancing was a feature, but the various tables did good business, and a gratifying amount of money was received by the women.

Mt. Zion's Harvest Home.

The attendance at the Harvest Home at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church last evening was much larger than on the opening night. Rev. Mr. Groves, the pastor, was in charge as usual, and he made an address during the evening on a popular subject. Mr. Groves also acted as auctioneer and everything was disposed of at high prices. It is estimated that $40 will be received as profit from the affair. Sociability was the feature of last evening, and it was late before those in attendance left for their homes.

LIVING WHIST CARDS.

TO BE THE PRINCIPAL FEATURE OF THE SPIELKARTENFEST.

How the Dance is Arranged—Miss Lila Agnew Stewart, Who Gave the Last Kirmess, Will be in Charge Again.

After a recess for the summer months, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Muhlenberg Hospital held another meeting yesterday afternoon. It was the regular monthly meeting and the customary reports were received. The principal subject of interest, however, was the Spielkartenfest, which is to be given in the Cycle Academy during November for the benefit of the hospital. It is under the charge of the auxiliary and the board of governors.

The Spielkartenfest is to be given under the direct supervision of Miss Lila Agnew Stewart, who so successfully conducted the Kirmess two years ago. Miss Stewart came to Plainfield yesterday afternoon and was the guest of Mrs. J. M. Van Buren, of Central avenue. She met the members of the auxiliary and then, during the evening, held a long conference with Mrs. VanBuren regarding the details of the affair.

There seems to be a general mistaken idea about the Spielkartenfest. As the name implies, the principal feature of it will be a dance of living playing cards, but the affair will also include a number of other dances, all of which will be different, however, from those of the Kirmess. The Spielkartenfest proper will last about twenty-five minutes and is really a game of whist played with living cards, "living whist." Fifty-two young people will be costumed so as to represent the different cards in the pack. Then there will be the court jester, who shuffles the pack and deals the cards, the pages and the four players who are to meet in this wonderful game. They will consist of four well-known players of this vicinity, two from this city and two from the borough. One hand will be played each night and the winners will be those that score the most during the week.

Miss Stewart has just conducted a Kirmess at Nyack which proved more than successful. The town went wild over it and Miss Stewart has been engaged to return there a year from next June for another; in the meantime a building will be constructed especially to hold it in, as the present accommodations there were far too small to take care of the crowd that attended or attempted to attend.

ENDEAVORERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Park Avenue Church Society Planned for Fall Work.

The Junior Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church met for the first time this fall yesterday afternoon, elected officers, selected committees, and planned for the fall work. The attendance was large and very gratifying to the superintendent, Mrs. W. S. Lowry, who saw in it the promise of an active season.

The election of officers was held and resulted as follows: President, Florence Cuming; vice-president, Harry Thompson; secretary, Violet VanWinkle; treasurer, Nellie Giles. The committees were chosen as follows: Lookout committee, Hazel DeLany, chairman; Retta Nash, Tilly Mulford, Florence Cuming and Charles Hellyer; prayer-meeting, Harry Thompson, chairman; Nina Sampson, Stuart Freeman, Irving VanWinkle, Violet VanWinkle; missionary, May Mulford, chairman; Grace Teneyck, Florence Smalley, Olivia Male and Nellie Giles; social, Marion Shotwell chairman; Bessie Teneyck, Elmer Cramer, Viola Hellyer, Charles Kern, and Marion Dickenson; scrap-book, Van. Shotwell, chairman; Autumn DeLany, Walter VanWinkle, Ethel VanWinkle, Lilian Cuming and Howard Freeman.

KERWIN ARRESTED AGAIN.

Alleged That He Sold Beer Illegally to George W. Gulanski.

Lawrence Kerwin, who keeps a beer bottling establishment at Guinea Egg Pond, was arrested last evening by Roundsman Frederickson on the charge of selling beer from his wagon without an order. The complaint alleges that he sold twelve pints of beer to George W. Gulanski, of Richmond street, on May 8th.

Kerwin was released on bail and appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning, and was held in $100 bail for trial on Oct. 8th.

TO GET OUT PARTY VOTE.

REPUBLICANS WORKING FOR ANTI-GAMBLING AMENDMENT.

A Regular Corps of Workers Will be Out Tuesday to Induce Disinterested Ones to Vote—An Address Has Also Been Issued.

The Republicans are rather at a loss how to conduct the campaign for Tuesday's election. It has heretofore been men and not amendments that were to be voted on and now the questions come up which are not party questions even though endorsed by the Republican organization of the State and city. The committee, in whose hands the city executive committee of the Republicans have left the matter, have discussed the question and finally decided what is to be done. An address has been issued which is even now in the hands of the voters. It calls attention to the election and the amendments and makes a special plea for the anti-gambling amendment.

There will be the regular corps of workers at the polls at Tuesday's election, and carriages will be put in service to get out all the voters. Transparencies will be put up at the North Avenue station to remind voters of the election. The usual lines of campaign work are not suited for the present one and so they will not appear. It is probable that the citizens will take sides in the matter entirely separate from party lines, and the Republicans are not sure who they want to bring. As it stands they will try to get out the Republicans and depend on them to vote in favor of the amendments, although they have no certainty that they will. It is generally understood, however, that the bulk of the vote in Plainfield, irrespective of party, will be in favor of the amendments.

Elizabeth seems to be a doubtful locality to the politicians. Some are prophesying that there will be a big vote there while others say that it will be unusually small. It seems certain, however, that the race track element in that city, which is quite numerous, will not stand still and be defeated without some attempt to prevent it.

The Citizen's League in this city will begin its campaign tomorrow afternoon when a big mass meeting will be held at the Stillman Theatre at 4 o'clock. The speakers will be Dr. Kempshal, Dr. A. H. Lewis, Former Mayor Gilbert and probably others. Everybody is invited.

PRINCE OF ENTERTAINERS.

An Opportunity for Plainfielders to Hear Marshall P. Wilder.

Plainfielders will be glad of an opportunity to hear the funny little man, Marshall P. Wilder, termed by ex-President Grover Cleveland, "The prince of entertainers." Mr. Wilder will be in Plainfield, at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, on September 30th.

Those who have enjoyed Mr. Wilder's entertainment do not need to be reminded of the pure quality and delicacy of his humor, but we would say to those who have not heard him, that his impersonifications, while being of the most mirth-provoking description, are exceptionally refined; and the fact that he is indorsed by the clergy, statesmen, leaders of society, and press of both England and America, is a guarantee of this statement

In his impersonations Mr. Wilder uses no costumes, depending upon frequent changes of the voice, facial expressions and a disarrangement of his hair to produce varied effects. All his selections are from memory, which in connection with his fine stage presence, and the absence of anything to displease the most refined, renders the entertainment most pleasing and gratifying to those before whom he appears.

Mrs. Sands Extends Thanks.

The following letter has been sent to Frank O. Cole, Assistant-Adjutant General Department New Jersey, G. A. R., by Mrs. Emanuel Sands, wife of the late Department Commander of the order:

My Dear Sir—Will you kindly convey to my husband's comrades the thanks of his wife and children. May God in His infinite mercy cheer and protect those heroic men who have shown their courage so often on field and deck, and their tender sympathy to us on Monday when all seemed so dark. The patient unwearied fatigue involved in that long and toilsome march testified a spirit of devotion and love which words are inadequate to portray. We earnestly hope and ardently pray that the lives of my dear husband's comrades may long be spared that those they leave here upon earth may be cheered and comforted as we were by their soldierly devotion. Mrs. Emanuel Sands.

—The funeral of Charles Kaeding, who died of consumption on Thursday morning, will be held at the house, No. 114 East Fifth street, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. G. K. Newell of Hope chapel, will officiate, and interment will be in the family plot in North Plainfield cemetery.

MEXICO'S TRAGEDY.

Police Chief Velasquez Adds a New Chapter to It.

HE SUICIDES WITH A REVOLVER.

Had Confessed to Giving the Order For the Murder of Arroyo, the Man Who Attempted to Kill President Diaz.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 25.—Yesterday ex-Chief of Police Eduardo Velasquez shot himself in the left temple, dying instantly.

No one knows how he procured the pistol. His action is generally approved.

Velasquez confessed to having ordered the murder of Arroyo, who had been arrested for attempting to assassinate President Diaz.

Velasquez sent his servant to purchase the knives with which Arroyo was afterward hacked to death.

When Velasquez was arrested for this lynching, he at first evaded the question put to him by the magistrate by saying that he was a great admirer of the president and that anybody who attempted to assassinate such a man deserved the worst kind of punishment.

When the magistrate told Velasquez that he must return a direct answer, the inspector finally admitted his guilt.

There was at one time a disposition shown to be lenient with Velasquez on account of his claim that zeal for the welfare of the president had moved him to murder Arroyo.

But President Diaz would listen to no appeals in behalf of the murderous inspector and urged that he be rigorously prosecuted.

In consequence of Velasquez's suicide, the warden of Belem prison has been arrested and placed in solitary confinement.

Velasquez shot himself with a small pistol, and the warden is under suspicion of either furnishing the weapon or maintaining lax discipline.

Colonel Velasquez had been placed in solitary confinement because of suspected complicity in the lynching of Arroyo, who attempted to stab President Diaz on the morning of Sept. 16.

Colonel Velasquez, together with Cabera, assistant chief of the secret service, was arrested Saturday, Sept. 18, two days after the attempt on Diaz's life by Arroyo, who was stabbed to death the same night in police headquarters.

Policemen Antonio Milinez and Bartole Franco, who were guarding Arroyo at the time of his murder and who were officially reported to have been "without arms," were also arrested and are in solitary confinement. Maure Sanchez, adjutant at police headquarters, is also a prisoner.

There are in all 21 persons accused of complicity in the lynching of Arroyo. Eleven of them were newsboys and three peanut venders.

Were Burned to the Bone.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Eddie Wood, aged 10 years, had a narrow escape from electrocution. A telephone wire had fallen over the Traction company's guy wire and had been tied to a fence. Wood attempted to put a steel wagon tire over the fence. When it came in contact with the wire, the boy received a terrible shock and was unable to release his right hand. His screams brought a crowd of people, and Tim Barnes attempted to pull Wood from the tire and was knocked his full length to the ground. A bystander also attempted and was sent to his knees. Then an umbrella handle was fastened to the boy's sleeve and he was jerked free. The boy's hand and wrist were burned to the bone.

A Spanish Admiral Talks.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Daily Graphic this morning publishes an interview with Admiral de la Camara, naval attache of the Spanish embassy in London, in the course of which he says he does not believe that any definite plan of naval campaign exists to be followed in the event of war between Spain and the United States, and he adds that if such a plan exists it must necessarily be modified by assistance received from any other European power.

Indicted For Murder.

BUFFALO, Sept. 25.—Frederick Katoll was indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury of the supreme court. Katoll is the young man who last Sunday afternoon in his father's greenhouse on Linwood avenue quarreled with Eugene Ledate, a former resident of Philadelphia, and killed him with a hatchet, afterward burying the body in a manure pile. Katoll pleaded not guilty.

Peace at Montevideo.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A cablegram received at the state department from United States Minister Stuart at Montevideo announces the proclamation of peace there. He had previously reported that all arrangements had been made looking to peace, but that the plan required the ratification of congress. It is assumed that this has now been given and that the insurection is at an end.

To Be Charged With Murder.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 25.—Fillippo Restio, an Italian who was seriously injured in a shooting and stabbing affray last Saturday afternoon, is dead. The police of the city will take steps to arrest Antonio Perrino, who shot Restio, on a warrant charging him with murder.

Banana Peel Killed Him.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Charles Newhall, a barber, was run over and instantly killed here. He stepped on a banana peel and fell under the wheels of a heavy wagon, which went over his body, crushing the life out of him.

A Disastrous Fire.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—More than half the village of Newport-Pagnell has been destroyed by fire. The flames consumed 40 thatched cottages, with barns, etc., and rendered 150 people homeless.

Sudden Death of a Minister.

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Rev. John A. Davis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Nyack, died suddenly of neuralgia of the heart in his fifty-eighth year.

STATE NOT FRIGHTENED.

Declares That Luetgert's Witnesses Will Be Shown Up In Fine Style.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The testimony for the defense in the Luetgert trial yesterday was for the most part that of witnesses who said they had seen Mrs. Luetgert in the vicinity of Kenosha, Wis., within a few days after the date on which it has been claimed by the state that she was murdered.

The fact that Juror William Harley was indicted in 1887 for conspiracy and bribery in connection with the Cook county commissioners scandal was dragged to the front. There are now no cases pending against Juror Harley, and he was never put on trial on the indictments against him.

State Attorney Deneen was apparently not disturbed by the evidence of the witnesses from Kenosha, Wis., who identified the picture of Mrs. Luetgert as that of a strange woman they saw in the Wisconsin town on May 3, 4 and 5. "Wait until we put in our rebuttal evidence," said he. "We will show this defense up in a way that will be surprising."

Witnesses will now be called to show Luetgert's treatment of his wife. It will be sought to be shown that he was a model husband and that his home life was pleasant. Next week the testimony of the experts in regard to the bones found in the factory will be heard.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.

"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." MRS. FLORENCE ANDREWS, Clearfield, Iowa.

A Doctor's Discovery.

Realizing the Necessity of Iron in the Blood, He Prescribes Capsuloids in a Stubborn Case With Marked Success.

A newspaper man while talking to a local physician casually asked his opinion of Capsuloids, the new medicine, the use of which introduces an entirely new and original method of restoring natural iron or Hæmoglobin to the blood. The doctor replied: "I believe it is the true method of curing disease. Iron has ever been a strong factor in my practice. Previous to the discovery of Capsuloids the best form of iron physicians had at their command failed of its purpose because of its insoluble nature. On the other hand it discolored and ruined the teeth, rasped the stomach, and not infrequently did more harm than good. I recently had a case that illustrates this point.

"Nearly eight months ago I was called to see two girls, twins, aged fourteen, suffering with anæmia or pale blood. Their mother told me that they had been very pale for nearly two years and no medicine seemed to do any good. I tried iron medicines but all to no purpose. I read of Capsuloids and learned that they contained dissolved Hæmoglobin or natural iron extracted from the blood of healthy bullocks. This seemed to me an ideal form of iron medicine and I prescribed Capsuloids for these two girls. In one week I could see the change, in two weeks the mother was delighted, and to-day these girls are as rosy cheeked, bright-eyed and merry as any two girls in the country."

Since their discovery Capsuloids have gained world wide fame for the marvelous manner in which they have cured diseases of the most stubborn nature.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, or six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

A AWFUL LANDSLIDE

First Great Disaster to Klondike Gold Hunters.

NEWS COMES BY THE TUG PIONEER.

It Is Reported That Eighteen Persons, Including One Woman, Are Missing, Among These a Well Known Prizefighter's Relative.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Sept. 25.—Tug Pioneer, Captain Neilson, has arrived here direct from Skagguay with news of the first great disaster which has befallen the gold seekers. A large party, toiling wearily over the Dyea trail toward the Yukon, last Saturday was overwhelmed by a landslide or glacierslide and many killed.

Eighteen persons in all—17 men and one woman—are reported missing, and while it is not supposed that more than seven or eight were killed it would not surprise those who brought out the news to learn later that none of the missing ever turned up alive.

The accident is described by some as a snowslide, by others as a landslide and by others as the tearing loose by the rains of a huge glacier that overhung Sheep camp and the trail. The news reached Skagguay Sunday evening, and the tug Pioneer left there at 3 o'clock Monday morning.

Win Sprague, brother of Captain Sprague of the tug Sea Lion, was a passenger on the Pioneer, and he tells the following story of the destructive slide:

"I heard the news of the slide on Sunday evening from a man who claimed to have witnessed it. He said the accident was caused by the rain. During the first part of the week it was cold, and ice had formed all around. On Thursday a change came, and Thursday night and Friday morning there was a warm rain, accompanied by a Chinook wind, which thawed out everything.

"The rain came down in torrents, the worst storm of years for that section, and continued all Friday and Saturday forenoon. About noon Saturday the slide came, striking the Dyea trail at Sheep camp.

"Just what caused it could not be told, but there came a slide of earth and rocks and water that carried off all in its path. Sheep camp was in line with the flood, and it was literally wiped out of existence. Fortunately there were not many persons there that day compared with the crowd usually at the camp. This is where the loss of life occurred.

"Everybody left outfit and baggage behind and fled for his life. Some were caught in the deluge, just how many may never be known, but 18 were missing altogether.

"Two of them were a man and his wife named Crockett, I believe, who were running restaurants at Sheep camp. It is believed that the woman at least was lost. No trace of either of them had been reported up to the time I left Skagguay.

"One body had been found. It was that of Choynski, cousin of the prizefighter. He was found a quarter of a mile from where he had been camping on the trail and was in a terrible condition.

"When discovered, all of his clothes had been torn from him, his body was bruised and mangled, but he was not dead. He was suffering untold agony and died within a short time after being found.

"Four or five of the missing men were Indian packers, and one of them is reported to have had $4,000 with him and was just starting out for Dyea when the slide came.

"There is great excitement along the trails and at Dyea and Skagguay over the report of the big slide. One report was that 50 persons had been killed, but the facts are as I have stated them to you already."

Charles Finn, assistant engineer of the Pioneer, confirms the story as told by Mr. Sprague.

He was on shore at Skagguay until 2 o'clock Monday morning and made diligent inquiries about the reported landslide. Mr. Finn believes that one of the glaciers which are to be seen hanging along the mountain sides was washed off by the heavy rains and that it came crashing down the hill, dealing destruction along its path.

Just before reaching the trail and Sheep camp this glacier swept through a lake at the foot of one of the hills, and instantly there was an outlet for the lake, and its waters followed the glacier and numerous bowlders as they came chasing along through Sheep camp. This, Mr. Finn believes, is a reasonable explanation of the accident, and he is certain from what he heard while on shore that at least seven were drowned or crushed to death in the slide.

"The slide left destruction along its path, and the waters were so swollen that the footbridge at the mouth of the Skagguay river, erected at the time of the drowning there, was washed out.

"One of the men I talked with," he added, "was an Indian packer who had escaped the flood by running, and he declared it was the worst storm he had ever known in that country.

"He knew the names of several of the missing, but was soon too drunk after landing in Skagguay to talk clearly.

"There is consternation at Dyea and Skagguay over the report of the accident, and it will deter hundreds from trying to get across this year.

"I was told that the Skagguay trail was literally obliterated and that there is no use trying to get over it this year."

The steamship Alki also arrived here from Dyea and Skagguay, and Captain Patterson reports that the Knowles Gold Mining company, with property on Berners bay, has just struck it rich in a new quartz ledge.

The discovery was made just off Berners bay, and it is said thousands of persons have walked over the ledge during the past five years. The ledge is 37 feet wide and has been traced for over 1,000 feet.

The mill test gave an assay of $100 to the ton, and concentrates went $150 to the ton. It is claimed that concentrates can be dug up all over the claim underneath the ground, and Captain Patterson says the strike is undoubtedly one of the best ever made in the world.

TO HAVE A RESPITE

Advance Against the Afridis Has Been Postponed.

PUNITIVE OPERATIONS PROGRESSING.

News From Simla Is Greatly Encouraging to the Englishman at Home, as It Indicates Victory For British Troops.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 25.—Owing to the protracted campaign against the Mohmunds, General Sir William Lockhart, commander of the Punjab frontier force and in supreme control of the punitive operations, has decided to postpone the general advance against the Afridis at Tirah, their summer headquarters, until Oct. 9.

The Afridis are encamped in a strong position on a rugged plateau, which it will be most difficult to scale, and they are assembled there in great force.

According to intelligence received from Samana, an advance body of over 2,000 of the enemy has arrived in the Khanki valley and is watching the movements of the British troops. The Afridis are spreading a report that the ameer of Afghanistan has demanded hostages of them and will help them if hostages are given.

The news from the Mohmund expedition is very satisfactory. General Jeffreys, who is meeting little opposition, is destroying the enemy's fortifications and villages. The tribesmen appear cowed, and overtures for surrender are expected very shortly.

It appears that they lost over 70 killed and a large number wounded during the night attack on Sir Bindon Blood's column, their heavy defeat destroying their faith in the mollahs, who had promised to close the muzzles of the British guns by divine means.

Encouraging For Englishmen.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—According to special dispatches from Simla, the British, who on Wednesday captured Badmanai pass, held by the Haddah mollah with a large force of Mohmunds and Shinwaris, have pushed on from the pass and without opposition have occupied Jarobi, the village and headquarters of the Haddah mollah, who has fled.

It is believed that the capture of the village and the flight of the priest will break the back of the opposition of the tribesmen to the farther advance of the British.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Fire, a Runawey Steam Engine, Death, Accidents and Destruction In Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 25.—Fire originated in a woodshed in the rear of the Musee theater on Yonge street last night and communicated to a large warehouse adjoining and to the theater. At the time the fire broke out the actors in the theater were preparing for a performance, and there was a wild scramble to get out of the building. The theater is badly damaged by fire and smoke.

A fire engine that was stationed at the corner of Adelaide and Victoria streets was left with the horses hitched to it. A jet of steam shot out of the safety valve of the engine with a loud report. This frightened the horses, and they ran away down the crowded street.

The heavy engine ran over Bertie Escot, 11 years old, killing him instantly. Seven firemen were so badly crushed between the engine and a wall that they had to be removed in ambulances to the hospital. Half a dozen citizens were also more or less injured.

The Hazleton Strike Over.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 25.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of the Lattimer victims met again and heard additional testimony. Charles Gascott, the schoolteacher; John Welsh, Stephen Charles, Daniel Ferry and other miners testified, but nothing new was adduced with the exception of the statement by Ferry that after the first volley was fired Deputy Wrought shot at a man on the railroad tracks. After a half dozen witnesses had been examined Coroner McKee closed the inquest, and the jurymen retired. They will not give a verdict till tonight. The Lehigh Valley Coal company's men at Jeanesville held a meeting and unanimously agreed to return to work on Tuesday. The company has made no concessions, and the resumption at Jeanesville now puts an end to the strike. It was the intention of General Gobin to order the withdrawal of part of the militia, but the rain interfered. Battery C of the artillery broke camp and returned to Phenixville.

That Venezuela Boundary Question.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A final decision has been reached by the arbitrators who are to determine the British-Venezuela boundary line, as to the fifth arbitrator or umpire who is to act with them. His name is for the present withheld. It is not Baron Courcell, whose name has been mentioned in this connection, nor King Oscar of Sweden, who was to name the umpire only in case the arbitrators failed to agree. An agreement was reached without the necessity of calling on the Swedish sovereign. The umpire is a European, but this is said to be without significance, since no question involving the Monroe doctrine is to be submitted to the tribunal. The arbitrators in behalf of Venezuela are Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court.

Murdered, but Left With Money.

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Sept. 25.—Frank Larosa, an Italian laborer, was found dead on the outskirts of the town with two bullet holes in his body. He had evidently been murdered, as either shot would have caused death. The murder was evidently the result of a quarrel, as over $60 in money was found in Larosa's clothes. Three Italian laborers are suspected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—William Wigman, 25 years old, a laborer, whose residence is not known, was overcome by gas in an excavation at 205 West Twenty-third street late yesterday afternoon and died soon after.

RULES OF SIDEWALK AND ROAD.

The congestion of traffic on city streets is evolving a series of road rules, sometimes having the force of a city ordinance, and of street etiquette, out of which may grow in time a comprehensive code, under which may be defined the right of the bicyclist as against the truckman, and the right of the humble pedestrian as against them both. One of the latest practical suggestions in this line of street etiquette comes from Chicago, where a card is published bearing on one side the ordinance giving the right of way to street cars, and on the other a picture showing the proper position for vehicles left standing on the street. When the vehicle is backed up against the curbstone the horse should be turned so as to stand looking in the direction the cars are going—not coming—on the nearest railway track. Then should the horse start forward as a car passes, the car will hit the shafts from behind and no great damage is likely. If, on the other hand, the car strikes a shaft pointing in the opposite direction, the shaft will run into the car, and a smashup and probable injury to passengers is the result. The suggestion is of even more importance in cities where passengers are allowed to ride on the footboards of the cars, in which position they run the risk of being impaled on a wagon shaft.

A circular prepared by a number of the members of the Christian Endeavor Union of Essex county is being distributed. It calls attention to the amendment election next Tuesday, says that there is great danger of the defeat of the proposed amendments by public lethargy, and adds: "If you do not wish to see the gamblers returned to power sign this protest, and by showing that you will vote against the gamblers encourage others to do so."

The tax rate in Plainfield this year will be $2.52 on the hundred. This is more than double the rate in Somerville. Plainfielders had better sell out and come to Somerville. We have a healthier town and all the improvements that Plainfield enjoys without paying nearly so much for it.—Somerville Democrat.

For the man of modest means, the loan and savings associations are the greatest financial institutions ever established; and to the credit of Plainfield she maintains several that for stability and prosperity are not excelled by any in the state.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Union county, at its annual meeting held on Thursday at Rahway, passed resolutions in favor of supporting the anti-gambling and woman suffrage amendments.

Bound Brook's tax rate this year is $1.75, a share of which goes to pay the sewer debt. Other tax rates in this vicinity are Dunellen, $2.38; Perth Amboy, $2.56, New Brunswick, $2 60; Summit, $2.92; Passaic, $3.00.

The New York newspapers teem with advice about saving the Palisades, but the New Jersey women are doing the actual work.

Screen doors are called down all over town. Any house having them in use now must be a fly place, indeed.

By George (Henry) the Bryan Democrats seem to think they will win the Greater New York Mayoralty.

—The largest assortment of fall suitings and trouserings ever shown in this city are at Sebring's, the clothier, 202 West Front street.

—A well attended meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. building last evening for the purpose of forming a permanent organization of the alumni of the shorthand courses. The matter was discussed informally and it was decided to postpone the work of organization until a future meeting, which will be called within a short time.

Beyond the Pale of competition! That's just where we rest as regards prices. There is no house in New Jersey that can sell Pianos as cheaply as we can, for the plain reason that we buy in large quantities, always pay cash for everything we buy, and sell as many Pianos as all the other stores in Newark put together. It's merely the economy that comes of doing business on a large scale.

We can always save a customer anywhere from Twenty-five to One Hundred Dollars on the price of a Piano, as compared with what he would have to pay elsewhere.

Easy to satisfy yourself; price our Pianos, then price Pianos elsewhere. Don't come back if that isn't so.

A DOG SLAYER ABROAD.

Killed a Constable's Hound and Was Put Under Arrest by the Owner.

Robert Walpole and his son, Linus, of Scotch Plains, went fishing in the upper Passaic river, near Summit, on Wednesday, and while they were enjoying the sport a shot rang out and a valuable hound dog belonging to the younger man, gave a leap or two and fell dead. A moment later a man with a shotgun in his hands came out of the woods and stood surveying them coolly. When the Walpoles started to approach him he slipped a fresh shell into his gun and made a threatening gesture.

The elder Walpole, who is a constable, parleyed with the man for a time and then showing his badge, placed him under arrest. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kelley, of Summit, the man gave his name as John Kendal, and admitted that he had killed a number of dogs in a similar manner, of late. The land upon which the shooting occurred does not belong to Kendal. He was held for examination, and left his shot gun as security for his reappearanc when wanted.

Prosperous Shares in the Plainfield Building and Loan Association.

The semi-annual report of the second, third, and fourth and fifth series of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association have just been completed and they show plainly the advantages that were claimed for them when started. The second series has $71,143.08 assets and liabilities, showing that each $121 paid is now worth $193.50; the third series has assets and liabilities to the amount of $21,011.06, showing that each $84 paid is worth $120.75; the fourth series has $16,383.16 assets and liabilities, showing each $36 paid to be worth $40.79; the fifth series has $12,059.42 assets and liabilities, showing each $18 paid in to be worth $21.51. The sixth series will soon be started and from the above figures it can readily be seen that to buy some of its stock will be a good investment

THEATRICAL.

Katie Emmett, who is a popular favorite in this city, comes to us Tuesday evening next at Music Hall in an entirely new version of her greatest success, "The Waifs of New York." It is a comedy-drama that will please all classes of theatre-goers. There are thrilling climaxes and effects for the lovers of the sensational; novel specialty acts and catchy songs for those who like that style of entertainment. It abounds with bright lines and dramatic situations, and is interpreted by an excellent company of sixteen people, and a wealth of characteristic scenery representing Greater New York.

A RECEIPT FOR A DAY.

"Take a dash of water cold
And a little leaven of prayer,
A little bit of Sunshine gold
Dissolved in the morning air;
Add to your meal some merriment
And a thought for kith and kin,
And then, as a prime ingredient,
Aplenty of work thrown in.
But spice it all with the essence of love
And a little whiff of play;
Let a wise old Book and a glance above
Complete the well-spent day."

NEMESIS.

BY VICTOR GAGE KIMBERT.

The library in Governor Andrews' handsome residence was dimly lighted for it was early in the evening, the soft light falling from the chandelier brought out more clearly the beauty of each picture and work of art, with which the wealthy governor liked to surround himself. There were books all the way from the great encyclopaedias down to the last review, statues and bronzes from other lands, and a great easy-chair where the governor himself sat when wearied by the cares and duties of office.

But to-night no chair that was ever upholstered could rest his weary frame for before him knelt a woman in bitterest agony, imploring him to exercise his prerogative and save the life of her husband, who was condemned to death. She was a beautiful woman; her face was colorless, but each feature was exquisitely molded, and her large, soft eyes, luminous with tears and saddened by grief were in themselves lovely enough to make even a plain face glorious.

How she pleaded. She used every argument that a desperate woman could think of, but in vain. She told him of the little children who must bear the terrible heritage of shame from no fault of theirs, and pictured the want and wretchedness awaiting them as well as herself. She told of the kindness of the husband when sober, and reiterated the fact that but for intoxication his hand would never have been raised against a fellowman; how he had said if he might have another chance no drop of intoxicants should ever cross his lips, but that he would try hard to redeem the past. She did not try to make his crime less, or object to the justice of the penalty; she only pleaded for mercy—pleaded, too with such an utter abandonment of grief that the eyes of the governor grew moist, and his heart ached in sympathy with hers; but still, as before, he refused her petition.

"It is simply impossible, madame. Much as I feel for your grief, than which none can be greater, I should be untrue to all principles of justice should I interfere with the regular course of the law. Your husband has had a fair trial; and I am sorry to say it to you, but I think he has been justly condemned for the crime for which he will lose his life. That you and your innocent children should also suffer is deplorable; if sin could be robbed of its complexity, so that none but the guilty should suffer its consequences, it would be less horrible but so long as there is sin there must also be suffering by the sinner and all connected with him to the last degree. His condition at the time of the crime, though serving as an excuse in your eyes, goes for little in the eyes of the world at large. The public are already tired of having flimsy excuses brought up to defeat the ends of justice. It is difficult to convict a criminal, for the simple reason that his attorneys move heaven and earth to find something which will appeal to a jury and result in at least a disagreement. That your husband was convicted at the first trial is evidence to me that the case must have been remarkably clear."

"Not so," she interrupted, eagerly. "It only means that we had no means to employ skilled talent. But it is not a new trial for which I am begging. It is not justice but mercy that I implore, and oh! I beseech you, in the name of your own fair sons and daughters to be pitiful to me in my extremity!"

The kind face of the governor worked painfully, and tears that were no discredit to his manhood filled his eyes; but still he had the same reply.

"I cannot do what you wish. The power of pardon is no child's toy, to be given at pleasure, but a great responsibility, to be used with the utmost precaution, lest the barriers against crime are destroyed and the innocent left to the mercy of the lawless."

Still she did not yield. Still she pleaded till at last his patience was exhausted, and he told her firmly she must desist.

"Only my great pity for you has induced me to listen so long. He must die on the day appointed. I shall not interfere."

She went slowly out into the night. It was very dark, though she had not noticed the gathering shadows while in the library, so intense had been her anguish; but she knew now that she must have been pleading for hours, and she wondered at the patience that had suffered her presence so long. She began to feel bodily exhaustion, and stopped at a near-by bakery to get a roll and a cup of tea, that she might have strength for the railway journey before her.

Mechanically she entered the car, and paid her fare when the conductor asked her for her ticket, for she had neglected to buy one, and her head whirled so that it seemed as if she were some one else, and not connected in the remotest degree with the woman who had knelt in the governor's library. Slowly the scene flitted before her and she tried hard to realize how he could have done otherwise than he did; and then she wondered if that other woman, not herself, could not have produced better arguments. She saw herself and her husband as they began housekeeping in a small way to be sure, but still comfortably, with a little room for his mother, who had not been at all the disagreeable person mothers-in-laws were said to be, but a real mother to the tired clerk, who knew far more about the color and price of a yard of ribbon than she did of housekeeping. She had learned very rapidly, the older woman had kindly said, and had taken great pride in her work and in keeping the little ones neat and clean when they had come one by one into the nest, which was always crowded, yet not full enough to overflow. Then she saw her husband in his cell, awaiting execution, and then—a woman fainted in the car, and kind hands raised her, and a physician on the train gave her a restorative, and after a while she left it leaving the passengers to wonder about the beautiful woman who was in such evident grief.

"Something out of the ordinary," said the physician. "Her trouble was no common affair. She was at the point of exhaustion. I suggested her stopping at S—— and entering the hospital there for a week; but she refused so vehemently that there was nothing more to be said, for of course I had no right to insist. But it will be an insane asylum in the end, I imagine; she was three-fourths demented to-night."

Sane or insane, her condition did not prevent her from reaching home. With bitter moans she told her sad failure to her husband's mother, who listened to each word in a curious, half-dazed way, yet asking many questions concerning her reception and the governor's manner.

"I was foolish to let you go," she said, slowly. "I might have known it would not answer. I will go myself to-morrow."

"Oh, mother, it will be useless! You could say nothing that I have not already said. He lost patience at the last. I doubt if you can see him even."

"I shall see him," the elder woman answered, a strange look upon her face, comely yet, in spite of the half century and more it had known. "I shall see him, and I believe he will give me my son's life."

"Then why, oh, why did not you go at first?"

"Because I would rather suffer a dozen deaths than go—but to save his life—yes, I must do it!"

"Why do you think he will listen to you, mother?" queried the wife, anxiously.

No reply save a slow shake of the head was vouchsafed, and she took her departure, leaving anxious forebodings in the mind of her daughter-in-law as to her sanity.

But there was no doubt of her sanity as she stood before Governor Andrews and demanded the life of the man for whom his wife had pleaded so nobly.

"Am I never to have any rest from this case?" he cried, angrily.

"As much as you deserve, probably," was the reply, "for you are in a great measure responsible for the crime for which this man is condemned, and ought to pay part of the penalty."

"Nonsense! I never saw the man, and I assure you I shall grant no pardon, either for threats of entreaties."

"I shall offer neither. It is true, indeed, that you never saw him; yet you will never dare to let him go to a felon's death, for, strange as it would seem to the world in which you are so popular, this man is your son!"

"What do you mean? Who are you?" gasped the governor, though her words had brought a grim possibility before his mind.

"I am Annette Wilkins. I was Annette Brainard." He started and visibly paled. "When you came to our village forty years ago, there was not a more innocent, light-hearted girl than myself. Your memory will tell you if I was pretty or not, and how I foolishly prized the fatal beauty that only worked my destruction. You know what your flattery and false words of love wrought, and what a wrecked, ruined thing you left in place of the simple country girl you found. You do well to talk of justice!" she cried with sudden contempt. "You are well fitted to be the governor of a large commonwealth, you, who left me, almost a child in years, to meet the consequences of our mutual sin! I wonder if there is justice in earth or heaven when success like this"—and she glanced at his luxurious surroundings—"is permitted to such as you, while your oldest son lies in a felon's cell!"

There was a long silence; then the man said.—

"For twenty-five years I have lived a clean, God-fearing life; the crime and folly of my youth I believed repented of and forgiven; but repentance does not undo, and I must face the future. You tell me I am responsible for this unhappy young man's crime; how can that be?"

"In a drunken quarrel my poor boy killed the ruffian who assailed the honor of his mother, whom he had always believed to be a widow. I left the old home before he was born, and thought my wretched story was forgotten; but scandal never dies."

"My sin has found me out," said the governor. He spoke like a feeble old man. "Since circumstances have made it possible for me to save him, my son must not die on the gallows. There is no other way; I must write the pardon. If I could pay the penalty myself it might be just, but the law would accept no substitute, and my poor wife and children would suffer needless shame. You will not have suffered alone," he said, in a curious tone. "When I sign that pardon I sign my own political death warrant, for an outraged public will be my censor."

SWIFTER THAN THE WHEEL.

Champion Reynold Has a Walk Around with Cyclers on the N. Y. Boulevard.

Something new on cushion tires appeared on the Boulevard yesterday morning says the New York Journal. It was a man riding on bicycle skates. The man was Earle Reynolds, the champion ice and roller skater, and he created a sensation. With apparent ease he glided all around bicycle riders seemingly without any more effort than is usually exerted by a man in walking.

Reynolds made his appearance on the Boulevard shortly before noon. He came across One Hundred and Sixth street from the Park, having skated up from the Netherland Hotel at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue. The steep grade between Manhattan avenue and Columbus avenue, on One Hundred and Sixth street, offered no obstacles to him, and when he reached the Boulevard and turned north he was going at the rate of about ten miles an hour. Immediately every cycler on the road started after him, and he led them all a merry chase to Grant's tomb, where he explained the mechanism of the skate to numerous bicyclists.

The bicycle skate has many points in common with the old roller skate, but Reynolds claims it is far superior in construction. Instead of four small boxwood wheels, as the roller skate had, the bicycle skate has two large pneumatic-tired wheels, one placed in front of and one behind the body proper of the skate. The axles of the wheels are equipped with ball bearings, and Reynolds says there is absolutely no effort in propelling them.

CHAMPION REYNOLDS.

Of course, the skates run best on asphalt, but the young man who is exploiting them claims they are far easier of locomotion on a dirt road than a bicycle is. Fancy skating is possible with the bicycle skate, as Reynolds evinced yesterday by forming figure eights, grapevines and other standard designs of skaters on the smooth asphalt pavement of One Hundred and Sixth street. The mode of propulsion with them is about the same as that necessary with ice skates.

Reynolds is quite confident that the bicycle skate will prove a formidable rival of the bicycle. He claims that skating is far less tiresome than pedalling, and advances as an argument in favor of the skates that when the roads are bad the wearer of them can take them off and carry them without discomfort. They are less likely to suffer damage, he asserts, and can be repaired easier and cheaper than a bicycle can. In any event the bicycle skate is attracting interest.

A "SALTED" GOLD MINE.

It Proved a Bonanza and Yielded Nearly a Million Dollars Worth.

Now that the discovery of gold in the Klondyke region has attracted universal attention, the story of the "salting" of a gold mine in the Transvaal some years ago is of interest. Three men were concerned in the swindle, and they made Klerksdorp, some two hundred miles north of Kimberley, the scene of the "salting."

By "salting" is meant that the perpetrators load a shotgun with gold dust and blow the charge into the rock. Specimens are then submitted to the prospective victims, and as they seem to be filled with gold, he buys.

The would-be swindlers in South Africa discovered a bit of veldt near Klerksdorp. Of gold there was absolutely no trace. They blow the rock full of gold and then sold the property to a "jay" for $25,000. The "jay" floated a company for four times that much money and the company sank shafts in all directions.

In the last five years the company has taken nearly a million dollars' worth of gold out of the "salted" mine and the would-be swindlers are chagrined, to say the least. The only moral that can be drawn from this story is that it does not always pay to be dishonest.—New York Journal.

Not Guilty.

"Little boy," said the kind gentleman, "I hope you do not read those pernicious dime novels?"

"Naw," said the little boy," "not we'n I kin git bully good stories fer a nickel apiece."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mrs. Golfkin—Isn't it lovely! Really, how much we are indebted to the poor for the opportunity they give us to have these delightful occasions.

Billy: "Why, that's old. I've worn them ever since my wife learned to ride a bike."

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

NOW COME GOLD IMPORTS.

What Dun's Review Has to Say on the Present Financial Situation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Gold imports have begun from England and from France, besides the arrival of $4,000,000 at San Francisco from Australia for wheat exported. The gold received there and started from Europe amounts to $6,500,000 in two days, and the advance of its rates by the Bank of England to 2½ per cent seems likely to check the movement, in view of heavy merchandise balances due this country and the rise in rate of interest here. Since currency began to go out at a great rate to move the crops, while rapidly swelling business called for increased supply, the New York market has grown harder until sterling exchange fell 1¼ cents last week and rates of interest rose.

When the rise in rates brought two days' reaction in stocks, with opportunity for enormous purchases at a decline, gold was started from London at once by demands of creditors here.

The August excess of merchandise and specie exports over imports was not far from $42,000,000, and the September excess will evidently be larger unless shipments of gold are considerable. Merchandise exports from New York in three weeks of September have been 15.3 per cent less, and like changes on the whole trade for the month would result in net exports of $53,000,000 merchandise, besides silver.

Money is no longer a drug here, because trade and industry advance without halting. Payments through principal clearing houses have been 65.7 per cent larger than in last year for the week and 17.3 per cent larger than in 1892. So vast an expansion, from 140,000,000 daily in March to 211,000,000 daily in September, would have been thought impossible not long ago, and railroad earnings in September also slightly exceed those of 1892 and last year's by 11.7 per cent.

EXPLOSION IN A MINE.

News Comes of a Terrible Catastrophe In Marion, Ills.

MARION, Ills., Sept. 25.—An explosion, terrible in its effects, occurred in the Williamson County Coal company's mine, four miles north of here, yesterday.

Fifteen wounded miners, two of whom have since died, have been rescued from the smoke and flames, while one was found dead when the rescuing party went down the shaft.

Several of the wounded are so severely crushed and otherwise hurt that they will die.

There are said to be five or six miners still imprisoned in the burning mine, but they cannot be reached on account of the smoke and fire.

These men, no doubt, are dead by this time, as there is no means of escape for them, the mine not having been provided with the usual escaping shaft.

Most of the men killed and wounded are Russians and Italians, and it is impossible to get their names yet. The force of the explosion was tremendous, as it blew one of the mine mules over 200 yards along the main entry and into the big dump at the bottom of the shaft, which is 180 feet deep.

The explosion was no doubt caused by natural gas, of which there is a good deal in this mine, taking fire from the miners' lamps when they descended as they started for work.

THE CUBAN WAR.

Report That a Son of Garcia Has Been Severely Wounded.

HAVANA, Sept. 25.—It is announced from Spanish headquarters that during the night of Wednesday last a number of insurgents attempted to enter the town of Socorro, province of Santiago de Cuba, but were repulsed, with a loss of several men killed. The Spaniards, however, lost the military commander of the town, and 4 soldiers killed and 22 wounded.

The military commander of Campo Florido, this province, has captured at Asciento Delgato an insurgent depot containing 11 boxes of cartridges and 550 pounds of dynamite, believed to have been landed by a filibustering expedition.

The Spanish authorities claim that a son of Calixto Garcia, the famous insurgent general, was severely wounded in the last fighting in an attack on Fort Brenosa, in the district of Bolguin, province of Santiago de Cuba.

The insurgent leader Salome Morejon, it is added, has been killed in the province of Matanzas.

HE ROBBED THE WALDORF.

Startling Accusation Against an Employee of the Big Hotel.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—John H. Staats, the assistant superintendent of the Hotel Waldorf on Fifth avenue here, is locked up at police headquarters accused of having committed a series of mysterious robberies at that place. A rug worth $1,000 which had vanished from the Waldorf was found in a room rented by Staats on East Thirtieth street, also silverware and other valuable property, a slungshot, revolvers and a bottle of knockout drops.

Some of the articles found bear the stamp of the United States hotel, Boston; the Hotel Haublein, Washington. The latter establishment is said to have been once owned by the prisoner.

The detectives say that Staats' wife is at present in the country, and during her absence the assistant superintendent has been living with another woman in Brooklyn. The robberies at the Waldorf foot up many thousand dollars.

Sentenced For Counterfeiting.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Judge Brown, in the United States district court, has sentenced Michael Labadassa to the state prison for seven years at hard labor and to pay a fine of $500, and his wife, Camilla, to the East Cambridge House of Correction at hard labor for three years and to pay a fine of $100. The Labadassas were convicted of manufacturing spurious silver coins, of having molds for counterfeiting and for having counterfeit coins in their possession.

A Slave Wins Honors.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Milton G. Walker, a well known colored man of Boston, has just been awarded honorable membership in the council of the Boston Conservatory of Music. He was born a slave in Augusta, Ga., in 1847. He has always taken an interest in music, being quite proficient in piano playing.

THE DEADLY PLAGUE

Yellow Fever In the South Is Not Decreasing.

FOUR MORE DEATHS AT MOBILE.

From Other Places Come the Reports of New Cases, Including Ten at Edwards, and Some Very Suspicious Fever In Texas.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Dr. Wyman's advices include the following:

At the Fontainebleau camp of detention 88 persons were admitted and 11 discharged; total now in camp, 432. At Mobile there were 3 new cases and 3 deaths. New cases at Edwards, 29; total to date, 133.

From Atlanta Surgeon Sawtelle reports as follows: "Cases reported last night doing well. No other case in town and no suspected ones on incoming trains today."

From New Orleans Surgeon Carter reports that mails are now being disinfected.

From Nashville the following telegram, signed by the president and secretary of the board of health, was received: "At a called meeting of the state board of health yesterday all quarantine orders heretofore issued were rescinded. Parties coming from infected districts will be allowed to stop at any and all points in Tennessee, the western division of the state excepted."

How It Stands In Mobile.

MOBILE, Sept. 25.—There have been 4 deaths and 3 new cases. The deaths were: John G. Bourne, Rev. Daniel Murray of St. Vincent's parish; —— McDonald, aged 71 years, a new case; Frank Stewart, found dying in a negro cook's house on Water street near Church street. He had been on a spree for the last ten days and was not supposed to have the fever. When he died, however, he turned yellow and thus came under the definition of a yellow fever death.

The steady effort to get the stringency of quarantine against Mobile modified is meeting with partial success. The river boats, the Carrier for the Alabama river and the Hardcash for the Tombigbee, have started on their first trip for two weeks. They will go up these rivers some 200 miles, carrying heavy cargoes of all kinds of supplies, but no passengers. The railroads also are daily doing more work and bringing cotton and general merchandise.

A Firm Alarmed.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The following urgent dispatch has been received from Horter, Tetrou & Co.:

"Use your influence with Mr. Wanamaker and other prominent Philadelphians to appeal by wire to Surgeon General Wyman to order Dr. Guiteras to investigate immediately the very suspicious fever now prevailing in Galveston, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio. All Texas is threatened and should be guarded."

This message was addressed to George Horter of Haddonfield, N. J., the father of the head of the New Orleans firm. Directly upon its receipt consultations were had with Mr. Wanamaker, Strawbridge & Clothier, Hood, Foulkrod & Co., Colonel Grey and President Thomson of the Pennsylvania railroad as to the best means of securing a response to his appeal.

Fever Virulent In New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—Thus far there have been a few less than 100 cases and 15 deaths. The death rate is in the neighborhood of 15 per cent. In 1878 it was 16 per cent, so that up to the present time the disease is about as virulent as it was in the last great epidemic New Orleans had.

One of the sensations of yesterday was the announcement that the board of health had decided to prosecute Dr. Monluzin for having failed to report a case of suspicious fever.

Mayor Flower ordered a force of policemen to guard the Beauregard school, which a mob made an attempt to burn. Only a portion of the building was burned, and it is still possible to use the structure as a hospital for the treatment of yellow fever patients.

More Cases at Edwards.

EDWARDS, Miss., Sept. 25.—There are 10 new cases of fever reported here.

Lord Kelvin Studies Electricity.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Lord Kelvin, the great scientist, was the guest yesterday of the General Electric company. He and Lady Kelvin made a tour of the big electrical plant in this city, and he was much impressed with what he saw. He witnessed the lightning flashing produced by a voltage of 150,000, this high voltage being obtained through transformers. He was much impressed with a 50,000 test of a new armature, but he showed more interest in the street department than in any other. He kept half a dozen electrical engineers busy answering questions and made no attempt to disguise the fact that he was seeing something new. Lord Kelvin said: "I am enjoying myself very much and learning enormously. There are no shops in the world like these. They are among the great wonders of America."

Another Scalper Sentenced.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 25.—Stephen Murray of Atlantic City was convicted in the Atlantic county court at Mays Landing of scalping tickets and selling passes of the Pennsylvania railroad and sentenced to imprisonment for three months and to pay a fine of $100 and costs. This conviction, following so closely on the heels of the sentence of White, will, it is believed, inspire a more careful regard for the law on this subject in New Jersey.

Fined and Imprisoned.

BUFFALO, Sept. 25.—In the United States district court William Rable, formerly postmaster at Wendelville, N. Y., pleaded guilty of retaining letters not addressed to him. He was fined $50 and sent to the Niagara County penitentiary for six months.

Deaf, and a Train Killed Her.

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Patrick Coff was struck by the Sheldon on the Central railroad at the Fall street crossing and instantly killed. She was about 70 years of age and very deaf.

ADAPTED FOR SCHOOL NEEDS.

Improvements That Have Been Made in the New Jersey Military Academy.

Now that the New Jersey Millitary Academy has been thoroughly started under the supervision of Dr. A. D. Warde, a word or two about this new institution may not be amiss. A Daily Press reporter called at the school and found Dr. Warde very much at home in his new quarters. The latter escorted his guest about the school and explained in an interesting manner the details of work.

Every room has been handsomely papered and painted, every nook and corner is as clean as wax. The school rooms are located on the second floor, the first floor being devoted exclusively for the purpose of a reception room and chapel. The appointments in every room are perfect. On the first floor in the rear is to be found one of the most complete laboratories. The school rooms are not crowded. At present there are fourteen scholars in the school and excellent work is being done.

Dr. Warde has associated with him Adrien Lacasse, B. A., a graduate of the University of Paris, also of the Berlitz school of Languages, of Washington. He will have charge of the language department, while Dr. Warde will attend to the instruction in mathematics and science. In a short time elocution, modern and ancient languages will be added, and at present arrangements are being made for a commercial course with shorthand and typewriting.

As regards the languages the smallest pupil is taught conversation in French and does not have to wait to enter a high school before taking it up. In the grammar department the scholars are learning to talk properly as well as write Good progress is being made in all of the branches.

At an early date Dr. Warde will give a musical recital at the academy, and a professor of high standing will give a number of selections on the piano.

LADIES ENTERTAINED.

A Pleasing Programme Given at Grace M. E. Church.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E church, a pleasing sociable was held in the church last evening, at which time there was present a goodly number of people. Rev. H. J. Johnston, the pastor, was in charge and announced the numbers on the programme which consisted of two vocal solos by Joseph Moon, a reading by Miss Bertha Stevens, and a recitation by Miss Bertha Whitney. The programme was not a lengthy one but what was lost in that respect was made up in quality. Especially noteworthy was the recitation given by Miss Whitney. This talented woman was at her best and the audience fully appreciated her efforts, as well as those of the others who took part. After the programme Mr. Johnston announced that the next number would be a chorus and the mouth-organ would be the principal part. All quickly took the hint and talked until everyone reached a point where hunger and thirst was paramount. Then it was that the committee, in charge of Mrs. John Valiant, president, served cake and coffee in abundance to all. The rest of the time was passed in genuine sociability. When those present departed for their homes they all agreed that they had enjoyed themselves immensely.

THE CADI'S SEANCE

Numerous Offenders Arraigned in City Court This Morning.

The usual Saturday morning batch of offenders were ready, this morning, for City Judge DeMeza, who dispatched them with unusual rapidity.

George Smith and George Stein were two young globe-trotters who were returning from the west, looking for work. They had been arrested for begging but they protested that they had not. They went down to Elizabeth for ten days each.

Willie Richter and Annie Bowser were to have appeared charged with throwing stones on John Wolff's house. A wordy battle opened between Mrs. Richter and Mr. Wolff and the Judge had great difficulty in stopping them. Mrs. Richter persisted in talking until she was ordered out of court. The trial was set for Saturday next.

John Schmidt was heard for carrying a wagon load of fat through the city without a cover over the wagon. His counsel, Frank J. Blatz, retracted his plea of not guilty, made last week and pleaded non vult. The Judge reserved his sentence for a week.

A neighbor's quarrel between Mrs. Marley and James McCann was heard. McCann had gone on a spree and made himself obnoxious but had apologized afterwards. The Judge suspended sentence with a reprimand

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball season will regularly commence in Plainfield on Monday, October 4th, when the regular Y. M. C. A. team will begin the season. The business men's team of the Y. M. C. A., will start practice next week, however, and will hold meetings on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 5:30 o'clock. The business men are preparing to put a strong team on the floor this season, a team even stronger than last year's. Many of the players have had the experience of one or two years on the team, and they will be far better qualified to play than in former years. Then there is some new material from which to select which promises to strengthen the team materially. The first regular team will also be strengthened by some new candidates.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

An interesting bowling contest was held at the Y. M. C. A., Thursday, between Harold Chandor and William Timpson. The latter coming off victorious by the score of 194 points.

STARE CAUSED A FRACAS.

Then the Defeated Had the Victor Arrested and Punished

A case of where "two is a company and three a crowd," wrought some trouble last Sunday on Mountain avenue, in the borough. On the latter street resides Mrs. Noah Drake and David Somerset, a colored man. So far as known they have always managed to get along fairly well In the same house lives Andrew Jefferson, also colored. The latter is not always agreeable to Somerset and his alleged wife, and last Sunday the two men became engaged in a fracas. It is said that Jefferson looked at Somerset rather inquisitively, and the latter asked him what he was looking at. These words were sufficient and a fight ensued. Jefferson, it is said, assaulted Somerset and left the imprint of his fingers on his neck.

Somerset appeared before Recorder Thomas and had a warrant issued for the arrest of Jefferson, charging him with assault and using profane language. The warrant was placed in the hands of Chief Wilson and last evening the officer of the law caught the offender. He was placed in the borough lockup and this morning Recorder Thomas gave him a hearing. The complainant appeared against his adversary and stated the circumstances. As a result a fine of $10 or thirty days was imposed. It is believed that Jefferson will enjoy a vacation

SCOTCH LAD HATES HOME.

NOR DOES HE LIKE THE LIFE OF A CABIN BOY.

Willie Barr Makes a Second Escape From an Ocean Steamer and Comes to Plainfield—Incorrigible and Must Stay in Jail.

Although William Clark Barr prefers to live in free America, next Saturday he sails for his home in Scotland. Barr is the fourteen-year-old lad that ran away from one of the Anchor Line steamers several weeks ago and came to this city. The Press told the story of the lad's experiences at the time and how he had been placed on board the ship because the school board in his Scottish home found him incorrigible.

He was cabin boy on the steamer and was to remain there for some time, but he ran away and came to see John Cashman, of McDowell street, in this city, who is a friend of his father's. Cashman took him back to the steamer and left him there after keeping him in Plainfield for over a week. While in Plainfield, he sent the lad to school, but the boy had a falling out with the janitor and there was trouble. He afterwards returned to school and continued there without trouble. The story as related in The Press ended with his arrival on the steamer again.

Saturday noon the steamer was to sail for Glasgow. In the rush and hurry that always precedes the departure of a big ocean liner, the lad, without hat or coat, ran down the gangway and disappeared in the crowd. The steamer sailed and the officers have no idea what has become of their cabin boy, whose cap and coat still hung on a peg. Willie made his way to the Liberty street ferry, told a plaintive tale to a man there and the man bought the lad a ticket to Plainfield. So, late Saturday evening, Willie landed in Plainfield in his seaman's togs, without hat or coat, and went to the West End to find his friends there. The house was closed and Willie picked out a resting place under Magee's front piazza on McDowell street.

Yesterday the Cashmans were greatly surprised to see the lad walk in. They consulted Chief Grant in regard to the matter and the Chief took the boy in hand and locked him up. This morning City Judge DeMeza was consulted and it was decided to commit the boy to Elizabeth until Friday to keep him safe, and then the Captain will take him over to the Anchor Line steamer that sails on Saturday and turn him over to the officers of that ship.

The lad marched into court with the true seaman's walk, but when he heard that he was to go back to the ship, he wept and begged that he be allowed to stay. He promised Mrs. Cashman that he would be good, but she refused to take him back. He said that he was well treated on board the steamer, but wanted to stay in America.

NOVICE DIDN'T STEER CLEAR.

New Bicycle Rider Had Her Wheel Damaged and Says She Wasn't to Blame.

An unfortunate accident happened last Saturday afternoon near the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association on Park avenue when Miss Anna Painter, of New Brunswick, riding a bicycle, ran into a wagon in which was seated Mrs. W. L. Smalley, Jr., and Mrs. Cadmus, of Somerset street, who were going to the Driving Park. Miss Painter was coming toward Plainfield, and, being a novice, was not riding very steady. The sight of the numerous carriages seemed to rattle her and she lost control of her wheel, which collided with the front wheel of the Smalley carriage. The front wheel of the cycle was badly wrecked and the woman was thrown off. Miss Painter said at once that the accident was the result of her own carelessness.

W. L. Smalley made arrangements to have Miss Painter taken home. Her wheel was left at Michael Quinn's house. Yesterday Mr. Smalley drove to the home of Miss Painter, taking her wheel along. During the night Miss Painter had changed her mind as to who was to blame and said that it was not her fault, but that she was deliberately run down. Those who saw the accident say that Miss Painter deliberately rode across the road and ran into the wagon. Miss Smalley will go to New Brunswick tomorrow and ascertain the true facts in the case, so far as Miss Painter's side is concerned.

Honesty.

Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, last evening delivered a very logical, interesting discourse on the subject of "Honesty" to a good-sized congregation, and held the closest attention of his hearers throughout the entire discourse.

THE JEWISH NEW YEAR.

ROSH HASHANA BEGAN WITH THE SUNSET LAST NIGHT.

Hebrews Throughout the World Are Today Observing the Event—Beginning of the 5,658th Year in the Hebrew Calendar.

As soon as the first three stars became visible in the firmament last evening Rosh Hashana, or the Jewish New Year, was ushered in. This means to the 10,000,000 Jews throughout the world the beginning of a series of festal days, lasting almost an entire month. No matter how indifferent to the traditional tenets of Judaism the modern Israelite may have become, or how deeply his whole mind and soul may be engrossed in his business, on two of these days at least—Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement—he will be found worshipping in temple or synagogue, unless he is entirely alienated from the faith of his illustrious ancestors.

Rosh Hashana occurs on the first day of the month of Tishri, and the Hebrew chronology recorded last night the 5,658th year since the first day of creation, when Elohim said "let there be light." Now there is some controversy in the Talmud as to the time of the year when these words were utered. Rabbi Joshua fills several pages to prove that the year really begins in Nisau, which is in the spring, when life and vegetation assume their empryonic bloom. Rabbi Eleazar, however, opposes him with an equal number of pages in favor of Tishri, maintaining that the creation must begin with the formation of the germ, which occurs in the autumn. Rabbi Eleazar retained the fruits of victory, for the date of Rosh Hashana remained undisturbed.

The principal features of the Rosh Hashana liturgy were last night the singing of the thirteen articles of the Jewis Creed, compiled by Maimonidas, and today for four and a half hours, the reading of many psalms and prayers. Most impressive of all is the blowing of the seafar, or ram's horn which refers to the judgment which God is supposed to render on this day. It is blown to call forth terror from the wicked and unrepentant, and to inspire rejoicing in the repentant and virtuous.

The stores of all local Hebrew merchants were closed today in honor of the New Year.

A CREDITOR IN CHARGE

H. M. Jaquett Compelled to Make a Change Owing to Business Depression.

H. M. Jaquett, who has conducted a clothing and gents' furnishing goods store on East Front street for the past two years, transferred his entire stock of goods and fixtures to his brother, Samuel T. Jaquett, of Philadelphia, on Saturday, as a preferred creditor. The latter now has control of the store while the former remains as manager. Depression in the trade is the reason assigned for the change.

H. M. Jaquett has retained as his counsel, Lawyer Walter Gordon Williams, who will look after his business affairs. Samuel T. Jaquett is represented by himself. All other creditors will be looked after and H. M. Jaquett assures them that they will receive what is due them.

Mr. Jaquett in talking to a Press representative today said that during the past two years trade had been gradually growing worse and that the reason for his recent change was that he was unable to go on with his business.

It is imperative that everything be sold within the next few weeks. On Thursday of this week will be commenced a sale and the stock on hand will be sold at ridiculously low prices so that it can be disposed of quickly.

Patrolmen Organize.

The patrolmen of this city met at Patrolman Totten's house last Friday evening and organized a Patrolmen's Benevolent Association. State President Keefe, of Jersey City, and Vice-President and Secretary Sanderson, of Newark, were present and installed the following officers: President, W. R. Mattox; vice-president, J. E. Totten; secretary, H. W. Fraleigh; treasurer, G. Lunger. After the business was completed, they adjourned to Rogers' restaurant, where a course dinner was served in honor of the visiting officers.

Quarreled in Front of a Church.

Robert Venable and Armstead Jackson, two smiling young colored men, were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on the charge of quarreling and fighting in front of the Mt. Olive Baptist church Wednesday evening. They explained that they were only playing and the Judge set their hearing down for Saturday morning, to find out if possible what kind of a game they were playing that looked so much like a scrap.

URGENT APPEALS TO APATHETIC VOTERS TO ACT.

An Enthusiastic Mass-Meeting Held in Music Hall Yesterday Afternoon.

President Tyler, of the Citizens' League, Presided and Spoke Concisely and to the Point—Former Mayor Gilbert Spoke of the Danger of Apathy—Rev Dr. A. H. Lewis Defines the Duty of Christian People.

A new factor in Plainfield in this campaign looking toward the final downfall of the race-track and gambling fraternity was the Plainfield branch of the Citizens' League which held a largely-attended mass meeting in Stillman Theatre yesterday afternoon. If the strength of these advocates of the new Constitutional amendment was indicated by their enthusiasm, there will be little doubt but that Plainfield will be largely in favor of the amendment.

The mass meeting was the result of a letter to Mason W. Tyler, president of the Plainfield branch, and signed by a number of the representative citizens of Plainfield, asking that the Citizens' League take some hand in the present campaign. The letter and its reply calling yesterday's meeting has already been published in The Press. The lessee of the theatre offered the use of it free, and the offer was accepted. Several well-known speakers were invited to be present and bills were posted about the city inviting all to attend.

The meeting was called for four o'clock, but sometime before that time the crowd began to flow into the hall. Ten minutes after the appointed time, nearly every seat was filled and President Tyler called the meeting to order, after which Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards offered prayer. A number of well-known citizens had been invited to sit on the platform. Among those who occupied seats there were former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Ernest R. Ackerman, H. O. Newman, W. W. Howland, Leander N. Lovell, William M. Stillman, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, B. O. Bowers, Assemblyman W. R. Codington, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, S. C. Peck, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Fred. H. Andrews, Henry M. Maxson, C. F. Abbott, E. L. Walz and Henry B. Newhall.

Mr. Tyler then made a short address telling how the question arose, how they stood and what they were there for. He began by observing that the statute books of the State were not the place one would examine for history, but he declared that almost every provision in them was the culmination of a story in which had been blended tears, agonies and experiences. As an illustration, he took the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States which was, he said, the culmination of the long struggle over slavery and the terrible war that followed.

He told of the first struggle against the race-track and gambling fraternity in New Jersey, and how after a long fight it resulted in the passage in 1853 of statutes forbidding gambling and lotteries in this State. Gambling had then been everywhere and lotteries were used as means to raise money even for educational institutions. It was only, he declared, when the people saw that it was creating vice in every direction that they rose up and stopped the invader. The wisdom of our fathers, he continued, put in the statutes that horse racing for money, or betting on horse races would not be tolerated, and that the keeping of lotteries was a public nuisance. These were laws born of years of struggle and tragedy to many cstizens of New Jersey.

Then Mr. Tyler told how the opponents of gambling become apathetic and how race-tracks sprang up over the State, institutions carried on in an enormous scale. The money to support these institutions, Mr. Tyler continued, was drained from the class who haven't much money but always fall a prey to such as race track and saloon influences. They were products of crime by the wholesale. There were six of the race-tracks but they thought that they could over-awe the law and for years this great wrong went on under the eyes of the people of New Jersey, too powerful to be handled by local authorities. A feeling arose, said Mr. Tyler, that we had a power that had hold of us that we were unable to cope with. Then the judiciary branch of the State government tried to force the grand juries to take the matter in hand. In 1893, the speaker went on, the race-track owners saw themselves in danger from the grand juries and decided to gain control of the Legislature and under the leadership of the owner of one of the tracks, they secured a two-thirds majority in the Legislature and elected the starter at one of those tracks Speaker of the Assembly. They enacted that the freeholders of each county could license these tracks and to give them a monoply, they enacted that no track not then built should receive a licence unless three fourths of the county-officers voted it a public necessity. In this way they thought that they would continue to reap the thousands of dollars from the working people of the State. They passed a law that the selling of books and betting in these enclosures should be a misdemeanor.

Mr. Tyler continued his address by telling how the people rose and went to the Governor and demanded that he should not sanction such a measure, how he vetoed it and how it was passed over his veto. When the citizens of the State became fully aware of what had been done, they arose in wrath and elected a Legislature that wiped out the statutes passed in '93, and placed the old laws in force once more. They determined to fix it so that it would not happen again. An amendment was introduced and passed, as was necessary, by two successive Legislatures. Now comes the special election for a popular vote on the question.

"That," said the chairman, "is the question that we have come here to ask the men of Plainfield to support with their votes and the women with their influence, so as to make it part of the Constitution, so that never again will we have the dangers of gambling and lotteries threaten the purity of the morals of our citizens."

At the conclusion of his address the chairman said they had hoped to have Rev. Dr. Kempshall, of Elizabeth, who was one of the most powerful workers in the battle against the gambling influences, at the meeting, but they had received a letter from him stating he could not come. The letter was read by Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh. It stated that the Doctor had been ordered to the Maine woods by his physician, but he spoke words of encouragement to the Plainfield workers and asked them to do all they could to win the final victory.

Former Mayor Alex. Gilbert was introduced as the next speaker. He said that he would take up where the chairman left off. First he called to mind a picture of the Legislature four years ago and called on them to loathe it. There they would see the people humiliated, their petitions rejected and all the state machinery of government turned over to the race-track and gambling fraternity. It was a destructive influence, he said, that corrupted the State Legislature, tried to corrupt the judiciary of the State and poisoned the whole political system. A destructive agency he characterized it that would destroy all the present civilation. He described what he saw on his trip through Europe when he visited Monte Carlo and saw the mad pursuit for wealth without work. He told what a princely income was made there and how it came from young and old men and women who crowded its tables day and night. He was not there, he said, to discuss the moral question of gambling but that money was used for a wrong purpose.

He recalled the crowd of thugs, thieves and other bad characters that invaded New Jersey at the time when the race tracks were in their glory. New Jersey became at that time a dumping ground for all this class of criminals. He drew a word picture of Plainfield with a race-track within its limits and this great crowd of bad characters in its midst and asked what would the people of Plainfield do. Rise up and protest, he declared. Such was the case in New Jersey. Four years ago the people of New Jersey rose up and passed laws stopping it. Now it is to perpetuate these that they are trying. Then he warned his hearers especially against apathy and told them not to be listless.

He told of a man in his own party who had asked him what was the use of making such a fuss over gambling, that it would continue all the same, and that there was more iniquity in the stock exchange or mechantile exchanges than at the race-tracks. The iniquity of the former had nothing to do with the race-tracks, they were offensive to the morals of the State and they must go.

Mr. Gilbert concluded by saying tnat there would be determined op-

COURT'S QUICK DECISION

REMARKABLE ATTITUDE OF A MINISTER TOWARD AN AGED AUNT.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver Induced a Feeble Relative to Release Him From a $1,500 Debt—Taken to Court and Must Pay Debt.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, well known to many citizens, has just been defeated in an action brought against him in the Court of Chancery by an aged aunt of his, named Harriet J. Cleaver, living in the small village of Brandon, Vt.

He was owing her on promissory notes some $1,500—nearly all she had in the way of property to live on. He had paid her interest semi annually, but she was 81 years old and feeble and unacquainted with business. She had made a will in January, 1896, in which the defendant was not mentioned, and visiting her in June, 1896, he prevailed upon her to give up his notes and to receive in exchange therefor a bond conditioned to pay her interest semi-annually as long as she lived and on her death principal to belong to Mr. Cleaver.

The old lady did not understand the transaction, it is said, owing to her age, feebleness and lack of business knowledge, and she relied on his statements made at the time that the bond would be better for her. He further told her to tell no one about the matter, and she did not for several weeks, when she told some of her friends who explained to her that she had given up her property to him. She then wrote him a number of letters, pleading with him to return her notes and she would give up his bond, but he made no reply, because, as he stated on the witness stand, "he did not want any more child's play."

The case was argued before Vice-Chancellor Henry C. Pitney last Friday by William M. Stillman for the complainant, Mr. Cleaver being defended by two Newark lawyers, Gerald R. Cushman and Frank C. Wilcox.

Decision was rendered by the court immediately on the close of the argument, for $1,503, interest and costs, he making a long and exhaustive and extremely able analysis of the large amount of testimony that had been taken, and stating that he would in this case give judgment and order execution immediatley against the defendant, as he believed the facts and proofs brought out justified him in this somewhat unusual procedure.

HOSPITAL BED ENDOWED.

Policemen and Letter-Carriers Will Support it by an Annual Ball Game.

The practical results of the Labor Day baseball game between the Letter-Carriers and the Policemen is today apparent. Some time ago, Councilman William N. Runyon sent the proceeds of the game, $252.15 in all, to E. H. Ladd, Jr., treasurer of the Muhlenberg Hospital Board, with the request that if possible, the money be used to endow a bed in the hospital as the rubber tires for the ambulance, for which the money was first intended, was donated by others.

Saturday evening, a meeting was held at the stationhouse and the Policemen and Letter-Carriers gathered together and heard Mr. Ladd's response. He thanked them for the donation and suggested that a bed, to be called the "Letter-Carriers' and Policemen's Bed," be endowed for a year and asked that someone be selected to designate who shall occupy the bed. He also said that if the game was made an annual feature the annual endowment would be gratefully received.

Sergeant Kiely was made chairman of the meeting and Robert Loughlin secretary. It was decided to endow the bed as suggested and Chief G. W. Grant and Postmaster Hetfield were selected to name the occupant of the bed. It was also decided to make the Labor Day game an annual event.

BELLS TO CALL VOTERS TO DUTY.

To Be Rung at 7 o'Clock to Arouse Good Men and True.

The church bells of Plainfield will ring tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock to remind all the "good men and true" of the city to go to the polls and record their votes in favor of the anti-gambling and school suffrage amendments to the Constitution of New Jersey. One of the bright women who are so anxiously awaiting the result of this election, thought of this plan and the clergymen heartily approved it

Cover Up Your Flowers.

A frost is predicted for tonight.

—A mass-meeting in behalf of the anti-gambling and school suffrage amendments will be held this evening at the Peddie church, Newark. Among the speakers will be Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, David Prescott Hall and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, all of this city.

BURGLARS NOT IDLE.

RESUME OPERATIONS IN PRIVATE DWELLING AND SCHOOL.

E. L. Gifford's House on Park Avenue Entered and Robbed of Cash and Other Valuables in the Early Part of Last Night.

The burglar has resumed operations in Plainfield. Last night he paid a visit to the residence of E. L. Gifford, of 946 Park avenue, and stole some $25 in cash, a few silver trinkets, and a strong box of papers, valuable only to the owner.

Mrs. Gifford is away on her summer outing and so Mr. Gifford and his young son have been keeping house, with the servant to look after the meals. Yesterday the servant went away for the day and Mr. Gifford, his son and a young man from New York, who was visiting them, took their meals at a local restaurant. It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when Mr. Gifford left his house while his friend and son followed in half an hour. They went down town to attend the mass meeting, took supper at the restaurant and after spending the evening with friends, returned home at 9:30 o'clock to find the servant, waiting on the front piazza. When they entered the house, they found that there had been strangers there during their absence.

Mr. Gifford's house is next to a vacant lot and the windows of the library face on that side On the ground under the windows are the footprints of two men showing how one assisted the other to climb up to the window. A jimmy with an edge two inches wide had been used and the burglars had tried to force up the entire frame work on the window but without success. Then the jimmy had been put under the lower sash and the catch had been snapped and the window forced up. It was through this open window that the burglars gained entrance and it was the open window that was first noticed by the occupants of the house on their return.

The burglars made their way about the first floor by the light of matches, their course being easily followed by the matches they had dropped. The rug in the dining room had been set on fire, evidently by a lighted match that they had dropped, but the burglars extinguished the flames before they spread.

Then the unbidden guests went up stairs. They broke into a desk belonging to Mr. Gifford's son. There was nothing there of value. A toy bank belonging to the baby had been robbed of its contents, about a dollar. A tin box belonging to Mrs. Gifford had been smashed by several blows from the jimmy and its contents emptied on the bed. Twenty-five dollars in cash and some silver trinkets were taken from it. A strong box, belonging to Mr. Gifford, contained some deeds and policies, very important to him but of no value to anyone else. There was a handle on the box and a combination lock that made it hard to open. That was carried away by the burglars. A brand-new Iver-Johnson revolver and fifty cartridges for it were taken from the bureau drawer. In another room, there was hundreds of dollars worth of solid silver which was not molested. It was evident that the burglars wanted money or weapons.

The burglary was committed before 9:30 o'clock. There is no trace as to the identity of the burglars. They departed by the front door leaving it open. Mr. Gifford thought that his son had neglected to close it when he left. Two men had been noticed hanging about the Park avenue bridge on Saturday night. They disappeared on the appearance of the watchman. Last spring the house next door was entered. It was then occupied by Mrs. Wyckoff.

BURGLARS IN MINERVA'S TEMPLE.

Prof. Leal's School Entered and Ransacked Friday Night.

After ransacking private dwellings and stores galore in this vicinity during the last few months, thieves on Friday night selected Prof. Leal's preparatory school as a field for operation. The fact that the building had been broken into and turned topsy-turvy by the depredators was not discovered till this morning, when Ben Johnson, the janitor, arrived to put the place in order for the resumption of study today.

It was found that the burglars had gained an entrance by breaking a window pane in the rear of the building and then turning the catch, easily raised the window and climbed into one of the classrooms. Nearly every desk in the studyroom was opened and ransacked. Tablets, pencils and other school supplies were stolen, but so far as is known, nothing of very great value was missed.

The thieves also entered the laboratory and left it in a state of confusion. There is no clew to the perpetrators.

A NEFARIOUS SCHEME

The Albany Kidnappers Confess Their Villainous Plans.

INTENDED STRIKING HIGH

Warner, the New York Lawyer, Would Have Stolen a Rockefeller Child—A Batavia Bank President to Have Been Waylaid—Death as a Last Resort.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Feeble are the hopes of the Albany Police Department that Albert S. Warner, the New York lawyer, who was the head and front of the conspiracy to kidnap little Johnny Conway, will ever be captured. Detectives Nolan and McCann have returned from the trail of the clews which the police had as to the route taken by Warner after he fled from the gloomy swamp, between Albany and Schenectady, where Johnny Conway had been kept. The police of Canada and the Western States have, however, been fully warned of the crime of the New York lawyer, and have been furnished with a complete description of him, it being believed that he either went to Canada or to a far Western State where he is not known.

Blake told Mayor Thacher that early in the acquaintance of Hardy and Warner the talk drifted on to various ways of making money. "Warner," said Blake, "spoke of a plan he had formed to kidnap one of the children of John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate. He thought it would be easy to take one of Rockefeller's children, and said he had made plans to keep the child after the kidnapping in a safe place, and if the game grew dangerous, the child could be safely made away with, and leave no trace of the abductors."

Blake quoted Warner as saying "it would be easy to get two or three millions from Rockefeller." Then Warner went on to speak of a good opportunity in Batavia, in Western New York. He had lived there a long time.

"I have forgotten," said Blake, "whether he told me he was born there or not, but he knew the place very well, and lived there certainly a number of years, and he spoke of the president of a bank there, who was wealthy, as things in the country go, in his own right, and who would come with several others into about two millions that his father had left there, and would be good for any reasonable amount of money from his bank.

"The name was Tomlison, and the plan was to take him at night on his way home, as he often was out late. Blake thought there was twenty or thirty thousand dollars in it."

ATHLETIC RECORDS BROKEN.

Michael Astride and Wefers Afoot Beat the World.

New York, Sept. 27.—Little Michael, the Welsh midget, placed more cycling laurels to his credit at the Manhattan Beach track Saturday afternoon, when he defeated Lucien Lesna, the French champion, in a thirty-three-mile race, and made a new world's competition record. The limit of speed of this wonderful little fellow has not been reached, and it is doubtful if there is a man in this country, or possibly in the world, who can live through the pace the Welshman can follow at anything from ten to fifty miles. Lesna struggled gamely all the way through, but he is no match for the champion, and this fact became appaprent to every one after a few miles had been traveled.

In the race Michael took the lead at the start, and he had no trouble in maintaining his advantage to the end. In fact, the further they went the further the little fellow increased his lead. At the end of the thirty-third mile Michael was nearly two miles in the lead, and, had his manager permitted, he could easily have made the gap wider. He was, however, killing off his pacemakers at such a rate that Shafer refused to have the pace made any faster. Michael covered the thirty-three miles in 1.02.17 4-5, the best competition record made on either side of the Atlantic. He did not defeat the world's record of thirty-two miles and 448 yards against time, made by Stocks, the Englishman, but there is a considerable difference between a competition and a time record. Michael yesterday covered thirty-one miles and two and one-third laps in the hour, a wonderful record, considering the strong wind which blew directly from the south. That Michael could defeat Stocks' record on a track shielded from the wind seems assured.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The Canadian Amateur Athletic Association had superb weather for their annual field meeting. The grounds were perfect, the track fast, the attendance 3,000. B. J. Wefers of the N. Y. A. C., ran the hundred yards in ten seconds flat, and in the 220 yards broke the world's record of .21 1-5, made by himself, by doing the distance in 21 seconds flat.

A Daylight Lynching.

Hawesville, Ky., Sept. 27.—The first daylight lynching in Kentucky since the Murderer Barker was hanged from the court house window in Lexington fifty years ago occurred here at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Raymond Bushrod, the 20-year-old negro, was hanged by a mob for assault.

The negro confessed and asked the leaders of the mob to let him pray. They granted him the privilege, and he prayed for nearly five minutes. When he had finished the noose was placed around his neck and he was hanged quickly. The execution was witnessed by nearly six hundred people.

Defaulting Cashier Missing.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 27.—The defaulting cashier of the Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company, Harry A. Cassin, has left Atlanta, and no trace of him can be found. Several months ago Cassin became involved to the extent of $70,000 with his company, and was indicted. He spent a few days in jail, but his friends made a $10,000 bond for his appearance at the court, and he was released.

Still Crying for War.

Athens, Sept. 27.—A large meeting was held Sunday afternoon in Concorde Square, where a resolution was adopted calling upon King George and the Cabinet to renew the war with Turkey rather than accept the terms of peace offered by the peace conference.

MR. M'KINLEY AT ADAMS

Went to Church and Stayed to Sunday School.

HE LAYS A CORNER STONE

The President and His Party in the Berkshire Hills—Visited the Country Homes of John Sloane of the D. L. & W. R. R. and of Lawyer Joseph Choate.

North Adams, Mass., Sept. 27.—President McKinley and his party attended the Congregational Church yesterday, and the President stayed to Sunday school.

Saturday morning a visit was made to the Berkshire houses of John Sloane and Joseph Choate. The home of Mr. Choate is on a hillside overlooking the village of Stockbridge. The carriages were taken into Mr. Choate's grounds, and the President was greeted with great cordiality. A luncheon was soon served. Many of the Stockbridge cottagers were introduced to Mr. McKinley and the members of his party.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the President laid the cornerstone of a library and memorial hall. The town of Adams has by vote decided to spend $40,000 on this building, which will be a memorial to the Union soldiers who fell during the war, and also a public library of handsome appearance. The names of Grant, Lincoln and Washington will appear in letters across its stone front. George Sayles Post, G. A. R., escorted the President to the site of the new building. The cellar and part of its foundation are already built. A handsome American flag hung from the derrick which held the cornerstone. There were 3,000 persons gathered about the place.

The cornerstone was then laid by the President with a silver trowel. Ascending the platform, he took his seat, but there were loud cries for a speech from him. Finally he arose and said:

"Mr. Commander, my Comrades and Fellow Citizens: It has given me very great pleasure to participate with the citizens of Adams in this memorial service, a service which will be remembered by the people of this town, because it intended to perpetuate patriotism and is the testimony of patriotic devotion. You have authorized by your vote the erection of this building that you may commemorate the services and sacrifices of the brave men who went out from this community more than thirty years ago, willing to give all that they had, and the best they had, that the Union might be preserved and the flag continue to float in honor. Every memorial building like this, every statue erected to the soldiers of the war, is a monument to duty well done, and is a lesson in patriotism to the generations that are to follow.

A SENSATIONAL SUICIDE.

E. L. Burnett, of Elmira, Leaves a Letter.

Canandaigua, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The remains of E. L. Burnett of Elmira were found on the shore of Canandaigua Lake Sunday. On his person was the following letter:

Charles Hazard, A. M. DeWitt, and old Judge Pratt wrecked my life, eighteen years ago. The vendetta is still open. They are dead, and I follow into hell, if need be. E. L. BURNETT.

Elmira for references.

Mr. Burnett came to the Webster House on Friday and registered as E. L. Bronson of Buffalo. He disappeared on Friday night and was not seen again until his remains were found. In his room was a satchel in which was, among other things, an empty vial bearing the label "morphine." He was about fifty years of age. A remarkable thing connected with the death of Burnett is the fact that Hazard committed suicide by drowning in the Hudson River at Fishkill on Friday night. The latter was at one time a well-known publisher in Elmira.

TUNNEL COMPLETION PLANNED.

New York and New Jersey May Yet Be Joined Under Water.

New York, Sept. 27.—After five years of inaction the Hudson River Tunnel Railway Co. begins to show some signs of life. Lawyer Daniel Lord, of the firm of Lord, Day & Lord, has filed an auxiliary petition in this city, asking the courts to authorize the winding up of the affairs of the company. A similar petition has also been filed in New Jersey.

This "winding up" does not mean that the company will pass out of existence, or that the submarine project is to be definitely abandoned. On the contrary, these preliminary legal proceedings point to a very active resumption of this important work.

The great tunnel was begun in 1874, and work upon it was continued until 1882, when the death of the projector led to many complications.

Of this excavation there now remains only a completed and perfect length of 1,500 feet on the New Jersey side and some 900 on the New York end. During the past five years many efforts have been made by the stockholders to resuscitate the enterprise.

Snow and Severe Storms.

Astoria, Ore., Sept. 27.—The steamer Elder has arrived from Skaguay and Dyea, bringing twenty-three passengers. The weather delayed the steamer and she had to put into Mainado for coal, otherwise the passage was an uneventful one. Purser Lambert said:

"White Pass has been almost inaccessible to any one, and is quite so now. Snow is falling and severe storms have added to the already great difficulties of that route. Skaguay is dead."

at our markets, and it is a satisfactory meeting. We only tender tender meat to our customers—the freshest, the sweetest, the juciest of flesh. Our mutton is sold as mutton—not as Spring lamb. The lamb costs more, and we charge accordingly. Same with beef—choicest cuts are sold as such—no lies, no misrepresentation. They lose customer—never gain it. We guarantee our beef, veal, mutton, lamb and poultry to be just as we say it is, and well worth the price we ask.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says, that last winter his wife was attacked with LaGrippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. Mrs. George H. Babcock and son, George, of West Eighth street, have gone to Alfred, N. Y., to visit friends.

For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. HE NEVER KISSED HER.

So Says Mary Siemering, Luetgert's Servant Girl.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Adolph L. Luetgert, alleged wife murderer, professes to be much pleased with the developments thus far in the defence.

"We have something better coming," said the accused man. "There will be a whole lot of things explained away when I get on the witness stand."

Mary Siemering, Luetgert's servant girl, for love of whom it is alleged he killed his wife, said she had lived with the Luetgerts seven or eight years as a domestic. During all that time, the witness said, Luetgert had treated his wife kindly, and there was none of the quarreling or bickering the prosecution charged.

Coming down to May 1, the date of Mrs. Luetgert's disappearance, the witness said that on the afternoon of that day Mrs. Luetgert said to her: "Mary, I am going to leave. My husband's money is all gone and I am going to go."

At 7 o'clock Saturday evening, May 1, the witness said that Mrs. Luetgert took from a closet a cloak and, looking at it, remarked, with considerable impatience, that moths had eaten the cloth.

The witness said she went to her room and to bed shortly after 8 o'clock that night.

The following morning Mrs. Luetgert was missing, and the little bank of one of the children was broken open and the small sum of money it had contained was gone. The witness said that Mrs. Luetgert had acted queerly for some time prior to May 1 and had often whipped her children.

The witness, with a show of spirit, denied that she ever visited Luetgert in his factory at night except in the evening occasionally when others were present. Even then she said she did not go to see him particularly, but just to take a walk from the house. She denied emphatically that she ever went into the factory through a window, or that Luetgert was in the habit of kissing her when she was in his office. She declared that Mrs. Feldt was a busybody and that her story was untrue.

YOUNG LOVERS DIE TOGETHER.

The Youth Shot His Sweetheart and then Himself.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 27.—The Coroner's inquest held to-day over the bodies of Arthur May and Cora Kaseman, reveals the fact that May shot his sweetheart, and then blew out his own brains. The bodies were found in the blacksmith shop of Joseph Smink Saturday morning. The murderer and suicide was a blacksmith, and up to the time of his death had been employed by Mr. Smink. The couple had been lovers for some time, and last week they arranged to go away and be quietly married. The parents of the young woman objected to the marriage, and this caused a postponement. The young couple evidently made up their minds to end their troubles by dying together.

The girl left her home and went direct to the blacksmith shop, where May was in waiting. They went into the second story of the building. The first news of the double tragedy was learned when Mr. Smink found the bodies. The bodies were lying side by side, and May's right hand still grasped an old-fashioned revolver.

Jersey's Crusade Against the Track.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 27.—The short campaign made by the churches in favor of the anti-racetrack amendments to the Constitution ended tonight, when the pastors of many of them preached against gambling and advised the male members of their congregations to vote for the amendment Tuesday. The Law and Order people express great confidence that all three of the amendments will be the sentiment believe that the race-ratified by the popular vote, but experienced politicians who have sounded track amendment will be defeated by a large majority and that the ad interim appointment and woman suffrage amendments will go down with them.

Soldiers Clothed by Convicts.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Attorney-General Hancock has written an opinion in response to a communication from Adjt.-Gen. Tillinghast, holding that the National Guard of the State of New York comes within the provisions of the Prison-Made Goods act to the extent that the supplies of clothing, uniforms, arms, equipments, books, stationery and other articles necessary for the maintenance and equipment of the military department must be purchased from the penal institutions of the State, if the same is manufactured therein.

Not Subject to Duty.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The Treasury Department has adopted the views of the Attorney-General as to section 22 of the new tariff act, and the Collector of Customs at Philadelphia has been informed that a cargo of manganese ore received from Chili in a British vessel is not subject to a discriminating duty of 10 per cent.

Yellow Fever in Havana.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Sanitary Inspector Brunner at Havana, in his report to Surgeon-General Wyman of the Marine Hospital Service, says there were eleven deaths from yellow fever in that city for the week ended Sept. 18. Three of these deaths occurred in the city proper, and the others in military hospitals.

Ten Per Cent. Advance.

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—The Ohio Tube Works have posted a notice of a 10 per cent. advance in wages. The advance is to take place on October 25. A few months ago a cut was made, and the notice this morning is a redemption of the pledge made at the time of the cut.

Big Money for Alaska Property.

CHILI AND JAPAN TREAT

First Diplomatic Papers Between These Countries Executed at Washington—Local Postmasters and Postal Changes—A Would-Be Suicide Returns.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Treaty negotiations have been established for the first time between Chili and Japan. The ceremony occurred at the Chilian Legation. Minister Gana, of Chili, has been delegated as the plenipotentiary in behalf of his country, and Minister Hoshi, of Japan, for that country. The officials of the two legations were present, and after the instrument had been executed there was an exchange of felicitations. The treaty was signed in six duplicates, two in Spanish, two in Japanese and two in English.

It is an executive document, providing for peace, amity and commerce, and covering the entire range of relations between the countries, as it is the first and only treaty between them. It differs from the new treaty of Japan with the United States, and with other foreign nations, as the latter took up old treaties, while this inaugurates relations between the two countries.

(By Associated Publishers' Press.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27, 1897.—Ex-Congressman Bynum, one of the recognized leaders of the gold Democratic movement, is in Washington. He is here on his way to Kentucky for the purpose of taking part in the State campaign there. During his visit to Washington Mr. Bynum has held several conferences with other gold Democrats, quite a number of whom are here. The policy of the gold Democrats toward the Democrats in Maryland and New York has been a subject of much discussion. It is announced positively that the gold Democrats in Maryland will stand by the Democratic ticket his year, and in the face of the opposition to Senator Wellington existing there it is believed by these gentlemen that it will go a long way toward solving the contest in that State.

As to the New York campaign, it is said that the gold men will support the Tammany ticket, provided that organization will repudiate the silver clause of the Chicago platform. Democrats from New York city, as a rule, express the opinion that Tammany will not do this, but that the organization will stand by the entire platform as framed at Chicago last year. The gold Democratic leaders, however, who are here, including Mr. Bynum, profess to believe that Tammany will gain more than it will lose should they decide to adopt the gold standard in their platform.

Justice Field's Successor.

The announcement made that Justice Field will shortly retire from the Supreme Court Bench, and that ex-Congressman Little will be appointed to succeed him, is interesting. As a fact, however, but little credence is given the report. Justice Field is a Democrat, and his friends believe that he will serve until the end of the present Administration. Furthermore, Mr. Little is not in the same circuit with Justice Field. In the event of Judge Field's voluntary retirement, it is the belief that the President would appoint Attorney-General McKenna, who, it is well known, is anxious to occupy a seat on the Supreme Court bench.

Opposed to "Hello" Monopolies.

A meeting of the anti-Bell telephone companies will be held in Washington some time next month. The meeting will include all the representatives of the different companies east of the Alleghany Mountains. Mr. W. P. Roberts, representing the Lynchburg Telephone Company, is in Washington for the purpose of making arrangements for the meeting. Mr. Roberts said in speaking about the matter that the meeting is to be held not for the purpose of effecting a consolidation of the companies, but for effecting a connection of the various lines.

Lieut. Hill at the Capital.

The resignation of James Butcher as Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of New Jersey has been received at the Treasury Department.

Crazed by Failure.

Mount Holly, N. J., Sept. 27.—Disappointment over his failure to receive the Republican nomination for Assembly at the convention here yesterday caused Benjamin S. Gratz to become violently insane last night. He attacked the members of his family and drove them out of the house. None of them sustained serious injury. Gratz lives in Johnstown, where he was formerly principal of the public schools.

TODAY TALK, TOMORROW WORK.

Tomorrow will decide the matter of whether or not New Jersey is to be laid open to the possibility of the curses that marked its career when disgraceful race-track regime held powerful sway over both enacting and administrating officials. If the same spirit of interest and enthusiasm for the amendmet is displayed tomorrow around the polls as was in evidence in the gathering at Music Hall yesterday afternoon, there ought not be much doubt of its victory. But that does not ensure success, though. However much the good people of the communinty may reason that every man entertaining a care for the welfare of the Commonwealth should wish the election of the amendment, it is a fact that powerful influences will be brought to defeat it—influences that will flourish and grow rich off of the practices that are in vogue with their sinister ideas and purposes. It was well, indeed, that both Former Mayor Gilbert and Dr. Lewis referred forcibly to the danger of apathy among the people upon whom the victory depends. Presumably nearly every man who attended the mass meeting will vote in favor of the amendment, but there are hundreds of other voters who will not take the trouble to go to the polls unless urged by those whose conception of duty is developed not only to the point of voting themselves, but of going a little out of their way to get an apathetic friend in line.

HOW TO VOTE.

It is surprising to learn the number of voters who are unacquainted with the method of voting the Constitutional amendments tomorrow. It is very easy, though. If you are in favor of the amendments deposit them just as they are received, as all are printed in the affirmative. If you vote against any one of them, draw an X through the one you are opposed to.

BOUND TO COME THIS WAY.

It is said that nothing will be done toward extending the trolley system from Plainfield this way before spring. When our line is completed from New Brunswick by way of Metuchen to Perth Amboy, our word for it, Plainfield and Metuchen cannot be long held apart.—Metuchen Recorder.

The Burlington county Republican convention, Saturday, was preceded by a fight between four men for the Senatorial nomination, but when it came to a vote the contest simmered down to Joshua E. Burton, of Moorestown, and M. C. Matblack, of Mt. Holly. Burton was nominated on the first ballot by a vote of 97 to 91.

Just three months from last Saturday Christmas will be here. Santa Claus will be at the same old stand, just as liberal—to the rich man's child—as ever.

It is hoped that there will not be many cross voters at the special election tomorrow.

Yesterday was a reminder of August days.

To Hear Complaints.

Tomorrow evening the borough Watchung avenue commissioners will meet in the Council rooms for the purpose of meeting all persons who are interested in the assessments for benefits and who have any objections to offer to the work of the commissioners. From all indications the meeting gives promise of being a lively one.

THE BAPTISTS' RALLY.

First Church Sunday-school Make a Show of Forces for Future Work.

The annual Rally Day exercises of the members of the First Baptist church Sunday-school were held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the church, and like all previous ones they were very interesting. The decorations, consisting of a large American flag and some flowers, were very effective.

The programme consisted of an opening selection by Howard Case, pianist, and P. Ludwig Conde, violin; a contralto solo by Mrs. Ward. A special feature was the remarks by the officers of the school. L. H. Biglow, Jr., spoke regarding the Christian Endeavor Society; Miss Julia Shinn had for her subject the home department of the Sunday-school, while Mrs. J. A. Powlison, superintendent of the primary department, spoke of her work. Superintendent R K. Case gave a brief talk concerning the school in general, while Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes made a few remarks of an appropriate nature. An interesting number was the recitation "The Seed is the Word," by Beulah VanWinkle. During the afternoon a vocal duet was given by Miss Harris and Mrs. Ward, accompanied by Howard Case on the piano. "Our Shining Song" was the subject of a recitation given by Edith Ganun.

Superintendent Case stated that according to the report of the secretary there was 350 scholars present and he hoped the number would steadily increase.

Racing at the Driving Park

Last Saturday afternoon there were two cards on the programme presented at the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association track. The first race was entered by Thomas Brantingham, D. Darby and W. A. Coddington. The former won the race in 2:29. The second event was engaged in by A. Lutkins, Mr. Hayes and N. B. Smalley. The latter won the event in 2:43. There was a fair sized crowd present and all seemed to enjoy the races, although there was a little disappointment regarding the shortness of the programme.

Resumption of Afternoon Sessions Marked by Special Exercises.

Yesterday was Rally Day for the Sunday-school of the Crescent Avenue church, and special services were held in the church in the afternoon. Rally Day marked the resumption of the afternoon service for the Sunday school after meeting in the morning during the summer months. The attendance was large and there was much enthusiasm shown. The church choir was present and sang several times while Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the church, made an interesting address. The church was handsomely decorated with flowers. Dr. Carman had charge of the decorations.

APPEALS TO VOTERS.

position against the amendments and that everyone should do their duty and not allow this state of affairs to continue, but to vote and to get their neighbors to vote. The most there was to be feared was apathy.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis was the last speaker of the afternoon and his remarks were stirring, indeed. Gambling, he began, is always associated with low civilization. It does not matter whether it is in the Stock Exchange or at the race-track. In New Jersey, it attacks mainly the young men. It is the young men that compose the greater part of the crowd that attend the race tracks and lose their money there. When they do win anything, they spend it in the saloons. Those who make it at the track in book-making spend it similarly. It does not go out into legitimate business.

The man who does not want to make the world better, said Dr. Lewis, had better die. God has no use for men who drift along and hide behind the fence and wink at the growth of evil. There will be a chance on Tuesday. Apathy would then be a crime.

Some say that this amendment will take away personal rights. It is society's duty to protect its interests and to protect the man who does himself a wrong. Gambling is productive of crime. There was not a single court at the time the race-tracks were open that did not have several cases of embezzlement that grew directly from it. It causes other crimes.

This is not a time for argument but for doing, declared Dr. Lewis. If this had come several years ago when the fire was burning, there would have none of this apathy. He told how all over the State the race-track men were placing money where it would do them the most good.

"The men in Plainfield," he exclaimed, "who are talking against it have been, to use the slang phrase, 'touched where it would do the most good.'"

He then continued saying that God is stronger than gambers, race-tracks and the devil combined, and that if the righteous people of the State combined they would win. The women, he said, could do much through their influence.

The idea that something could be gotten for nothing he pronounced as demoralizing to the business man and to the citizen. He concluded by saying that the tongues of the race-tracks were trying to undermine the character of the young men of the State, and that it was the duty of every voter to down the forces of the gambling element.

After thanking the management of the hall for its use, President Tyler declared the meeting at an end.

WESTFIELD PASTORS ADDRESS A BIG UNION MEETING.

Friends of the Amendment Will Carry on Organized Work Tomorrow — News of the Churches and Other Interesting Items

The Westfield Presbyterian church was filled with an audience of about 600 people last night on the occasion of the union meeting in favor of the proposed anti-gambling amendment to the State Constitution. The singing was led by the large chorus choir of the church. Rev. George A. Francis, of the Baptist church, took charge of the song service and devotional meeting at the beginning, and presided throughout the evening. The first address, given by Rev. N. W. Cadwell, was a history of gambling with special reference to New Jersey. The speaker went thoroughly over the ground, tracing the history and development of the gambling evil from the most ancient times to the present day, and giving some vivid portrayals of the system of race-track gambling as carried on in this State. The effects of the evil upon the communities where it exists, were then set forth. Rev. William H. Ruth, of the Methodist church, next spoke upon the evil effects of the gambling system. He showed how it corrupts legislatures, and prevents the machinery of the law from working properly, and also what its effects upon the individual are. The man who gambles systematically, the speaker said, has all the finer qualities eliminated from his character and becomes a man without a conscience. At the close of Mr. Ruth's remarks, which were listened to with much interest, Rev. Henry Ketcham, pastor of the Congregational church, was introduced and made a few remarks saying that the conscience of the State was undeniably against race-track gambling and pool-selling, and that the issue of the present election, as he understood it, was not between race-tracks and no race-tracks, but it was merely whether the law against the evil should be put into permanent form in the Constitution or be left as at present, at the mercy of men who know how to influence legislation. Mr. Ketcham then stated that the committee in charge of the movement represented by the meeting had incurred some necessary expense for printing and so forth, and that a collection would be taken to defray such expense. Before the collection Rev. George A. Francis made a few remarks, urging every voter present to do his duty by voting early and in favor of all the amendments. Instructions were given as to how to vote in case the voter wished to scratch one of the amendments, and after an appeal to every one present to use his or her influence in favor of the amendments, the meeting was dismissed.

BEES IN A SMOKESTACK.

A Swarm of Honey-Makers Caused Scott's Engineer Great Anxiety.

When engineer Dave Sisk of Scott Press Works blew the ten minute signal Saturday morning he was surprised to notice that his steam guages did not respond as promptly as usual when his fires were under full draught. Something was wrong, and Dave's face assumed an unusually stern and worried expression as the minute hand on the time recorders indicated the approach of 7 o'clock—the hour when his faithful ponderous engines were to be started on their regular spin. Hasty examination revealed an awful truth.

His draughts were not working right and the coal laid in his furnaces as though it were resting in cold storage. The tall chimney stood in its usual place and as Dave glanced appealing toward its crown he was dumfounded to discover a swarm of honey bees had taken possession of the great tower—presumely for the winter. A broad grin overcame those worried features—Dave was not to be bluffed at this late hour. The furnaces were filled with shavings and in another moment a dense smoke rolled out of the chimney mingled with the swarm of bees which had evidently located in the chimney during the night in such numbers as to almost block the flues. After being forced from what they had taken for very comfortable winter quarters, the bees seemed greatly exercised and very reticent to give up their abode. They hung around the crowning of the chimney very defiantly for several hours and then gradually disappeared. It was a remarkable incident and attracted considerable attention to say nothing of the engineer's anxiety for a few moments at a critical time.

THEATRICAL.

Katie Emmett, that merry little soubrette who comes to Music Hall next Tuesday evening, was playing an engagement in Detroit recently, and her portrayal of Willie Rufus, a newsboy, so caught the fancy of the newsboys and bootblacks of that city, that they determined they must do something to show their appreciation of the manner in which she held their profession up to public view. So they got together, a couple hundred strong, and, headed by their own band—an excellent one, by the way—they started for the hotel at which Miss Emmett was stopping. Miss Emmett was at dinner at the time, but nothing daunted, their leader marched down the dinning hall, and startled Miss Emmett by announcing that she had been elected a member of their Union, and that they had come to serenade and escort her to the theatre. So, leaving her dinner untasted, Miss Emmett proceeded to the theatre, and never did an actress play to a more enthusiastic audience. They laughed at the bright lines, hissed the villain applauded the hero and howled over the exciting climaxes, and at the conclusion of the performance gave three cheers for "Our Katie," as they persist in calling her.

The advent each season of Oliver Byron and his charming wife, Kate Byron, is something that is looked for by play-goers with pleasure, and on Friday night at Music Hall they will present "The Ups and Downs of Life," a comedy drama that has made much of the fame and fortune of these famous players. This season they bring with them a strong dramatic company, besides a number of specialty artists who will introduce a number of high-class vaudeville acts.

Mr. and Mrs. Huebner also Mr. Schaefer and the Misses Schaefer came from Rutherford, this State, yesterday on their wheels to visit Miss Betz, of Grandview avenue.

ALL ATLANTIC RECORDS BEATEN.

A Dutch Boat Crosses in Less than Six Days.

New York, Sept. 27.—In her first voyage across the Atlantic the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse has broken all records. She arrived here last night, having made the voyage in less than six days, a proceeding which is looked upon as marvelous by the management of opposition lines.

Her time was 5 days, 22 hours and 45 minutes from Southampton, a gain of 1 hour and 46 minutes on the best previous record from the same port, held by the American liner St. Paul.

The average hourly speed of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse was 21.39 knots, an increase of 39-100 of a knot on the speed guaranteed by its builders.

The officials of the line do not feel that the Kaiser Wilhelm has shown just what she can do. They look for her to smash her present record on her next voyage to the West. All they ask is a little time.

The best previous record from Southampton—6 days and 31 minutes—is held by the American liner St. Paul. The best eastern record is held by the American liner St. Louis, which made the voyage in 6 days, 10 hours and 14 minutes.

The Wilhelm, the biggest craft afloat, not only has smashed the record, but also has smashed the theory that a monster vessel cannot make a fast voyage. She has made an average hourly speed of nearly 22 knots and has put to shame the records of the Yankee liners St. Paul and St. Louis and the English steamships Lucania and Campania.

The last-named vessels, the most powerful afloat as regards motive power, having 30,000 horse power each, have been outstripped in speed and the flag they float has been lowered in deference to the superior speed of the German vessel.

NO FAITH IN ANDREE'S PLANS.

Lieut. Peary Talks of the Far North Country and of His Plans.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—Lieut. Peary, in speaking to-day of his return from the Polar regions, said:

"In addition to securing the meteorite I laid the plans for next year's expedition, and when I leave again, which will be about the end of next July, it will be to remain up there until I reach the Pole or lose my life in the attempt, if it takes five years to accomplish this object.

"Next Summer I shall take my vessel up to Sherard Osborneford and make that place my base of supplies.

"My party will consist of a surgeon, possibly another white man and myself; the rest will be Esquimaux. The latter know how to drive dogs; they can go hungry and know how to get food.

"I am quite sure that I shall succeed in reaching the Pole. Nansen got within 200 miles of it, but Andree did not have one chance in one thousand when he started to drift over the Pole. I do not think Andree will accomplish anything, and may have lost his life ere this in his attempt."

KEEP ANARCHISTS OUT.

Powderly Says They Should Not Be Allowed to Land.

New York, Sept. 27.—Commissioner-General of Immigration T. V. Powderly, in answering a letter of congratulation from the Rev. Madison C. Peters of the Bloomingdale Church here, from Scranton, Pa., among other things concerning the immigration question, wrote:

"If they are oppressed at home, let them dethrone their oppressors there and establish governments of the people, for the people and by the people across the Atlantic. If Anarchists are born and bred beneath the fostering wing of an ill-governed land let them remain at home to wreak vengeance upon the creators, instead of coming here to turn the thoughts of dissatisfied men away from the real cause of their dissatisfaction."

The letter, in conclusion, complains of the laxity in the present naturalization laws and suggests that stricter measures be adopted.

LILLY LANGTRY TO WED.

Her Attorney Says Prince Esterhazy Will Be Her Husband.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The announcement that Mrs. Lily Langtry will marry Prince Esterhazy is confirmed. Attorney Henry C. McPike, of this city, says:

"I have recently received from my client, Mrs. Langtry, notice of her intention to return to California by the end of November. Prince Esterhazy will accompany her, and immediately upon their arrival here they will be married, in Lake County, I presume, for her home is there.

"They are advised by their solicitors in London that the decree granted at Lakeport has freed Mrs. Langtry absolutely from Edward Langtry, so that she might marry in any part of the world if she chose."

WAGES INCREASED.

Fifteen Hundred Iron Workers Receive a Raise.

Harrisburg, Sept. 27.—The American Tube and Iron Company, which has works in Middletown employing about 1,500 men and boys, publicly announces its purpose to begin paying its hands ten per cent. increase on their present wages on the 1st of November.

The establishment is running day and night under the inspiration of a rush of orders. The proposed increase will place the rate of wages where it was when the company made a reduction last Winter because of the general dullness of trade.

To Rival Niagara's Power.

Albany, Sept. 27.—The St. Lawrence Power Company, of Massena, St. Lawrence County, has certified to the Secretary of State to having increased its capital stock from $200,000 to $6,000,000. This company is engaged in developing water power from the St. Lawrence River for the purpose of producing electricity on an enormous scale, and on similar lines to those employed at Niagara Falls.

Five-Day Line to England.

Boston, Sept. 27.—A plan has been outlined and is under consideration for the establishment of a steamship line between Boston and Bristol, England. It looks to the increase of Boston's commerce and the reduction of ocean crossing time to five days or less.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

As the safety has superceded the old high wheel so will the Wonderful

supercede the ordinary upright piano. With it any ordinary player can imitate perfectly a Harp, a German Zither, Banjo, Autoharp, Mandolin, and 10 other instruments. The attachment to produce this wonderful result is so simple that it cannot get out of order, and the more it is used the longer the piano is preserved. Aside from the attachment the Crown Piano is equal to any piano made for tone, touch and finish. All are invited to call, especially musicians, at Fitz to Do as Corbett Did.

Trenton, Sept. 27.—Bob Fitzsimmons, who gave an exhibition of sparring here, is out with a statement, in which he says that he has no intention of giving Corbett another fight, and said that Corbett must defeat Maher, Goddard and the other fistic lights before he would give him a return fight. He added also that Corbett kept him off for a couple of years and that he will follow his example.

MAY COMPROMISE ON BLISS.

The Machine Slate for Greater New York.

New York, Sept. 27.—The plan to nominate Gen. Tracy for Mayor is to be carried out, apparently with the expectation that he will remain in the field as the Republican candidate if Mr. Low remains in the field as the Citizens Union candidate. The politicians say that when the convention has finished its work and left the candidates in the hands of a committee having power to fill vacancies in the event of withdrawals, Gen. Tracy might offer to withdraw in favor of a fusion candidate if Mr. Low would also withdraw. Such an offer, it is said, might be accepted by Mr. Low and the Citizens Union leaders if they thought that the candidacy of Mr. Low had become hopeless, and then there might be an agreement to unite in the nomination of Cornelius N. Bliss. While Mr. Bliss has declined to be considered as a candidate, it was said he could not well refuse to accept a union nomination under circumstances which seemed to make his candidacy necessary to keep the greater city out of the power of Tammany.

CORNELIUS N. BLISS.

Senator Platt to-day announced the slate for the Republican convention tomorrow, as follws:

Mayor—Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy.
Comptroller—Ashbel P. Fitch.
President of the Council—R. Ross Appleton, of Brooklyn.

Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff will be temporary and permanent chairman of the convention, and Dr. Chauncey M. Depew or Edward Lauterbach will make the speech nominating Gen. Tracy.

TO KEEP UP THE FIGHT.

Senator Elkins Says that McKenna's Opinion Is Not Law.

Washington, Sept. 27.—An effort is being made with the President to have him take action to nullify the opinion of Attorney-General McKenna on section 22, at least for the present. The friends of the discriminating duties have communicated with Senator Elkins, and he has telegraphed the President.

The point made is that the Attorney-General is merely the legal adviser of the President, and that the Executive must himself order the suspension of a law and assume the responsibility. It has been pointed out to the President that the Treasury cannot legally decline to assess a duty until a judicial construction is reached, and that the Secretary of the Treasury might become liable for the loss of duties if he ordered his subordinates not to collect them, and could plead only the advise of the Attorney-General. It is pointed out to the President that if the decision were the other way the persons paying the discriminating duty could appeal to the courts, whereas now there is no remedy, and the Attorney-General denies to the railroads interested the right of having their interests settled by the courts.

MINERS STRIKE NEAR SCRANTON.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 27.—A general strike is on among the miners employed in the four mines of Simpson & Watkins, north of this city. About 1,400 men are out, and the strike may assume more serious proportions if the present feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction spreads among the foreign-speaking mining element in the upper Lackawanna Valley, where the present trouble is located.

The Hazleton Massacre.

Hazleton, Sept. 27.—The jury appointed by Coroner McKee to inquire into the cause of the death of the men killed in the Lattimer massacre, will meet again to-night, having failed to reach a conclusion Saturday.

The jurymen are divided on the question of censuring the deputy sheriffs. While the jurors declined to state what transpired, it is learned that five different verdicts were offered, four censuring the deputies and one of exculpation.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

William Townsend is a new candidate for the position of tackle on the Alis team. He seems to be a good man for the position and will probably make the team without trouble.

Charles Denice, who last year made a great record as quarterback on the Elizabeth Athletic Club, has left Plainfield and gone to Lehigh University to take a post-graduate course. He will be greatly missed by the boys of the Alis team who found his coaching of great assistance.

Captain Roy Phillips, of the Alis eleven, has almost completed the makeup of his team and will be able to settle down for practice soon. The missing link at present is quarter back. Dwight, who filled that position last year, has entered Princeton and his presence is greatly missed. He was a valuable man, and it is difficult to find a substitute for him. The candidates for the team are now practicing every afternoon and expect to put up a better game than they did last year.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company has received the first consignment of the Cleveland chainless wheel which can now be seen at its salesrooms.

The bicycle racing season is almost at an end and soon the cracks will be out on the track trying for the different records against time. Those who do not try for records will be included in the pacing teams. As far as Plainfield has been concerned, the racing season has not been a successful one. There was but one race meet held here this year, and while the racing was of an excellent quality, the audience was so poor as to deter the Crescent Wheelmen from any further attempts at race meet promoting. Now the track lies idle and the lovers of racing go elsewhere to enjoy a meet.

The Metuchen Recorder editorially complains about the conduct of some of the bicycle riders who pass through their town, and adds: "The League of American Wheelmen, properly enough, have organized to protect their interests, and have local consuls in all important places. It would seem to be one of their highest interests to see to it that brutes and blackguards be put out and kept out of their guild, and an important duty of the local consul ought to be to investigate such occurrences and report the miscreants for expulsion." If, upon investigation, the offending wheelmen are found to be members of the league, undoubtedly prompt action will be taken, but at the same time the L. A. W. should not be held responsible for the actions or conduct of the "large army of wheelmen" who are not identified with the L A. W.

GOLF.

Saturday afternoon on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club the attraction was mixed foursomes, eighteen holes, medal play for two loving cups offered as prizes. The contest was an interesting one and attracted considerable attention from lovers of golf. Willard Wadsworth and Miss Strong won the prizes by the score of 112. The scores in full are as follows: Willard Wadsworth and Miss Strong, 112; W. L. Glenny and Miss Margaret Tracy, 117; Mr. and Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, 124; F.W. Walz and Miss Andrews, 124; Carl Walz and Miss Martha Tracy, 136; R. Stockton and Miss Talmage, 138; L. H. VanBuren and Miss Evans, 139; H. T. West and Miss McCready, 155.

ASSAULTED NEAR VAIL'S WOODS.

One Man Escaped by Running, But His Companion Was Punched Unmercifully.

The police were notified last evening that two men had been held up and beaten on West Fourth street, near Vail's woods, last night. John L.O'Halleran was the principal victim, Hugh McWiggin escaping through the good use of his legs. The men charged with the assault are Robert Wallace, Patrick Wallace, Thomas Hammill, and Michael Cawley, all of West Third street.

It is difficult to learn the circumstances of the trouble, except that there was an assault, and that O'Halleran was badly beaten by somebody. He claims that the other men owed him a grudge and laid for him in the woods.

The four men charged with the assault were arrested at 5 o'clock this morning by Patrolmen Vanderweg, Lunger and Meyers at their home on West Third street. They were brought before City Judge DeMeza, who held each in $200 bail for a hearing on Thursday afternoon.

Holdup in the Borough.

Last Saturday night at 12 o'clock T. B Penton's coachman, of Rockview avenue, was held up by a highwayman on the Giraud avenue bridge while he was on his way home. but through some clever management he succeeded in getting away from his would be antagonist. The highwayman gave chase, but failed to run fast enough to catch the coachman. The latter is unable to give any description of his pursuer and says that he would not know him if he should see him again. The police have been notified.

TAXED TOO HIGH THE CRY

BOROUGH WATCHUNG AVENUE COMMISSIONERS' HEARING.

Many Property Owners Appear and State That the Assessments of Damages is Too High in Their Particular Cases.

The Borough Watchung avenue commissioners, appointed for the purpose of assessing benefits as well as damages, did not have as difficult a task as they expected at their meeting last evening when they met for the purpose of hearing objections to the assessments made for benefits along the avenue and side streets from the brook to a point where the new improvement ends. To be sure, there was a large number of people present, but the majority of them came to listen to what the others had to say.

It was after the appointed hour when Commissioners J. H. Cooley, William J. Roome and John Emmons, together with Borough Counsel Reed, were ready to meet the objectors. The first called was the representative of Hannah Durlach, who was William N. McCarter, of Newark. The assessments on two plots of ground are $765 and $562.50. This Mr. McCarter said he thought to be excessive, and especially so on the first plot.

His reasons were that the amount of land and the shape in which it has been left makes it impracticable for building purposes. Regarding plot No. 1, he said that its queer shape, leaving only forty feet in depth, would put it out of the market as a good piece of land upon which to place a house, and a factory would be the only suitable building that could be put there. He had little to say regarding plot No. 2 and was of the opinion that the amount assessed on it was more reasonable than on the first plot.

Mrs. Mary McGlone, of Pearl street, was the next person to object to an assessment of $439 14. She said that the commissioners had awarded her $500 as damages, and that she had used her money in putting the property in tenantable shape. If she paid the amount asked of her for benefits she said that she would not have the price of a pair of shoes. She had earned it working hard in ironing and washing, and she thought it was a case of "Robbing Peter to pay Paul." She said that she was not able to pay the amount asked, and she would be willing to give the borough her property that she had worked hard for if they would give her clothing and the necessaries of life while she lived.

For the estate of Stephen Pangborn, William Pangborn appeared and made serious objection to an assessment of $80.31 on a piece of property on Pearl street. He cited other properties nearby where the dimensions are larger and yet in proportion the former property is assessed more. William Boe, also on Pearl street, said that he objected to paying $20 for 47 feet, when the Scheelein property of 60 feet, nearby, was only assessed $23. He did not consider that he was benefitted one dollar by the improvement. George Feller, for Margaret Feller, who owns property on Pearl street, claimed that his wife's property was not benefitted by the opening to the extent of $83.40.

J. B. Coward appeared for Mrs. Frank Conshea, as regards the assessment of $480 on the property opposite the North Plainfield cemetery located on Chatham street. Mr. Coward did not consider that the property was worth any more today than it was thirty years ago, and said that he would sell it for less than $8,000.

Thomas Rutledge, who owns a piece of property on Chatham street, upon which there is an assessment of $119.32, objected on the grounds that the opening did not leave him enough property upon which to build, and that he is not benefitted in the least. The objections to the assessment of $612 90 on the property of the estate of Nathaniel Taynor were filed in writing. The principle objection is that the assessment is too high for the benefits received.

Dr. H. H. Lowrie, who owns a piece of property on Chatham street, objected to an assessment of $227.80 on the ground that it is excessive and that the land is poor. He did not object to the closing of Warren street nor the opening of Watchung avenue, and is willing to pay a moderate assessment.

The chief objection offered by Lewis Bird through his son, Lawyer Bird, is that he cannot see the point in assessing property on Chatham street twelve times the amount assessed on Watchung avenue, near Summit avenue. The objections were filed in writing. The estate of Patrick Daley was represented by one of the sons who claim that their property on Chatham street assessed $395.80 and $197.64 is entirely too much and that the opening of the avenue is no benefit at all to their

RAIDS IN APPLE ORCHARD.

Halsey Compton, the Owner, Aggravated Over the Depredations—Warrant Issued.

Halsey Compton used to be one of the greatest melon raisers in this part of Jersey. His melon patch was a mighty one, but the boys and the men from far and near deemed Compton's patch a proper place for frequent nocturnal depredations. They came in twos and threes, quartettes and quintettes, until there were sometimes several score of unbidden guests, all intent on enjoying Compton's melons. He hired watchmen to guard the patch at night, but still the depredators managed to find their way in and at last Mr. Compton gave up the business of melon raising on account of the trouble he had in protecting them.

Compton lives on West Front street, and now his large orchard is located between West Front street and the railroad. The men and boys have come to the same conclusion about his orchard as they had about his melon patch, and apples disappear by the bagful. Compton has declared war against these invaders.

Max Michaelson is employed at one of the large shops in the West End. He lives not far from his work. Yesterday, Mr. Compton alleges, Michaelson visited his orchard and helped himself to some of his finest apples that lay on the ground. Mr. Compton claims that this is not the first visit nor the second, and so he determined to make an example of Michaelson.

Yesterday afternoon, Compton appeared before Justice Nash and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Michaelson on the charge of larceny. The warrant was given to Patrolman Cash to serve.

BOX OF PAPERS SECURED

Found by J. Wierenga Early Yesterday Morning and Secreted in Bushes Till Night When They Were Given to Owner.

The identity of the burglars who entered the residence of E. L. Gifford, on Park avenue, Sunday evening, still remains a mystery, but the box of valuable papers that they stole has been returned to their owner after passing through a series of adventures that makes their return seem all the more surprising to Mr. Gifford.

J. Wierenga, Jr., of Randolph road, was on his way to the Scott Press Works early yesterday morning and was crossing a field in the rear of Mr. Gifford's house by the path that leads to the cross road. He found a tin box broken open and its contents of papers scattered about the path. He looked at one of them and saw that they were probably of a valuable nature, so he collected them and hid them in the bushes close by. During the day the underbrush was being burned off in that field and the fire came within three feet of the hiding place of the papers. The police searched the fields in the neighborhood but could not find the papers which they were confident the thieves had thrown away.

In the evening Wieranga was reading The Daily Press when he saw the account of the robbery and the loss of the papers. He went to Mr. Gifford's house, and, to the surprise of the latter, informed him that if he would bring a lantern he might have his papers. Mr. Gifford and Wierenga went forth and the papers were found uninjured. Only a few silver trinkets were missing from the box. Mr Gifford was greatly delighted at the find and will reward the finder.

A DRUNKEN MAN'S FOLLY.

Seized With the Idea to Make Love and Made a Big Fuss.

Thomas Waldron was until last evening a regular boarder at the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street, but this morning he was a boarder in the borough lockup. He is employed by Wilson, the stone dealer. Last evening he imbibed rather freely and wanted to make love to Mrs. Wedemeyer, owner of the hotel, but she objected. Waldron pursued her and demanded an entrance into her room. While he was trying to break into the room a number of people in the barroom were attracted by a noise. When they arrived on the scene they found Waldron in his own room. He had previously pulled a revolver from his pocket and had threatened Mrs. Wedemeyer. Edward Cover made an effort to subdue Waldron. After an examination into the facts Waldron was arrested and this morning was given the choice between paying $20 or spending sixty days in jail. Waldron was able to raise the fine and was released.

IN NATURE'S TOGS ONLY

EMBARRASSING POSITION THAT THREE SMALL BOYS WERE LEFT IN.

While They Were Disporting Themselves in the Washingtonville Pond on Sunday a Constable Confiscated Their Clothes.

The cold north wind swept over the Watchung mountains Sunday afternoon and caused three small boys to tremble and shiver in the blast. Behind them lay the domicile of Justice Speer and within it their clothes and the stern hand of the law, before them lay freedom, but under such circumstances that the lads trembled and shivered again. They had been swimming on Sunday, which was wrong, and now their clothes were in the hands of the law while they tried to keep warm in the lee of the icehouse.

It all came about like this. Three small boys from the borough of North Plainfield went walking Sunday afternoon and filed along up into Washington Valley. They reached Wilson's pond, and the sight of that sheet of water proved too strong for their little consciences to withstand, and they disrobed and plunged in.

All went well until Constable George Steward spied the youngsters disporting in the water in plain sight of the chapel. The Constable went over to see about it and the boys scurried away and hid in the bushes. The Constable was dressed in his Sunday-go to-meeting clothes and in no mood for a chase. Suddenly a bright idea struck him. He took possession of the clothes of the invaders and yelled at them that they might find the clothes in the home of Justice Speer, a quarter of a mile away. Away went the clothes and the constable.

The bathers held a council of war. The wind was chilly and they did not fancy a tramp through the woods in their present condition. Dreams of imprisonment and other awful punishments flitted before them but the cold blast was obdurate and the boys crept through the woods to the Justice's house in fear and trembling. The twigs and the briers were sharp and scratched the lads as they journeyed along.

When they reached the Justice's house, another obstacle confronted them. They dared not appear before the family in their exceedingly scanty attire so they squatted in the bushes at the rear of the house and yelled. The Justice heard their undertone with the clothes and stood guard while the lads donned their raiment. With chatting teeth, they told their story and the Justice administered a reprimand and let the youthful offenders go, deeming that they had had sufficient punishment already. Neither the Constable nor the Justice inquired the names of the lads so their identity, for the present, must remain unrevealed.

FUNERAL OF MRS. KEIDERLING.

Pastor Newell Spoke Words of Comfort and Cheer to Bereaved Ones.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. John Keiderling were held yesterday afternoon from the house on West Second street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope chapel, who spoke words of comfort and cheer to the bereaved ones. The attendance of relatives and friends was large. Interment was at Somerville. At the latter place a short service was held and the pastor of the First Reformed church officiated. Those who acted as bearers were Harry Hartpence, William Chamberlain, W. R. Newman, R. B. Rogers, William Ross and Mr. Kaeding. All but the last named person are members of No. 2 Engine Company, of which the husband of the departed is also a member.

Hospital Affairs.

The meeting of the board of governors of the Muhlenberg Hospital last evening, at the Public Library, was a very uneventful one. The regular routine business was quickly dispatched, and then the board adjourned, after a discussion of the needs and methods at the hospital. Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, medical director, made his report for the month of September, showing that twenty-one patients had been admitted during the month, sixteen discharged cured and one discharged improved, while one had died. The total number treated was thirty-five, and there are now sixteen remaining.

David Bowden Got the Contract.

At a meeting of the Common Council of Lodi, Bergen county, held last evening, bids were received for the grading and macadamizing of several streets in the borough. There were nine bids, all very close. The contract was awarded to David Bowden, of this city, and the estimated cost is $15,000. The work is to be started at once.

CAME HOME AS WIVES.

GIRLS IN THEIR TEENS MARRIED TO NEW YORK MEN.

Went to the Metropolis Ostensibly on a Visit, But Were Joined by Lovers and Made as One—Parents Much Surprised.

The old saying that "love will find a way," was again proven true today, when two Plainfield girls returned home from New York city, where they went yesterday afternoon, ostensibly to visit friends, and made the startling announcement to their parents that they were married.

Miss Ella Long, of 171 North avenue, and Miss Mary Kliner, of 28 Watchung avenue, were the girls in question, and the young men who are said to have taken them for better or worse, are Samuel and William Dennick, of 572 Lexington avenue, New York.

The attachment which has existed between the young folks has not received any encouragement on the part of the parents of the girls, possibly on account of their youth, Miss Kliner being only 16 years old, and Miss Long is not much her senior.

In spite of a lack of encouragement from the old folks, however, the attachment between the Dennick brothers and the young women grew stronger as time went on, and they had no difficulty in meeting each other without having the girls' parents know of the fact. The young men often visited this city, and sometimes the girls would visit a friend in New York, and the lovers would always manage to meet.

At last the idea dawned upon the young people that the plan of existence they were following, with continual separation from each other, was not the pleasantest possible, and after talking it over they decided to get married. Yesterday afternoon Miss Long and Miss Kliner arrayed themselves in their prettiest and saying they were going to visit friends, took a train for New York. There they were driven to the home of their prospective husbands, at 572 Lexington avenue, and met a few friends. At 8 o'clock the young people went to the minister of a neighboring church and were quietly married in the presence of a few witnesses.

This morning the two Mrs Dennicks returned to this city and let their parents into the secret. There was nothing for the old folks to do but acquiesce, and this they did.

The brides will shortly return to New York city to try their skill as housekeepers.

A SOLDIER BEFORE THE JUDGE.

Responded to His State's Command and Thereby Lost His Job.

John Williams was called out with the Ohio militia to the annual encampment. He responded but lost his job. He looked for another but without success. He met Joseph Kelly, eighteen years old, of New York city. Together they started to tramp to New York. Last night they landed in Plainfield. A kind-hearted man gave them a quater to buy their supper. As they came out of a restaurant, they were arrested on the charge of begging. They were locked up. This morning, City Judge DeMeza gave them ten minutes and one second to get across the city line. They went.

QUIET HOME WEDDING.

Miss Lizzie C. Force Becomes the Wife of Wyckoff Rue Cottrell.

A quiet home wedding took place last evening at the residence of Henry W. Force, 117 New street, when his daughter, Miss Lizzie Cornelia Force, became the bride of Wyckoff Rue Cottrell, of Avon.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. G. K. Newell, pastor of Hope chapel. The affair was very private, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present. A number of pretty and valuable wedding presents were received.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell left for Avon, where they will make their home.

Children's Home Anniversary.

The officers of the Children's Home Association announce to their friends that the exercises of their thirteenth anniversary will be held on Tuesday evening of next week in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church. The reports for 1896 and 1897 will be given and an address made by Jacob Riis, author of "How the Other Half Lives."

Rasores Club to Resume Work.

The first meeting of the Rasores Club for the season of 1897-98 will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning next at the home of the president, 829 Park avenue. The subject will be "Vacation Experiences." A cordial invitation is extended to every member.

VERY LIGHT VOTE.

Fine Weather But Little Interest Shown in the Fate of the Amendments.

In the weather line today is perfect for election, but it is doubtful if much more than a third of the registered vote will be polled.

Though the day was ushered in with the ringing of church bells to call all good men to a sense of their duty in voting, a general idea of how thousands of people throughout the State regard the matter can be determined by the following colloquy that is frequently heard:

"Have you voted yet?" asks the man who has been to the polls and recorded his decision on the amendments.

"Voted?" remarks the other man in sort of a vague manner. "Oh, yes, I do remember, it is election day, isn't it?"

And then the latter goes about his business and probably will never think of his duties as a citizen again today.

Though the Republicans endorsed the anti-gambling amendment as a party measure, the workers are not much in evidence.

The vote in the first district of the First ward at 2 o'clock was 110, about one-third the usual vote. The total registration of that district is about 600. It is not expected that more than 250 votes will be polled.

The vote in the Second district of the First ward was very light, only 25 ballots being cast up to 2 o'clock, about one-fourth of the usual vote.

There was a better showing in the First district of the Second ward; 196 ballots were cast up to 2 o'clock as against about 300 last year. The registry is 666. Most of the ballots were cast by the commuters.

Twenty-eight ballots were cast in the Second district of the Second ward up to 2 o'clock, as against 96 last election. The total registration is 107. Very few commuters have voted there.

In the Third ward the vote at 2 o'clock was 187. The registration is 698.

At 2 o'clock the vote in 1st district of the 4th ward was 133, out of a registration of 731; and in the Second district 67 votes had been polled out of a registration of 625.

Considering all things the vote in the borough this morning was very good. At 10:30, 77 votes were cast in the First district, and 57 in the Second district. The voting during the early morning hours was quite brisk, but toward noon the votes came in rather slow.

SCARED BY HOT METAL.

POT MOLTEN IRON OVERTURNED AND JAMES FEENEY BADLY BURNED.

The Accident Occurred at the Pond Tool Works Last Night and Was Caused by Feeney Getting in Way of Electric Crane.

James Feeney, an employe in the foundry at the Pond Tool Works, narrowly escaped loss of life last evening while at work in the foundry. Together with some other employes he was helping to carry a large pot of melted iron to be poured into a mould for casting. The men did not notice another large pot of metal that was being carried along on an electric crane behind them. Before they could realize their danger the heavy mass of iron struck Feeney and caused the pot to fall backward and empty in front of him. He also narrowly escaped being thrown into the larger pot of iron which was very close to him. The boiling iron spread itself over Feeney's arms and legs, which were burned to a crisp. The men who were assisting Feeney were only slightly burned.

Feeney's screams attracted the attention of the man who was operating the crane and he quickly shut off the power and thus prevented further injury.

Feeney was suffering intense pain and his groans were heartrending. His fellow-workmen carried him from the shop to the hospital, but he could not be received there at the time for there was no physician on duty. Those in charge of Feeney hurried for a physician at once. Feeney had then recovered somewhat from his shock and was able to walk, although his suffering was intense. He went to the home of Dr. Simpson, where the latter dressed his wounds. Later he was taken to his boarding place in the West End, and this morning he was admitted to the hospital for treatment.

Got More Than He Aimed For.

Will VanWinkle, Jr., of Park place, while guaning yesterday in Warren township, fired a charge of his gun into what he supposed to be an empty squirrel's nest, but was surprised to see three good-sized raccoons scamper out of it. Being a quick shot he succeeded in bringing home two of the animals, but the third escaped.

FATE OF A DOG SPORT.

HE CHASED DUCKS AND HENS AND WAS PEPPERED WITH GUNSHOT.

Now His Owner, Will Demler, Wants the Assassin to Pay $50 Damages—Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Charged With the Offense.

Will Demler, the proprietor of the store at Washingtonville, owned a dog, 'twas a rabbit hound of value, worth $50. Many of the sportsmen of that place and Plainfield have hunted behind that dog. Now the hunting fraternity is greatly wrought up at what they term the wanton killing of the dog.

Last Thursday morning the dog, who goes by the name of "Sport," got loose and wandered about the neighborhood. Finnaly, the canine reached the farm of William H. Smith, near the sandstone quarry. Smith has charge of the quarry. There, it is alleged, the dogs chased ducks and chickens with felonious intent. While the animal romped among the farmyard fowls, Ralph Bullman, the fifteen-year-old lad employed by Smith, came out with a shot gun and, it is alleged, emptied its contents into the dog. The dog lay down and faintly kicked so the lad finished him with a baseball bat and then buried him in a corner of the lot.

Will Demler waited for his dog to return until Saturday when he learned that his dog was no more and that all that remained of him was buried in Smith's field. Then Demler arose in his wrath and retained as counsel in the matter, McNabb & Clark.

Sunday morning, Demler and Constable George Steward went to Smith's place and searched for all that was mortal of the beloved canine and found it in a lot, three feet underground.

This morning, Demler started action in tort against Bullman in Justice Speer's court at Washingtonville. The summons was given to Constable Steward to serve. Bullman could not be found and so a civil capias was issued and the Constable went in search of the lad. At last, the missing one was found in hiding on the mountain in a state of great fear and trepidation. He was brought before Justice Speer and held in $50 bail for trial on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Pope & Runyon will represent Smith and his employe.

ACCIDENTS AT PONDS.

Two Workman Had Their Fingers Caught and Smashed.

Clarence Brouard, aged 19 years, an employee of the Pond Tool Works, met with an accident this morning which has resulted in his losing two fingers and a thumb on his right hand. He was working at a machine when his hand became fastened and before he could extricate the hand or the machinery could be stopped the two fingers and thumb were so terribly mangled that amputation was necessary.

William Taylor, aged 48 years, a Scotchman and an employe of the Pond Tool Works, called at the hospital last evening to have the little finger on his hand dressed. While he was at work the finger was crushed in a piece of machinery and while the injury was not a serious one, it was necessary that proper treatment should be given. Mr Taylor has not been detained from work and the injury will soon be well.

TO RELIEVE OVERCROWDING

Borough Board of Education Will Probably Move the Kindergarten.

A special meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education was held last evening in the school building for the purpose of considering methods and means for relieving the present overcrowded condition of the school. It was reported by the building committee that they had under the advisement the basement of the German Reformed church, Warren chapel, Grace M. E. church and one or two other places. The committee did not report anything definite, however, and thought it best for the Board to consider the matter as a whole. The committee was continued for the purpose of ascertaining figures for rental, etc, and a special meeting will again be held very soon to decide in the matter.

Sons of Veterans Fair.

A meeting of the Sons of Veterans fair committee was held last evening. Edward P. T. Smith was chosen as chairman of the committee, Frank Clarkson secretary, and Raymond McVoy treasurer. Raymond McVoy and Charles Graves were appointed a committee on rooms, and the matter of printing was left in charge of H. S. Thatcher and George Bedford. The securing of music was left to Fred Sutton and John Naylor. It was decided to hold the fair during the first week in November.

CONTROL OF A BIG CITY

Seventy Thousand Dollars of Patronage the Prize.

A MERRY AND LIVELY WAR

The Convention of Platt Republicans Will Meet This Evening and Nominate Gen. Tracy, Who Later Will Retire

(By Associated Publishers' Press.)

New York, Sept. 28.—The political situation in the second city of the world is decidedly mixed. Tammany has a gold and silver fight within the wigwam and the anti-Tammany forces are divided on the question of spoils. Seth Low has been nominated for Mayor as a non-partisan Republican, for whom all independent citizens are asked to vote, and to-day Mr. Platt, a resident of Tioga County, but a dictator in metropolitan politics nevertheless, is holding a machine Republican convention, and will nominate Gen. Tracy, ex-Secretary of the Navy.

It has developed that the shift from Olcott to Tracy has not impressed the local leaders as a wise move. They do not like to swap horses while crossing a stream, particularly such a perilous one as they find themselves in. Moreover, the New York men do not warm up to Gen. Tracy as a candidate, and are rather reticent about prophesying that he will make a popular candidate.

The organization presents to-day a solid front in favor of the policy of the leaders. That policy will include the unseating of every Low delegate who can be found, the nomination of Gen. Tracy for Mayor, Ashbel P. Fitch for Comptroller and R. Ross Appleton, of Brooklyn, for president of the Council; a reaffirmation of the St. Louis platform and a declaration for union and good government. Unless the present purpose is changed, there will be no indorsement of Mayor Strong's administration, and as Mr. Edward Lauterbach is writing the platform it is not probable that the street railway interests will find much fault with it.

There are persistent rumors among Republican politcians that the opposition to Gen. Tracy's nomination is being quieted by the assurance that Secretary of the Interior Bliss will ultimately be the union nominee for Mayor, and Mr. Low will withdraw in his favor. Senator Platt and Messrs. Quigg and Gibbs are quoted as having said that President McKinley had agreed to urge Mr. Bliss to accept. Secretary Bliss has repeatedly declared that he could not allow his name to be used, and within the past few days has showed some annoyance at the continued talk about his possible acceptance.

The convention met at noon. Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff was made chairman. Committees upon resolutions were named and adjournment was taken to 8 o'clock this evening.

Gen. Tracy has requested that District Attorney Olcott make the nominating speech, and the District Attorney has consented. Chauncey M. Depew is also down for a talk, but whether to second Tracy's nomination or on the general topic of union is not known.

$70,000,000 of Patronage.

Were it not for Mr. Low the fight for the control of the second city in the world that is to be, with its $70,000,000 financial budget, would be between two parties—the Republicans and Democrats.

Mr. Low's nomination, however, has encouraged the creation of nearly half a hundred independent bodies of more or less formidable proportions.

THE CENTRAL WRECK.

The Cause of the Explosion Will Never Be Known.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 28.—The wreck of the Northern express, near Georgetown, on the Northern Central division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was one of the most peculiar in the history of the road. E. B. Mitchell, of this city, the engineer, was instantly killed, and John R. Cawley, the fireman, also of this city, was so terribly scalded by escaping steam that he will die.

The locomotive boiler exploded while the train was running. The engineer was thrown up the side of a hill for fifty feet, and the fireman was hurled down the bank to the river's edge. The boiler was thrown through the air 150 feet, and the tank of the engine was found as far away in another direction. The train was a heavy one, consisting of an express and baggage car, several day coaches and two Pullman sleepers. All the cars were derailed, except the last sleeper, which stuck to the rails. No passengers were hurt, but all were seriously shaken up. Residents of Georgetown who heard the explosion of the locomotive at first thought that it was an earthquake. They hurried from their beds and gave all the assistance possible to the injured men.

Just what caused the explosion will never be known. The locomotive was taken from the shops on Saturday after being overhauled. Trains were passed around the wreck on a temporary track.

Engineer Mitchell was on his first run, after having been away from the throttle a week attending a meeting of the Legislative Board of the Allied Railroad Associations, of which he was re-elected president on Friday. He was a very popular railroad man, and a few years ago was a candidate for the Legislature.

Entertained a Bullfrog Unawares.

Rahway, N. J., Sept. 28.—Albert Van Sant, aged 20 years, of Melton avenue, this city, has been gradually losing weight for the past two years until now he is a mere skeleton.

Saturday the young man threw up a bullfrog nearly an inch and a half long. Since then he has expressed himself as feeling better, and it is believed that instead of consumption the presence of the frog was the cause of his trouble.

The Monetary Commission.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Monetary Commission has made arrangements for fitting up permanent quarters in the Arlington Hotel. The suggestion to go to Philadelphia to hold the sessions, which originated in a desire to consult the personal convenience of ex-Senator Edmunds, who is chairman of the commission, has been abandoned.

A DOUBLE MURDER.

Christian's Name Was a Sad Misnomer.

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Sullivan County Club's grounds, near Wurtsboro, was the scene of the murder of one man and the fatal shooting of another at about 3 o'clock yesterday. The murderer is Wallace J. Christian, a contractor, who formerly lived in Yonkers, but since the Sullivan County Club has been open he has resided in a cottage on the grounds and contracted for a large majority of the building that has been done there. His victims are H. F. Pritchard, of 130th street, New York, and Constable James Manning, of Wurtsboro.

About a year ago Christian quarreled with a man in New York City, and nearly killed him. He was arrested and gave bail for his appearance at court. His bonds were forfeited by his non-appearance, and Pritchard, learning his whereabouts, went to Wurtsboro yesterday and, securing the services of Constable Manning, drove four miles to the clubhouse to serve papers on Christian, demanding his appearane in New York.

Christian came out to the wagon, accompanied by his wife, and the constable handed him the papers. When Christian read them he flew into a terrible rage, and without a moment's warning he whipped out a 32-calibre revolver and shot Pritchard, the ball entering the abdomen in the region of the groin. Pritchard fell out of the wagon dead. Christian then turned on the constable and shot him twice, the shots taking effect in the stomach.

NATIONAL LABOR CONFERENCE.

Anarchy Demands a Hearing—Emma Goldman Takes Part.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Delegates to the National Labor Conference called by the St. Louis convention were a great deal surprised when they assembled in Orpheus Hall to learn that Emma Goldman was to demand a share in the debates.

The mouthpiece of the New York Anarchists, who has been courting martyrdom by her wild harangues in that city, arrived here Tuesday. She brings credentials from the Wendell Phillips Club, of Providence, R. I., and the New York Debating Club, both supposed to be made up of Anarchists.

Among the first arrivals was Edward Boyce, who created a sensation at the St. Louis convention called by the United Mine Workers, by declaring that the workingmen need expect nothing from capital, and that in self-defense they should arm themselves.

Many delegates were unaware that the conference had been called off, and there was considerable criticism of President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, and his executive Council for advising trade unions to be represented.

The delegates are almost unanimously opposed to Gompers, and before the convention ends he will receive many scorings.

Eugene V. Debs, in calling the convention to order, said he did so at the request of several old friends among the delegates. He explained his position toward the meeting.

IN THE BASE BALL FIELD.

The Beaneaters Did the Baltimores 19 to 10.

Baltimore, Sept. 28.—The pennant-winning game was witnessed by 20,000. As early as 11 o'clock every reserved seat was sold and the speculators who were fortunate enough to get hold of seats demanded $3 to $5 apiece for the pasteboards.

The weather man was kind and the day was fitted for the occasion.

The Boston contingent was out in full force and made itself heard over the rooting and yelling of the large gang of local fans. Almost the entire field was surrounded, while there was not standing room in any of the stands.

The noise started before the game. Megaphones, horns, rattles and immense cowbells were brought into use.

The Bostons and their legion of admirers all over the country are reasonably confident of winning the pennant. Yesterday's signal victory over the Baltimores put the hustling Beaneaters in the lead again, seven points to the good. But in order to win the pennant they must capture all three games to be played at Eastern Park with the Brooklyns, beginning to-morrow afternoon.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says, that last winter his wife was attacked with LaGrippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

C. B. Brown has returned from Westfield where he has been visiting relatives. Sunday afternoon he conducted the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Rahway.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mackey, of Brooklyn, are guests of Plainfield friends.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., entertained their friend, John W. Littell, of Newark, Sunday, at their Washingtonville home.

Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hall, of Cranford, were the guests of friends in Plainfield Sunday.

A Cure for Bilious Colic.

Resource, Screven Co., Ga.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. HEAVY DAMAGES.

A Brooklyn Man Awarded $7,500 for Having Been Arrested

Albany, Sept. 28.—The State Board of Claims has awarded John Roberts, of New York City, $7,500 in his action for damages against the State for false imprisonment, in which he made a claim for $168,976, including costs and expenses. John Roberts, now 50 years of age, and living in Brooklyn, was in 1879 prosperously engaged in the saloon and restaurant business on Bleecker street, New York.

On Jan. 6, 1877, he was arrested upon the charge of having robbed the residence of William H. Green, in Long Island City. The burglar, who was masked, took coats, pistol, cigars and a woman's veil belonging to Kate Green. Roberts was taken before Capt. Murray, at the Oak street station, where an alleged identification was made by Miss Green, on the strength of her recognition of the culprit's voice and hands.

He was found guilty and sent to Sing Sing to hard labor for twenty years. There and in Auburn he wore the stripes for nearly twenty-two months, when a pardon was granted by Gov. Lucius Robinson on facts conclusively proving the prisoner's innocence of the crime.

Gov. Morton, in April, 1895, restored Roberts to the rights of citizenship, and in June of the same year the Legislature passed an act authorizing him to proceed against the State before the Board of Claims for damages sustained by his improper conviction and imprisonment for the alleged crime of burglary. He was ten miles from the place at the time the burglary was committed.

A CINCH FOR POLITICIANS.

Gov. Black Renders Starchless Civil Service Rules.

Albany, Sept. 28.—Two months ago the State Commission in Lunacy appointed a special counsel for each State hospital at a salary of $1,200, except for the hospitals of New York and Brooklyn, where the salaries will be much larger, and will be hereafter fixed by the Commission. The appointees were: Utica State Hospital, Congressman James G. Sherman; Binghamton, former State Senator Edmund O'Connor; St. Lawrence, State Senator George R. Malby; Manhattan, Assemblyman George C. Austin; Rochester, Speaker of the Assembly James M. E. O'Grady; Buffalo, James F. Gluck; Poughkeepsie, H. M. Taylor; Willard, S. S. Partridge. The positions are regarded as sinecures.

Gov. Black, who says there is too much starch in civil service, has approved an amendment to the State Civil Service regulations at the request of the State Commission in Lunacy, placing the posts of special counsel for State hospitals in the non-competitive schedule. To-day the State Civil Service Commission notified the State Comptroller that the special counsel appointed over two months ago could begin to draw their salaries from the State treasury, as they had been reapointed in accordance with the amended Civil Service regulations.

SUICIDE BURRETT'S ACCUSATION.

Why He Thought Certain Men Ruined his Life.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 28.—E. L. Burnett, whose body was found in Canandaigua Lake, as related in these dispatches yesterday, was a son of Dr. William W. Burnett, of this city. He was 39 years of age, and left Elmira on May 7 of the present year. He was arrested December 26, 1879, on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Anna Powell Burnett, charging him with desertion. He was prosecuted by former Congressman H. H. Rockwell, and was sentenced to the Monroe County Penitentiary for six months and to pay a fine of $50.

George E. Pratt, former Circuit Court Judge in Wisconsin, was Recorder of the city before whom Burnett was tried. A. M. Dewitt was a former employer of Anna Powell, and assisted her in the case. Charles Hazard, who committed suicide Friday by jumping into the Hudson at Fishkill, was then editor of the Elmira Gazette, and said things about Burnett which were not pleasant to the latter. All of them are now dead. These are the men Burnett accused in the note he wrote before killing himself of ruining his life. They were men of unblemished reputations.

Sadness in Klondike.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 28.—There is terrible suffering on the Skaguay and Dyea trails in consequence of the Winter wind and rain storms that prevailed there last week and the unprepared condition of the Klondikers who were caught scattered along the trails. Their physical suffering is not lessened by the knowledge that everything they possessed in many cases has been sacrificed and nothing accomplished so far as securing any of the Klondike's golden wealth is concerned. Storms have destroyed their provisions, and many are with scarcely dry food for another meal and without money to return home.

Passengers who arrived on the City of Seattle this morning estimate that there are 600 to 1,000 men on the two trails who haven't means to purchase tickets back to Puget Sound.

A Daylight Lynching.

Hawesville, Ky., Sept. 28.—The first daylight lynching in Kentucky since the Murderer Barker was hanged from the court house window in Lexington fifty years ago occurred here at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Raymond Bushrod, the 20-year-old negro, was hanged by a mob for assault.

The negro confessed and asked the leaders of the mob to let him pray. They granted him the privilege, and he prayed for nearly five minutes. When he had finished the noose was placed around his neck and he was hanged quickly. The execution was witnessed by nearly six hundred people.

B. & O. May Pay Interest.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28.—It is announced here upon reliable authority that the receivers of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway have arranged to pay the interest on the bonds of the Baltimore and Ohio and Chicago division of the system, upon which default was made on June 1, and that they are in a fair way to do the same with that of the Pittsburg and Connellsville branch on which default was made on July 1.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

President McKinley and Wife to Return Home To-Morrow.

POSTMASTERS APPOINTED

Efforts to Secure the Convention of the National Educational Society. —Contest for the Office of Collector Butcher—Other Matters.

(By Associated Publishers' Press.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—President McKinley and wife are expected to return to Washington Wednesday. At the White House, while no definite information has been received from the President as to his intentions, it is thought that he will reach here some time during the afternoon Wednesday. The President, when he left Washington for his brief vacation, left many important matters unsettled, and it is known that he expressed himself as anxious to return at the earliest possible day.

It is expected that upon the President's return to Washington there will be several important Consular appointments. Some time ago it was intimated that there would be several appointments of this nature by Oct. 1.

Efforts have been in progress for some time past to secure the next annual convention of the National Educational Society for Washington City. The members of the committee are much pleased with the prospects, and are almost certain that Washington will be selected. The Executive Committee of the Educational Association arrived in Washington on Friday, and are still here. They have visited the various halls and theatres. Representative Skinner, of North Carolina, is at the head of the Executive Committee, which has this matter in charge. In response to inquiries he says that the choice will lie between Washington, Salt Lake City and Denver. The committee will visit the other two cities named at an early date, before making their decision. While in Washington the committee have been the guests of Col. Staples, at the Riggs House, and Saturday night a dinner was tendered, to which many prominent Washingtonians were invited.

There is likely to be quite a contest for the office left vacant by the resignation of Collector Butcher, of the First District of New Jersey. The office is one of the best paying in the State of New Jersey, within the gift of the Federal administration, the salary being $2,875 per annum. Already several applications for the position have been filed at the Treasury Department.

Steps are about to be taken by the Navy Department for the organization of the gunnery corps, created by President McKinley's orders. Orders were issued by the Navy Department to-day.

Repairs are being completed to the Amphitrite at the Norfolk Navy Yard, and the vessel will proceed to New York within a few days.

New Postmasters.

Fourth-class postmasters were appointed Monday as follows:

New York—Columbia, Herkimer County, F. N. Petrie; Delta, Oneida, Frank Harrington; Fleming, Cayuga, H. T. Marsh; North Western, Oneida, A. L. Wilcox; Potter, Yates, D. J. Bordwell; South Columbia, Herkimer, Frank Zoller.

Pennsylvania—Ella, Jefferson, W. A. Mathers; Evergreen, Bradford, G. E. Allen; Hazen, Jefferson, J. G. Mayes; Henderson, Mercer, J. S. Wright; Stone Church, Northampton, Henry Boyer; Worthington, Armstrong, J. M. Williams.

The changes in New York State were all due to removal for political causes.

THE HAZLETON JURY.

The Members Couldn't Agree About Sheriff Martin.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 28.—The Coroner's jury which is inquiring into the killing of the riotous strikers at Lattimer, and which could not agree at its first meeting on Saturday evening, met again Monday evening, and, after much wrangling, handed down a unique verdict. After stating that certain men had come to their death by gunshot wounds on Sept. 10 at the hands of Sheriff Martin and his deputies, the verdict says:

"We, Philip J. Beyle, Thomas L. Thomas, Barton Freas, Peter McKeenan, of this jury, do further say that the said Vincent Platck, with others, was marching peaceably and unarmed on the public highway, and that they were intercepted by the said Sheriff Martin and his deputies and mercilessly shot to death, and we do further find that the killing was unnecessary and could have been avoided without serious injury to either person or property, and we find, finally, that the killing was wanton and unjustifiable." The other two jurymen, George Mane and J. J. McNeal did not concur in these remarks, and wished to be understood as not expressing any censure of the deputy sheriffs.

By Thursday all the troops will be gone. The Fourth Regiment and the city troop of Philadelphia will go tomorrow, the Eighth and Ninth regiments on Wednesday, and Gen. Gobin and his staff and the Governor's troop are scheduled to depart on Thursday.

The American Star.

New York, Sept. 28.—The enthusiasm over Maude Adams at the Empire Theatre last night was remarkable. It was well enough known to followers of theatricals in this city that she was a favorite actress, with a winsome personality, a dainty method, a sweet manner and considerable talent; but even the long-accustomed attendant upon new ventures of the stage was not prepared for any such ovation as was given to her upon her debut as a "star." She was applauded upon her emergence two minutes by the watch.

Where is Pingree?

Detroit, Sept. 28.—Two weeks ago Gov. Hazen S. Pingree left this city. He has not been heard from since. Where he is and what he is doing his business partner, J. B. Howarth, and even his own family profess not to know. In fact, his wife and child are seriously alarmed over his prolonged absence, and say they do not know how to account for it. There are many rumore afloat in political circles.

DEARTH OF SHIRTMAKERS.

The fact that the Huntington Shirt Company was forced to remove their factory from this city on account of their being unable to procure skilled help—or even hands that might in time become such—has been a matter of wonder to many business men. But it seems that even in the great city of Newark a similar condition of affairs exist. Referring to the fact, The Sunday Call says:

Shirt manufacturers, who recently opened a factory in Newark, have advertised in vain for women to make shirts, offering wages of from $5 to $8 a week. They need a hundred hands, but only about a dozen have applied for work, and meanwhile orders cannot be filled. In these hard times one would suppose the factory could be crowded with operators in a day, but the fact is that the making of shirts calls for skilled labor, and every shirt manufacturer here and elsewhere finds the same difficulty in getting workers. Women will not, or cannot, qualify themselves to make shirts as they ought to be made.

VOTE FIRST, THEN PRAY.

Rev. Dr. Henry A. Buchtel, in his sermon Sunday at East Orange, declared that the duty of good citizenship requires a Christian to attend the primary meetings of his party in preference to attending a prayer meeting. If a man could be imagined, he said, in such frail condition that he had strength enough only to do one thing on election day, either to say his prayers or to vote, it would be that man's clear duty to omit his prayers on that day and to vote,

USE OF THE SUN SERVICE.

It is conceded in newspaper circles that there is no finer news service than that maintained by the New York Sun. The Associated Publishers' Press, of which this paper is a charter member, has made arrangements whereby it has the use of this valuable service. The telegraphic news columns of The Press show the effect of improvement since yesterday, when the arrangement was put into effect.

E. L. Gifford and family, of Plainfield, have been taking great interest in the proposed anti-gambling amendments. Yesterday they attended a mass-meeting of the "antis" in a body. While they were away from home a burglar broke into the place and stole $25 and a lot of valuable papers, besides almost burning the house down. The women and minors may go to the polls today, but the old man is pretty busy fixing up a burglar alarm.—New York Press.

We were reading some old newspaper clippings last night when we came across one commenting on the report in 1893 that Thomas C. Platt had retired forever from politics. Thomas must have thought better of it afterward.

Tramps that fall into the hands of Middlesex authorities soon lose their trade marks. First they are made to work, and now, as if adding insult to injury, they are reported as being obliged to submit to a bath with real water.

According to reports, we are inclined to believe that the advance agent of prosperity has struck the Union county jail. Yesterday it contained the largest number of prisoners ever confined there.

The thermometer didn't take an upward flight yesterday, but still we notice that nearly half a hundred bicycle scorchers were in New York police courts.

The man who carries a bluff some times finds it easy to get inside the gate, but what an opinion of him is entertained by those who paid their way in!

Some men are so anxious to get rich that they are getting poorer every day.

Pulled up Grade Stakes.

A number of reckless youngsters have pulled out the grade stakes in the laid-out paths of the city park, and now it will be necessary to have the work surveyed again, entailing double expense for the Women's Town Improvement Association. It is probable that Contractor Forristyl will be appointed a special officer to see to it that such acts are not repeated.

THEATRICAL.

Oliver Byron, Kate Byron and their company of comedians will present their great comedy-drama, "The Ups and Downs of Life," at Music Hall, Friday night. This play, like all of the Byrons productions, contains two stories, one intensely dramatic and the other a bright comedy, so that smiles and laughter chase away tears and tragic incidents. The sporting company this season is the strongest the Byron's have ever had, and many new and bright vaudeville acts are introduced.

Merry Katie Emmett in her greatest success, "The Waifs of New York," will be the attraction at Music Hall this evening. Since here last "The Waifs of New York" has been revised and greatly improved, and as now presented is said to be far superior to any of the dramas dealing with life in the great metropolis. It tells a story of life among the poor, Miss Emmett portraying the character of a ragged newsboy, poor, but honest, upright and heroic, whose aim in life is to do good, assist the weak and defend the helpless. For years she has made a study of this line of work and is one of the few women who make a figure in male attire, and stands alone as having assayed these parts with success. She believes in surrounding herself with a good company, and each member of the cast has been selected with a view of making the production a perfect success. A portion of the plot has been laid in a New York concert hall to admit of a number of strong specialties.

An Old Man Caught Begging.

John Callahan, a strange old character who formerly lived around Netherwood, has returned to Plainfield after a stay at Madison. He is just recovering from a broken leg. He was caught begging this morning by Roundsman Frederickson and locked up. Several months ago that same officer locked him up for being drunk and found over $80 hidden in his clothes. When the Judge heard his story this morning he suspended sentence.

One Advantage

of buying a Piano here is the splendid collection from which to make your choice.

Most Piano houses have but a limited number of Pianos to show, and confine themselves to one or two makes. It is not so here. We've Pianos to suit the millionaire and Pianos adapted to the home of the artisan. We've all grades except "cheap" Pianos that are only built to defraud the buyer.

We've CHICKERINGS, HARDMANS, GABLERS, VOSES, STERLINGS and STANDARDS. The first is the creme de la creme in Piano manufacture; the last is a really good Piano at the bottom notch for price.

ANSWER TO B. FAY MILLS.

Dr. Abbott Controverts the Ex-Evangelist's Conception of Gospel.

In this city, where Rev. B. Fay Mills' evangelistic work is well known, great surprise was expressed when it became known that he was to join the Unitarian church. Sunday, Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, one of New York's notable divine's preached a sermon in answer to Rev. Mr. Mills' change of position. He said in part:

"For some years Rev. B. Fay Mills has been preaching as an evangelist; and in all probability tens of thousands of people date the beginning of their spiritual life to the time when they first heard him. Lately, as a Unitarian, he has made some remarks on religion. Now I am not going to preach a sermon about Rev. B. Fay Mills, but I do want to take up in this connection some of his utterances. He has spoken about the meaning of the Gospel, and has called it a command, rather than a revelation.

"Now I do not understand that to be the Gospel message at all. I do not think that the Gospel message meant that in any part. It is true that men have done wrong very often, and it is also true that they ought to be told that they have done wrong, but that is not the Gospel; that is the law. The Gospel does not command us to do for God; it announces, reveals, that God has done something for us; that He is doing it, and always will. That, to my mind, is exactly what the Gospel means.

"This was the real message: 'I have come to give you something; you are blind, and I have come to make you see; you are deaf, and I have come to make you hear; you are poor, and I have come to make you rich; you are lame, and I have come to make you whole.' The kingdom of God is like a seed planted in the ground. That kingdom is something that God has done for men. But I cannot understand how a man, after preaching many years, can say: 'You have done wrong; you should have done better.' To me that is incomprehensible.

"The Gospel never says that you have done wrong and that it summons you to do right. No more does it do this than the school bell which calls the children to school; that bell does not tell the child that he has done wrong and that he must be punished; it merely offers a gift of knowledge to all those who wish to partake."

LUETGERT MURDER TRIAL.

A Witness Testifies to Having Seen the Missing Woman.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—At the continuation of the Luetgert murder trial Monday, Mary Siemering, a former servant in the Luetgert family, was again called to the stand.

Attorney McEwen resumed the cross-examination. The witness was asked if she did not testify before the Grand Jury that Mrs. Luetgert was kind to her children.

"Yes," she answered, "I did testify to that effect, but Inspector Schaack told me to do so unless I wanted to be punished. He was waiting in an anteroom when I testified."

Jacob Melber, of Wheaton, Ind., was the next witness. He identified portraits of Mrs. Luetgert as portraits of a woman whom he say on a roadway near Wheaton early on the morning of May 6. He spoke to the woman, who inquired of him the way to the town.

Charles Vehnke, an employe of the Luetgert factory, testified that a loose door which the State had attempted to show was used to cover the vat while the body of Mrs. Luetgert was being destroyed, was in reality used as a table to hold sausage casings. The witness said that Mrs. Luetgert had told him that she intended to leave home. Mrs. Augusta Stoecke also swore that Mrs. Luetgert told her that she was dissatisfied and was going away.

William Charles, Luetgert's business manager, was a most important witness. He explained to the jury that shortly before May 1 he and Luetgert talked of cleaning the factory. On May 1 he saw the potash solution in the vat and helped Luetgert put three barrels of grease and bones into the vat to make soft soap. The next morning the vat was cleaned by means of a hose.

YELLOW FEVER AFFECTS TRAVEL.

Tickets to Certain Points Cannot Be Purchased.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—Travelers purchasing tickets to the South are warned that they must have health certificates if they wish to make their journey without interruption. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has issued this notice to its agents here:

"Owing to the quarantine regulations you will discontinue at once the sale of tickets to all points in Mississippi. This will not affect the sale of tickets passing through Mississippi to points where you are not already prohibited from selling."

The Pennsylvania Railroad has also issued a circular of instructions, naming the roads over which and the district to which no tickets are to be sold. These include a large proportion of the extreme Southern States. Neither the Pennsylvania nor the Baltimore & Ohio will sell a ticket to New Orleans.

Situation in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 28.—Ten cases and two deaths from yellow fever were reported in the city yesterday.

THE BAPTIST MISSIONARY FUND.

Gen. Morgan Says $486,000 Will Be in by October.

New York, Sept. 28.—Gen. T. J. Morgan, the corresponding secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, was questioned to-day regarding the status of what is known as the "half-million fund," subscribed for the two great Baptist mission societies. He said: "At the close of the fiscal year, on March 31 last, the combined debt of the two societies was $486,000. Mr. Rockefeller offered to give $250,000 on condition that the remainder be raised by October 1. The entire amount was pledged some time ago, however, and Mr. Rockefeller has already paid the $250,000. On September 15 the sum of $374,280 had been received in cash. We expect to get the rest very shortly."

Mr. Gladstone's Reply.

London, Eng., Sept. 28.—Replying to the accusation of inconsistency made against him for condemning the concert, or so-called concert, of the Powers, Mr. Gladstone writes:

"In 1880 we tried to make the concert act and we failed and went on without it. We thus procured enlarged territory for Montenegro and Thessaly for Greece. This is exactly what I have desired as a mode of action in the East in these two disgraceful years. Compare the results."

A Buffalo Cashier Drowned.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Louis E. Hill, cashier of the Ellicott Square Bank of Buffalo, disappeared a week ago Saturday. His body was found floating in the river at the foot of Michigan street yesterday by the crew of the steamboat Michigan. Why and how he left Buffalo, how long he was in Chicago and how he met his death in the river the police cannot explain. Telegrams from Buffalo state that his accounts as cashier and as administrator of his father's estate are all right.

Fire Underwriters to Meet.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28.—The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Fire Underwriters of the Northwest will be held in Chicago on September 29 and 30. Fully 700 delegates are coming, this number representing the entire membership of the association, and probably 200 guests, all of whom are prominent in the insurance world.

Hoffman House Sold.

New York, Sept. 28.—The Hoffman House has been sold. Edward S. Stokes and R. C. McDonald, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who were the owners of the famous hostelry, have disposed of their interest to a syndicate, of which Graham Polly, of Brooklyn, is the president. The consideration, Mr. Stokes says, was $200,000.

William Has His Troubles.

Berlin, Sept. 28.—The Prussian police are on the track of a powerful anti-dynastic movement in South Germany, which includes many members of the best families, among them two notable university professors. The Berlin authorities are endeavoring to conduct the inquiry with the utmost secrecy.

Maj. Louis Ginter Dying.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 28.—Major Louis Ginter, the cigarette manufacturer, is gradually sinking at his Westbrook estate, near this city. He has weakened rapidly in the last two days, and his physician says he cannot recover. Mr. Ginter is said to be worth $10,000,000.

Never Forget This

It Will Repay the Reader to Store the Information Away in the Corners of His Brain.

The readers of this newspaper since ever medicinal preparations were advertised have always been accustomed to see statements published in these columns from here, there, everywhere except from this part of Pennsylvania. Read what follows and make the difference between such evidence and that usually supplied, say from Woonsocket, R.I. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by Pennsylvania's best citizens. Read this case: Mr. Henry Bernhard, of Lyndhurst, nine miles from Hoboken, employed at the Consolidated Iron Works, of River street, boat machinery and repairs, engines, pumps, etc. He has been in their employ thirty years and his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills is as follows: "My back became so lame that I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. It hurt me to lift or stoop over and was very painful as my work was mostly heavy and naturally hard on the back. I was also liable to catch cold while working and this always aggravated the trouble, still as a general reason I had nonreason to complain on account of poor health. Sometime ago I had a bad attack of backache and I got Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store. I felt their medical effect before I had used a whole box. I am thoroughly convinced that they are a genuine remedy for the kidneys and there are a number of men in our works who have as high an opinion of them as I have."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

"Tippecanoe" and Madison.

Among all the stories on his grandfather, William Henry Harrison, the one that ex-President Harrison enjoys the most is that which relates to an incident at a drawing room held by Mrs. Madison at the White House in 1813. It was shortly after the battle of the Thames, and General Harrison, the hero of Tippecanoe, was the most talked of man in Washington. A lady of great beauty and high connections said to the President:

"General Harrison has received my commands to meet me here this evening."

"But that he cannot do," said the President, "because he left Washington this morning, starting from this very house with his horse and attendants, and must now be some forty miles on his way to the West."

"Still, I laid my commands upon him," said the lady, "and he is too gallant a man to disobey me."

Somewhat nettled, Madison replied: "We shall see, madame, whose commands he obeys."

The words had scarcely left his lips when the door opened and in walked General Harrison and his staff. Madison frowned and turned away, while her ladyship laughed in triumph.—New York Press.

Farmers in Japan.

Japan is one vast garden, and as you look over the fields you can imagine that they are covered with toy farms where the children are playing with the laws of nature and raising samples of different kinds of vegetables and grains. Everything is on a diminutive scale, and the work is as fine and accurate as that applied to a Cloisonne vase. What would an Illinois or an Iowa farmer think of planting his corn, wheat, oats and barley in bunches and then, when it is three or four inches high, transplanting every spear of it in rows about as far apart as you can stretch your fingers? A Japanese farmer weeds his wheat fields just as a Connecticut farmer weeds his onion bed, and cultivates his potatoes and barley with as much care as a Long Island farmer bestows upon his asparagus and mushrooms or his flowers.—Washington Star

Too Earnest to be Artistic.

"When an actor gets to making real love on the stage he loses his job."

"What's that for?"

"He makes such an unnatural mess of it."—Chicago Record.

Much Too Good Natured.

"My wife has the most exasperating temper," said the wiry little man.

"I am surprised to hear it," said the other man. "I had the impression that she was very good natured."

"That's just what's the matter with her. She won't get mad when she ought to. The other morning I went to the hydrant to get a drink and the water was almost thick enough to carve. And I began saying things. 'Never mind, dearie,' said she. 'Just think how nice it will be to scour the tinware with!'"—Indianapolis Journal.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

HE GOT HIS DOSE.

The Llama Gave the Young Man a Well Deserved Lesson.

The llama of South America is an expert marksman, though it never uses its craft in the procurement of its food. Only when annoyed and angry does it give an exhibition of its wonderful skill in hitting the object aimed at. The llama's weapon is its mouth; its bullet is composed of saliva and chewed hay.

Several years ago, at the fair grounds in St. Louis, I witnessed an exhibition of this creature's powers of expectoration, in which the victim was a country beau, who came very near losing his sweetheart thereby. This young man was one of those self-sufficient individuals who imagine that knowledge sits enthroned in the temples of their own personal intellects; "that what they do not know is not worth knowing." He was annoying the llama (the animal stood in the center of its pen, probably fifteen feet or more from its tormentor) by throwing clods of dirt at it and by beating on the rails of the pen with his cane.

I saw by the creature's actions that it was angry; the rapid movements of its jaws indicated that it was preparing to attack its persecutor. I warned the young man, telling him what to expect; his sweetheart begged him to desist and to come away. But he treated my warning with derision, and told the girl that "he knew his business." Suddenly there was a whizzing noise, followed by a sharp spat; the young wiseacre lay supine upon his back, with his eyes and forehead plastered with a disgusting mixture of saliva, hay and mucus.

"I hate a fool" said the girl, as she shouldered her parasol and walked away.

I saw them again in the monkey-house some time afterward, but the man was a changed being; he had learned his lesson in decorum; he had been taught modesty by the good marksmanship of a llama.—James Weir, Jr., in Lippincott's.

Married After All.

Alexander Bolles, one of the early itinerant preachers, who preached in three states among the Alleghany mountains, was much tormented by the influence of one John Rogers, a Jerseyman, who openly taught atheism and the abolishment of marriage. On one occasion, while holding a meeting in the woods in Virginia, a young man and a woman pushed their way up to the stump which served as a pulpit. The man, interrupting the sermon, said defiantly:

"I'd like you to know that we are Rogerites." The old man looked at him over his spectacles and waited. "We don't believe in no God. Nor in marriage. This is my wife, because I choose her to be; but I'll have no preacher nor 'squire meddlin' with us."

"Do you mean to tell me," thundered Father Bolles, "that you have taken this girl home as your wife?"

"Yes, I do," said the fellow, doggedly.

"And you have gone willingly to live with him as your husband?"

"Yes," said the frightened girl.

"Then I pronounce you man and wife, and whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder. Be off with you! You are married now according to the law and the Gospel."

A Slump in Wheat.

New York, Sept. 28.—The wheat market opened firmer this morning. The depression of yesterday was due to a variety of conditions, chief among which were the heavy receipts of Spring wheat, an increase of 1,680,000 bushels in the amount of wheat on passage to Europe and a decline of 1⅝d. in the early cable from Liverpool. To offset this array of bear news was a slight falling off in world's shipments and less favorable threshing returns from the Northwest. Prices opened a cent lower at 93¾c. for December, but rallied subsequently to 94⅛c. Except for a little foreign selling the early speculative trade was mostly local.

Gas Trust Gets Detroit.

New York, Sept. 28.—With its recently secured control of the gas properties in Detroit, Mich., formal announcement of which is made, the New York syndicate, headed by Emerson McMillan & Co., of 40 Wall street, furnishes gas now to fully a dozen cities, extending from Asbury Park to St. Paul.

The capital put into all these enterprises is fully $50,000,000, and the syndicate's rapidly extending power leads many financial experts to believe that the money behind all these acquisitions is furnished by the Standard Oil Company.

A Surfeit of Gold.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip received a telegram from a leading banker in New York asking upon what terms the Government would receive a million dollars or more in gold in San Francisco. The Assistant Secretary has replied in effect that the Government was not in need of gold, and therefore would not be able to make any concessions.

The Revolution in Guatemala.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 28.—The latest news from Guatemala received in this city states that a price of $100,000 has been placed on the heads of Prospero Morales, the revolutionary leader, and his aide, Manuel Fuentes.

THE PRESIDENT JUMPED

Just Escaped Being in a Serious Runaway Accident.

TO RETURN TO WASHINGTON

Mr. Plunkett's Harnesses Were Not of the Best—A Weak Strap Came Near Jeopardizing the Chief Executive's Life—Vacation Will Close.

Adams, Mass., Sept. 28.—President McKinley and the members of his party passed a very quiet day Monday, cheifly because of bad weather.

President McKinley and Attorney-General McKenna joined Mr. Plunkett in an hour's drive about the town. During the ride a slight mishap occurred. As the carriage was passing slowly along Summer street a strap broke and the collar of one of the horses fell off. The horse tripped, and the other became frightened.

The driver leaped from his seat, holding the reins firmly while so doing, and grasped the frightened animal by the bridle. The President jumped out of the carriage, and the others followed. The horse was sent back to Mr. Plunkett's stable and another was obtained. The party then continued their ride. It is now thought that the visitors will not return to Washington until Wednesday.

THE JEWISH NEW YEAR.

Hebrew Temples Erected in Evangelical Churches.

New York, Sept. 28.—Yesterday was the first day of the year 5658—Jewish era. In every synagogue and temple, or wherever in the world ten adult Jews congregated, whether orthodox, reform, zealot, conservative or radical, all offered up prayer to the God of Hosts for His mercy, and for peace and happiness through the year.

In this city the houses of worship were thronged, and so great was the number of those who participated in the services that the regular places of worship failed to accommodate them. Temporary services were established, and in several instances shrines were erected in Baptist and other denominational churches.

The New Year service is symbolical, the chief feature being the blowing of the "Shofar," the ram's horn. This rite is peculiar to the day, and the hearing of the trumpet blast is obligatory. It is commanded in Leviticus xxxiii. 24: "In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, shall ye have a Sabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, a holy convocation." The command appears also in Numbers xxix. 1, where the language is almost identical.

CORBETT OFFERS FITZ $15,000.

Win or Lose, Lanky Bob Could Make This by Fighting Again.

New York, Sept. 28.—Billy Brady, in an interview with the World, said:

"If Corbett is as easy as Fitzsimmons says he is there are men who will give a $20,000 purse for him just to fight for, and Corbett will make a side bet of $10,000, depositing the whole amount at once, or as much more as Fitzsimmons cares to make it, making it at the lowest calculation $50,000 for him if he beats Corbett again.

"Some day the inside facts of the Corbett and Fitzsimmons fight at Carson will be made known, and the public will find out that Corbett was stacked up against a pretty strong combination when he went to Carson.

"Corbett will never enter a ring again unless it be with Fitzsimmons. He doesn't have to, as he has plenty of money. He is interested in all of my ventures and has nothing to complain about in the future."

Object to Consumptive Hospital.

Albany, Sept. 28.—Dr. Edward J. Bermingham of New York city has failed to obtain permission from the Board of Health at Liberty, Sullivan county, to erect a sanitarium there for the treatment and cure of consumptives. That place is a favorite resort for New Yorkers afflicted with pulmonary diseases. Dr. Bermingham has appealed to the State Board of Health from the decision of the local health officers at Liberty on the ground that they have no authority to prevent the establishment of a hospital for the care of the sick.

The New Jersey Amendments.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 28.—The fate of the proposed amendments to the constitution of New Jersey will be settled to-day. The two amendments exciting the most interest are the ones prohibiting gambling and allowing women to vote at school elections.

The result on the racetrack amendment cannot be predicted, but there appears to be a decided movement in favor of the women suffrage proposition. The racetrack men fear the vote of the farmers in the interior counties will beat them.

Too Big To Be Drowned.

Coney Island, Sept. 28.—A remarkable rescue from drowning occurred in the bay at Fort Wadsworth late last night. A man, whose size prevented him from sinking, floated with the tide and wind from Stapleton to Fort Wadsworth, a distance of four miles, where he was taken from the water in an unconscious condition.

Anton Behnsky, of 329 East Seventy-first street, New York, is the hero of this adventure. He is over six feet in height and heavily built.

New York's Beet Sugar Factory.

Albany, Sept. 28.—State Agricultural Commissioner Wieting announces the following appointments to the staff of the first New York State Beet Sugar Factory, situated in Rome:

Dr. C. O. Zimmerman of Rome, inspector; C. W. Porter of Northwestern, Oneida county, weighman, and John W. Calkins of Cobleskill, Schoharie county, assistant weighman.

The Jersey State Fair.

Trenton, Sept. 28.—The tenth annual inter-State fair began yesterday on the fair grounds under the direction of the Inter-State Fair Association. It will continue until Friday. The directors of the association have been rewarded for their pains by a big list of entries in the horse and bicycle department, and the exhibits of produce are of a fine character.

property. William Pangborn appeared a second time representing himself for property on Chatham street assessed $280.30. He said that before when the assessment was made he was assessed $180 and the avenue was to be opened to the mountains now he is assessed $280.30 and the avenue only runs two blocks.

John Becker said that the assessment of $366.87 on his Race street property is too high, while his brother, Fred Becker, claims that the assessment of $369.28 on his Watchung avenue property is also too high. The former stated he is willing to pay $200 as his assessment. Thomas Davenport said that the opening does not benefit his property in the least and he therefore objected. Henry Nischwitz made strong objections to the assessment of $103.11 on his Manning avenue property on the ground that it is too nigh. John A. Stocker, who is assessed $169 64, claims that his property is worth no more than it was before and that his assessment is too high.

George White, who owns considerable property on Watchung avenue, Manning avenue and Race street, objected on the ground that the assessments are unequal. He cited cases where the assessments were made on a basis of 60 cents per foot and where he was assessed $4 per foot. He considered the avenue a benefit, but he thought the owners above Jackson avenue should be assessed more. He also considered the opening of the avenue a benefit to him of 350.

Father Miller, for the property owned by St. Joseph's church, claims that the assessments are out of proportion. On the church property there are three assessments of $142.53, $463.14 and $300.20. He considered that the opening of the avenue had destroyed the privacy hitherto enjoyed during services at the church, and altogether he does not claim that much benefit has been gained.

David Weaver, who is assessed $150 for property on Manning avenue, offered a number of objections as to why his rate is high. He is located on a corner and by a chain of circumstances his property he claims is damaged considerable from the fact that water drains into his yard from other properties and thereby causes a nuisance which would not now exist if the property had remained as it was.

W. H. Shotwell and J. A. Haynes appeared for the Presbyterian cemetery upon which there is an assessment of $388. Both men expressed their opinion that the rate is too high from the fact that the property cannot very well be used for any other than its present purpose. J. W. A. Bauersachs, of Grandview avenue, claims no benefits for an assessment of $33.88, and Edward Schenck, of Jackson avenue, claims that his property is not worth the benefits assessed. J. A. Williams, of Jackson avenue, stated that his property is not worth any more now than it was before the avenue was opened.

This about completed the list of objectors and the crowd gradually dispersed and went home, while the commissioners breathed a sigh of relief and also departed for their homes.

The commissioners will now consider all objections made to them last evening and make any changes they deem best. Their final report will be turned over to the Borough Council at its regular meeting next Friday evening for rejection or adoption. Any person who so desires can meet the Council Friday evening and offer objections and it will be considered by the Council.

GOSSIP FROM GRIDIRON.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

Plainfield is to have another representative football eleven on the gridiron this season, and it is to take part in the contest for the championship of the Journal Junior Football League of Union county. The Journal League was fathered by Elizabeth's progressive paper, the Elizabeth Journal, which has again offered a trophy for the junior championship of the county. The League started this year with five teams, Elizabeth, Rahway, Roselle, Cranford and Westfield, but the Roselle players did not take much interest in the sport and they decided to drop out. The schedule had all been arranged and some of the Plainfield boys, hearing of it, determined to secure the vacant position if possible. The teams are limited in weight to an average of 145 pounds, playing weight. A special meeting of the League was held in the Journal office, Elizabeth, last evening, to consider the resignation of Roselle. The resignation of Roselle was accepted and Plainfield was unanimously adopted in its place, to take the dates in the schedule assigned to Roselle. Plainfield's application was made in person by Sidney T. Perrin, Ivan Hardingham and Charles B Morse. They were supported by Charles W. Nichols, now manager of the Rahway Y. M. C. A. team, formerly of this city. Westfield was represented by R W. Harden, treasurer of the League. The new Plainfield team will be known as the Plainfield Crescent Football Club and will in no way conflict with the Plainfield Athletic Association, as they will be a smaller team. They will practice against the Plainfield A. A. team tomorrow night on Westervelt avenue, and all football players in the city and borough are invited to try for the team.

PASSING COMMENT.

In pumping out water to get a solid foundation for the new Washingtonville dam, the workmen captured an immense quantity of eels, some of which were three or four pounds in weight.

Aaron Allen, who has just traded off his farm at Washington Valley for Orange property, and moved to North Plainfield, enjoys the unique distinction of having lived in one house for seventy-five years. The building is said to be 170 years old, and is by far the most ancient structure in Washington Valley. Mr. Allen lived there all his life until a few days ago, when he vacated the old place.

Few people have any idea as to the enormity of the pay roll of the Central Railroad each month. When it is known that the pay roll for August was $425,000, one can get an idea of the large amount of money required just for the employes of the road. In Jersey City alone $125,000 was paid out and the balance was distributed along the main line and branches. The above amount does not include the P. & R. Division, nor B. & O. As a matter of fact, the amount expended for rolling stock, wear and tear, etc., is a small fortune in itself. Thus it can be seen that it requires great executive ability to manage successfully the finances of a railroad of the magnitude of the Jersey Central.

WEDDED ON THE DRIVE.

Happy Nuptial Event Consummated on the Mountain Road

Miss Margaret Burke, of Elizabeth, and Asa B. Willis, were married at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willis, on Johnston's drive, North Plainfield, last night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Bowers, of Warrenville. Miss Hattie L. Willis, a sister of the groom, was bridemaid, and James Gunn acted as best man.

The house was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. A large number of relatives and friends of the bride and groom were present. After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served, and the guests enjoyed a dance. A number of beautiful and costly presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Willis.

At a late hour the couple left for a short wedding journey and on their return they will reside in Washington Valley. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Volz, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyckoff, Jr., Miss Emma Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Allen, Edward Allen, Jr., Mrs. William Gordon, Miss Etta Gordon, Miss Laura E. Willis, Fred Martin, Frank Titus. John Gunn, Jr., Jacob Willis, of Ruggles, Pa., and John Larkins, of Elizabeth.

Refreshments were served and the guests enjoyed a most pleasant evening, departing with good wishes upon their lips for the brothers of their hostess.

SPRUCE BECOMING SCARCE.

Canadian Lumbermen Would Profit by a Famine in the United States.

Spruce trees are the raw material of wood pulp, and consequently of a large proportion of the paper used in the printing trade. According to estimates recently given out by the Forestry Department at Washington there is only six years' supply of coniferous woods in sight if the present rate of consumption is kept up. Dealers in wood pulp are somewhat skeptical regarding this statement, although they admit the increasing scarcity of spruce in this country. There are thousands upon thousands of acres of untouched spruce forest in Canada, however, and the Canadian lumbermen are contemplating with no small degree of interest the prospects of a spruce famine in the United States.

Although essential to the manufacturer and to trade, spruce trees are of surprisingly small value as they stand in the forest. A writer in The Paper Mill says that there are between four and six hundred spruce trees on an acre of ground, such as in various parts of New England would be worth between $5 and $12 per acre. Taking 400 trees to the acre as a basis of calculation, it is shown that they would be worth only 2 or 3 cents each. It is hard to realize how cheaply nature does its work in growing forest trees. Along the upper waters of the Penobscot River the lumbermen pays about $2.50 per thousand foot stumpage for the right to cut twelve trees on the average in the forest, to make this thousand feet, or a trifle over 20 cents a tree. The cutting and hauling of these Penobscot spruce trees will average from 40 to 50 cents each.

SNAIL RAISING.

Large Quantities of the Little Animals Consumed in France.

Snail farming forms a peculiar branch of agricultural industry in France and other countries, and the consumption of them in France is very large. They are propagated from August to October in ground especially prepared for the purpose, and fed with cabbage, clover, &c.

During the winter they are sheltered in houses composed of brick or wood, and they are gathered and marketed from April to June. In the Tyrol from June to the middle of August the snails are collected from every available damp place and taken to the feeding ground near the owner's dwelling. This is a bit of garden ground free from trees and shrubs and surrounded on all sides by running water. In this feeding ground are little heaps of mountain pine twigs, mixed loosely with wood moss, and these twigs when dry are replaced by fresh ones. Every day they are fed on cabbage leaves and grass, and when cold weather sets in they go under cover, that is, they collect under the heaps of twigs and bury themselves and there seal themselves up for the winter. When this has been successfully accomplished they are collected, packed in perforated boxes lined with straw, and sent off to Paris and other towns.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

The Vote Was Light and Little Interest Manifested.

MAJORITIES FOR ALL IN THIS CITY.

In the Big Cities the Vote was Overwhelmingly Against the Amendments—Took But a Short Time To Make the Count—Results in City, Borough and Other Towns

Just as was predicted in yesterday's Press, the vote at the special election to determine the fate of the Constitutional amendments was light. In some of the districts in this city the count was completed in less than an hour after the polls closed, and had it not been for the delay in the first district of the Second ward, where a mistake was made at the start so as necessitating a partial recount, all the records would have been filed with the City Clerk before 10 o'clock.

A few men loitered around the polls, but there was no particular interest as to the result. It was remarkable how few persons regarded the result with importance.

The majority in the State against the anti-gambling amendment will be about 8,000.

The results in the city, borough and other towns in this immediate vicinity were as follows:

North Plainfield Township.

In North Plainfield Township 34 votes were cast, of which number 23 were against the amendments and 11 for them. Early in the day the ballot box became unruly and refused to work. After that the cover of the box had to be raised and the tickets were placed in the box that way.

Scotch Plains.

Election was very quiet at Scotch Plains, only 86 votes being cast out of a registration of 310. The anti gambling amendment received 48 in favor and 40 against. The amendment relating to Governor's appointments received 46 for and 42 against. The Woman's Suffrage amendment received 40 for and 48 against.

Dunellen.

At Dunellen the total vote was 162. For the race-track amendment 100 votes were cast and against it 56; 105 votes were deposited for the Governor's amendment and 51 against. The amendment for woman suffrage was 87 in favor as against 69 in the negative. There were 6 rejected ballots.

Westfield.

The vote of Westfield and Mountainside was about one half of the registration. On the first amendment it was 423 for, and 108 against; and for the third amendment, 389 for, and 142 against.

Fanwood.

In Fanwood a light vote was cast. It was for amendment one, 19 for and 15 against; for number two, 17 for and 17 against, and for number three, 19 for and 15 against.

The County.

In Elizabeth the majority against the amendments was 2,300, and in the county it was between 1,500 and 1,800 in the negative.

Results in Other Counties

Trenton gives a majority of over 1,900 against the race track amendment, 1,600 against the ad interim appointment amendment, and over 2,200 against woman suffrage. The returns from the townships will reduce the

NEW IDEA IN TRICYCLES.

W. E. BROCK HAS A WONDERFUL COMBINATION OF FORCES.

The Power is Exerted by Both Legs and Arms—High Gear and Great Speed Attained—Known as the Bi-Tricyclone.

The bicycle has held the principal place among the mechanical devices for propelling man along the surface of the earth by his own exertions. Now W. E. Brock, of Mountain avenue, has completed an invention, after years of experimenting and work, that he claims will become the machine for the next generation. An inspection of the machine shows to anyone acquainted with the bicycle and its workings that Mr. Brock has discovered a wonderful combination of forces that will propel his machine at speed unequalled by the present bicycle. Besides speed, the machine has many other advantages to recommend it.

The machine is now known as the Bi-Tricyclone. It can be adapted as a three-wheeled or a two-wheeled machine, but the one now in use by Mr. Brock has three wheels, as the loss of the use of one of his limbs has made a two-wheeled machine rather hard for him to handle. Yesterday afternoon a Press reporter called at Mr. Brock's home and was shown the machine and heard a complete explanation of its workings besides seeing it in practical use.

The principal around which it is evolved is completely different from that of the bicycle. The power is exerted by both arms and legs. The former grasp a handle that slides to and fro, while the latter work on pedals that rise and fall just contrary to the movements of the handle. The motion of the rider is somewhat similar to that of a rower. The feet are pressed down as the hands are drawn toward the body and vice versa.

The handle is really a large lever but by an ingenious arrangement of movable fulcrums and levers, the stroke is only long enough as to be easily made by the arms. The pedals which rise and fall together are connected with the handle in such a manner as to exert the power needed at the movable fulcrum of the hand-lever and they are, at the same time, connected with the sprocket wheel by another crank similar to the one from the hand lever. From the large sprocket wheel the power is transmitted to the rear wheel through an ordinary bicycle chain.

One feature of the machine is the large gear which can be used without inconvenience to the rider. Mr. Brock is now using a 135 gear with which he is able to climb the highest hills with comparative ease. Another feature is the great amount of power that can be applied in a moment and can be used to suddenly stop or start the machine.

The steering is done through the seat which the rider turns the direction as he wishes to go. The seat is connected with the front wheel or wheels by steel rods.

The machine weighs 30 pounds equipped with the one front wheel. The two front wheels are placed side by side and are held in place by braces which can easily be unbolted but add eight pounds more in weight to the machine. The weight of the wheel, however, could be materially reduced by changes in the construction of the machine which would not injure the strenghth or efficiency of the machine in the slightest.

Mr. Brock has made no time tests with the machine but he has held his own on the road with bicycles without much exertion.

MRS. FLORENCE HOWE HALL.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS DEFEATED; NOT DISHEARTENED.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall Tells a Press Reporter Her Views of the Election and What Will Follow.

A reporter of The Daily Press called this morning upon Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, and succeeded in getting an interview on yesterday's election.

"To what do you mostly attribute the defeat of the Constitutional amendments, Mrs. Hall?" was asked.

"There were two principal causes, I believe," was the reply. "First there was apathy. The church people, on whom we largely depended, have just returned from their summer vacation and the ministers have not yet had time to get thoroughly into harness again. The date was surely a bad one for an election of this character."

"And what was the second factor in defeat, Mrs. Hall?"

"The second cause of defeat was in my belief the general misunderstanding of the amendments which seemed to prevail. Take the school suffrage amendment for example. It is a fact that many voters supposed that this conferred upon women the right to vote at all elections, when in reality it referred only to the election of school trustees in townships. I heard a man say yesterday that he had voted against the suffrage amendment because he did not like the idea of women going to the polls on election day. When the real meaning and purpose of the amendment were explained, he felt sorry that he had not voted the other way.

"Then there was a misunderstanding as to the effect which the election would have on future legislation. In Newark and other large cities circulars were issued urging the defeat of the amendments on the ground that if they were passed any alteration of the Constitution would be prohibited for five years. As a matter of fact it does not matter whether the amendment is carried or lost, as the law says that amendments cannot be submitted to the people oftener than once in five years."

"What about the future, Mrs Hall?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I can say but little as yet on that point. We feel, however, that the work in favor of woman suffrage has not been lost altogether. Our efforts have educated the women themselves to a realization of the advantages of the ballot, and we have also in our correspondence with school officials led them to express almost unanimously their belief that it would be an excellent thing for women to have a part in the government of schools. We shall probably soon issue a booklet on the work of women in the public schools, with special reference to our own State."

ONCE RICH; NOW PAUPER

PITIABLE CASE OF MISS DELL, A NORTH PLAINFIELD CHARGE.

Said to Have Once Been in Possession of $4,000 or $5,000—No One Wants To Care For Her For the Sum That is Allowed

A sad and queer case is at present being considered by the members of the North Plainfield Township Committee who have on their poor list Hatti Dell, an aged crippled woman. Until recently Miss Dell has been a charge of Fanwood township, but the Committee from that district have claimed that Miss Dell belonged to North Plainfield. She was sent to the latter place in charge of Thomas McGann, overseer of the poor of North Plainfield township. Mr. McGann has been looking after the woman rather than turn her out. The case has been referred to the Township Committee and they are now making an investigation.

It appears that sometime ago between $4,000 and $5,000 was left in the hands of a resident of Fanwood township in trust for Miss Dell with the proviso that she was to be well taken care of. This money, it is claimed, has been expended until there is nothing left for Miss Dell and she has become a pauper. The Township Committee intend to learn the true facts in the case. A meeting of the Committee has been set for tonight when it is expected that the case will be brought up for investigation. Miss Dell is a great care owing to her condition, and it is said that no one is willing to take her for $5 per week, the sum usually allowed such cases.

DOG'S BRUTAL ATTACK.

THOMAS MARLEY, AN ACTOR, BADLY BITTEN ABOUT THE FACE.

The Dog Broke Loose From Its Fastenings and Went Yelping Along the Street to Pick Marley Out for an Attack.

Last night, after the performance given in Music Hall by the Katie Emmett Company, Thomas Marley, a member of the troupe, was returning from the theatre when a beagle hound owned by Henry Voehl, of Front street, attacked him in a ferocious manner. Mr. Marley was talking to a policeman when the dog, who had broken his chain, came tearing down the street yelping and growling as though mad.

When the animal saw the two men standing on the street he attacked Marley. The latter fought hard to release himself from the dog's grasp, and he was assisted by the policeman. After the battle an examination proved that Marley's face was badly bitten and lacerated. His clothes were also torn. From the wounds blood flowed profusely.

Acting upon the advice of the officer, Marley went to the home of Dr. Long and the latter cauterized the wounds. This morning a policeman shot the dog.

It was not generally considered that the dog was mad, but being of a high temperament and gaining liberty his fierce actions are in a measure accounted for.

This morning Mr. Marley informed a Press representative that he does not intend to let the matter drop but that he will take it into court. Mr. Marley returned to New York this morning.

SAWED THEIR CELL BARS

HIGHWAYMEN ESCAPE FROM MIDDLESEX COUNTY JAIL.

Desperadoes Made a Daring Attempt at Wholesale Jail Delivery—Leaders Were Only Able to Get Away.

Two dangerous highwaymen escaped at 9 p. m. yesterday from the jail at New Brunswick. Their escape was part of a plot at wholesale jail delivery. Good luck was all that prevented it.

Samuel Scudder is awaiting trial for highway robbery and assault with intent to kill. He was the leader of a gang that attacked two young men, Henry Dunham and Jacob Bigler, and after robbing them, shot young Dunham.

Scudder's cellmate was Charles Aspinwall, leader of another gang that held up George Dondaro and robbed him of considerable money.

It is New Brunswick's custom to put its prisoners in a chain gang and set them at repairing roads. While out on this work either Scudder or Aspinwall got a small steel saw. They promptly smuggled it into the jail and set about planning an escape. They were generous with their new found hopes of liberty, and let all the prisoners in the upper tier into the secret.

First they sawed the bars of their cell window, which opens on the jail yard. Then the saw was lent to the inmates of the other cells, who did likewise, cutting away the bars until only a hair's breadth of steel held them in place. Finally, when all was done, the word was passed to wait for the signal, smash the bars and all break for freedom.

The time came last night. Aspinwall and Scudder were to get out first and then give the signal; all were to follow.

But a passer-by saw them jump. He tore into the jail.

"Escape! Escape!" he yelled. "I saw it!"

Cell No. 16 was empty. There dangled the rope that told the story. They searched the other cells in haste. Every bar was found to be sawed nearly through in the same way. It was the work of a moment to get the other prisoners in other cells where they could do no harm.

Then a general alarm was sent out all over the State of New Jersey. But Aspinwall and Scudder were safe. The only clue that came in was a report that they had been seen on a freight train at Elizabeth an hour after their escape.

THE CITY HALL SITE.

East Second Street and Watchung Avenue Said to Have Been Chosen.

For a long time the people of Plainfield have been wondering what has become of the City Hall boom, and they have almost begun to think that nothing will come of the talk heard sometime ago. A Press reporter had a conversation with a prominent Plainfielder yesterday who assured him that the committee in charge of the matter are moving, although very slow. When asked if the question and place of erecting a City Hall were practically settled, the Plainfielder gave the reporter every assurance that they were. As far as can be learned the site chosen is that located on the corner of Watchung avenue and East Second street, that being considered the most desirable. It is quite likely that before the present Council closes the work for this year something will be said or done regarding this great improvement. However, it has been intimated that the Council may wait until after the city election before doing anything.

Former Plainfielder Married.

Miss Margaret Donnelly, formerly of this city, was married to William Duncan, a member of the police force of Long Island City, at the home of Miss Donnelly's parents, Twenty sixth street and Eighth avenue, New York, last evening. After the reception the couple left for their home in Long Island City which had been furnished by the groom.

Linden Soon to Have Gas.

The town of Linden, just outside of Elizabeth, is soon to be illuminated by gas. The work of laying three miles of gas pipe is now being pushed rapidly under the direction of Contractor Thomas Doud, of this city, who has the contract.

Entertained a Few Friends.

Miss Julia Betts, of Fairview avenue, entertained a few of her friends at her home last evening. The time passed very pleasantly with music, singing and dancing. An informal supper was served during the evening.

—Preparatory service of Trinity Reformed church congregation will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

SMEDBERG STAYS IN JAIL

At the End of Six Months He Will Be Free.

ESCAPES GOING TO STATE PRISON.

Arraigned in County Court This Morning and a Strong Plea for a Light Sentence by His Counsel, Senator Voorhees—County Prosecutor Marsh Did Not Object.

Joseph Duncan Smedberg, the confessed thief of the Marshall diamonds, will not go to State prison after all. Instead, he will serve his term of imprisonment in the county jail. This morning, he was sentenced to the Union County Court in Elizabeth to be confined in jail for six months, less one day. By a State law, terms of less than six months are served in the county jail instead of in State prison.

From the very beginning on June 30th, when the diamonds of H. W. Marshall were stolen from his residence on East Fifth street, there has been great interest taken in the case. It has been a sensational one from the start, the romance that was part of the earlier life of Smedberg, his attempts at defence, the remarkable recovery of the stolen articles, the clever way in which Mrs. Smedberg was led to give away the plot by Fred Stack, the attempt of the prisoner to break jail and his final confession have all attracted unusual interest.

The charge against Smedberg was burglary but he claimed that entrance was gained by false keys and not by breaking in and so the charge was changed to grand larceny, to which he pleaded guilty. He has now been awaiting sentence which has been adjourned on several occasions. This morning, however, he was brought before Judge McCormick.

State Senator Foster Voorhees appeared for the prisoner and made a very eloquent plea in his behalf. He presented a number of letters from influential men, including one from an assistant rector in this city, telling of his previous good character. Senator Voorhees told that it was his first offence and that all the stolen articles had been returned to their owner. He said that Smedberg had been led to the thefts through the influence of others, hinting that there was someone else who had planned them.

Prosecuting Attorney Marsh had little to say and made no request for a heavy sentence. He called attention to the fact that Smedberg had saved the State considerable expense by pleading guilty, and that the State knew of no other crime that he had committed.

Judge McCormick made a lengthy speech to Smedberg in which he said that he had first been inclined to make an example of him, but on learning all the circumstances he now decided that his troubles had begun with his marriage. The Judge expressed an opinion that the wife should have also been arraigned for the same offence. He sentenced Smedberg to go to jail for six months less one day.

PURSUED BY A BICYCLE COP.

Colored Man Gave Roundsman Flynn a Hard Race for Several Blocks.

Out from the shadow into the bright space under the electric light on East Front street, near MacDonald's store, shot a rider leaning far over his handle bars. There was a lamp on in front of his wheel, but it was not burning.

"Go it, Scoot!" yelled his companion in the rear who had a light. Roundsman Flynn was leaning on his wheel at the curb when the dusky rider flashed by. In an instant, the officer was on his wheel and in pursuit.

East Front street is now in good condition and the two riders fairly flew with the policeman a hundred feet in the rear. Then Flynn showed the advantage of his training on a wheel and began to overhaul the stranger without a light. Slowly he crept up until at Farragat avenue, his front wheel had lapped the rear wheel of the stranger.

"Halt," called the officer and pursuer and pursued sat up and slackened their pace. Then the dusky rider, who give his name as Elsworth Grooms, a smiling young colored man from Mountainside, and his friend returned to the station house, where Sergeant Kiely allowed them to go after leaving $5 in cash and a silver watch as security for their return this morning.

This morning, Grooms appeared before City Judge DeMeza and was fined $2

Feeney Getting Along Nicely.

OUR DESIRE OF SPAIN

Madrid Explains Gen. Woodford's Instructions.

WE WISH THE WAR TO END

And in the Course of the Month of October, but Spain Does Not Regard This as an Ultimatum, so Happily is the Document Worded.

Madrid, Sept. 29.—The misuse of the word "ultimatum" in relation to the recent representations made by Gen. Woodford, the United States Minister, to the Duke of Tetuan, Minister of Foreign Affairs, is now explained. An ultimatum must always be written, and its purport must also invariably be communicated in writing to the representatives of the Power to which the ultimatum is presented.

Gen. Woodford, in accordance with diplomatic usage requiring all important communications to be in writing, addressed a letter to the Duke of Tetuan reiterating in diplomatic language the terms of his previous conversation with the Foreign Minister, expressing the friendly intentions of the the United States, while indicating the desire of the Washington Government that Spain should bring the Cuban troubles to a definite conclusion in the course of the month of October.

GENERAL WOODFORD

Does this Mean Anything?

Key West, Sept. 29.—Preparations are being made at the naval station here for the reception before long of a large number of warships.

Naval stores are being accumulated in large quantities.

BICYCLE CAUSE FOR DIVORCE.

After Twenty-five Years of Married Life a Couple Is Separated.

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 29.—After twenty-five years of married life Mrs. Augustus T. Cookingham of Hyde Park has brought suit for a separation. Augustus Cookingham is 55 years old, and is a prosperous seed dealer. Four years ago he employed his niece, Miss Luella Palmater, 20 years old, to assist him.

Mrs. Cookingham in her complaint states that soon her husband began to show marked attention to Miss Palmater, and to take her with him when he went bicycle riding. As Mrs. Cookingham does not ride a bicycle, she has to stay at home. Mr. Cookingham and Miss Palmater attended church fairs together, and even rode to this city and went to the theatre. Finally, Mrs. Cookingham says, Miss Palmater refused to speak to her in her own house. Then Mrs. Cookingham went away and through her attorney commenced an action for separation, which will be tried before Judge Barnard at Special Term on next Saturday.

DAWSON CITY BURNED.

Report to that Effect Reached Vancouver from Skagua.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 29.—Word was yesterday brought to Vancouver by the steamer Coquitlam, from Skagua, that Dawson City had been burned down.

The news was but a rumor, although when the steamer left it was the talk of the Skagua station. It is said a prospector brought the report from over the trail.

Entire outfits are being sold for a song, and those who have money are arranging to come home to remain till Spring.

Firemen Under Ruins.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Fire broke out on the third floor of the feed store of N. E. White, in the Crouse Block, at 1 o'clock, and four hours later the roof and third floor fell in, burying several firemen.

Four were rescued slightly injured. Isaac Monroe and John Hanlon are missing and are thought to be beneath the debris. They are probably under tons of hay and other combustible material and are undoubtedly dead.

Michael's Record Gone.

New York, Sept. 29.—J. W. Stocks, the English long-distance rider, lowered Michael's thirty-three-mile record at the Crystal Palace, in London, yesterday. His time was 61 minutes 34 2-5 seconds.

In one hour he covered thirty-two miles and one thousand yards, breaking all records above six miles. The English cyclist may make a visit to America in the Spring to meet Michael.

Bull Will Condescend.

London, Sept. 29.—The United States Government has sent a pressing invitation to England to attend the Behring Sea conference in Washington, to hear the evidence, even if she took no part in the deliberations. England has decided to be present at the conference in some form, and is now considering the question as to what part her representative shall take in the proceedings.

Powerful Spanish Fleet Coming.

Berlin, Germany, Sept. 29.—A dispatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung from Madrid asserts that a powerful Spanish squadron will immediately proceed to Cuba on the pretext of attending the installation of the new floating dock at Havana, but really as an answer to the dispatch of the American flotilla to Florida waters.

THE ALASKA GOLD FIELDS.

Men Will Not Stop to Help Women Over the Terrible Road.

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—A letter from Theodore Getz of this city, who is now struggling to get over the Skaguay trail, gives a terrible picture of the absolute selfishness of the miners who are striving to reach the Klondike before snow comes. Getz says: "We met two women traveling alone in the pass, and they earnestly pleaded with the men to assist them on their way, but the men had no time for any display of gallantry, and stolidly refused to stop. These women had a light stock of provisions and will be in a bad fix unless they get assistance from the other side of the pass. I can confirm the news that one man was hanged here for stealing some provisions, and two others were shot for thefts. Order and law are well maintained, and little trouble occurs.

"In some parts of the pass, where the trail is very narrow, the 'empties,' as the returning pack animals are called, have to be shelved, that is, hauled up the mountain side and held there to allow loaded animals to pass. The packers sleep in their boots, as I have seen them do for nine days, with short rations and feet always wet, and it did not hurt them in the least. On the trail a man is continually hungry, and provisions go rapidly."

PURSUED THE FILIBUSTER.

Fleet Steamer Smith Landed Three Expeditions in Cuba.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 29.—It is now known here that the steamer Summers N. Smith landed at least three expeditions of men, arms and ammunition in Cuba during her voyage from Mobile to this port. Her expeditions were without serious mishap, although she was nearly captured by the gunboat Helena.

The Helena left Pensacola in pursuit one week after the Smith sailed from Mobile. The gunboat sighted the filibuster west of Tortugas and fired a shot to bring her to. The Smith put on a full head of steam and went south, past Cape Antoine, followed a short distance by the Helena, which was soon distanced.

The Smith returned the same night and landed her cargo before daylight. On another occasion she was brought to by the Winona and searched. She was then returning from a successful trip, and as nothing contraband was found on board she was allowed to proceed. "Dynamite Johnny" O'Brien, it is said, commanded the Smith.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

General Gary Recommend a Plan to Congress.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—One of the principal features of Postmaster-General Gary's annual report is expected to be a recommendation to Congress for the establishment of a postal savings bank system. This subject has been frequently agitated in the past, but nothing has ever come of it. Postmaster-General Gary is very enthusiastic on the subject, and has outlined in a general way his ideas of how the system should be operated. He expects to have a practical plan developed before Congress meets in regular session next December.

In discussing the subject the other day Mr. Gary said that he would like to have a system so perfect that a small boy could take advantage of it and deposit his nickel if he had no more to put away. He suggests that the government should accept deposits and invest the money in safe and reliable interest-bearing securities. Such investments, he thinks, would enable the government to pay an interest rate of 2 per cent. per annum and possibly leave a surplus for operating expenses.

Low Will Stick.

New York, Sept. 29.—Candidate Seth Low called his friends and supporters into conference at his house, Sixty-fourth street and Madison avenue, Tuesday, and spent fully two hours with them in a frank and thorough discussion of the situation. He said there were rumors that a move would be made to create a sensation in which both he and Gen. Tracy would be asked to withdraw, and he desired to know the will of his supporters. All were unanimous in urging Mr. Low to make the mayoralty fight and he then announced that he would. Mr. Low has not yet heard from Gen. Tracy later than the word brought him from Gen. Tracy two months ago that he (Tracy) would not be a candidate against him.

Wife and Daughter Missing.

New York, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Aimee de Vetesco, the 21-year-old wife of Prof. S. F. de Vetesco, a teacher of languages, and their 2-year-old daughter, have been missing from their home at 283 Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn, since Saturday, and yesterday the police sent out a general alarm for them. On Saturday morning Mrs. de Vetesco, taking the girl along, left her home to visit Mrs. Bolsfred at 72 Sixth avenue. She remained at the Sixth avenue house only a few minutes, and since then her husband has been unable to get any trace of her.

$600,000 Stolen from Spain.

Havana, Sept. 29.—A steal of $600,000 in duty stamps has been discovered at the offices of the Financial Administration of the Province of Havana. According to the manager of that department, Don Anibal Arriete, the defrauders of the Government are many Spanish merchants of this city, who, by connivance with dishonest servants of the Government, have, for years, secured duty stamps at reduced rates, until the sum total of their stealings amounts to a very large sum.

Her Face Was Her Fortune.

A Brooklyn Girl Marries Through Taking Capsuloids.

A marriage occurred in Brooklyn last week which possessed many interesting features. The bride says that she does not believe she would have been married had it not been for Capsuloids. She had been ailing and weakly and had used every effort to secure color and health. She heard that Capsuloids filled the veins with rich, red blood, toned the nerves, imparted strength to the limbs, and so she determined to try them. The result was all that she had expected, and she is now a rosy, happy, healthy bride, all because Capsuloids filled her blood with natural iron or Hæmoglobin.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says, that last winter his wife was attacked with LaGrippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dayton, of Jersey City, have returned home after a visit with Miss M. E. MacLaughlin, of Somerset street.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic or alterative. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Miss Marie Steinhauser, of Jersey City, who has been a guest at the home of Mrs. R. Verdon, of Somerset street, has returned to her home.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Garretson, of West Front street, are entertaining company from Somerville.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Miss Mary VanEps, of East Front street, is spending a week with Somerville friends.

GENERAL TRACY NOMINATED.

A Gold Democrat Named for Comptroller of New York.

New York, Sept. 29.—The Republican convention last night nominated for Mayor of the greater city Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy. District Attorney Olcott named Tracy, and Jacob Worth, of Brooklyn, nominated Seth Low. The vote resulted in Tracy receiving 297; Low, 49; Schroeder, 2. Present Comptroller Fitch, a Democrat, was nominated for the position he now holds.

Gen. Tracy, in accepting the nomination, said in part:

"Two considerations have induced me after most anxious thought to accept the nomination which you have tendered me; first, the gravity of the crisis which now confronts the people of this great city; and, second, the fact that so many Republicans and other friends of good government, in whose judgment I have confidence, have urged me to accept your nomination in the hope that in the present state of division and disunion I can contribute somewhat to bring into harmonious action and to unite under one banner all the opponents of Tammany Hall.

"The gravity of the crisis is apparent to all thinking men, whether it be viewed from a national or from a local standpoint. The spectre of Bryanism will not down, and what has been well called 'the campaign of disturbance and devastation' is still going on. In the providence of God, the Republican party for more than forty years has been the great bulwark of national honor and prosperity, and its mission is not ended. In the future as in the past it should be the effort of all Republicans to make it the instrument of the people to secure good government in the city as well as in the State and in the nation. Any attempt to disintegrate, weaken or destroy that organization in this great commercial metropolis, however well intended, is, I must be permitted to believe, a grievous mistake, fraught with calamity and disaster.

"If it shall hereafter appear to your representatives that instead of promoting harmony and success my candidacy stands in their way, I should wish to have your permission to adopt that course which, in my judgment and in the judgment of your representatives, shall seem to be the course of duty and of honor. Nothing could be more hateful to me than the thought that I had perversely stood in the way of that complete union of all possible elements of opposition to Tammany Hall which provides the best assurance of success."

The convention did not for some unaccountable reason indorse the administration of Mayor Strong, although it had kind words in its platform for President McKinley and Gov. Black.

PLOT TO KILL THE CZAR.

A Tunnel Dug Under One of the Streets of Warsaw.

Cable Dispatch to the New York Sun.

London, Sept. 29.—An elaborate plot against the Czar and Czarina was concocted several weeks before the arrival of their Majesties on their recent visit to Warsaw, and has just come to light.

The conspirators undermined Novisviat street, one of the principal thoroughfares of the city, running between the Governor's palace and the royal castle, where the Czar resided during his sojourn. As the tunneling was completed the earth above the excavation threatened to collapse, and the conspirators hired masons to strengthen the tunnel. The latter became suspicious of the use to which the tunnel was to be devoted and informed the police.

The conspirators were captured. The total number of arrests made was 120.

No Trouble at Hawaii.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Mail dispatches from Honolulu were received at the State and Navy departments yesterday. Minister Sewall's report reviewed the conditions prevailing in Hawaii. He said that the Japanese were acting in a peaceable manner, and that no trouble of any sort was apprehended. The Minister's report contained the interesting information that the Japanese Government was willing to settle its claims against Hawaii for the payment of $100,000 in gold.

In view of the prospect afforded by this peaceable method of arranging the differences between the two countries, Mr. Sewall thought hostilities were not in any degree likely, although he did not say that Hawaii would agree to Japan's proposition. The Hawaiian Government has combated the Japanese contention that a suitable indemnity should be paid for the refusal of the authorities of the republic to allow Japanese immigrants to land, and for violation of treaty provisions.

Star Pointer's New Record.

Terre Haute, Sept. 29.—At the annual meeting of the Terre Haute Trotting Association yesterday the special features were Star Pointer's attempt to beat his record of 1.59¼, an exhibition mile by Joe Patchen, and a 2.18 pace for a purse of $5,000. The first quarter was covered in 31¼ seconds. When this time was displayed there was little hope left for a two-minute mile. The half was done in 1.01¾ with the fastest part of the track to be traveled. The third quarter was in 28 seconds, a 1.52 gait. It was the fastest quarter ever made, and the half mile in 58¾ seconds is the fastest half-mile record. Horsemen said that they had heard of quarters in 28 seconds, but never before saw a horse step it.

Democrats in a Riot.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 29.—The police were called into last night's Democratic convention to remove Congressman Fitzgerald, of Boston. He refused to leave the platform when ordered to.

The whole hall was thrown into an uproar. The riot lasted five minutes, and was quelled with difficulty.

George "Fred" Williams quieted the crowd, and it was arranged to let Fitzgerald have five minutes in which to close his speech.

A Gold Democrat-Republican.

Utica, Sept. 29.—The Republican City Convention has nominated Thomas E. Kinney for Mayor, the Citizens' Union having already nominated him by petition. He was Mayor in 1885, 1886 and 1887, having been elected by the Democrats. He was a gold Democrat in 1896. The convention ratified the St. Louis platform. Indications are that the Democrats will indorse silver

ALL KANSAS REJOICES

The Farmers Give Up to Merry Making.

OLD PROSPERITY ARRIVES

Topeka Gives Herself Up to a Week's Carnival—Processions Every Day, and a Grand Court Ball in the State Capitol.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 29.—Kansas is holding a monster festival here this week. It is in celebration of the return of prosperity which has undoubtedly struck this State with greater force than any other State in the Union. Nature has been generous to Kansas this year. Enormous crops of all kinds have been raised and have been marketed at high prices. As a result the farmers, who a few months ago were crying about hard times and looking with despair towards a doubtful future, now suddenly find themselves the plutocrats of the State. Their wealth has been so unexpectedly thrust upon them that in their exutation they hardly know what to do with it. Hence it happens that Topeka this week is in a happy frame of mind, and its antics are in marked contrast to the scenes witnessed in the State a few months ago.

Farmers who for years have hardly left their fields can be seen "out with the boys seeing the town," and spending their money freely.

The celebration is conducted on an elaborate scale and without regard to expense. Thousands of dollars have been spent on the floats and displays; the central idea in their construction being to show the advancement of the State, especially its wonderful achievements this year.

The great day of the week will be Thursday. This is known as Floral Day, and the festivities will be similar to those of the Fiesta of Los Angeles. On Thursday evening the grand court ball, the crowning event of the week, will be held in the State Capitol. Friday is to be Veterans' Day and Saturday Children's Day.

WILLIS A. TRASK MISSING.

He Is Treasurer of the Borough of Wallingford, Ct.

New Haven, Ct., Sept. 29.—Willis A. Trask, treasurer of the borough of Wallingford, and teller of the First National Bank of that place, is missing, and he is not expected to return. Trask's accounts with the borough are in a complicated state, and it is alleged that there is a shortage of several thousand dollars. The bank officials say that his accounts with that institution are all right, but an official of the bank also said that he did not expect Trask back.

Trask left Wallingford ten days ago, ostensibly for his annual two weeks' vacation. The day he left the bank his wife gave birth to a baby boy. He did not tell his wife that he was leaving, and when two or three days had passed and he was still absent, she worried herself into an attack of fever, and is now in a critical condition. It is also learned that Trask left her penniless, and she and her two children are now being provided with the necessaries of life and medical attendance by her friends.

Trask was born in Wallingford, and married a very estimable young woman, Miss May Thompson, a daughter of Mr. Gilbert F. Thompson, one of the most substantial citizens of the borough. He always bore an excellent character.

JERSEY FOLKS WILL RACE.

Anti-Gambling Amendment Has Been Defeated.

Trenton, Sept. 29.—Overconfidence, coupled with neglect on the part of those favoring the adoption of the amendments to the State Constitution, resulted in the defeat of the three amendments voted upon in New Jersey yesterday. Because those who did not favor the adoption of the amendments did not make any fuss or noise in their opposition, those who wished it made impossible to legalize gambling took it for granted the voting would be as one-sided as the shouting.

In some of the counties the voters spoke in favor of the amendments, but Hudson, Essex and Passaic rolled up majorities against them that were impossible to overcome. Middlesex sprang a surprise by giving a majority against the amendments. This was counted as one of the counties sure to vote in their favor. Hudson piled up a big majority—almost 10,000—against them. Essex did her share to down them, and Passaic, in proportion to her vote, did the most.

The rural sections voted in favor of the amendments and the cities against them.

Portland, Me., Sept. 29.—Gen. Neal Dow, the venerable "Father of Prohibition" in the State of Maine, died at his home in this city to-day at the age of 97. Up to the time of his death his intellect was as bright as ever, and his last hours were full of cheer.

Harvard and Cornell Will Meet.

Cambridge, Sept. 29. — Concerning Harvard's attitude on the question whether Cornell will be admitted into the race with Yale next Summer, a prominent Harvard man said recently that he had been assured that if Yale refused to admit Cornell, the whole matter resting with Yale, Harvard would row two races, one with Yale and one with Cornell. Harvard never will rest content until she has defeated Cornell.

THE ELECTION.

However energetic many people may have labored for the success of the anti-gambling Constitutional amendment and however much they may deplore its defeat at the special election yesterday, the result does not by any means indicate that New Jersey is again to be cursed by the practices that would have been made impossible by the inculcation of the anti-gambling clause in the Constitutional government—in direct sympathy with which all legislation must be enacted The purpose of the amendment, of course, was to put it beyond the power of the Legislature to legalize such horse racing as was once in vogue, lest the indifference of the people in the cause of morality should become so pronounced that insidious influences should gain a foothold at Trenton and nullify the laws that now exist wholly by the grace of the Legislature itself, and which it could wipe out at any time if so inclined. An attempt, however, to return to the old days of race-track gambling in New Jersey will be met by an array of opposition—the nucleus of which is represented in the minority vote of yesterday—that would doubtless bury it again as it did four years ago. As we view the result yesterday, there are two factors that are responsible for the light vote in favor of the amendment. The first and foremost was the apathetic feeling among thousands of voters who, if they had gone to the polls at all, would have voted in favor of the amendment. The other is the element who are opposed to gambling practices, but averse to a Constitutional clause so sweeping in effect, not only to the race-track issue but even to the church "grab-bag," and which further serves to relieve citizens of a sense of responsibility towards electing none but men of unquestioned integrity and good morals to the Legislature. If it comes to an issue of electing legislators favorable either one way or the other these elements would affiliate with the affirmative voters of yesterday, making an overwhelming majority in the State.

We are convinced of the fact that New York may be the greatest city in the new world, but how often is she dependent on demure little Jersey for this and that. Even the walking delegates in the great metropolis had duties to perform the other day simply because New Jersey was on the map. As a result of trouble between the proprietors of an elevator factory in Watsessing, a general strike was ordered on a big office building being constructed on Broadway. About 250 men stopped work because a Jersey elevator was to be put into the structure.

The young lady who occupied a center aisle seat in Music Hall last evening and forcibly but politely requested a couple of young men, who persisted in running out between each act, to remain in their seats till the last act was over, is made of the right stuff. And more than that: she removed her hat during the performance. She was a consistent young woman.

Sheriff Kirk would be strictly in it if he was a New York city Republican just at present inasmuch as his business is that of a bridge builder, but still to bridge the turbulent stream of factional fights would perhaps be more than the Sheriff would care to undertake.

The tramp who saw the wood pile but wouldn't saw the wood is gone one better by the tramp who saw the prison bars part and left the Middlesex jail officials wondering how he sawed without being seen.

Up to-date Passaic burglars use ladders to gain entrance to private dwellings. Indeed, there is always opportunity for men to go higher in every occupation.

AWOKE TO SEE A POLICEMAN.

Went to Sleep in the Freight House and Were Taken to the Rockery.

William Perrine, of Manson place, and John Murphy, of Westfield, were sorry looking specimens when they appeared before City Judge DeMeza, this morning. They went out to enjoy themselves, last night, and were found at a late hour by Patrolmen Vanderweg and Lunger in the freight house, fast asleep. Both were under the impression that something was the matter. They were locked up in the city jail.

This morning they were arraigned before the Judge. The night had been a cold one but the excitement attendant on the pursuit of the other inhabitants of the cell had managed to keep them in a healthy perspiration while awake. Murphy had never been arrested before and sentence was suspended on him. Perrine was fined $5.

CARING FOR CITY'S HEALTH.

Scavengers Must Have Wagons With Proper Covers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Health was held last evening. The principal subject under discussion was regarding persons who persist in carrying swill and offal in the city without first obtaining a permission to do so, and in not providing wagons properly covered, as the city ordinance directs. The members decided to enforce this ordinance. Each person carrying on such a business is required to have a water-tight and securely covered top wagon, and shall have painted on both sides of the wagon the name of the licensee and the number of his license.

Regarding the place where garbage and refuse shall be dumped, the Board decided to enforce the rules more strictly. Below will be found the monthly report of Health Inspector Addis:

No contagious diseases reported last month. Number of contagious diseases during the month, 3; one death from diphtheria; number of houses still under quarantine, 2; number of visits to houses with contagious diseases, 23; number of inspections on complaint, 21; number of inspections of water tests of soil pipe, 17; number of inspections of smoke tests of defective plumbing, 1; number of sewer inspections, 53; number of inspections completed plumbing systems, 22; number of house inspections, 70; total 207. There has been one conviction for violation of the sanitary code. Total number of inspections and visits to houses with contagious diseases during the month, 207, as per daily memorandum.

It's True.

that we don't sell "cheap" Pianos, but that doesn't mean that we have none but the highest grades at fancy prices.

No! We have six grades that are adapted to the homes of all classes. We sell more of our lowest-priced Pians than any other grade. They are bought by people in modest circumstances and on extremely easy terms. But everyone is made with the idea that it's the inside that counts, and each is backed with our guarantee.

These Pianos cost very little more than you would have to pay elsewhere for those that are only made to look well.

KITES TO PREDICT WEATHER.

Mr. Eddy, of Bayonne, Says He Can Forecast Changes in Temperature.

William A. Eddy, of Bayonne, the kite expert, has announced that he can foretell changes in temperature by means of his kites. Mr. Eddy sends up two kites of his own make to an altitude of fifteen or eighteen hundred feet. At night a lantern fixed to the ground line at the lower kite makes it possible to determine the altitude exactly. To the upper kite is fastened a registering thermometer.

When this thermometer shows a difference in temperature of ten or more degrees from one on the ground Mr. Eddy says he can foretell exactly the weather conditions for the succeeding forty-eight hours. If less than ten degrees' difference is shown his predictions are approximate.

The recital given by Ernest T. Winchester in his studio in the Schmitt building last night was a very successful affair. The rooms were filled by an appreciative audience, who greeted the efforts of the various artists cordially. The programme included piano solos "Rhapsodie Hourgroise," and "Second Mazurka," by Mr. Winchester; a reading of Kate Douglas Wiggins', "The Ruggles Dinner Party," by Miss Anna D. Cooper; tenor solos, "Hindoo Love Song," "Aria from Faust," "The Lost Chord" and "The Wanderlied," by Valentine Youngman; and a reading of Tennyson's "Lady of Shallott," and a Shakesperean selection, by Mr. Southwick.

The comparitively heavy vote cast here yesterday and the substantial majorities for the amendments were due largely to the efforts of the Christian Citizenship League and others, through whose efforts the union meeting of last Sunday evening was called. This was sent by mail to every man in the township. Yesterday the committee worked all day to get out the vote, watching the poll list and sending carriages for voters who were dilatory in discharging their duty.

THEATRICAL.

Oliver Byron, supported by Kate Byron and the strongest company of comedians he has ever had, will be at Music Hall Friday night, presenting the "Ups and Downs of Life," a play that is a favorite with the play-goers in all the large towns of this country. The Byrons have made this play such a favorite that they are asked to repeat it each season as they visit each city entour, but this will be the last production, as Mr. Byron has so many good plays up his sleeve that he is obliged to make a change so as to give the public something new. The production this year is more notable than ever, as it is embellished with new scenery and the supporting company is a strong one, besides including several well-known high-class vaudeville artists.

"The Cat and the Cherub," the Chinese play at the Olympia in New York, has been reduced to more dramatic form by the cutting of some of the monologuing and talk, so that the odd scenes and the little but curious action are much more effective. The rest of the bill is very entertaining, with one very funny number. Charles T. Aldrich, the "comedy tramp," a humorous sleight-of hand performer, is worth spending the evening to see.

FOUR SCORE AND THREE.

Death of An Aged Citizen in Washington Valley.

Ephraim Ackor, one of the oldest residents in the Washington Valley, died last evening in the farmhouse in which his grandtather and father lived and died and in which he was born and has spent his life. Mr. Ackor was eighty-three years of age and one of the most prosperous farmers in the Valley. His farm was a large one and well kept. The cause of his death was pneumonia, from which he has been suffering for the last week. He leaves two children, Philip and Daniel, both of whom are married and live with their families in Washingtonville. His wife died some time ago.

AN IMPRESSIVE OCCASION.

Last Department Order Issued by the Dead G. A. R. Commander.

The meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A R, last evening, was one of the most impressive in its history. The last general order issued by the late Department Commander, Emanuel Sands, was read in the meeting, and it seemed to those present that it was a voice from beyond the grave that was speaking to them. The order was so full of promise as to what the Commander hoped to do this year that it will no doubt prove as an incentive for the members of the G. A. R. to do all the more for their order. During the evening two new members were received and a considerable amount of routine business was transacted.

White's Millinery Opening.

The first day of the opening of the millinery department under the direction of Miss Daly was a decided success. The department is very prettily trimmed with palms and greens. At times during the day it was almost impossible to get into the department, so great was the crowd. The ladies were more than pleased with the display of beautiful hats, and were surprised at the remarkably moderate prices asked.

Rare Tonic in His Wit.

Marshall P. Wilder will appear at the Y. M. C. A. hall tomorrow night. The following are a few of the extracts from letters of noted men commenting on Mr. Wilder:

Henry M. Stanley: "There is rare tonic in his wit." Roscoe Conkling: "His name is synonymous with mirth." Chauncey M. Depew: "His wit is contagious." W. E. Gladstone: "The soul of humor." H. R. H. Prince of Wales: "A very clever little gentleman." Ex-President Cleveland: "The prince of entertainers."

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Quay's Continued Stay in Florida is Causing Much Comment.

WILL RETURN NEXT MONTH

No Appointments to Be Announced Until the President's Return—The Bond of Philadelphia's Postmaster Received—Banking Affairs.

(By Associated Publishers' Press.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—Comptroller Fitch, of New York City, has had probably as unique a political record as any man in public life. A lifelong Republican, he was elected to Congress in a strong Democratic district, changed his political belief, owing to divergent views on the tariff, and was re-elected to Congress as a Democrat, and later became the organization candidate for Comptroller; now he is renominated for Comptroller of the big city by the Republican Convention.

Senator Quay's continued stay in Florida is causing much comment. In spite of the fact that there are important political contests going on in Ohio, Maryland and Kentucky, as well as local contests in his own State, Pennsylvania, the Republican leader has announced that he will not return East until the latter part of October.

It is announced at the White House that President McKinley will not leave for Washington probably until Wednesday afternoon, arriving in Washington Thursday morning. It is said there will be no appointments announced from the White House until the President's return.

The Comptroller of the Currency announces that the Niagara County National Bank, of Lockport, New York, has elected Ransom Scott president, in place of Thomas Flagler, deceased.

The National Bank, of Ocean City, New Jersey, has filed application with the Comptroller to organize, with a capital of $50,000.

The Comptroller has approved Merchants' National Bank, of Philadelphia, as reserve agents for the First National Bank, of Syracuse.

He has also approved the Third National Bank, of St. Louis, as reserve agents for the Penn National Bank of Reading, Pa., and the Liberty National Bank, of New York City, as reserve agents for the First National Bank, of Wellsboro, Pa.

The bond of Postmaster Hicks, the newly appointed Postmaster at Philadelphia, has been received in Washington. At the Post-Office Department it is said that the bond is one of the largest given by any postmaster in the country, being in the sum of $175,000, and is signed as sureties by a large trust company of Philadelphia and by two of Philadelphia's leading business men. It is understood at the Post-Office Department that Postmaster Hicks will assume control Thursday. The Post-Office Department refuses to divulge the names of either the trust company or the individual sureties.

Post office at Massawepie, St. Lawrence County, N. Y., has been discontinued from Oct. 15 to June 15 next. Mail in the meantime should be sent to Piercefield, N. Y.

Fourth-class postmasters appointed: New York—Pike, Wyoming County, H. C. Lathrop; Silver Lake Assembly, Wyoming, F. S. Barnes.

Pennsylvania — Curllsville, Clarion, J. A. Mooney; Irvona, Clearfield, J. E. McDowell; Waukesha, Clearfield, James Woods.

LUETGERT EXPERT TESTIFIES.

Contradiction of the Prosecution's Case as to the Vat Boiling.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The defense in the Luetgert wife-murder case began to present its expert testimony Tuesday. Dr. Bernard L. Reise, whose reputation is quite as undisputed as that of any of the State's experts, was on the witness stand all the morning and part of the afternoon. As was expected, Dr. Reise's testimony, based on his experiments with the boiling of human bodies in the same vat said to have been used by Luetgert in killing his wife, was contrary to the theory of the prosecution in all material details. In the first place, he declared it was impossible to heat the potash solution to the boiling point in the vat. He tried it repeatedly and failed. Dr. Reise further sought to deny the truth of the State's hypothesis by testifying that the solution had absolutely no effect on artificial teeth; that all the pieces of the skull remained in shape, and that parts of the spinal column, forearm and heel were also found in the bottom of the vat.

Armadale Updike, a peddler, testified that he saw Mrs. Luetgert on June 9 near McHenry, Ill., forty-five miles from Chicago, and one or two witnesses added their testimony toward impeaching Emma Schimpke, who swore she saw Mr. and Mrs. Luetgert enter the sausage factory together the night of May 1.

Bridget Hayes Not Poisoned.

Newburg, Sept. 29.—The inquest into the death of Bridget Hayes, who was found with her throat cut in Leverett Carpenter's house a fortnight ago, is concluded. Coroner Perrott sent the stomach to New York for analysis. The chemists informed him that there was no trace of poison. It is now positive that the woman was murdered, and a verdict was so rendered.

$100,000 for Their Heads.

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Latest advices from Guatemala state that $100,000 has been offered by President Barrios for the heads of Prospero Morales and Manual Fuentes, leaders of the revolution. An order to this effect has been promulgated.

She's Chicago's Waring.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Mayor Harrison has intrusted the promised revolution in downtown street cleaning to the management of a woman. To Mrs. A. E. Paul has been given the task of redeeming Chicago's main thoroughfares.

A Camden Assessor Suicides.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 29.—J. Oscar Nichuals, ex-City Assessor, and for many years prominent in politics, committed suicide by shooting himself at his residence in this city.

She Was Excused.

A pleasant story of her youth is told by an old lady whose early home was in Concord, Mass., says the Youth's Companion. She was on her tardy way to school, crying in anticipation of disgrace and possible punishment, when a deep voice by her side said:

"What is troubling you, my child?"

Between her sobs Annie explained.

"I will write a note to your teacher, asking her to excuse you," said the stranger, kindly.

The little girl protested. He did not know her teacher. It would be of no use. But the big, black-haired man had written a few words on a page of his note-book, and, tearing out the leaf, handed it to the child.

"If you give your teacher that, I think she will excuse you, he said, smilingly.

Still unbelieving, the little girl handed the paper to her teacher, who read its contents and promptly excused the delinquent. The note read:

"Will Miss —— excuse Annie for being late and oblige her most obedient servant, Daniel Webster."

Dogs Dissemble.

In the Nile region of Egypt, infested as it is with crocodiles, the native dogs often have considerable trouble in securing a drink at the river's edge, says the Baptist Union. But their experience has taught them cunning, and the average dog knows how to effect a wily and successful bit of strategem. He runs up the river a little way and begins a plaintive howling. The dull crocodiles, attracted by the sound, swarm straightaway to the spot, whereupon the dog, laughing with his tail, hastily runs to the part of the river vacated by the reptiles and satisfies his thirst.

Temper.

Brown-Jones—Has your wife a more even temper than your own?

Jones-Brown—More even? No. even more.—Truth.

Something to Their Credit.

"There's one good thing about conceited people." "What is that?" "They don't meddle with other people's business."—Chicago Record.

Don't Make a Mistake

When you have a painting job on hand. It's the painting quite as much as the paint that costs, and only good paint is worth the expense the work entails. To be sure of getting what will stand the severest exposure better and longer than anything else, drop in and select what you require from our stock. Knowing exactly what is needed to produce a paint that will answer every purpose and thus be economical as well as satisfactory, we turn our knowledge to practical use.

The Tables Turned.
We have almost solved the servant girl problem.
Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.
The tables are turned, and we have turned them.
We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.
Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes	10c each.
Table Cloth	5c "
Sheets -	3c "
Towel, Napkins	1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

MURDERER CHRISTIAN ESCAPES.

His Wife Says He Will Surrender to the Authorities.

Wurtsboro, N. Y., Sept. 28.—No trace has been found of Wallace J. Christian, the contractor living on the estate of the Sullivan County Club, near this place, who shot and instantly killed Horace F. Pritchard of New York, and mortally wounded Constable Thomas J. Manny, as related in these dispatches. Mrs. Christian, the wife of the fugitive, declares that her husband shot in self-defence. "He has gone," she said, "to Monticello to give himself up." She admitted reluctantly that her husband was arrested last Fall in New York city for knocking down the elder Pritchard with a club. She also admitted that Christian's temper had brought him into trouble with most of the persons he had dealings with, and that on more than one occassion he had beaten her. Mary Christian, the sixteen-year-old sister of the murderer, who lived at the cottage where the shooting took place, left here on the early train for Yonkers. The girl refused to say anything.

There are numerous rumors as to Christian's whereabouts. Three residents of this place declare that they saw him sneaking along on the outskirts of the village and making towards the mountains. Another man declares that a person answering Christian's description boarded an Ontario and Western train at Summitville. Sheriff Watson, however, has no definite traces to work upon. The men who are hunting for Christian are going cautiously, as the murderer is reported to be wearing a cowboy's belt containg six pistols and a dirk. According to Manny's ante-mortem statement, without stopping to take aim, without giving the two men a moment's chance to move or beg for mercy, Christian levelled his revolver and fired at Pritchard, who fell head first from the wagon with a bullet-hole clear through his body.

Manny by this time had the whip in his hand, and just as he lashed the horse Christian's second bullet struck him in the small of the back and came out through his abdomen. Manny fell forward on the road beside Pritchard and the horse tore off into the brush.

Boys' Circus Disastrous.

Cuba, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Edgar Ketchum, 12 years old, now lies at the point of death, and Reynold Smith, 11 years, is terribly burned about the mouth as the result of a desire to become professional sword swallowers and fire eaters.

The boys were giving a circus in a barn. Young Smith saturated a piece of cotton with oil, set it on fire and put it in his mouth. He burned himself badly. Ketchum wanted to back out of his sword-swallowing act, but the boys yelled "Coward!" and the youth took a paper cutter fourteen inches in length and jammed it down his throat. He fell to the floor, a stream of blood spurting from his mouth. Physicians say he cannot live.

After Adirondack Lands.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The first attempt of the State to obtain possession of thousands of acres of valuable Adirondack lands, the title to which has been lost through the cancellation by former State Comptrollers of tax sales on which the State's title was based, has been made by the Fisheries, Forest and Game Commission, before Comptroller Roberts.

The application involves an attempt to get back about 200,000 acres in land, a part of it including Saranac Inn, the fish hatchery in that vicinity, and almost all the lands surrounding upper Saranac.

Mrs. Stokes Will Give a Dance.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 29.—There will be a hot time in this old town Saturday night. Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes, of New York, is to give a dance to the negroes of this vicinity, and 500 invitations have been sent out. The function will be held in a huge barn recently built on Mrs. Stokes' estate and money prizes will be given for cake walking, buck dancing, etc. The famous marriage of Miss Maria Johnson created no more furore among the dusky population than will this event. Many of the best people in the county will be spectators.

Shipload of Wheat for Argentina.

New York, Sept. 29.—The first steamship cargo made up wholly of wheat to leave this port for Argentina is on the steamship Besratael, which sailed on Sunday for Buenos Ayres. It consisted of 174,314 bushels and was shipped by Jules Schreiber, representing Salomon Z. Danon, of Antwerp, to whom the Besratael belongs. The wheat is for consumption. It is too late for wheat to be sent to Argentina for seeding purposes this season. The crop in that country is now growing.

The Ticket-Scalping Law.

New York, Sept. 29.—Decision was reserved to-day in the Supreme Court by Justice Lawrence on the test case agreed to by the District Attorney and Louis Marshall, involving the question of the constitutionality of the legislative act against ticket-scalpers.

Mr. Marshall said the act restrained the liberty of individual citizens in that it prohibited them engaging in a lawful business.

Canal Contract Awarded.

Albany, Sept. 29. — Superintendent George W. Aldridge of the State Department of Public Works has awarded to Edwin Ladder, of Syracuse, the contract for raising the towpath of the Oswego Canal from lock No. 7 to lock No. 3, and work connected therewith. His bid was $48,447.

Is It Pearl Bryan's Head?

Cincinnati, Sept. 29. — A workman found buried in a sandbar in the Ohio River, a skull, the lower jaw of which was gone. In the upper jaw were nine teeth. The skull has been pronounced by a dentist to be that of a woman between 18 and 23 years old. It is supposed to be that of Pearl Bryan, for whose murder Jackson and Walling were hanged.

Believed to Have Been Drowned.

Boston, Sept. 29.—Five young men who started on Sunday morning from East Boston to visit Hangman's Island have not since been heard from. There is a very strong possibility of their having been lost in the sudden squall which swept the harbor early on Sunday evening.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

The old antagonists of the Plainfield players, the San Remo team, of New York, played a tie game with the Montclair Athletic Club last Saturday. The score was 0 to 0. Last year the Plainfield team defeated them by a score of 6 to 2. This year the San Remos play here on Election Day and a fierce game may be looked for.

The candidates for the Plainfield A. A. eleven will meet this evening to practice by electric light. The practice will be held on the Westervelt avenue grounds. All players in the vicinity are invited to try for the team. Practice begins at 8 o'clock. The candidates for the junior team of the Plainfield Crescent Football Club will also practice there and line up against the first team part of the evening.

The football experts who are candidates for this year's team of the Elizabeth Athletic Club are now in active training. Following is a list of the most prominent aspirants for positions: Centres, Phil Stillman (Captain) and Swarf; guards, Frank Smith, Trafton, Morris and Whitney; tackles, Schafer, Armstrong, Langford and Chandler; ends, English, Koehler, Alexander, McAuley and Hopkins; quarterbacks, Tucher, Underwood, Darrack and Cravan; halfbacks, Denon Smith, Knapp, Kinkhead, Boynton and Sulzer; fullbacks, Davies, Cobb, Langford and Bagely.

Plainfield will see a better football field on Saturday than she has for many years. The Plainfield A. A. will open the season on Martine common Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock against the Warwick Athletic Association, the crack eleven from upper New York city. The field is now being laid out. A line of posts are being placed twenty feet from the side lines and through them rope will be stretched to keep the crowd back. New goal posts will be erected and painted, the lower half black and the upper white after the fashion at the collegiate grounds. A regular entrance will be made and a ticket office put up. The admission will be twenty-five cents and circular tickets will be given which can be hung in sight by a string.

CYCLING COMMENT.

PASSING COMMENT.

"Founder" Bradley has built three sun parlors on the Asbury Park beach for the comfort of winter sojourners. The parlors are located at the Asbury and Fifth avenue pavilions and at the foot of Sunset avenue. These retreats are inclosed with glass, are heated and lighted, and are kept in order by janitors paid by Mr. Bradley. The city authorities are considering the advisability of securing an orchestra to furnish music on the beach during the winter.

* * * *

Judge Reuben S. Safford, of Georgia, has made himself exceedingly popular as a marrying Judge with the negroes by his lavish use of high-sounding rhetoric in the ceremony. This is a specimen of his style: "By the authority vested in me as an officer of the State of Georgia, which is sometimes called the Empire State of the South; by the fields of cotton that lie spread abroad in snowy whiteness around us, by the howl of the 'coon dog, and the gourd vine whose clinging tendrils shade the entrance to your humble dwelling place; by the red and luscious heart of the watermelon, whose sweetness fills the heart with joy; by heaven and earth, in the presence of witesses, I pronounce you man and wife."

majority on the race-track amendment to 1,400.

Camden county gives about 100 against the gambling amendment. The city of Camden cast 3,512 votes for it and 3,509 against it. The appointment amendment runs ahead and woman suffrage considerably behind in the county.

Gloucester city voted 700 against the gambling amendment. The old race-track is located there. Gloucester county gives about 500 majority for the amendment.

Cape May county gives 450 for the amendment.

Monmouth county voted for racing and against the gambling amendment by nearly 3,000 majority in a light vote. Eatontown township, in which Monmouth Park is located, gave 426 against; Freehold, the county seat, 595 against; Shrewsbury township, including Red Bank, 500 against. Neptune township, which includes Ocean Grove, Asbury Park and other resorts, gave but 169 for the amendment. Long Branch gave 729 majority against Burlington county, estimated 1,000 against the race track amendment.

In many parts of the State an organized effort was made against all of the amendments, and official ballots were circulated with all of them cancelled. In Camden these cancelled ballots were placed in the polling booths, and in some districts were given out by the election officers with the regular ballot. When this latter fact was discovered it was stopped by the leaders because of its illegality. In Newark circulars were distributed urging voters to vote against all the proposed amendments.

PROSPERITY IN NEW JERSEY.

Wages Go Up in Several Mills—Prospects Bright.

The Trenton State Gazette yesterday morning published two columns of the short interviews with New Jersey manufacturers upon the condition of business, as compared with that of a year ago. The Raritan Woolen Mills announced that they have increased wages 10 per cent. since the passage of the Dingley bill and are running on full time. The Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company of Newark, and all of the woolen manufacturers of northern Jersey announce a raise in wages, an increase in business and bright prospects for the future.

A Pleasant Occasion.

The social held at the First Baptist church last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church, was a pleasant occasion. The main part of the evening was devoted to the practice of hymns in the new books recently purchased, while the rest of the time was given up to sociability. L. H. Biglow, Jr., had charge of the music, while Miss Margaret Harold, Miss Laura J. Runyon, Miss Hattie Mattison, Henry Drake and Henry Brewer, as a social committee, made it a point that everyone present have a good time.

Total Abstinence.

While all promoters of morality are agreed that total abstinence is a good thing, there is such a thing as carrying it too far, and one marked instance of this excess is seen in the habit some people have of totally abstaining from caring for the eyes. Yours may or may not require treatment, but it will cost you nothing to find out, and a timely call at Colliers may save you much trouble and expense.

—John Hull, of Grove street, was arrested last evening about 9 o'clock by Marshal Kliner. The charge was riding a wheel on Willow avenue without a light. Recorder Thomas imposed a fine of $2 this morning.

—The death of Miss Minnie E. Mahoney, occurred in Bound Brook yesterday. She lived in New Haven, Conn., and will be buried there. She was a daughter of Col John H. Mahoney, and a sister of John Mahoney, of Westfield.

An Approaching Marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick T. Keely, of 537 LaGrande avenue, have issued invitatons to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Teresa Florence Keely, and Thomas James Hughes, of East Second street, which will take place Tuesday evening, October 12th, at 7:30 at St. Mary's church. A reception will follow at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

The Self-Tacking Yacht.

Mr. Herbert Consterdine, the famous English engineer, has been exhibiting a very clever invention which does away with manual aid in the tacking and steering of model and workaday yachts. The idea is worked on a model cutter yacht, which measures all over about 9 feet. Hitherto with such a yacht it has only been possible to run before the wind or set the boat on a single tack which will carry her in a straight line from one side of a lake to the other. But with Mr. Consterdine's mechanism it is now possible, as has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of experts to set a yacht off from a lee shore and make her reach the windward side by automatically tacking against the wind. The principle of Mr. Consterdine's invention is such that the beating to windward may be continued indefinitely, of course given a continuous wind and a sufficiently large sheet of water. If the yacht is not required to reach the weather shore she can be set to go a definite number of tacks, after the completion of which she will of herself cease tacking and return to the lee shore, running before the wind. To do this she lets go the main sail to the required amount; the other sails and positions of helm are also self-adjusted. The port and starboard tacks may also be made of equal or unequal lengths as desired. If the yacht loses her true bearing when sailing before the wind she automatically rights herself and comes again into position for continuing her course leeward.

THE SELF-TACKING YACHT.

READY FOR CAMPAIGN.

REPUBLICANS CALL CITY PRIMARIES AND COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Primaries to be Held Monday Evening, October 18th, and the County Convention the Following Thursday at Elizabeth.

Now that the special election for the consideration of the Constitutional amendments is past, the Republicans of the State can settle down to business. While the amendments were taken up as a party measure, the support they received in many places was half-hearted. It is now only a little over a month before the election day will be here when the new Legislature will be chosen and a number of county officers elected. So the Republicans are planning to put up their candidates and conduct a lively campaign.

The Union county Republicans wakened from their quietness of the summer, last evening, and the county executive committee held a meeting. The offices to be filled at the fall election in this county are those of the three assemblymen, the surrogate and the coroner. The primaries were called for Monday evening, October 18th, throughout the county. The delegates will be apportioned through the county at the ratio of one delegate for fifty Republican votes cast for the coroner at last year's election. By such reckoning, Plainfield will be entitled to forty-seven delegates or thereabouts.

The county convention for the nominating of the officers was set for Thursday afternoon, October 21st, in the Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth.

What Plainfield's share in the division of the plums at the convention is not certain but there seems no doubt but that she will have one assemblyman and that Roger F. Murray will be the man for the place. Surrogate Parrot, of Elizabeth, will in all probability be renominated for that office. He has the support of the solid Elizabeth delegation. What is to become of the nomination for the coronership remains to be seen. Last election, Dr. Sinclair was nominated and elected. He come from Westfield.

SAY THEY WEREN'T MARRIED.

Dennick Brothers Claim That They Will Never Marry Anyone.

The New York World this morning says:

Some enemy of William and Samuel Dennick, of No. 372 Lexington avenue, sent a report yesterday to the New York newspapers that they had married Ella Long and Mary Kliner, of Plainfield, N. J., on Tuesday.

The men are brothers and William is a widower. They are both angry at the report of the alleged marriages and declare that it is untrue. They declare further that they never wanted to marry the girls and never will marry them, and that they never will marry anybody.

The story of this alleged marriage was first published in The Press, information of which was given by one of the young women in question. It seems, however, from statements she made afterward, that she was not telling the truth to the reporter.

TO HANDLE ANOTHER WHEEL.

Eldridge and Pope Companies to Separate This Season.

The Eldridge Bicycle Company has announced that after seven years of business connection with the Pope Manufacturing Company they have found it necessary to dispense with the agency of Columbia wheels, their policy having become one which the Eldridge Company cannot uphold. This season will be the last in which the Eldridge Company will sell Columbia and Hartford bicycles. Other interesting announcements of entirely new lines and methods will be made later.

Last Outing for the Season.

The Y. M. C. A. junior department will enjoy its last outing of the season on Saturday, when in company with the Y. M. C. A. Junior Bicycle Club, of Summit, they will visit Washington Rock. Secretary William Jessup, of the Summit association, and Physical Director Heywood, will accompany the party. Each member will provide his own lunch, and at the Rock games will be played and a short talk will be given the boys by Mr. Jessup. The start will be made from the Y. M. C. A. building at 11 o'clock.

Lack of Interest in Club Affairs.

The lack of interest in the Crescent Wheelmen which has been shown by its members since the last meeting does not presage a bright future for the club unless there is an awakening among the members such as occurred several years ago. There was to have been a meeting of the board of directors last evening to elect the officers for the ensuing year but, as it was impossible to get a quorum, the meeting had to be indefinitely postponed.

BILLY LEE BITTEN BY A DOG.

Made a Terrific Leap, Breaking the Chain, and Savagely Attacked Its Master.

William Lee, of Scotch Plains, was the owner of a beagle hound which he valued highly. On Thursday the animal began to act queerly and was chained up by its owner. When Lee went into the yard at about 10 o'clock to look after the dog's comfort, the animal seemed to become suddenly mad. It made a terrific leap, breaking its chain, and then sprang upon its owner, biting him savagely about the face and hands. Dazed and bleeding, Lee beat off the animal and made his way into the house. The dog then ran from the scene toward this city.

The description of the animal tallies exactly with that of the dog which made an attack upon Thomas Marley, a member of the Kate Emmett Theatrical Company, in this city a few hours later, and was shot by a policeman. The dog shot was evidently Mr. Lee's animal, and not the property of Henry Voehl, as stated in yesterday's Press.

UNION COUNTY FIGURES

Elizabeth Voters Piled up Large Majorities Against the Amendments.

The result of the election in Elizabeth was a surprise, it rolling up a majority of 2,388 against the anti-race track amendment and over 2,700 against the woman suffrage amendment.

Union county complete gives 1,248 against the anti race-track amendment and over 1,700 against the woman suffrage amendment.

An Appreciated Improvement.

Of all the new stone sidewalks recently laid in the borough, none is more appreciated than the one just completed in front of A. Willett's property on Craig place. Now let the street committee compel the owner of the vacant lot adjoining to lay a stone walk in front of said lot and the traveling public will appreciate it.

—The Borough Council will meet in regular session tomorrow evening.

BENEATH A FLORAL ARCH

PRETTY WEDDING CELEBRATED IN DUNELLEN LAST NIGHT.

Miss Ella Maude Fisher and George V. T. Schenck the Contracting Parties—Clever Trick to Escape Deluge of Rice and Shoes.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fisher, at Dunellen, was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Ella Maude Fisher and Geo. V. T. Schenck, also of the borough, were united in marriage by Rev. J. Mead, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. W. H. Ruth, pastor of the Westfield Methodist church.

The decorations at the home were exceedingly artistic and consisted of palms and autumnal flowers, while a pretty effect was obtained through a large floral arch that was arranged in a bow-window in the parlor. It was beneath this arch that the ceremony was performed.

Previous to the ceremony Miss Irene Day, of New Market, rendered classical selections on the piano, and while the bridal party was entering the parlor from the hall Miss Day played the wedding march in her usual faultless manner. Of white satin ribbons an aisle was formed, leading from the arch to the hallway, and as the party entered the ushers walked on either side and carried the ribbon to the altar. The effect was pleasing and added to the ceremony very much.

Miss Carrie Fisher, sister of the bride, was bridemaid, and wore a gown of pink silk. In her hand she carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man, Samuel N. Tunison, of Somerville, cousin of the groom, accompanied by the bridemaid, preceded the bride and groom. The bride was exquisitely gowned in white brocaded satin and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The ushers were John Fisher, cousin of the bride, and Charles Mattis, both of Dunellen.

Congratulations were showered upon the bride and groom, after which a pleasing wedding supper was served. During this part of the ceremony Miss Day rendered several selections on the piano, and this was an enjoyable feature.

They will spend a week in the south and when they return they will at once go to housekeeping in a home already prepared by the groom.

The costly and useful presents received by the bride and groom evidenced the esteem and regard felt by the many friends and relatives. The groom is the owner of a grocery store in Dunellen and his friends wish both he and his wife many years of happiness and success.

A clever trick was played on the guests by the bride and groom when the latter were preparing to go away. The guests had decorated a coach with cow-bells, ribbons and old shoes, and fully expected the bride and groom to take the vehicle thus arranged. Instead Mr. and Mrs. Schenck made their exit from a second story window by a ladder, and entered another coach in waiting. They then had the driver go by the house where the guests stood waiting. The latter were much disappointed in not being able to shower the couple with rice.

The groom's gift to the ushers were gold stick pins set with pearls, and to the bride he gave a handsome ring.

The following guests were present: Miss Edna Demarest, Mr. and Mrs H. H. Schenck, Miss C. S. Doll, Miss M. R. Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Tunison, Miss M. E. Moser, of Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Krewson, Mrs. Roberts, Sandford G, Robinson, of Plainfield; Mr and Mrs. T. J. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Richardson, Charles Adams, Miss Lulu Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eick, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Giddis, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gise, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vail, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. G. Kenney, H. B. Walters, J. P. Fenner, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Milliken, A. R. Apgar, R. M. Apgar, L. H. Apgar, George W. Richardson, of Dunellen.

Sold His Business to a Brother.

William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, has sold his butcher business to his brother, N. B. Smalley, and the latter will take charge next Monday. Mr. Smalley's health has been poor for sometime past and he has decided to go south in about three weeks. He and his family will first go to North Carolina and stay with August Trust for a time, and from there they will go to Ashville, where they will probably remain.

NO REVIVAL OF RACING.

SENTIMENT TOO POWERFUL FOR GAMBLERS TO GET CONTROL.

The Next Legislature, However, Will Be Asked to Repeal Anti-Gambling Laws—Opinions of Various Leaders.

The latest returns and estimates received at Trenton yesterday indicate that the anti-gambling amendment to the State Constitution has been beaten by from five to ten thousand. These figures may be materially changed as more complete returns come in from the rural counties, but there seems to be no doubt that the amendment is beaten. The amendment giving women the right to vote at school elections is beaten worse than the anti-gambling amendment, while the ad interim appointment amendment is probably defeated by a close margin. The defeat of the anti gambling amendment does not by any means indicate an early revival of race-tracks, with bookmaking, in New Jersey, as the statutes of the State prohibit gambling in any form, and it is not at all probable that the next Legislature will repeal these laws, although an attempt to have it done will no doubt be made.

The latest figures for the several counties on the anti gambling amendment follow:

County.	For.	Against.
Atlantic	——	300
Bergen	1,000	——
Burlington	1,000	——
Camden	100	——
Cape May	450	——
Cumberland	2,500	——
Essex	——	2,000
Gloucester	500	——
Hudson	——	8,000
Hunterdon	1,200	——
Mercer	——	1,500
Middlesex	——	300
Monmouth	——	3,000
Morris	800	——
Ocean	1 000	——
Passaic	——	2,500
Salem	1,200	——
Somerset	800	——
Sussex	500	——
Union	——	2,500
Warren	1,000	——
Totals	12,000	20,000

The leaders in the fight for the various amendments had various ways of explaining their defeat yesterday. S. Edward Young, president of the Christian Citizenship Union, who conducted the fight for the anti-gambling amendment, said:

"I have been thinking all along that we would be defeated. There was no organization in the field except the Christian Citizenship Union. We didn't have the support of any political organization, and we had the secret opposition of the railroad companies, the gamblers and others. I am not surprised at the result at all."

Colonel E. L. Price, chairman of the State Democratic committee, said:

"It is manifest that the people had their own ideas regarding the matter and, as they had plenty of time to deliberate, their action was based on cold judgment. The Democrats did not make a party issue of the amendments, as it was felt that the voter should be left to follow the dictates of his individual judgment in regard to them. The Republicans made the propositions a party issue, but that was only done for political effect and expediency's sake. Very few took the State committee's manifesto seriously, and a study of the returns will bear me out in this respect."

William Stainsby, Republican, president of the Newark Board of Works, said:

"It would have been better if the amendments had not been proposed at all. I believe the address of the State committee brought out a number of voters, but it also made enemies for the amendments."

Not Refused Admittance.

From the account of the accidental burning of James Feeney at the Potter Press Works, Monday night in The Press, some people have obtained the mistaken idea that the injured man was refused admittance to Muhlenberg Hospital for the reason that there was no doctor on duty at the time. Such was not the case. Feeney came to the hospital and wanted a doctor and when he was informed that there was none there he refused to go in, although the nurses asked him to and offered to do all they could to relieve his pain until a doctor could arrive Feeney refused all offers of assistance, however, and walked to the office of Dr. Simpson, where his wounds were dressed.

CLIMAX TEAM'S VICTORY.

Won the State Championship and Secured a Valuable Silver Trophy.

A beautiful day, a trifle windy perhaps, attracted a large crowd to the Linden race track, yesterday, to attend the annual shoot of the New Jersey State Sportsmen's Association. One of the principal events of the day was the contest for the championship of the State, in which the team from the Climax Gun Club, of this city, came out victorious. The Climax team consisted of Charles Smith, Thomas H Kellar, and Louis Schortemeyer.

The prize for the team shoot was a silver cup presented by Richard Henry Reed, proprietor of Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City. The conditions were twenty-five targets per man, unknown angles. Almost all of the State clubs were represented, and some of the best trap shooters were present. The Climax team won, each man breaking 22 targets out of 25. There were a number of other events, but Plainfield was not otherwise victorious.

TOLD TRUTH, GOES TO JAIL

JULIUS DELMOTTE CONVICTED BY HIS OWN STORY.

The Sequel to the Mt. Bethel Game Law Violation That Attracted Such Attention—107 Days is the Time to be Served.

A legal document was filed in the office of Sheriff Wyckoff, of Somerset county, yesterday, which commits Julius Delmotte to the county jail for 107 days in default of the payment of a fine of $107.05, imposed upon him by Justice Charles Austin, of Warren township, for having in his possession five robins. Delmotte is the victim of the stringent enforcement of the Jersey game laws. He is an honest, hard-working Frenchman, who for the last three years has been caretaker of the small summer place of William Wienburn, at Mt. Bethel, on the Watchung mountain, seven miles from here. He was convicted on his own evidence, and there is but one side to his case. In reiterating the story he told before the Justice, he said:

"I was very fond of birds in my own country. I had them in cages all about my house, and it was no crime. One day I found a nest of robins on Mr. Wienburn's place at Mount Bethel. I took them home and placed them in a cage. I kept the cage clean and beautiful, and as my birds grew I was proud of them and showed them to my friends. A man that looked at them told me it was against the law of the State to keep them. I was sorry to lose my birds, but let them go as soon as I found it was wrong. Two days after I let the birds go a game warden came to me and asked if it was true that I once kept robins in a cage. I would not lie about it and told him it was so, but that I had let the birds go as soon as I found it was wrong. He took me before Justice Austin, who fined me $107 for keeping the birds. I am too poor to pay this large amount of money, and they have sent me to prison for 107 days."

Delmotte was committed under a section of the game laws which imposes a fine of $20 and costs for each robin in his possession. The State awards about one-third of the amount of the fine imposed to the State game warden who apprehends the violator of the game laws.

ELEVEN ARC LIGHTS

New Contract to be Made With Electric Light Company by the City.

The committee on streets and lights of the Common Council, consisting of Councilmen Tolles, Westphal and Baker, met last evening and submitted a contract to the Plainfield Electric Light Co. for it to sign. This contract puts into tangible shape the victory which the movement for arc lights has scored. The contract calls for eleven arc lights to be erected in the business portion of the city, which was the number asked for in the original petition. The Electric Light Company will announce tomorrow its acceptance or rejection of the city's offer.

Frank H. Smith Married.

The marriage of Miss Bentley and Frank H. Smith, of this city, took place last evening at the home of the bride in Westerly, R. I. It was a prominent social event in that place and was attended by a large number of guests from that city and Plainfield. Mr Smith resides on Madison avenue.

AN IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL

OBSEQUIES OVER THE REMAINS OF THE LATE C. S. LEWIS.

Floral Tributes and Decorations Were Elaborate and Beautiful—The Services Conducted by Several Episcopal Rectors.

The funeral services of the late Charles Smith Lewis, who died at Pelham, N. Y, were held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Church of the Heavenly Rest. They were attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The church was hardly able to hold all those who desired to be present. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Goodman, Chaplain at Governor's Island, assisted by Rev. Dr. Bolton, of Pelham, N. Y.; Rev. Dr. True, of Scotch Plains; Rev. T. Logan Murphy, of North Plainfield, and Rev. S. P. Simpson, of Netherwood.

The floral decorations were elaborate and beautiful. About the chancel was arranged a massive bank of roses, entwined with smilax, and the offerings of crosses, pillows and wreaths were very impressive.

A choir, consisting of Miss Etta Yaeger, Mrs. Brown, Miss Alice Ashwood, the Misses Becker, Miss Alice Dennick, Miss Kittie Graves, Walter Sherwin and Mr. Pittis, rendered "Jerusalem, the Golden," and "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," while a beautiful anthem, "I Heard a Voice From Heaven," was rendered by Mrs. Brown. Miss Mary Graves presided at the organ.

Among the floral tributes was a large pillow of roses from the employes of the Bank of Commerce, New York, where the deceased was formerly engaged. At the close of the service Rev. Mr. Lewis, brother of the departed, offered a fervent prayer.

The body was temporarily placed in a receiving vault at Hillside Cemetery and will be interred later. Those who served as pall-bearers were W. W. Moore, Charles Graves, John Kriney, Albert Leivers and L. H. Morgan.

YOUNG WOMEN ATHLETES.

High School Girls Form an Association to Promote Sport in Their Ranks.

The progressive women of Plainfield have become known far and wide. Now the Plainfield school girls have followed the lead of their progressive sisters in the leading colleges and have organized an athletic association.

A meeting of the girls of the Plainfield High School, over one hundred of them altogether, was held this afternoon at the close of school and the Girls' Athletic Association of the Plainfield High School was organized. The meeting was called by Principal Ira W. Travell, and was presided over by A. B. Meredith, the science professor, who was a well-known athlete and member of the track team while at Wesleyan College.

An election was held and the following officers chosen: Miss Karolyn Kampman, president; Miss Ellen Osgood, vice-president; Miss Lydie Loizeaux, secretary and treasurer. The three officers and Miss Mary Grace Caldwell, one of the instructors, were made an executive committee.

The purpose of this association is to promote basket ball and other healthful exercises among girls of the High School. The girls have no ambition at present to organize a crew or a football eleven. Their energies will be devoted to basket ball and the upper floor of the Whittier building at the corner of West Fifth street and Madison avenue will be utilized as a place in which the game will be played.

Class teams are to be organized and games played between them, and, possibly, in the future, the High School team will meet teams from other schools. As soon as possible the Whittier school will be prepared for their use, and wire screens will be put in front of the windows and other necessary changes made; then practice will begin, and all the girls in the High School will be invited to try their hand at the game.

HOT IRON ON EYE BALL.

Mrs. Pool Was Using a Crimping Iron When Her Hand Slipped.

Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. John W. Pool, of Watchung avenue, was crimping her hair with irons, when the irons slipped and struck her left eye. The upper lid of the eye was severely burned and the eye ball much affected. For a day and a night the eye was closed and Mrs. Pool suffered intense pain. Dr. Adams was called and used proper remedies to relieve the pain and restore the eye to its normal condition. The right eye was not affected to any extent and the sight of both are now all right. Mrs. Pool considers that she was very fortunate in not being forced to lose the sight of the eye.

HASTINGS HOLDS BACK

Probably Will Have Nothing to Do With the New Capital.

NEW PLANS OPENED TO-DAY

The Governor Seems to Have Displeased Politicians in His Independent Course — Dave Martin Scores a Triumph Over the Democrats.

Harrisburg, Sept. 30.—It is understood that Gov. Hastings will decline to have anything more to do with the Capitol Building unless the courts sustain, in the injunction proceedings now pending, his position on the report of the Board of Experts. Attorney-General McCormick also gave the majority members of the Commission to understand that he could not act as counsel for them in the defense of the injunction suits.

To-day the new plans were opened and prepared for examination, but no selection will be made until the injunction proceedings have been settled. The majority of the Commission do not believe that the suits of the architects will stand long in a court of equity, and they expect an early decision of the matter. Then the plan will be adopted and work rushed on the new building.

Secretary of the Commonwealth Martin has notified the Democratic and Republican nominees for the Legislature in the First and Fifteenth Philadelphia districts that their names will not be certified to the County Commissioners for printing on the official ballot.

The Governor announced the following appointments of delegates to the Congress of the National Prison Association to be held in Austin, Tex., Oct. 16: George A. Kelley, Francis J. Torrance, James S. McKean, James R. Reed, Thomas Wightman, David B. Oliver, Pittsburg; Charles F. Nevin, Rev. J. L. Milligan, Edward S. Wright, Allegheny; Michael J. Cassidy, Caleb B. Milne, John J. Lytle, J. A. M. Passmore, Philadelphia; William M. Dermott, Norristown.

CHRISTIAN'S SECOND VICTIM DIES.

The Sheriff Offers a Reward for the Fugitive.

Wurtsboro, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Constable Thomas J. Manny, who was shot on Monday by Wallace Christian, is dead.

He leaves a widow and an adopted daughter 14 years old. Manny had lived in Wurtsboro for twenty-five years, and was serving his second term as constable.

The search for Christian, who killed Horace F. Pritchard and mortally wounded Constable Manny, is being prosecuted with more vigor than at any time since the shooting.

The residents of the vicinity are afraid of Christian, no one desiring to be a target for his revolver. Sheriff Watson offered a reward of $500 for his capture, and men in groups were searching for him. Theodore Godfrey, who runs the Wolf Pond fishing lodge, said that Christian called at his place on Monday night at 6 o'clock, had a lunch and remained there until 7.30 o'clock.

Godfrey did not then know of the shooting. Godfrey said that he knew where Christian was, and he started out on an expedition of his own.

Mrs. Christian and her two children left their home Wednesday for New York. She declined to talk to any one, but was followed by a detective.

Trainmen along the Ontario & Western Railroad have been on the lookout for Christian since Monday night, but have seen no one answering his description.

Croker and Sheehan at Odds.

New York, Sept. 30.—Richard Croker and John C. Sheehan were at the Hoffman House this morning and discussed the merits and claims of various candidates for places on the Tammany ticket. Mr. Croker was smiling when he left the hotel, and while he refused to talk about the situation, it is quite probable that he will have his own way in the make-up of the ticket.

Sheehan and Croker have not been in accord as to the selection of candidates, and until the final slate is announced it will not be positively known which one gave in, but the leaders who know both men have no doubt that Mr. Croker's candidates will be on the ticket to be nominated at the city convention to-morrow night, and at the county convention on Friday night.

Robbers Terrorize Pennsylvania.

Reading, Sept. 30.—There is great alarm in this section of the Schuylkill Valley because of the almost nightly robberies. Recently L. F. Kern's general store at Orwigsburg was entered and robbed of $300 worth of goods. The thieves evidently had a team, as they could not have carried away so many articles. During the past week several places along the East Penn Road were robbed, and before that the thieves seemed to confine their operations to points up the Lebanon Valley. Down toward the Chester county line several horses were stolen, but so far the efforts of the police have not resulted in a single arrest.

Gen. Robeson's Funeral.

Trenton, Sept. 30.—The funeral of ex-Secretary of the Navy George M. Robeson will take place from his late residence in this city on Thursday. Services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church at 11.30 a. m. The interment will be at Belvidere.

The following have been selected as pallbearers: Justices Van Syckel, Dixon and Gummere, of the Supreme Court; Attorney-General Gray, Gen. Robert F. Stockton, of Trenton; Cortland Parker, of Newark; Robert Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, and Pennington Whitehead, of New York.

Starbuck Will Meet Michael.

The next big middle-distance race will be that between J. Frank Starbuck and Jimmy Michael at a distance of twenty-five miles next Saturday at Willow Grove track, near Philadelphia. This will be the third time these two riders have come together. Michael won both of the other races, and there are few who believe that the result in this one will be any different.

PRESIDENT AT HOME

An Enthusiastic Greeting at the Executive Mansion.

ENJOYS A PLEASANT DRIVE

Mr. McKinley Left the Berkshire Hills Amid the Cheers of the People and the Glare of Red Fire. 2,000 People Witnessed His Departure.

Washington, Sept. 30.—President McKinley is once more within the White House. Yesterday he and Mrs. McKinley drove out for an hour or more and took their last view together at the scenery of Berkshire. The mountain sides are tinged with brilliant hues.

In the afternoon the President, Attorney-General McKenna, and Mr. Plunkett drove for over an hour. Mrs. McKinley and Miss McKenna also drove, and were unattended, as on their previous trips.

The President and Mr. Plunkett left the residence at 9.50 o'clock to-night and walked to the train, a distance of fifty yards. The ladies and Attorney-General McKenna rode to the train before them. As the President approached the car the crowd, numbering 2,000 people, made a lane for him to pass through, and, with the cheers ringing in his ears and with the music from a band and the glare of red fire, the Chief Executive stepped aboard the car.

THE NEGRO POSTMASTER.

He Has Recovered Sufficiently to Conduct the Hogansville Office.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The Post-Office Department has received from the inspector sent to Hogansville, Ga., to investigate the shooting of the postmaster at that place, a full account of the shooting and the causes leading up to it. The inspector reports that the postmaster is rapidly recovering from his wound, and is able to attend to business. He is running the post-office, and apparently is in no danger of further trouble. Hardaway, the old postmaster, has discontinued his practice of collecting the mail and putting it on a train, as the Department would not permit this to be done.

New York Postmasters.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Several fourth-class postmasters were appointed in New York yesterday. With one exception all the changes were for political reasons. The appointments are as follows: Aqueboque, Suffolk County, H. H. Howell; Ausable Chasm, Clinton, F. T. Lindsay; Barrington, Yates, H. M. McDowell; Bradford, Steuben, Frank Hedges; East Moriches, Suffolk, E. O. Howell; Fine, St. Lawrence, C. R. Evans; Old Forge, Herkimer, E. F. Abbott; State Hill, Orange, C. E. Peary Denies Cannibal Story.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—When asked about the report that he had discovered proofs of cannibalism at Greely's camp at Cape Sabine, Lieut. Peary said:

"No, it is not true. It is nothing more than a foolish story, made, I suppose, with the intetion of getting notoriety from it. I am not surprised at it, as I have found that sailors, when they return to port, feel like making some sensation out of nothing. No bones, or any parts of a human body, were found under the snow at the deserted camp, which has not been visited since 1883.

Train Wreck at New Haven.

New Haven, Sept. 30.—The New York express to Boston over the Boston and Albany line was partially wrecked here yesterday.

The air brakes failed to work at the Water street entrance to the Union Depot, and this caused the train to leave the main track and to crash into a locomotive on the switch. Both locomotives were badly shattered. Engineer Charles Pierson of the express was killed.

The fireman and two brakemen were badly injured, but will recover.

"There are fads in medicine as well as in other things," said a busy druggist, "but the most remarkable thing about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that customers who try other remedies all come back to Hood's, and this is why the enormous sales of this medicine keep up while others and in a short time go out of sight entirely, to be heard from no more."

"Why is it?" "O, simply because Hood's Sarsaparilla has more real curative merit than any medicine I ever sold."

This is of daily occurrence in almost every drug store. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the standard remedy which has cured more sickness, relieved more distress and made more happiness by bringing people health than any other medicine. Its wonderful cures of the worst cases of scrofula, running sores, ulcers, salt rheum, etc.; of dyspepsia and other troubles where a first class tonic and aid to digestion was needed; of catarrh, rheumatism, malaria and other troubles arising from or promoted by impure blood, have made

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The standard — the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Charles E. Scudder, of Newark, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Crosley, of Duer street, has returned home.

The engagement of Miss Cornelia Faber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Faber, of Rockview avenue, and Edmund Rushmore, of Washington avenue, is announced.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says, that last winter his wife was attacked with LaGrippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Robert Wood, of East Third street, was out yesterday for the first after an illness of five weeks with rheumatism.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic or alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Mrs. Charles F. Taylor, of Cranbury, has returned home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. A. E. Whiting, of East Sixth street.

It Saves the Croupy Children.

Seaview Va.—We have a splendid sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and our customers coming from far and near, speak of it in the highest terms. Many have said that their children would have died of croup if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had not been given—Kellam & Ourren. The 25 and 50 cents sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

The engagement is announced of Miss Mabel Schenck, of Somerville, to Archibald Butler, of Sandford avenue.

A Cure for Bilious Colic.

Resource, Screven Co., Ga.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail.—G. D. Sharp. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duffert, of Whitehouse, are visiting friends in Plainfield.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation, the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, Superintendent of Schools, Prairie Depot, Ohio: "Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

Miss Nellie Backer, of Whitehouse, is a guest at the home of S. S. Swackhamer, of Summit avenue.

"My boy came home late from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity," The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues, Plainfield.

SECRETARY PORTER MAY RESIGN.

He May Run for Governor of Connecticut.

Hartford, Sept. 30.—Nothing is known here of the rumor that J. Addison Porter, private sectretary to the President would resign in order to become the Republican candidate for Governor of Connecticut. Mr. Porter is known to have political ambitions, and this fact together with his prolonged absence from Washington, probably gave rise to the rumor. Mr. Porter went to Lake Champlain with the President and did not return with him, owing to the serious illness of his daughter.

Mr. Porter for a long time has been ambitious to be Governor. He has a strong support among the young element of the Republican party in the Nutmeg State. In 1894 and in 1896 he was a candidate before the State nominating conventions. In 1894 he received eighty-seven votes of a total of 564. In the dual race with Lieut-Gov. Cook for the nomination in 1896 Mr. Porter received thirty-seven per cent. of the total number of votes cast.

PINGREE IS FOUND.

Michigan's Governor Sailed for Caracas Two Weeks Ago.

New York, Sept. 30.—Gov. Hazen Pingree, concerning whose whereabouts there has been considerable mystery, is now in Caracas, Venezuela. He sailed from Brooklyn for that port on the Red D line steamship Venezuela on Sept. 15. The Governor appeared on the passenger list under the name of L. M. Gaylord, and he was accompanied by his secretary, Col. E. R. Sutton.

When the vessel was a day out he intended to make known his identity. He is expected to return on the Venezuela, which is due here on Oct. 8.

Gov. Pingree is believed to have gone to Caracas to consult with United States Minister Francis P. Loomis, who is said to be seeking in behalf of the Governor a railway concession from the Venezuelan government. Why Gov. Pingree sailed under a false name is not known.

Panic at a Matinee.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 30.—While a matinee was being held in the auditorium in the Y. M. C. A. building in this city Wednesday afternoon, a film of vitascope broke. Before the operator could shut off the current of electricity the machine was in a blaze.

The flames quickly communicated to the walls and floor of the hall. The audience, mostly woman and children, made a rush for the doors. Many escaped by way of a back staircase.

The flames rushed quickly upon them, and a panic resulted, in which the Rev. Dr. Wilson, of Metuchen; John Clark, of this city, and Howard Buzzee, a boy, had their hair and faces badly burned.

The firemen managed to get the flames under control, but not until the auditorium was completely gutted.

Senator McPherson Sued.

New York, Sept. 30.—In the United States Circuit Court, Justice Lacombe heard a motion in the suit which William P. Van Aken has brought against former United States Senator John R. McPherson, of New Jersey, for $50,000.

Van Aken originally claimed that ex-Senator McPherson swindled him out of a tract of land in New Jersey.

Van Aken is blind. He went to McPherson's office, at 49 Church street, on May 18 to demand a settlement. He claims he was ejected by McPherson and his clerks. In the scuffle a pistol was taken from Van Aken's pocket. McPherson claimed Van Aken tried to shoot him, but he was acquitted in General Sessions.

Then Van Aken brought suit for $50,000 for malicious prosecution.

Steel Rail Pool Revived.

Cleveland, Sept. 30.—It is reported here to-day that the old steel pool has been revived. Orders were given to the sales agents of the Carnegie Steel Company, the Maryland Steel Company, the Cambria Iron Company, the Bethlehem Iron Company and the Lackawanna Iron Company to advance the price of steel rails from $20 to $22 per ton. These companies are the only manufacturers of heavy steel rails in the country, and it is this simultaneous action on their part in raising the price of steel which has started the report of a revival of the steel rail pool.

Gen. Neal Dow Rallies.

Portland, Me., Sept. 30.—Gen. Neal Dow's vitality amazes the physicians. He has rallied when on the very edge of death apparently, and they now say he may live several days. He cannot survive long, however. The announcement of his death in these dispatches yesterday was the result of a rumor to that effect circulated about the streets of this city.

Peary's Big Meteorite.

New York, Sept. 30.—The steam whale bark Hope, which carried Lieut. R. E. Peary and his latest expedition to the North Pole, arrived here yesterday with the great meteorite that the lieutenant found at Cape York. The meteorite weighs 100 tons.

Shotgun Quarantine.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 30.—The yellow fever fright has struck the State in earnest. Nearly all the towns in eastern, central and southern Texas have declared shotgun quarantine against Houston.

SPAIN'S LATEST CRISIS

The Newly Appointed Cabinet Resigns.

CRUCIAL STATE OF AFFAIRS

The Return of the Queen to Madrid Quickly Followed by Azcarraga's Resignation — Excitement Runs High at the Capital.

Madrid, Sept. 30.—The long-expected crisis in Spain has closely followed the return of the Queen to Madrid, for the Ministry, led by Senor Azcarraga has placed its resignations in the hands of Her Majesty.

There is the greatest excitement in the capital over the action of the Ministry, and the rumors as to what will be the consequence of it.

Nobody seems to know whether the Liberals will be called to take the helm or whether the Queen will summon Gen. Campos or some of the other Conservative leaders to straighten out matters.

SENOR AZCARRAGA.

There is a feeling here that the attitude of the United States and the message delivered by Gen. Woodford to the Premier had not a little to do with the crisis, and there are many expressions of hostility against the American Government.

IN LUETGERT'S DEFENSE.

Cross-Examination Fails to Shake Dr. Riese's Testimony.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Assistant State Attorney McEwen resumed his cross-examination of the defense's expert, Dr. Bernard L. Riese, in the Luetgert murder trial yesterday. Each question asked by the public prosecutor only served to bring out replies that more flatly and emphatically contradicted the testimony of the State's experts.

Dr. Riese said that he did not believe that the bones offered in evidence by the State had been boiled in a solution of caustic potash. Their surface was too smooth and the texture was too firm to make it probable. Sesamoid bones, the witness said, could not withstand such a solution, which would rapidly dissolve and disintegrate them.

UNGALLANT JERSEY FARMERS.

5,000 Majority Against the Proposed Changes in the Constitution.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 30.—From reports received from all parts of New Jersey the Secretary of State concludes that all three of the proposed constitutional amendments were defeated. The anti-racetrack amendment and that giving women limited suffrage were defeated by from three thousand to five thousand majority.

The vote cast in all parts of the State was very light, and indifference seemed to prevail. Among the farmers the third amendment, relative to women voting at school meetings, met with even greater disapproval than did the anti-gambling amendment.

GOV. WOLCOTT RENOMINATED.

Massachusetts Republican Convention Names Him for Governor.

Boston, Sept. 30.—The Republican State convention yesterday renominated Gov. Wolcott for a second term.

Lieut.-Gov. Crane was also renominated.

The convention indorsed Senator Lodge for a second term. A strong gold platform was adopted. The meeting was harmonious throughout.

Dr. Bermingham Likely to Win.

Albany, Sept. 30.—Dr. Edward J. Bermingham of New York City will probably be able to have set aside the action of the local Board of Health of the village of Liberty, Sullivan county.

In the opinion of the Attorney-General, the mere fact that consumption is communicable under certain circumstances would not justify an ordinance preventing the establishment of a properly regulated sanitarium within the corporate limits of the village. He says that such a sanitarium might be so far isolated and conducted in such a manner as not to injure the health of the citizens of the village.

Lederer Sued for Breach of Promise.

Providence, Sept. 30.—B. B. Lederer, a wealthy jeweller, has been made the defendant in a $50,000 breach of promise case. The plaintiff is Miss Theresa V. Mainz, who is said to have been in the employ of Lederer in New York City. She accepted an engagement with the firm early in the present year, and remained in New York five months.

Raising Wages in Ohio.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 30.—The 400 employes of William Tod, of Youngstown, were notified this morning that their wages would be increased 10 per cent., beginning yesterday. The wages of the men were reduced last Fall, and the present increase is a restoration to the former schedule. Other factories in Youngstown which lowered wages will soon raise them.

MR. WISHART LOOKS AHEAD.

Rev. Alfred W. Wishart, of Trenton, whose attitude in opposition to the amendments on constitutional grounds has been told in The Press, said last night: "I am impressed by the fact that the first cause of defeat is the indifference of the 'good citizen.' Our only hope lies in the awakening of this individual to a sense of his responsibility. Another cause of the defeat, in my judgment, was the attempt of the Republican party to make a political issue of this question. Again, there was a widespread misunderstanding as to the scope of the amendment. We are now confronted by the real peril of the State. If the amendment had been adopted it would have postponed the realization of this danger. This terrible blow will tend to enlist more good men in the cause of righteousness, and will help to make the clergy realize that they have a most important work before them as moulders of public opinion."

Bound Brook's tax rate this year is $1.75, a share of which just goes to pay the sewer debt. Other tax rates are: Dunellen, $2.28; Perth Amboy, $2.56; New Brunswick, $2 60; Summit, $2.92; Passaic, $3.00. And yet it is impossible to tell, from these figures, what would be the tax upon a piece of property in either place whose actual value is $5,000. This is simply because it is not known know much such a piece of property would be assessed for, for purposes of taxation. It thus happens that in places where the rate appears to be high the actual amount of taxes is lower than in places where the rate is seemingly low, because actual values and tax values are so wide apart.—Elizabeth Journal.

School teachers in China run great risks. A man in Yungchou was found guilty of murder, and the judges, after dooming him to death, also decreed the death penalty for his teacher, saying that he should have taught his pupil to respect human life.

With three strong candidates seeking his endorsement for appointment to the Montclair postmastership, Congressman Fowler is still reminded that he is not only a servant of the people but one whose good favors are much in demand.

There is no indication at present that the electric wires in the city will be placed under ground, as there does not seem to be any disposition on the part of the Council to grant those interested a privilege to do so.

"New Brunswick boasts of a fine jail," says the correspondent of the New York World; it is proper to add "and an easy place to get out of."

NO RUM FOR PUMPTOWN.

Judge Strong Refuses the Wheelmen's Rest a Liquor License.

The application of James J. Smith for a license at Pumptown was considered by Judge Strong in Middlesex County Court, Tuesday. This place is conducted as a wheelmen's rest and large quantities of soft stuff are sold. Mr. Smith desired something stronger to serve to his customers. Howard MacSherry represented him in court He held that the place should be licensed for three reasons:

Because it is a public necessity; because it is an accommodation; because of the character of the applicant. The Court confined him to the necessity point alone, as it knew about the other two points.

Mr. MacSherry spoke at length upon the growth of the country on the other side of the river, upon the increased travel, upon the tastes of the travelers and upon the excellent location.

Louis Campbell, a relative of Ellis Campbell who keeps the clubhouse on the Metuchen road a couple of miles away, opposed the licensing of the place. The Court did not give him an opportunity to be heard, as it had already made up its mind what to do. Judge Strong advised Mr. MacSherry to withdraw the license, which he promptly did.

Hereafter wheelmen must be content with ginger ale when they stop at Pumptown, for even water is denied them. The old pump which gave this place its name mysteriously disappeared soon after the "wheelmen's rest" was established.

Dance at South Plainfield.

The dance given at Higgins' Hall, South Plainfield, last night, under the management of Miss Julia Heenan and Charles Shirley, was attended by about 200 guests who managed to pass a very pleasant evening. The music was furnished by Prof. Campbell. An entertainment programme was rendered, including a number of well-rendered vocal solos by John Moran and an expedition of skillful jig dancing by George Teeple. The guests included a number from Elizabeth and Metuchen.

Satisfaction in "The Best."

It is a very real sense of satisfaction that comes of owning an article that is the very best of its kind; few there are who have not experienced it. Every one has something of exceptional quality that he treasures, and the thought that "it cost considerable, but it was worth it" only heightens the appreciation.

The CHICKERING Piano is bound to be a source of satisfaction to the buyer; the more of a musician he is the better he will be pleased with his investment, for the tone of the CHICKERING is the height of perfection that is without equal. WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

The trees along Westfield streets are all being nicely trimmed.

Herbert Buchanan, of Elm street, visited friends in Plainfield yesterday.

Miss Adele S. Bogert, of Central avenue, visited friends in Plainfield yesterday.

Miss Bessie Knight, of Broad street, is entertaining Miss Snyder, of Washington, D. C.

J. Albrecht, of Broad street, has returned from a visit with friends in New York city.

Lawrence Bastable, of North Broad street, has returned from a business trip in the west.

David Curtis, of Cumberland street, has returned from a visit with friends in New Brunswick.

Albert V. Lightbourne, of Dudley avenue, will enter St. Paul's School, Long Island, tomorrow.

Mrs. George Munroe and daughter, of Pittsburg, Pa., have been visiting Mrs. R. R. Sinclair, of Elm street.

William Decker, of New Providence, has returned from a visit with his brother, Charles Decker, of Elm street.

William S Welch is having an addition build upon his store on Broad street, which will be used as a show room.

Miss Barton has returned to Rutherford after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barton, in this place.

Valentine Youngman, who has been the guest of Ernest T. Winchester, returned last night to his home in New York city.

The Westfield Club football team will go to Cranford on Saturday afternoon and play the league team, of that place.

Mrs. F R Baker, Jr., has been appointed the Union county delegate to the W. C. T. U. National convention which is to be held in Buffalo October 29th to November 3d.

The Westfield W. C. T. U. has elected the following superintendents of departments: Evangelistic department, Mrs. S. M. Reed; social purity, Miss E. L. Starr; parlor meetings, Miss Fannie Clark; franchise, Mrs. E. R. Collins; unfermented wine, Mrs H. N. Wheeler; literature, Mrs. G. N. Mosher, narcotics, Mrs. Ira Lambert; press department, Mrs. H. E. Clayton; work among foreigners, Miss E. L. Starr; Sunday-school work, Mrs F. R. Baker; juvenile, Miss J. Folsom; mothers' meeting, Mrs. J. Z. Hatfield; scientific temperance instruction in public schools, Mrs. C. E. Apgar.

The last reminders of the summer season in Westfield are now gone. The final peach festival of the season was held on Tuesday, and today the Children's Country Home closes. The people have all returned from their summer vacations, the churches have resumed their regular services, many of which were interrupted during the summer, and the various social and literary organizations are making preparations for the coming season. Chief among the latter are the Westfield Club, the Social Club, the Advance Club, and the Women's Club. The Social Club will hold its first regular meeting and elect officers on October 12th, and the Woman's Club will hold its annual election on the 11th. The Advance Club will probably reorganize on the 15th. Prof. Ernest T. Winchester will give a series of recitals in his studio on Broad street, and a number of entertainments under various auspices have already been announced.

Among the matters of interest which will come before the Westfield Township Committee at its meeting tomorrow night will be the question of the leveling and repaving of Broad street, between Elm and Prospect streets, the contract for which was awarded to Horatio Johnston, of Plainfield, at the committee's meeting last evening. The matter had already been delayed a long time, and when the contract was given it was supposed that the work would commence at once. Nothing as yet has been done, however, and the street remains in a dilapidated condition, causing much comment. Engineer H. C. Van Emburgh has written several sharp letters to the contractor, who replies that he is unable to do the work because he cannot secure the needed stone from the crushers. If the time allowed Johnston to commence the work has expired, it is probable that the committee may see fit at its meeting tomorrow night to award the contract to the lowest bidder. It is not probable that anything of importance concerning the trolley company's application for a franchise will take place until the public hearing which will be held in Westfield Club Hall on October 8th.

PASSING COMMENT.

There is a little dog on East Sixth street, that is particularly fond of water and has amused the neighbors greatly by his antics with the garden hose. When the water is turned on, the dog is in his element. He seizes the nozzle in his teeth and turns the stream all over the yard. Then he tries to bite the stream and stands in front of it and attempts to stop the flow of water. The other day the servant employed at the house where the dog belongs was washing the pizza. Whenever she laid down the hose, the dog promptly seized it and turned the stream on the young woman who was forced to beat a sudden retreat.

* * * * *

F. L. C. Martin, the well known bicycle dealer, had considerable sport, several days ago, with his friends by announcing that he had a chainless model of the Cleveland wheel. Now Martin's model of the chainless wheel was merely a regular wheel with the chain removed. As soon as the news went forth, one of the other dealers in this city came hurrying to the store and wanted to see the chainless wheel. He was ushered into the salesroom and shown the wheel. He nearly fainted. Several other wheelmen about town hurried around to see the wheel and had to admit that the joke was on them. Since then everybody is asking Martin about his chainless wheel.

JAIL-BREAKERS STILL AT LARGE.

No Trace of the Men Who Escaped From the Middlesex County Prison.

No trace as yet has been discovered of Samuel Scudder and Charles Aspinwall, the prisoners who escaped from the Middlesex county jail Tuesday evening.

Sheriff Litterst, with his deputies, scoured the county all Tuesday night, and others were out yesterday without success. The only indication of the direction taken by the fugitives is the fact that two men answering their description passed through Elizabeth on a freight train at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. It seems almost certain that a general jail delivery was planned, and in this connection the capitulation last Saturday by the five mutinous tramps, who for two weeks refused to work in the ball and chain gang on the city streets, is interesting. These tramps had been sleeping under guard on the stone-flagged floor of the jail workhouse. When they surrendered and went to work they slept in jail cells. The prisoners are allowed the freedom of the inner corridors until 9 o'clock, when they are put in their cells. Scudder and Aspinwall improved their time in sawing through a bar in cell No. 16, on the east side of the upper tier. Through the narrow opening they squeezed and slid down a rope made of five blankets, landing in the jail yard. Then they climbed a ladder to the roof of the workhouse, in which the five tramps last week slept, guarded by a night watchman. When the tramps surrendered the watchman's services were no longer needed, and there was no one in the jail yard to prevent the escape of the fugitives.

Sheriff Litterst will probably offer $100 reward for the return of each fugitive. The jail is an antiquated structure, having numerous weak spots. Two years ago eight prisoners escaped in one night.

DO WE WANT GREENLAND?

Report That the United States Have Made Overtures to Denmark.

London, Sept. 30.—The Evening News publishes a paragraph saying that a rumor is current in Canadian circles in London that the United States Government has made overtures to Denmark for the purchase of Greenland, with a view of participating in the advantages of the Hudson's Bay route.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The report that the United States are making overtures to Denmark for the purchase of Greenland is not confirmed by the State Department.

"Nothing of the sort is going on to our knowledge," said an officer to-day. "There have been no negotiations between this Government for acquiring Danish territory since Mr. Seward wanted to purchase the Danish West Indies.

"As we now have all the privileges in Greenland that we want and nothing would be gained by acquiring that vast territory, there is no reason why we should be engaged in the reported negotiations. The extent of our rights in Greenland is shown by the fact that Lieut. Peary took from the country without any protest from Denmark its most noted and valuable possession the gigantic meteorite."

A few years ago Denmark threatened to sell Greenland to Germany. Since the Venezulan message of President Cleveland defining the Monroe Doctrine nothing more has been heard of the proposition.

WAR SHIPS ON THE LAKES.

Canadians' New Bugaboo—Uncle Sam Accused of Sharp Practice.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—A despatch from Washington says that the United States government has ordered a warship to be sent to the great lakes in violation of the treaty of 1815. About two weeks ago Capt. Leslie of the Collins Bay Rafting Company, which is laying the new waterworks conduit in Toronto, received a telegram from the naval authorities of the United States asking if he could bring the United States warship Yantic through the St. Lawrence canals. She is rather long for the existing locks, and will either have to be lifted up or cut off at the overhang of the stern. Capt. Leslie is now East, and it is not known whether his company secured the contract for bringing the vessel through the canals.

The opinion here is that the government of the United States intends to evade the treaty by keeping war vessels on the lakes not in the name of the government, but of various State volunteer organizations. The naval militia is not a Federal organization, but is under the control of the States.

DEMAND WEYLER'S RECALL.

Prominent Men of Spain Unite in Issuing a Manifesto.

Madrid, Sept. 30.—The Imparcial gives prominence to a manifesto to be issued at the instance of several of the most prominent of Spain's well-known and influential men of all shades of political opinion. The paper does not give any names, but says that the importance of the movement is enhanced by the political weight of the signers, and when other signatures throughout Spain have been collected action will be taken in the proper quarter.

The manifesto asks the removal of Capt.-Gen. Weyler, demands that the Cuban campaign be conducted with greater energy and less cruelty, and concludes by expressing unalterable opposition to the Cuban policy of the United States.

Annexation of Hawaii.

Senator John L. Wilson says that there will be no contest in the United States Senate over the annexation of Hawaii. The only question at issue is as to the form of government, and a plan has already been broached by several Senators which would meet all requirements. Senator Wilson said that this plan provides for a Governor and two houses of legislation, the upper house to be appointed and the lower house to be elected. The Governor will be from this country and nominated by the President, subject to the approval of the Senate. The upper house will be appointive, and the members of the lower body will be elected by the island. Senator Morgan will lead the debate, and his mission to Hawaii is to gather data.

Cubans Eating Dogs.

New York, Sept. 30.—Among the passengers who arrived from Havana on the steamer Vigilancia were a Cuban gentleman, his wife and daughter. They were met at the pier by friends.

"It is the policy of Weyler to starve the insurgents into subjection," said the Cuban, "and one of the inevitable results is that for eight days before I sailed there had been no meat eaten in the Havana hospitals—either for doctors, nurses or patients. The supplies of the hospitals consist principally of peas, rice, cornmeal and jerked beef from South America.

"The poor people are subsisting upon dogs, as they have no money with which to purchase jerked beef, meal or rice. Cats also are eaten, and in some cases rats are a staple article of food."

The Mayors' Convention.

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—The first annual convention of the Mayors and Councilmen of the United States, the Canadas and Mexico, is in session in this city, about one hundred and sixty regularly accredited delegates being present. The Mayor's opening remarks were brief and formal, and he closed by introducing Gov. Asa S. Bushnell, of Ohio, who delivered an address of welcome.

Parkhurst Coming Home.

New York, Sept. 30.—Dr. Parkhurst's private secretary has written to Supt. Burr, of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, stating that Dr. Parkhurst will not return to New York until November 10. The reformer was in Lucerne when the letter was written, and was in excellent health, after a season of mountain climbing.

Gen. Harrison Breaks Camp.

New York, Sept. 30.—Ex-President and Mrs. Harrison are in this city, having left their camp in the Adirondacks last evening.

Never Forget This

It Will Repay the Reader to Store the Information Away in the Corners of His Brain.

The readers of this newspaper since ever medicinal preparations were advertised have always been accustomed to see statements published in these columns from here, there, everywhere except from this part of Pennsylvania. Read what follows and make the difference between such evidence and that usually supplied, say from Woonsocket, R.I. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by Pennsylvania's best citizens. Read this case: Mr. Henry Bernhard, of Lyndhurst, nine miles from Hoboken, employed at the Consolidated Iron Works of River street, boat machinery and repairs, engines, pumps, etc. He has been in their employ thirty years and his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills is as follows: "My back became so lame that I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. It hurt me to lift or stoop over and was very painful as my work was mostly heavy and naturally hard on the back. I was also liable to catch cold while working and this always aggravated the trouble, still as a general reason I had nonreason to complain on account of poor health. Sometime ago I had a bad attack of backache and I got Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store. I felt their medical effect before I had used a whole box. I am thoroughly convinced that they are a genuine remedy for the kidneys and there are a number of men in our works who have as high an opinion of them as I have."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Revenue Cutter at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 30.—The United States revenue cutter Grant, Capt. Munger, has arrived from Unalaska, and brought late advices from St. Michael's and the surrounding country. The steamboat Bertha arrived at Unalaska on Sept. 12, and reported two inches of snow at St. Michael's.

A large number of miners are expected here on the Portland, which is due Oct. 15. It is estimated that she will bring three tons of gold.

Gold in Fulton and Dutchess.

Albany, Sept. 30.—Albert Ernest Wright, of 6 East Thirty-seventh street, New York City, has filed with the Secretary of State a notice of the discovery by him of gold and silver on lands in Johnstown township, Fulton county. L. L. Birch and B. F. Buckley claim to have discovered gold and silver in Wassaic, Amenia township, Dutchess county, and have filed a notice of their find.

Aldrich for Hawaii.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Instead of sending ex-Congressman Frank Aldrich, of Chicago, to Cuba as Consul-General, to succeed Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, as was agreed upon in the original compact, he now contemplates sending him to Hawaii as Governor of the islands when annexation is assured.

The President, it is said, looks upon the annexation treaty as sure to be ratified soon after Congress meets.

Only 400 Soldiers Left in Hazleton.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 30.—With the exception of a battalion from the Eighth Regiment and the Governor's Troop all the soldiers have been withdrawn from Hazleton. Gen. Gobin and his staff left yesterday. The battalion is to remain here for an indefinite time. Maj. Watts of Carlisle is the commanding officer of the battalion. The total number of soldiers is 400.

CURRENT COMMENT.

With the German Emperor and the French President as successive visitors the Czar will need all his skill in the art of saying polite nothings.

Last year's immigration was comparatively very light, yet the aggregate was 230,832. Any other country would consider it a phenomenal increase from the outside.

The Grand Army, which reached high water mark in 1893, with a total of 403,024 members, has now decreased to 319,456. It is still a great, but a vanishing host.

There are good judges who believe that Alabama is to be the greatest iron center in the world. That will be only one of the new South's great distinctions.

The daughters of Harriet Beecher Stowe decline the subscription proposed in their behalf, and deny that they need it. It would be something new for the Beechers to lose faith in their own efforts.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

BASE BALL FIELD.

The Three Leaders Each Win a Game Yesterday.

Brooklyn, Sept. 30.—The Bostons are still ahead in the final spurt for the League pennant. They played magnificent ball, and won from the Brooklyns yesterday, and those who saw the visitors' speed went home confident that they are the coming champions. The Baltimores also won, the Washingtons losing to them after a hard fight. The New Yorks outclassed the Philadelphias. The results:

SUPPRESSED FOR DE LOME'S SAKE.

Minister Did Not Want Woodford's Instructions Published.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Minister De Lome appears to have been the one who prevented the publication of the instructions given to Minister Woodford, and delivered by him to the Duke of Tetuan last week. The State Department, it is understood, is ready to make public what has passed between its representative and the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, and would have done so yesterday morning had not Minister De Lome arrived in Washington and had a conference with Assistant Secretary of State Day. One reason urged by the Spanish minister for delay in the publication of the statement was that the Queen Regent and the court were about to remove from San Sebastian to Madrid, and that the publication of the interview between the two ministers might cause trouble in Spain, and it was desirable to withhold it until the court was once more settled in Madrid.

Effect on the Cuban Question.

Washington, Sept. 30.—No official information about the resignation of the Spanish Ministry has been received here by the State Department or the Spanish Legation. Telegrams to the State Department are usually belated, and Minister Woodford's formal notification of the new turn of affairs will probably be delivered to Secretary Sherman to-day.

An indefinite postponement of an answer to Minister Woodford's note in regard to the Cuban situation, it is believed in official circles here, will be the inevitable result of the outgoing of the present Conservative Government. Until a new administration is fairly under way no line of action can be formulated by Spain, and Gen. Woodford and the United States must perforce remain patient.

Hawaii's Indemnity to Japan.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Some of the State Department officials are exceedingly anxious to have it appear that the information published about the proposition for the settlement of the differences between Japan and Hawaii by the payment of $100,000 in gold to Japan did not emanate from the department. The argument they advanced as a defense for endeavoring to secure the publication of a statement that no news to that effect had come to the department in an official report from Minister Sewall was that trouble of some sort might be caused with Japan if the story were allowed to stand uncontradicted.

Home Again Sixty Pounds Lighter.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 30.—Theodore Umbsheiden, a real estate dealer who disappeared on June 26, leaving his wife and children in ignorance of his fate, returned yesterday almost as mysteriously as he left. He weighed more than two hundred pounds when he went away and does not weigh more than one hundred and forty pounds now. He went to the home of his mother yesterday, and all the information which was given out was that he had been confined in the City Hospital at Nashville with a fever and had refused to reveal his identity until convalescent.

Shot and Killed His Mother.

Newark, N. Y., Sept. 30.—St. Clair Sampson, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sampson, shot and killed his mother at their residence in this village. The young man is reported to be feeble-minded. Young Sampson in some way got hold of a .32-calibre revolver of an old pattern. He was playing about his mother with the pistol, when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering Mrs. Sampson's head just above the left eye. Death followed almost instantly.

A Circus Performer Mortally Hurt.

Webb City, Mo., Sept. 30.—At last evening's performance of Hummell, Hamilton & Sells' circus in this city Charles French, of New York City, a Roman standing race rider, fell from his horses, and one of them trampled on him, injuring his spine and breaking his right arm. He will die.

Fled to Jail to Escape Robbers.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 30.—Volney Bull, the farmer who was recently robbed and tortured and bound by oath to give his tormentors $500 to save himself and son from being burned with their barns, fled to this city, to be shut up in jail. The robbers sent him letters to have the money ready on demand or die.

G. A. R. Losing Ground.

Milwaukee, Sept. 30.—A circular just issued by Department Commander Gray, of the Wisconsin Grand Army of the Republic, exhibits some rather startling facts.

He states that if the percentage in loss of membership should continue the order would be extinct within ten years.

Low's Running Mates.

New York, Sept. 30.—The Citizens' Union will meet to-night, to complete the city ticket. It is confidently expected that ex-Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild and Mayor Wurster, of Brooklyn, will be nominated as Comptroller and President of the Council, respectively.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

The posters are out for Saturday's game between the Plainfield Athletic Association and the Warwick Athletic Club, of New York. The game begins at 4 o'clock.

The members of the Plainfield Crescent Football Club will meet for practice again this evening on the Westervelt avenue grounds. They will be coached by several of the eleven of the Plainfield A. A.

One of the new candidates for the Plainfield A. A. team this year is Bert Hinrichs. Hinrichs will try for guard and he will give the other candidates a lively race for the place. Brown is back again this season, but Milne, last year's guard, will not be able to start the season with the team. In the meantime, Hinrichs will be an excellent man to fill his place.

The Plainfield Crescent Football Club will play its first game on Saturday afternoon at Elizabeth against the Y. M. C. A. team of that city. The schedule of the Journal League in which the Crescents are now playing is as follows:

Sat.,	Oct.	2—	Plainfield at Elizabeth. Westfield at Cranford.
Sat.,	Oct.	9—	Elizabeth at Rahway. Plainfield at Westfield.
Sat.,	Oct.	16—	Cranford at Roselle Rahway at Westfield.

Thurs.,	Nov.	25—	Plainfield at Rahway. Cranford at Elizabeth.

The football season will regularly open in Plainfield on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the Plainfield A. A., the leading team of this city, will line up against the Warwick Athletic Club, of New York. The Warwick boys come from Harlem and upper New York and include a number of former college players who are now working in New York. They are good players and have the advantage of practice. They will equal the home team in weight and give them a good fight before they let the home team score. The home team will be stronger than at this time last year and will make rapid improvement as the season advances. There are a dozen new men trying for places on the team and they include several rattling good players. A few of the last year's men will not be able to start the season with the team but they will appear on the gridiron in a few weeks if they can recover their old places.

CYCLING COMMENT.

F. L. C. Martin and E. H. Bogardus have received their handsome pace-maker medals from the Evening Telegram century run of August 14th.

Now the Eldridge Bicycle Company has given up handling the Columbia and Hartford wheels, the Pope Manufacturing Company is arranging for a new agency in this city. The place was offered to one of its agents on Staten Island, but was not accepted. As yet the representative of the Columbia in Plainfield for 1898 has not been selected.

As a result of the announcement recently made by the Eldridge Bicycle Company, of Newark, severing its connection of over seven years' standing with the Pope Manufacturing Company, Thomas A. Cuming, manager of the Eldridge Company's branch store in this city, now announces that after a careful study of the existing conditions, the Eldridge Company has decided to market a high-grade wheel of its own manufacture. This wheel, they claim, will embody the most improved ideas which capital can secure, and which will approach much nearer the requirements of riders in this section of the country than any machine yet placed before the public. The new wheel will be called the Eldridge, and besides having the advantage of skilled workmanship and fine matertal, it will be sold at an honest and reasonable price. Mr. Cuming confidently believes that this new departure will be appreciated by Plainfield cyclists, as they will be dealing directly with a concern whose name is a guarantee for fair dealing, and which, in placing its machine before the public, will be directly responsible to them for its quality. This in itself will be an incentive to maintain a high standard of excellence and honest business methods.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

A special meeting of the executive committee of the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association will be held at Pingry's School, Elizabeth, tomorrow afternoon. A Mt. Bethel Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Mary Neumiller and Louis Casenove, both of Mt. Bethel, took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served, and the couple then went to the home of the groom, nearby, where a reception was held at 8:30 o'clock. About 100 were present, and after the reception dancing was indulged in. The music for the occasion was furnished by Guttman, of this city. At midnight the bride and groom left for their wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside with Mrs. Casenove's parents.

Elected Treasurer.

Councilman Westphal has been elected treasurer of the Church of the Holy Cross.

Councilman A. C. Stebbins is in Pittsfield, Mass.

He Received Free Transportation.

A certain steamboat line running out of Port Huron, Mich., has a standing rule that clergymen and Indians can travel on its boats for half fare. The other day the agent of the line was approached by a man who asked free transportation. When the agent demurred, the man explained that he was an Indian preacher, thus being entitled to one-half rebate because he was an Indian, and the other half because he was a clergyman. He got it.

A Good Thing to Remember.

We are ruined, not by what he really want, but by what we think we do; therefore, never go abroad in search of your wants. If they be real wants, they will come home in search of you; for he that buys what he does not want, will soon want what he cannot buy.—Colton.

Pathetic Ignorance.

"I have heard and read many pathetic stories," said Senator Hoar not long ago, "but none of them ever awoke so much sad sympathy as one which Prof. Gallaudet related. The professor has a favorite pupil—a little deaf-mute boy, exceptionally bright. Mr. Gallaudet asked him if he knew the story of George Washington and the cherry tree. With his nimble fingers the little one said he did, and then he proceeded to repeat it. The noiseless gesticulations continued until the boy had informed the professor of the elder Washington's discovery of the mutilated tree and of his quest for the mutilator. 'When George's father asked him who hacked his favorite cherry tree, signaled the voiceless choild. George put his hatchet in his left hand—' 'Stop,' interrupted the professor, 'Where do you get your authority for saying he took the hatchet in his left hand?' 'Why,' responded the boy, 'he needed his right hand to tell his father that he cut the tree.'"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Modest Request.

An old and afflicted Georgia darkey recently wrote the following unique letter to President McKinley:

"Mr. McKinley: I voted fer you in de rain, from sunup to sundown. I kotched de rheumatism in my left leg, en hit's done run to my head en give me rattlin' of de brain. I never did git no office, en I been laid up so long dat my wife done lef' me en gone off wid a turpentine nigger. Could you please, suh, sen' me some groceries an' a order to pay $6 house rent? I wish you would, suh, if you please, suh. En please, suh, sen' me a postage stamp, so's I kin mail dis letter to you."—Atlanta Constitution.

A Busy Judge.

"After hearing argument in a case a rural justice said:

"I'm sorter mixed on this here matter, an' I'll preserve my decision."

"About what time, jedge," said the lawyer, "will you dish out them preserves?"

"Thar's no tellin'," replied his honor. "I've got a sight o' plowin' ter do, an' erbout ten acres to fence in. Jest take the prisoner ter jail till fall!"—Atlantic Constitution.

Progressive Agriculture.

Hojack—I think that agriculture is very progressive when it gives us seedless oranges and raisins, don't you?

Tomdik—Yes, but there is something it cannot give us.

"What?"

"Deodorized onions."—New York Journal.

No Permanent Gain.

"Your wife doesn't seem to improve in health."

"No; as fast as she gains strength she uses it up telling people what is the matter with her."—Chicago Record.

A Pioneer.

"Are you one of the striking miners?" asked the woman at the door.

"Yes, mum, I'm what dey call a pioneer. I struck thirty years ago, and I've never give in yet."—Detroit Free Press.

A Satisfactory Excuse.

"Well, little girl, what is it?"

"If you please, sir, Mr. Slimmer will not be able to come down this morning. He's just got back from a two weeks' rest in the country, and he's all tired out."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

As the Funeral Went By.

"Poor Robinson. There goes his funeral."

"What, is Robinson dead?"

"I imagine he is. Perhaps he is just riding around town in that hearse for the fun of the thing, however."

Dickens left $500,000 to his children, but all his descendants are said to be poor. Not a writer of first-class ability has appeared among them. These facts interfere with some of the theories of heredity.

In Kansas and Nebraska they are making a business of paying off and cancelling mortgages. One county in Kansas, Labette, reports the cancellation of $174,000 of mortgages, mainly in small sums, during the past three months.

A St. Louis wife who has sued for a divorce says that her husband has habitually put her into an ice box whenever they quarreled. The St. Louis custom of putting a wife on ice to cool off her temper can hardly be recommended as a remedy for domestic broils if the case in point may be regarded as a fair criterion.
